Lady, Be Gallant

BY MARIE BLIZARD

CHAPTER 48

TO JULIAN'S usual, "Did you have a good time last night?", Joan answered savagely that she had not, that she never did like night clubs and she didn't ever expect to get to like them.

She didn't tell him that if night clubs were the gathering places of young men married less than a year who met their wives there with other men, it was part of something of which she wanted no small part.

Doubtless Win and his wife, Beatrice, understood each other so perfectly that one didn't mind what the other did. Trust was a beautiful thing but that was going too far.

Win had told her that Beatrice was jealous of her. He probably told Beatrice who she was, which would fix things up just fine. Whatever happened between them she didn't care but she didn't want the woman who married him to think that she was so cheap that she would stoop to taking anything she could get.

But hadn't she been doing just that?

Angrily she went back to thinking of the job she was doing. Joan was dusting the books in the library and nearly dusting their covers off. That was the kind of work she needed that morning. Something to let off steam.

Dust cloth in hand, she sat down disconsolately on the top of her stepladder and pondered on the unhappy fact that she wished she had never seen Win in her life. A few days before she had wished that she had never met Sheila True.

Perhaps it was getting to be a habit with her to wish she had never met people.

Julian Sloane came into his library at that point and noting—with the glow she reserved specially for him—that she was looking more and more like the Julian she had first known, she thought she would never be sorry that she had known him, shared his work.

"Feel like going back to the book today?" she asked.

"Feel like taking the whole world on," he said, and reminded her that she had a smudge of dust across her cheek.

"Can't be helped," she said. "These books look as though they haven't ever been dusted before."

"They haven't been, properly. Nothing was ever done the right way until you came along."

Joan went after them again and rubbed furiously.

"You know sometimes I think about poor Jane Spencer. I wonder if the job she got could ever have been half as good as mine and all done through a fluke! Did it ever occur to you how dishonest I was to take advantage of that mistake in our names?"

"I don't think it was a 'fluke' Joan. I think it was one of the things that the Three Sisters were planning."

The heavy volume fell from Joan's hand. It was suddenly so weak she couldn't hold a handkerchief in it.

"I'm glad you feel that way," she said when she found her voice. "I'm glad I have been able to help you. It has been the most wonderful experience I have ever had. It has given me a purpose in life. I never had one before and, while you didn't know it, when I came to you was the time that I needed one most."

"Yes, of course, the work is absorbing," Julian said, and some of the life had gone out of his voice.

"It is the most worthwhile thing in life, isn't it?" she asked tensely.

He didn't answer her immediately. He busied himself lighting the inevitable pipe. Then he didn't answer her directly.

"The answer to that is something that no one can give you. You find it only within yourself."

"I have then, I guess." She went back to her dusting.

"I don't think you have," he said thoughtfully. "You couldn't be expected to, my dear. You are too young still to have ever learned the way through the hills and valleys of life that we call disappointments and triumphs. You have to experience that journey before your eyes look clearly beyond them to the final horizons, past the shadows of the valleys and the bright chimera of the heights."

"Do you have to live a lifetime before you are equipped to cope with what you need when you are as young as we are?" she asked passionately.

Julian smiled sadly. "As young as we are? My child, you are only an infant."

"Don't say that," she said, as though she were pleading with him to meet her on equal ground.

"No, you aren't," he said slowly, looking into her face.

From there they must go on but what was there to say? Julian did not ask her for more and she didn't know that there were things he wanted to say to her and couldn't—Julian who was master of articulation.

"You're lunching with Mr. Kittredge at one," she said slipping into the protective role of secretary, glad of its defenses against the rising tide of her emotion.

"That's right," Julian took his cue. "I'll not be back until around five. If there's anything you want to do. . . ."

"It will take me the whole afternoon to finish this job," she said.

It would have had she not been interrupted.

Her smock was dusty, the smudge stayed on her nose in company with a new one on her cheek. Her hands were dirty and her hair rumpled when Kobe announced that there was a lady to see her.

Did Julian have an appointment to see someone and she had forgotten? She gave a quick glance at the appointment book. It was probably some actress calling to see him. There were always beautiful actresses stalking Julian.

"Ask her to come in," Joan wiped her hands on her smock and did the best she could with her hair.

It was dim in the dusky library and Joan did not recognize the smart, slim girl standing in the doorway.

"I didn't announce my name, Miss Spencer," she said in a pleasant drawl.

"Won't you come in? I must ask you to excuse my appearance. I've been dusting books. Mr. Sloane isn't here but I expect he'll be in around five if you'd like to wait."

"I didn't come to see him. I came to see you. I am Beatrice Winslow."

The silence that followed that was pretty loud. Joan didn't break it; Beatrice had come to see her. It was for her to make a beginning.

She did.

"Are you in love with my husband?" she asked. She said it just the way she might have said, "Do you care for my sable scarf?"

"No," said Joan. "I am not. Since you're so frank with your question, may I ask why you want to know?"

"Certainly." Beatrice lit a cigaret and passed her case to Joan. "You see I happen to love him and I want him to be happy. I think perhaps you're the kind of a girl who could handle him. I can't, so I'm going to divorce him."

Joan was too stunned to say anything.

"I love him but I don't want him. He is a useless philanderer. I know he's infaithful to me so I'm going to divorce him and name Sheila True."

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE HOOT OWL

Spot, the fire dog that had come to live back of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, was dozing in the warm sunshine of the afternoon, Jiggie Flatpaw, the honey bear, was off somewhere trying to find some sport. The rabbit children were out for a walk with Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. And Mrs. Longears, the rabbit gentleman's wife, was busy sewing.

"Well!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, as he stood on the front porch, "this place is certainly quiet! Nothing to do at all. I wish I felt sleepy. Then I could take a nap. But I don't feel sleepy! I'd like a bit of excitement."

He went on and on and finally then said to himself: "I'm going off into the woods. Maybe things are happening that I don't know anything about."

So, without even putting on his hat, he started down the path. He thought of waking Spot and asking the dog to go with him, but then he decided that Spot was tired and needed his rest. The fire dog had been doing errands all morning. Besides Uncle Wiggily decided it might be fun to try to find an adventure all alone for a change.

A Circus Ring.

He went on and on and finally came to a brook, where he had a nice long drink of cool water. On the other side of the brook was a great bare place in the midst of the forest. Men had been cutting down trees and they had left a circle that reminded Uncle Wiggily of a circus ring.

"It would be nice if there were some real circus performers, so that I could sit here and watch them," he thought. "But there aren't any and I might as well get on! No adventures here, that's a sure thing!"

But was it such a sure thing? The rabbit gentleman had no sooner than reached the edge of the clearing, where the trees had not yet been cut, when out of the forest jumped the Wolf!

"Wheee!" the Bad Chap yelled. "Uncle Wiggily! Were you coming to visit me? Were you going to let me nibble your ears?"

"I certainly was not!" Mr. Longears exclaimed. "And I'm getting out of here, right now!" He turned around and started to hop to the other side of the clearing as fast as he could.

But then—my gracious! From out of that side of the forest jumped the Fox!

"Welcome, Uncle Wiggily!" this bad chap snickered. "I see you don't want the Wolf to nibble your ears—you'd rather I did it! Now that's what I call real friendship!"

In Bad Spot.

Uncle Wiggily was certainly in a bad spot, wasn't he? He hopped away from the Fox, but as he did so he came closer to the Wolf. And when he tried to escape from the Wolf he found himself faced by the Fox. He was betwixt and between, as they say.

"I guess there's enough on you ears for both of us!" the old Wolf laughed. "Who'll be the first to nibble, Mr. Fox—you, or I?"

It did seem as though Uncle Wiggily was a goner. But just then something strange happened. A great owl flew down from a tree, right between the Fox and the Wolf! And he began to wobble from side to side, as though blinded by the bright sunlight.

"Let's get him!" the Wolf shouted. "He can't see—owls can't see in the sunshine—and he'll be easy! Come on, Mr. Fox!"

So they both ran toward the owl, forgetting Uncle Wiggily in their excitement. The owl would fly a little, then stop, and the two bad chaps followed him. But just as they caught up with him the owl would fly a little more. And do you know, in a short time that owl had led the Fox and the Wolf far into the woods and the y never caught him!

Then he flew back, laughing. "Didn't I fool them, Uncle Wiggily!" he chuckled. "I can see well enough in the sunshine. I just made believe I couldn't so you could get away. Hoo, hoo, hoo!" and he laughed harder than ever, did this hoot owl.

You may be sure Uncle Wiggily thanked his friend many times. It was something to remember, too—that owls can see in the day time! And tomorrow night, if the carrot shortcake doesn't grow tall, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's Summer School.

SUCCESS SCORED BY GARDEN PARTY

Big Crowd Attends Enjoyable Event Held By Downeyville Church

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOWNEYVILLE, July 27. — A large crowd was present Wednesday afternoon for the annual garden party held here on the grounds sponsored by St. Luke's Parish. The day was cloudy and threatened rain, but it held off until night and the crowds came in large numbers to enjoy the day. Sports of all kinds were held during the day and bingo and other games were on the grounds, but the main thing was the sumptuous fowl supper with all the trimmings served by the ladies, to which all did justice. The fancy booth and fish pond did a splendid business, with Mr. Thomas Turcott, of Peterborough, looking after the wheel. A splendid time was enjoyed by all young and old, and as the old saying is, "Meet all your friends at the Downeyville social."

Miscellaneous Shower.

A large number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Neill for a miscellaneous shower for their daughter, Miss Adrienne O'Neill, a bride-to-be of this week. A very appropriate address was read, and the bride-to-be, seated under a white bell, replied, although taken by surprise.

The presents were opened and viewed by all. A dainty lunch was served by the ladies and a very enjoyable time was spent playing cards and dancing. All joined in singing, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," and all enjoyed themselves both old and young.

Personals.

Mrs. Gordon Gilbert and children, of Toronto, have moved down for the summer months to their cottage on Mr. Joseph Guiry's farm. Mr. Gilbert comes down from Toronto for the week-end.

Messrs. M. D. Harrington and Thomas Lucas spent Sunday the guests of friends in Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neill, of Toronto, spent the week-end the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Joseph Dakin, in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schnitzler, son Gerald and Mrs. Thomas O'Hearn, all of Toronto, spent the week-end the guests of the latter's brother and sister, Mr. Fred. and Miss Gertrude Fitzpatrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Duffy, daughter Miss Alma and Miss Carmelita Crowley, of Peterborough, attended the social here Wednesday.

Messrs. Ormand Morrissey and Frank Harrington have gone to Sudbury where they have secured positions.

Miss Marie Flood, of Toronto, is at present the guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Guiry.

Mrs. T. J. Perdue, of Detroit, Mich., has returned home after a pleasant visit with friends and relatives here.

Miss Lucille Murtha, of Toronto, is spending a few days the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murtha.

Miss Mary Dorgan has returned to Toronto after spending a few days with friends here.

Miss Geraldine Murray, R.N., of Rochester, N. Y., is at present the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Murray.

Miss Alice Guiry, R.N., of New York City, attended the garden party here and renewed acquaintances.

Mr. Orville Perdue spent the week-end in Enniskore the guest of his aunt, Mrs. Frank Cavanagh. bride-to-be of this week

ASK PROTECTION FOR TOURIST CAMP

Cobourg Council Told of Avtivities Of Prowlers, Two From Peterborough

COBOURG, July 27.—Women at Cobourg's tourist camp are afraid of nocturnal prowlers, Town Council and the Parks Commission were told. It was decided to put a special policeman on duty at the park to put a stop to the annoyance.

H. Kerr on behalf of the campers, said that unless they were protected they would be obliged to leave one of the finest camp sites he had ever seen. Men prowled about the camp at night, stealing bathing suits, he said. Gasoline was also being taken from cars. Kerr told of chasing two youths whom he caught stealing a bathing suit, and said he had turned over their names to the police. Both were from Peterborough, one with a jail record, he stated.

Councillor W. J. Maher said a constable was badly needed. He cited a case in which 10 gallons of gasoline were stolen from a car in the park at a comparatively early hour in the evening. He suggested a constable to be on duty from 8 p.m. until dawn. It was decided to accede to the request for a constable, his hours to be decided later.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC IS HELD AT COBOURG

Millbrook And Centreville Presbyterian Churches Sponsor Event

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, July 27.—The joint picnic of the Sunday Schools of Grace and Centreville Presbyterian Churches was held on Thursday at Victoria Park, Cobourg, and proved a well-attended and most enjoyable event. Officers and teachers of the two schools looked after the entertainment of the guests, the younger element particularly enjoying the swings, slides and other activities which the park affords for the little folk, while the older people visited, and the 'teen age young people, as usual, took their pleasure throughout the afternoon in swimming.

The program of races was run off previous to and after the tea hour, each school looking after its own part: pants and prizes, the list for Grace school, Millbrook, including:

Primary class — Willaby Belch, Wilma Hubbeard.

Junior girls—M. Belch, Thelma Hubbeard.

Junior boys—Donald Kerr, Donald Pritchard.

Intermediate boys — Harry McLeod, Roderick Armstrong.

Senior girls—Joan Deyell, Mary Eakins.

Senior boys—Dick Williams, Gordon Larmer.

PLANS PROGRAMS CAVAN INSTITUTE

Branch Holds July Session At Home Of Mrs. R. A. Sutton, Ida

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, July 27.—A well attended meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute was held at Mrs. R. A. Sutton's home, Ida, on Thursday afternoon, the president, Mrs. A. B. Kennedy, in the chair.

During the business session Mrs. Margaret A. Hunter reported eleven books had been purchased for the Institute library, and a subscription sent for the National Geographical Magazine for the Institute.

It was decided to withdraw the regular Institute meeting for August and have a hostess tea in the Community Hall. Two new members were added to the roll.

The program committee, which met at Mrs. Hunter's home last week and arranged programs for three months, was announced to meet again at Mrs. Milton Carr's home on Thursday evening to finish the programs and arranging the groups.

During the program period, Mrs. Oakley Carley gave a report of the district annual meeting, and Mrs. R. A. Sutton gave a splendid paper. Music on the victrola was also enjoyed.

Mrs. Sutton's group served a delicious lunch, and the usual social half-hour was enjoyed.

A number of the ladies of the community were guests and enjoyed the gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. W. Budd and two children, of Port Hope, were recent guests of Mrs. N. Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilson, Port Robertson, and Mr. W. Milburn, Toronto, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. Carr.

NEGLIGENT DRIVER TO PAY HEAVY COST

Belleville Court Confirms Disputed Measurements At Scene Of Accident

BELLEVILLE, uJly 27. — Harry Thibault was found guilty of negligent driving by Magistrate E. J. Butler in police court last week, and was fined $10 and costs or fifteen days. The cost totalled $27.65.

A car, driven by Thibault, collided with a car driven by L. E. Scrack of Niagara Falls, N.Y., just outside Corbyville on July 12, causing both vehicles to take the ditch. Thibault pleaded not guilty, and as a result of the argument of his counsel, Charles Payne, over measurements taken at the time of the collision, the court visited the scene of the accident and found measurements taken by Constable Sam Ervine to be correct.

DARTFORD

The Golden Links Class took charge of the church service Sunday evening. The president, Leslie Hardy, took charge of the following program: The meeting opened by singing the doxology and hyian 256, after which Ewart Hardy led in prayer. The scripture lesson was read. CHILD'S ANCESTRY USUALLY WITHHELD

Eleanor Gallagher Says Child Adoption Works Well On Average

NEW YORK, July 26.—(CP). — Answering the rational question, whether adoption works out successfully, especially with children of unknown or unfortunate parentage, Eleanor Gallagher in her book "The Adopted Child," says it works as well on the average as the natural relationship.

Modern adoption agencies scrutinize applicants carefully and make full investigation; and they consider preferences and wait for the right type of child before fulfilling a request. They make sure a child is mentally normal and pysically healthy; but they usually withhold information about the child's immediate ancestry. They don't want to handicap the child with an unhappy association in the minds of the foster parents, or with expectations that may not be fulfilled of some hereditary talent.

They do not look for wealth or position on the part of foster parents, but for character and simplicity and affection, Miss Gallagher says. An interval is allowed for a trial of the arrangement. Then, when the adoption has been completed there should be no "follow-up" of periodic investigation or inquiries, as this will make the foster parents feel the child doesn't really belong to them. The author also warns applicants not to deal with any agency that "requires any payment of money," as distinguished from a voluntary offering if the foster parent feels inclined to give it.

Miss Gallagher also recommends telling the child as soon as possible that it was adopted, to avoid shock from accidental discovery of the fact. What the child knows will not hurt it; a secret makes for a false relationship.

Get New Uniforms For Oshawa Police

OSHAWA, July 27.—Oshawa police force are creating a favorable impression with their smart new uniforms. The new uniforms resemble those being worn by members of police force in New York. Instead of the former uniforms that fastened close to the neck and the usual style English helmets, Oshawa force is now patrolling in cool blue shirts with Sam Brown belts. Smart caps are the order of the day.

BELLEVILLE FIRE HAZARD LESSENED

Intervals Of Rain Aid Protective Methods In Reducing Possibility

BELLEVILLE, July 27.—Protective methods and rain at intervals during the past two days has reduced the fire hazard in this city by nearly 50 per cent., it is estimated by Fire Chief William Lynch. The majority of vacant lots within the city limits have been burned off by the department and relief men during the past week, in an effort to avoid more serious loss, should nearby buildings and factories catch fire.

"The heavy rain this week will also help keep fires at a minimum," Chief Lynch stated. "The grass and weeds in many of the vacant lots was so dried out that only a spark was needed to start a fire. Now the earth is moist and the danger of a blaze from carelessly deposited cigarettes is overcome to a large extent," he said.

During the extreme hot weather the department was on the move continually combatting grass fires and occasional blazes in buildings in the city. An average of 10 calls per ay was recorded.

LIQUOR, TOBACCO AND PORK TABOOED

Seventh Day Adventists Will Touch None Of Them Speaker Declares

OSHAWA, July 27.—Seventh-Day Adventists are an old-fashioned people, declared Evangelist O. D. Cardey of Montreal, one of the speakers at the Adventist camp meeting at Oshawa. The church membership now numbers a half million people and none of these use liquor or tobacco, or eat pork.

"They are so old-fashioned," he declared, "that they believe the whole Bible from Genesis to Revelations. They believe it is inspired, that it is God's message to His children, and that every part of the book was intended to be a help and blessing to mankind."

In other words, Evangelist Cardey declared that Adventists are Fundamentalists.

Another peculiarity of the Adventists is that they are vegetarians. They maintain a system of sanitariums and hospitals around the world. They do not play bridge or other card games. They do not dance.

"Trials are good for us," declared Evangelist Cardey in his address, "and if they were not God would not allow them to come to us. He is our Father. He knows us all by name and where we live. When all goes well and prosperity smiles upon us we are inclined to paddle our own canoe and to forget God. When troubles and trials thicken we realize the need of help which only God can give. God does not send trials, but he permits them."

France governed the territory embracing the state of Michigan from the time of its discovery in 1610 until 1763, when it was ceded to Great Britain. The area did not come into the possession of the United States until July 11, 1796.

Spanish Rebels Plan Army Equal to Any in Europe

Give Spain Spot in Sun Confident Of Reaching Madrid By Thursday

Bloodshed And Fire Sweep Southeast As Insurgents Near Malaga

HEAVY CASUALTIES

British, U.S., Dutch, Norwegian Envoys Flee San Sebastian

BURGOS, Spain, July 28. —(AP)—Spanish rebel leaders contemplate a "strong military dictatorship," Gen. Emilio Mola, northern commander, said to-day.

"We will create a huge army equivalent to any in Europe," the all, slightly stoop-shouldered officer declared.

"We must have a strong army for we are determined to keep order in Spain and give the fatherland its rightful place in the sun."

Genarl Mola refused to admit the possibility of defeat of the rebellion.

He smiled confidently.

"We expect to get to Madrid on Thursday or Friday at the latest," he smiled confidently.

Fierce Fighting In South

GIBRALTAR, July 28. — (CP-Havas)—Bloodshed and fire swept Southeastern Spain today as more than 1,000 picked Moroccan legionnaires pushing toward Malaga, battled loyalist contingents for possession of the town of Estepona in some of the fiercest fighting of the civil war, dispatches reaching here said.

With more than 1,000 dead and wounded since the rebels advanced from Algeciras, several thousand troops and People's Front militia today were reported barricaded in Estepona, after falling back in orderly fashion under a screen of acres of burning cork pine wood, set ablaze to impede the rebel offensive.

Estepona is about 41 miles southwest of the important town of Malaga and about 30 miles east of Gibraltar.

Rebels around Malaga brought down two government seaplanes over the sea off Marbella, midway between Estepona and Malaga.

HENDAYE, on the Franco-Spanish Frontier, July 28 (CP-Havas). —Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador to Spain, to-day transferred the summer headquarters of the Embassy from San Sebastian to Zarus, 12 miles away from the resort city.

Fighting continued for possession of San Sebastian, held at present by troops loyal to the Leftist Spanish Government.

United States Ambassador Claude Bowers arrived in Pontarabia and installed his Embassy headquarters there.

The Belgian, Dutch and Norwegian envoys moved into Irun, near the international bridge. The Mexican Ambassador accompanied Bowers to Pontarabia.

Only the French Ambassador decided to remain in San Sebastian.

Bailed Bride Skips While Cupid Weeps

SUDBURY, Ont., July 28.—(CP)—Cupid hid in a corner and wept when they issued a bench warrant today for the arrest of Kate Lamont.

Kate appeared in police court a week ago, charged with vagrancy, a lonely, friendless, but rather attractive brunette. Immediately after she had been given a week's remand, a young man put up $50 bail for her, on condition that she'd marry him. Kate said that would be fine. But when her name was called out today, she was not there. The would-be husband is still single—and minus $50. Authorities wouldn't disclose his name.

BRITAIN REVIEWS HER DEFENCE PLANS IN CLOSED PARLEY

Baldwin Goes Into Huddle With Conservative Leaders At Downing Street

LORDS REPRESENTED

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—Great Britain's rearmament program is to be discussed by cabinet ministers and delegations from the Houses of Commons and Lords today.

Prime Minister Baldwin is receiving Conservative leaders at Downing Street on to review the defence plans in closed conferences. Supporting the Prime Minister will be Sir Thomas Inskip, Defence Coordinating Minister, Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, Alfred Duff Copoer, War Secretary, and Viscount Swinton, Air Secretary.

The parliamentary delegations are headed by Sir Austen Chamberlain for the Commons and the Marquiss of Salisbury for the Lords.

Winston Churchill, veteran statesman who first requested the conferences, was reported to have prepared a memorandum setting forth his reasons why the Prime Minister should appoint a minister of supply to work with the defence committee.

Foreign Secretary Eden in the course of a speech in the House of Commons yesterday covering the foreign situation reaffirmed Britain's guarantees against aggression given France and Belgium under the 1925 Locarno Treaty.

FRESH MYSTERY IN GIRL'S MURDER

Victim's Door Locked From Inside Ten Minutes Before Body Found

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 28.—(AP).—A hotel chambermaid's chart showing the door to Helen Clevenger's room was locked from the inside 10 minutes before her mutilated body was found threw the mystifying murder case open to further questions today.

The chart, officers said, disclosed the door was locked at 8.20 a.m. on July 16, slightly more than seven hours after the New York University sophomore was assaulted and shot.

The announcement raised these points:

If Miss Clevenger's room was locked from the inside, as the chart indicated, was the murderer in there at 8.20

Was he there from 1 a.m., when several guests at the fashionable hotel heard a woman's agonized scream until 8.20? Or was the murderer a man whom a bellboy saw scurrying from the mezzanine to the outside into a thunderstorm at 1 a.m.?

If this shadowy form, the so-called "mystery man" of the case, was the murderer, did he return to the girl's room later to destroy clues he left behind?

The girl's uncle, Prof. W. L. Clevenger, said at the coroner's inquest that when he went to his niece's room at 9.30 a.m. and found her body, the door was not locked.

The investigation meanwhile centered on Daniel H. Gaddy, 28-year-old night watchman, detained "for investigation" for more than a week.

Sheriff Brown said he does not suspect Gaddy of the actual crime, but added:

"I still believe Gaddy has something to tell us—later. When he talks, I think we'll solve this crime."

Wealth Suddenly Looms For Kingston Hired Man

Inventor Of Formula Discovers It Has Been Netting Backers $100,000 Yearly

PLANS FIGHT FOR SHARE

DETROIT, Mich., July 28 (CP)—Edwin P. Lally, who has been working as a hired man on a farm north of Kingston, Ont., will return to Detroit next Wednesday or Thursday in an effort to collect $25,000 and 51 per cent. of a flourishing business, it was learned today.

Lally, according to Arthur H. Rice, an attorney, is the inventor of a formula used in treatment of a skin disease known as psoriasis. The treatment is sold under a trade name and has netted its backers $100,000 a year, Rice said.

Lally, who disappeared shortly after he called the formula to the attention of Fred B. Collier, an attorney, was found last Sunday by Rice and Collier.

"Last Wednesday a man came into the office and asked me if I was looking for a man named Lally," Rice said. "He thought he knew where we could find the inventor. I got in touch with Collier and after getting directions from this fellow, we set out for the farm."

$1 Meal, Extravagance

"We finally found it about 20 miles off the main road and there was Lally dressed in tattered overalls. We took him to dinner and he admitted that he had done a little inventing in Detroit, but had never realized a penny from it. We spent

Her Wish Filled, War Widow Dies

LONDON, July 28.—(CP Cable)—A war widow from Canada who said her last wish was to see her husband's grave in France was dead today, a few hours after fulfilling that wish.

Mrs. Rosina Kemp of Calgary told fellow-pilgrims that for 20 years she had longed to see her husband's grave. During the voyage from Canada she said: "When I have seen my husband's grave I shall be prepared to die."

Returning to Le Havre yesterday after visiting the grave, the emotional experience seemed to have sapped her strength, although she appeared happy. Four hours later she died aboard the Antonia of a heart attack.

DOG TO BE DEFENDED

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 28 (CP)—The battle for the life of Idaho, mongrel dog on trial near here for his life under a charge of having caused the drowning of a 14-year-old boy, entered a new phase today.

Within the past week dog-lovers have been collecting a fund, and to-day, Victor Fortune, owner of Idaho, announced that Harry A. Sessions, prominent lawyer of Rochester, had been retained.

"It is for those who would destroy the dog to prove that he is guilty," said Sessions.

Mimico Asks Probe Into $150,000 Blaze

TORONTO, July 28.—(CP)—The Mimico town council last night individually approved of a resolution calling upon Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck to launch a second investigation into the recent $150,000 Mimico fire "so that all the facts necessary to form an intelligent opinion will be revealed," but tabled the resolution until more facts are obtained.

Members said the fire marshall's report did not completely touch the cause of the fire. In the report Fire Marshal W. J. Scott blamed insufficient water pressure for the spread of the blaze and recommended construction of additional water mains.

FRED PERRY WINS FINAL NET MATCH TO RETAIN TROPHY

Ranking No. 1 Tennis Ace Ousts Crawford In Straight Sets

BRITAIN HOLDS CUP

WIMBLEDON, England, July 28 (CP Cable). — Fred Perry swept through Jack Crawford in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, today in the final match of the challenge round Davis Cup series, enabling Great Britain to retain the tennis trophy against the Australian challenge.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 28 (CP Cable).—Adrian Quist, Australian tennis champion, defeated Henry W. "Bunny" Austin of Great Britain, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, today in the fourth match of the challenge round series to tie the match count at two-all.

Quist's victory left the outcome of the series between Great Britain, seeking to retain the title she has held for the past three years, and the Australian challengers, strictly up to Fred Perry, the world's number one player, and the veteran Jack Crawford, who meet in the final singles match.

Tieing the match series was a great comeback for the Australians. They dropped both opening singles matches Saturday as Austin defeated Crawford and Perry defeated Quist. Then they took the doubles match today, with Quist and Crawford teaming up against Charles Tuckey and Pat Hughes.

The Aussies have a third man, Vivian McGrath, available in case of need. But it has been a two-man campaign, so far as they are concerned. Every match of the series has gone four sets to date.

Last Minute News Flashes

He was 66 years of age. "Billy" Matheson, as he was best known, was born in Cape Breton Island, N. S. and spent his early life there.

TORONTO — Premier Hepburn said today that because the Ontario government is sure there will be court cases in connection with the new Separate School tax legislation, members of the government will not try to interpret the act. All interpretations, he said, must be by corporations and their legal counsel.

Asks for Hamburger, Gets $75 on Plate

SPOKANE, Wash., July 28 (CP)—Police were on the lookout yesterday for a local cafe's most satisfied customer. He went in for a hamburger and was handed $75 on a platter.

The proprietor said he agreed to cash a cheque for Albert Gayda, a customer. Busy, he told the waitress to give the money to the man in the front booth. There were two front booths, and the fellow in the wrong one didn't wait for the hamburger.

FARMERS FIGHT BLAZING FIELD

One Hundred Men Help Fred. Walsh Of Douro As Flames Spread

CITY SENDS PUMP

Fire in a field of sweet clover on the farm of Fred Walsh, Douro township, was still burning this afternoon, but had been brought under control by nearly one hundred farmers from the neighboring district of Douro, Dummer and Asphodel townships.

Chief Gimblett sent reinforcement from the fire department this morning, a member of the brigade taking a Johnson motor pump and 2,000 feet of hose. J. J. Duffus accompanied this relief detachment, which was reported to have done effective work. The hose reached to the Indian River, turning a stream of water on to stumps and a corner of the woods which had caught fire.

A field of sweet clover, dry and inflammable from the recent drought, was first noticed burning about 5 p.m. Monday. Neighbors fought the blaze during the evening, and at that time it was believed to be under control. Some men remained on watch all night. This morning the fire picked up new vigor, and by noon it was said to have extended over ten acres.

Men from the Douro countryside, friends from Warsaw and Asphodel organized a squad of fire fighters assisted by trucks which brought water from the river. At noon their work had gained complete control but patches of ground and stumps of trees were still burning when The Examiner telephoned this afternoon.

It was stated that the origin of the fire was unknown.

HOLLAND SWAMP HUNT CALLED OFF AFTER 3RD ARREST

Two Toronto Men Nabbed At Their Homes—Both Ex-Convicts

FOURTH MAN KNOWN

OWEN SOUND, Ont., July 28 (CP)—The manhunt in Holland township's swamps, 20 miles south of Owen Sound, was called off today with the arrest of three of four men who allegedly broke into the brewers' warehouse at Wiarton early yesterday and attempted to carry away a safe containing $2,000.

TORONTO, July 28.—(CP). —Two men were arrested in Toronto today for their alleged part in breaking into the Brewers' Warehouse yesterday at Wiarton. They are Melville Campbell, 34, formerly of Owen Sound, and Noel Charon, 37, George Maxwell, a third man, allegedly a member of the quartet that attempted to carry away a safe with $2,000, surrendered yesterday at Dornoch, 20 miles south of Owen Sound.

Campbell, who operates a gasaline station on Ct. Clair ave. West, was arrested at his home on Moore Avenue. He was charged with breaking into the warehouse; Police said he claimed he was not near Wiarton or Owen Sound at the time of the burglary.

Shortly afterwards Charon walked into the hands of police when he entered his room in a downtown hotel. He was charged with breaking into the warehouse and shooting with intent at police officers.

Both Ex-Convicts.

Police said both Campbell and Charon were recently released from penitentiary.

When Charon walked into the room police closed in on him without drawing revolvers.

The officers said Charon told them: "I was the most surprised man in the wo d when I found you here. He was well dressed and police said there was a large wardrobe of clothing in his room.

WALK OVER FOR STUBBS

Premier Sees Edge Of Twenty Slipping—Possibility No Party May Have Clear Majority

WINNIPEG, July 28.—(CP). — The Liberal-Progressive total of members elected to the Manitoba Legislature reached 18 to-day as the Government of Premier J. Bracken fought to recover losses to Conservative and Social Credit candidates.

Conservatives and Social Credit standard-bearers had taken seven seats from the Liberal-Progressive but the victory of F. C. Bell in Birtle by a majority of only 25 over W. C. Wroth, Conservative, gave Mr. Bracken's party a seat held in the last legislature by an Independent.

Majorities for Government candidates in practically all constituencies they held previously were cut down and the Premier say his majority of 20 in the last legislature slipping away. There was a possibility no party would have a clear majority.

Conservatives have elected seven members, Social Credit three, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation one and Independent one. Twenty-four other seats in the 53 to be decided in the General Provincial election yesterday remained in doubt.

Standing At 2 o'Clock

Standing by parties in the Manitoba provincial election at 12 p.m. (2 p.m. E.D.T.) today:

Liberal Progressives elected, 18; Conservatives elected, 7; Social Credit elected 3; C.C.F. elected, 1; Independent elected, 1. Liberal-Progressives, leading, 6; Conservatives, leading, 9; C.C.F., leading, 3; Social Credit, leading, 2; Independent, leading, 2; Communist, lead, 1; deferred 2. Total 55.

20 Second Counts

Second counts in about 20 constituencies will be required to decide the final outcome under the single transferable system of voting. They include Brandon, conceded to the Conservatives, and Dauphin, conceded to the Liberal-Progressives. A clear majority must be attained by a candidate to be elected.

Two cabinet members retained their seats and two others were leading in the race for re-election but Hon. R. G. A. Hoey, Minister of Education, was losing out to Herbert Sulkers, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, in a three-cornered fight in St. Clements.

SHOWERS BRING RELIEF IN MIDWEST

Chicago Reports 50 Per Cent. New Trees Killed By Heat In Forest Preserves

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Scattered showers brought widespread relief to the heat-harassed United States midwest to-day.

Rain—too light to break the crop-killing drought in most areas but substantial in others—fell in parts of the lower Missouri, middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska and western South Dakota.

Fresh precipitation was indicated for to-day in the southern section of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas and for tomorrow in parts of the arid Dakotas and western Minnesota.

Ohio thunderstorms routed a hot wave as three persons were killed by lightning.

Three men perished in a forest fire raging along a 25 mile front near Havre, Mont. A new flare of flames in the national forest near Winacmac, Ind., brought out 600 men to attempt to stem the conflagration.

The long dry spell's effect on timber was gauged in an official estimation that approximately 50 per cent of the trees planted in the Cook County (Chicago) forest preserves this spring had died.

Quints Stage Daily Show Beside Their Bathing Pool

Youngsters' Magnet Loses None Of Its Power—3,000 To 6,000 Tourists Daily

NOW 26 MONTHS OLD

By A. E. Fulford.
(Candian Press Staff Writer).

CALLANDER, Ont., July 28. — The Dionne Quintuplets are 26 months old today and had nothing more important to do than dip their pink toes into their bathing pool and splash water on each other.

They have been doing that each day for more than a month now to the vast amusement of people who come from all over the world to see them.

Between 3,000 and 6,000 persons flock into Callander and out to the Dafoe nursery to watch the youngsters stage their act twice each day. It's an unconscious performance for the youngsters don't know they are being watched. The visitors peer at them through glass and screening but the babies can't see them.

1950 Cars In One Day.

The influx of tourists—1,950 cars have been counted in one day—converts the 100-yard long stretch of widened roadway in front of the Dafoe nursery into acircus-like pageant of hot dog stands, souvenir vendors and gas stations. Thousands crowd into the space, buy pictures of the youngsters to take home and then stand in line for an hour or more for a sight of the babies at play.

But they go way satisfied they have seen something that can't be witnessed anywhere else on earth—five quintuplets alive and glowing with health. Few grumbles as guards ask them to move along quickly through the semi-circular gallery from which they look into the babies' playground.

If they are lucky they may catch Emilie playing with the frog which

19,000 Reported Slain In 13 Days of Fighting War Goes on Unabated

Fears Rise For Safety Of Foreigners In Barcelona If City Falls To Rebels

GERMANS SEND MORE SHIPS

Foreign Legion And Crack Morocco Troops Assail Loyalist Malaga

GIBRALTAR, July 25.—(AP)—Spanish rebel leaders have ordered their men to "cut off the heads of all Communists," a Reuters News Agency correspondent reported here last night on his return from the La Linea front.

The correspondent said he saw 100 Communists behind bars at La Linea where a fierce battle raged between loyalists and rebel forces. He quoted one of the revel guards as saying: "By Wednesday none will be left alive at the rate we are going now."

He added he 'understood 20 were killed this morning and 20 last night inside the barracks." He was escorted back to the frontier toward Gibraltar by two armed sentries and a sub-lieutenant, obliged, he said, "to march with my hands up all the way."

Rebels claimed several hundred loyalists had been "wiped out" in the La Linea battle today. They lost 60 of their own men, reports reaching here stated, and not a single loyalist escaped.

Over 19,000 Casualties

The Madrid Government's estimate that to date casualties exceed 19,000 including 3,000 at Barcelona and 1,000 in Madrid in twelve days fighting.

The safety of foreigners at Barcelona was believed dependent upon the outcome of a Government assault on the rebel stronghold at Zaragoza. A reverse for the loyalists, it was feared, would result in new excesses in the Catalonian capital.

Reich Sends More Warships.

Germany vigorously protested damage to German lives and property as a result of the revolt, held the Madrid Government responsible for reparations, and despatched four additional warships to reinforce two pocket battleships now in Spanish waters.

Eighty Red prisoners at La Linea were taken from their barracks prison and shot in batches by rebel forcesof occupation.

Foreign Legoin in Action.

GIBRALTAR, July 28.—(UP).—The Spanish Foreign Legion and crack Moorish troops from Spanish Morocco advanced yesterday to the attack of Malaga, red stronghold held for the Government by Communists. The rebels pressed on after killing 100 reds who attempted to prevent their crossing the Guadiaro River.

The Spanish civil war, meanwhile, continued to keep refugee-filled Gibraltar the centre of a war zone.

Sound of the firing between rebels and loyalist reds on the Malaga road was clearly audible.

Government airplanes dropped bombs on San Roque in an effort to dislodge insurgeants there.

CAMPBELLFORD.

TOWN VETERANS HONOR COMRADES

Ex-Servicemen Place Wreath On Campbellford Cenotaph On Sunday

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28. — Campbellford Branch of the Canadian Legion observed Decoration Day here on Sunday, when all the ex-service men of the district, under command of Major J. M. Bygott, assembled at the Armouries and, accompanied by Mayor Frank Long and members of the town council, marched to the cenotaph, where President H. A. MacColl took charge of the services. After the placing of flowers. Rev. B. Simpson Black read the scripture lesson; Rev. L. M. Smith offered prayers and Mayor Long, in a brief address, paid tribute to those who had made the supreme sacrifice.

Rev. T. H. Floyd, in his address, said: "It is most difficult for one whose business is to know and preach the Gospel not to connect such a service of commemoration as this with some particular verse of scripture—the verse uppermost in my mind to-day is one found in Exodus, chapter 12, verse 14: "This day shall be unto you for a memorial." The Jewish Passover, to which it refers, was a memorial by redemption of blood. Decoration Day, at which time we lay our fairest flowers on the graves of soldiers and our cenotaphs, in memory of those who died that we might live, is likewise a memorial by redemption of blood. Without the shedding of bloed there is no remission, and without the shedding of blood there is no civilization. The custom of decorating graves with flowers is wide in its practice. The Jews put the grave near the family home, that it might be remembered. The Romans laid violets and roses on the graves of their dead. The Japanese observe death days when photographs of those who have passed on are very much in evidence. The Chinese erect buildings as memorials to their famous dead.

The Christian custom of keeping the grass on the graves green and planting flowers symbolizing the resurrection, is one of our most beautiful customs. It is then in conformity to an ancient custom that we decorate the graves of the heroic dead, who fought and fell that their country might survive.

It is but natural that flowers should give expression to our love for the departed; theirs is an oratory that speaks in perfumed silence. But the function of such a day as this is always two-fold. If it has flowers and orations for the dead, it has also exhortations for the living.

To make our patriotism Christian a day like to-day teaches us the value of peace—we are all pacifists at heart but that we should realize at what price we obtained our freedom—humanly speaking our only hope of peace is in a strongly-armed Britain, for with a well-armed Britain, who would dare disturb the peace of the world? In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Floyd said that our prayers should be: "That God may overrule the passions and designs of men and give to a troubled world a lasting peace."

Salvation Army Captain J. Douglas Sharp sounded the Last Post and Reveille after which two minutes' silence was observed in memory of those who had given their lives in the Great War.

WESTERN DROUGHT AREAS WIDENING SEE FEED SHORTAGE

Foothill Provinces Expect To Be Forced To Move 500,000 Cattle

PRAYERS ARE OFFERED

WINNIPEG, July 28.—(CP)—With little relief in sight in the form of rain Western Canada today hoped for a moderation of warm winds that would enable farmers to harvest their crops and aid fire-fighters in controlling forest fires in scattered areas of Alberta.

Continued absence of general moisture throughout rich grain producing districts of the Prairie provinces has brought an extension of drought areas in southern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan with increased fear of an acute feed shortage.

Already plans to enlist federal government aid were under consideration in Alberta and Saskatchewan. In the foothills province Provincial Treasurer Cockroft estimated more than 500,000 head of cattle would have to be disposed of.

A similar situation was reported to exist in the central prairie province where the government contemplated an agreement with packers to slaughter surplus livestock. Transportation of cattle to greener pastures in the north was expected to be offered for stock remaining through agreements with railroad companies.

Not To Late To Save Pastures

It was not yet considered too late, however, for generous rainfall to revive parched grazing lands. Immediate precipitation to reclaim grassland reserves was necessary to furnish feed for horses and cattle throughout the long winter months.

While prayers were held in churches for rain to relieve drought harassed district in Southern Alberta forest fires menaced rich timber lands in the southwestern areas bordering on the British Columbia boundary-line.

Flames that were believed under control in the Castle River district spread over a 25-mile front. Hundreds of men were recruited in an effort to save ranch property in the vicinity of Pincher Creek and Lundbreck. Rain was urgently needed, forestry officials declared, to bring the outbreak under control.

Combines were being overhauled in Southern portions of the three provinces in preparation for harvesting the 1936 crop. Cutting of oats for fodder has been in progress for several days.

MANITOBA VOTE STILL UNCERTAIN

Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works, was re-elected in Morris and Hon. I. B. Griffiths, Minister of Health, retained his seat in Russell. Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources, and Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, were among the 10 likely to be elected in Winnipeg.

Bracken's Fight Later

Premier Bracken and Hon. E. G. A. McPherson, Provincial Treasurer, are candidates in deferred elections Aug. 21 in The Pas and Rupert's Land.

The run away victory of L. St. George Stubbs, Independent, in Winnipeg was highlight of the voting. Removed three years ago from the county court bench on charges of conduct unbecoming a judge following his criticism of law enforcement and the bench, Mr. Stubbs topped the Winnipeg poll to set a record of 24,671 first choices.

Far Over the Quota

Winnipeg elects 10 members under proportional representation, and Mr. Stubbs' total put him far over the quota which is expected to be around 7,000. The final first count has not yet been made, and until it is the quota will not be established. It is arrived at by dividing the number of seats plus one into the total vote and adding one.

In the ridings outside Winnipeg, where the single transferable vote system was in effect, a majority must be reached by one candidate to gain election. Where no majority is reached on the first count, the low candidate is eliminated and his second choices distributed.

Conservatives won four seats from the Liberal-Progressives and Social Credit nominees were conceded two. Errick F. Willis, Conservative leader, won election in Deloraine with a majority of 375 over Russell Barrett, Liberal-Progressive. It was one of the seats lost by the government to the Conservatives.

Making its first bid for votes, the Manitoba Social Credit League saw its first seat gained when the constituency of St. George was conceded to Miss Salome Haldorson, one of four women candidates. Gilbert Plains was added to the Social Credit list when Dr. S. F. Fox won a majority on the first count in a three-cornered fight. He collected 18 votes more than his two opponents.

When counting of ballots ended after the election of 1932, Premier John Bracken, head of the government since 1922, held a majority of 20. The party standing at that time was: Liberal-Progressives, 38; Conservatives, 10; C.C.F., 5; Independents, 2. Total 55.

Standing at Dissolution.

At dissolution, the party standing was : Liberal-Progressives, 36; Conservatives, 9; C. C. F., 5; Independents, 2; Vacant, 33; Total, 55.

The C. C. F. saw its support in Winnipeg slip and other parties likewise failed to get the usual number of first choices—a result of the landslide for Mr. Stubbs. Running next to Mr. Stubbs was James Litterick, a Communist and district secretary of the party.

Col. R. H. Webb, for a dozen years Mayor for Winnipeg, was leading the Conservative candidates in Winnipeg and Mr. Major Topped the Liberal-Progressives. The C.C.F. last election put four Winnipeg members in the house— this year onlyone was above the 3,000-mark. He was Marcus Hyman, a former member seeking re-election. Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, S. F. Farmer, C. C. F., leader, were in good position to be re-elected.

HEPBURN COHORTS DISCOVER FLAW SCHOOL TAX BILL

Fear New Arrangement Will Not Cover Grants To Be Lost

MAY BE AMENDED

TORONTO, July 28.— Hepburn government supporters have uncovered what is considered "a flaw" in the school tax bill. The result is that the hotly argued bill or the school grant system may be amended next session.

North and East Problem.

The "flaw" has come to light in North and East Ontario. In many districts, it is said, separate school supporters are beginning to feel they are going to get very little money from the new tax. So little, it is said, that the tax returns will not be as great as the school grants paid since 1930 by the Province.

At Queen's Park no school grant policy for 1937 has been announced by the Government. But in the past three weeks Premier Hepburn has shown Protestant farm audiences how they will benefit when the Treasury does not have to pay special grants to the separate schools. These speeches have been read as the knell of the increasing grants for separate schools.

Three-Horned Dilemma.

But the new East Ontario development, it is stated, complicates the tax tangle into a three-horned dilemma. The possibilities are:

1.—The school tax law will be brought down to the Legislature this coming session and amended.

2.—Grants to East Ontario separate schools will continue on about the same scale in some form or another.

3.—The separate schools will get the new tax but lose the grants—or, in other words, the Government "stands pat."

The big objection to the last-

GRAIN AND ALSIKE THRESHING STARTS HASTINGS COUNTY

Showers Filling Late Oats — Corn, Tomatoes Look Promising

WHEAT YIELDING WELL

TORONTO, July 28. — (CP). — Threshing of early grain and alsike clover is underway in Hastings County, the Department of Agriculture crop report said. Drought reduced the grain crop seriously, but late oats were helped by showers.

Showers fell in Prince Edward and more rain is needed. Harvesting of spring grain has begun and yield will be very light and quality inferior. In general, tomatoes and corn looked promising.

Peterborough County reported a few reports coming in that fall wheat is yielding better than was anticipated, but the kernels are slightly shrunken.

Crops were aided in Victoria by cooler weather and showers, with pastures and hop crops receiving most benefit. Fall wheat harvesting was about three-quarters completed. Peas were reported cut for feed in some cases, and raspberries were only half a crop.

Some Hay Out Yet.

Carleton County crops gave every indication of good yields. Barley and oats were ripening rapidly. Much hay yet remains to be saved.

In Frontenac early fields of oats were reported practically ready for cutting, but will not yield heavily due to the hot weather. Later fields are in the milk stage, and under a recent heavy rain should fill out well. Haying has been practically completed. Second growth of alfalfa and red clover was short and thin due to the drought.

In Grenville field crops look well. Some early grain has been cut. Second growth alfalfa looked well.

Glengary reported field crops appeared in good condition, with odd exception of grain lodging due to rain and heavy crops.

Rain was beneficial in Leeds, particularly to corn, potatoes, roots, pastures, buckwheat and late grain. Some early oats, barley and wheat have been cut.

In Prescott and Russell rains improved field and garden crops. Timothy acreage was slightly reduced due to prevalence this year of oxeye daisy. The hay market appeared improving and prospects for better prices appeared good. Hop growers complained that the "hop vine borer" has done considerable damage in old yards, in some cases as high as 30 per cent. of the vines being affected.

Cutting Well on in Kent.

In Kent, wheat, barley and much of the oat crop have been cut and threshing operations were reported general. Wheat yields were fair to good and barley yields were well above the average and of good quality.

Harvest was in full swing in Lambton. Fall wheat yielded an average of 30 to 35 bushels an acre. Alsike clover was a big crop and threshed in most areas from three to four bushels an acre, in some instances higher. Early oats of good quality were being harvested. Late oats cannot be a good sample owing to lack of rain.

Rain came to the aid of vegetable crops in Lincoln, but was too late to be of any great benefit to grain crops, although field corn took on a new lease of life.

In Middlesex stook threshing of wheat was general, with yields varying from under 20 to more than 40 bushels an acre with 25 to 30 bushels common. The grain was hard, though shrunken slightly from the excessive heat. The test was up to standard, and some new wheat was sold at 80 cents a bushel in Welland. Rainfall greatly improved the outlook for late crops, pasture, corn, roots, tree fruits and vegetables. A two-day rain brought a fall of 1.7 inches, the same amount that fell previously since May 20.

Potatoes Recovering.

Late crops in particular received the most benefit and early potatoes, which were coming on the market small, began to recover.

Bruce County reported the rain fairly general. A good deal of wheat in the southern part has been cut and the crop is fair to good.

In Dufferin, the outlook for potatoes was improved because of rain, but all crops and pasture could stand more moisture.

Harvesting of fall wheat, barley and early oats was in progress in Halton and reports on these crops were more encouraging than had been anticipated. Rain was of "inestimable value" to roots, corn and pasture and perhaps to some of the late grain crops.

In Huron about 60 per cent. of wheat acreage has been cut, also some barley and a few fields of early oats. Wheat is fair sample, and the yield may be somewhat below normal.

Rain Goes Down 3 Inches.

Rainfall in north Simcoe County penetrated the soil three to five inches, but it was too late to help much of the early oat crop, though barley and late oats will show improvement. Potatoes, corn and roots in south Simcoe showed recovery from the drought.

Brightened crop outlook was reported from Waterloo County, where the northern section received the most rain. The root crops will benefit and yield of late-sown grains may increase. More rain is needed to help pastures. Most of the wheat in the south of the county was reported harvested. In the north farmers were just starting to cut early oats and barley.

Generous rains in Wellington County brought benefit to corn, potatoes roots, buckwheat and pastures.

In Elgin cutting of grain was reported progressing, with some wheat and oats threshed. Wheat yields varied from 20 to 40 bushels an acre, with the average 25 to 30. Oats yield was 30 to 70 bushels an acre.

Wheat cutting in Haldimand was practically completed and spring grains, such as barley and early oats, were being harvested. The oat crop is variable, but the yield will probably be better than expected.

TRIO SURROUNDED IN DORNOCK SWAMP ONE SURRENDERS

Police Give Fugitives Gun Battle For 13 Miles Before Car Is Abandoned

MACHINE BLOODSTAINED

OWEN SOUND, July 25 (CP)—Three men wanted for breaking and entering a Wiarton beer warehouse early yesterday remained hidden last night in swamp lands at Dornoch, 20 miles south of here, as darkness closed down to make the task of 20-odd police officers more difficult.

A fourth man, giving his name as George Maxwell of Mutual street, Toronto, surrendered during the afternoon. He was immediately taken to Walkerton. A dark, thin-faced man, he walked from a field to the highway, signalling his surrender. He wore a green pullover sweater and gay trousers.

Police surprised the quartet as they carried a safe with about $2,000 in it from the warehouse. They fled in an automobile as Provincial Constable W. A. Embleton fired five shots, one of which he believed wounded a member of the group.

Warned of the incident and the route the quartet would probably take, Provincial Constable Otto McClevis and Chief Constable Myers of Hanover attempted to stop the fleeing men at Chesley. They met a hail of bullets.

66 Bullets Go Over Heads

"We stepped into the road," said McClevis, "and from the front seat a long-muzzled gun was put out and the men opened fire on us. From the rear, a man with two automatics leaned out and fired but the bullets went over our heads.

"Then it was our turn. I had a rifle and Myers a revolver. Every time we fired, glass flew from the windshield and front window but they kept going.

"We wheeled our car and went after them for 13 miles, travelling at 80 to 85 miles an hour. We chased them across country to No. 6 highway and were so close they were unable to make the turn into the highway. Half a mile east of Dornoch they abandoned their car and took to the swamp. One man went north and we fired at him as he disappeared in a wheat field. The others struck out for the swamps toward the south."

The abandoned car had bloodstains in the rear seat. A man who boarded a bus for Guelph after buying a ticket at a Dornoch general store now is believed to be the man who separated from his three companions. He is said to have left the bus at Durham.

Gifts from three kings, three queens and from the late Emperor and Empress of Russia were bequeathed by Vice-Admiral Sir Robert Mansell of England.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield, K. C., of Galt with his wife and family are vacationing at the summer home of Mr. Henry Denne, Stoney Lake. Son of Judge C. H. Widdifield of Toronto, Mr. Widdifield was formerly City Solicitor in Peterborough.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall of Montreal, formerly of this city, have returned to their home from New York and Garden City, Long Island. While in New York, Dr. Marshall attended the convention of the American Osteophathic Association held in the Waldorf-Astoria.

Dr. Willoughby and family of Washington, D. C., are in residence at their summer home on Stoney Lake. Dr. Willoughby, formerly a professor of political economy at Johns Hopkins, has been prominent in the American national spotlight in recent months as one of the advisors to the Roosevelt administration.

Rev. Emmanuel Papastephanou of the Greek Orthodox Church, Toronto, is making a pastoral visit to this city. Each year he completes a tour of visits to the principal centers of the Province to administer rites of his church to scattered adherents who have not access to the churches at Toronto or Ottawa. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Yeotes.

Among those in attendance at the funeral of the late Mary Ann Legrow from outside the city were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Moloney, Mr. Ed. Moloney and Mrs. Charles Fehrnback, all of Cordova Mines. Miss Ellen and Mr. Patrick Terrion of Marmora, Mr. and Mrs. George Wiggins and Mrs. A. Spencer of Havelock, Mrs. Douglas Hatton and children of Windsor, Mrs. M. Nolan and daughter of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. Leonard Henry and Mr. Duke Campbell of Toronto.

Members of both the Federal and Provincial Liberal organizations for this district plan to co-operate in arranging the luncheon and reception for Premier Hepburn during his visit here for the purpose of opening the Peterborough Exhibition. The luncheon is to take place on the grounds at Engleburn Park, residence of Mr. W. F. Huycke, K. C. A joint meeting for representatives of the two organizations is to be held during the next few days. Mr. E. L. Sackville is president of the Federal Organization and Dr. Munro of Warsaw is president of the Provincial Organization.

Capacity Crowd At Sunday School Outing.

A capacity crowd of boys and girls, accompanied by many of their parents, joined in the Salvation Army Sunday school picnic at Wallace's Point. A tour down the river and around Rice Lake enjoyed before the stop was made at Wallace's Point. A fine program of races for children and adults was run off.

Among the winners of the various events were the following: Girls and boys 4 years and under, Cathie Craig and Grace Bowes; girls 5 and 6 years, Helen Pomeroy and Jean Eagleton; boys 5 and 6 years, George Spenceley and Donald Padgett; girls 7 and 8 years, Olive Smith and Faith Frost; boys 7 and 8 years, Bud Tripp and Severn Fowler; girls 9 and 10 years, Ruby Tripp and Elsie Cox; boys 9 and 10 years, Clifford Byers and Leonard Slaughter; girls 11 and 12 years, Joyce Spenceley and Marjorie Cunningham; boys 11 and 12 years, Joe Craig and Noel Payne; girls 13 and 13 years, Artyth Richardson and Lizzie Bowes; boys 13 and 14 years, Leonard Barringer and Jack Cox; ladies' open, Mrs. A. Smith, Jr.; and Jean Cox; men's open, Mr. Padgett; slow walking race, J. Cunningham and Mrs. S. Dunk.

C.C.Y.M. Members Enjoy Chemong Picnic.

Games and swimming were enjoyed at a pleasant week-end picnic to Chemong Park in which members of the Peterborough club of the Canadian Co-operative Youth Movement joined. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bircoff, Mr. and Mrs. Dinisen, Mr. and Mrs. Royea, Mr. and Mrs. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, the Misses Zenia and Metty Bircoff, Doris and Margaret Royea, Margaret and Mae Lambert, Marjorie Hall, Marjorie Powell, Margaret Carveth, Ethel Cooney, Norma Draper; and Messrs. Walter Dinisen, Kay Dinisen, Bill Wiggins, Art Metcalf, Gerry Coveney, Alex Runnett and Vernon Bircoff.

Former Local Organist Honored at Perth.

Mr. R. J. Devy, organist and choirmaster of St. James' Anglican Church, Perth, and formerly organist at St. John's Church in Peterborough, has been appointed Grand Organist of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario, A.F. and A.M., by Grand Master A. J. Anderson, for the coming year.

The newly - appointed Grand Lodge officer is a member of Peterborough Lodge No. 155 and True Britons' Lodge, No. 14, Perth, with the rank of Past Master in the former and organist in the Perth Lodge. Congratulations have been received by Mr. Devey both from Perth and Peterborough Masonic brethren.

DIFFICULTIES are things that show what men are.
—Epictetus.

* * *

Dear Friends:

Have you ever come up against some difficulty in your life and, no matter which way you looked, you could see no way out? If you do this, so and so will happen, and if you do that, what will be the result? Yet do one or the other you must, and so you sway this way and that in your mind, and you are hard put to it to decide.

Those who have things more or less all their own way can come out with a lot of advice, saying, "If I were you I'd do this, or I'd do the other thing," but the trouble is that they are NOT you, so cannot know all your circumstances.

Personally, when I come up against a choice of difficulties, I think earnestly of what would be the best thing to do for all concerned, then go ahead and do it, and if it turns out bad, I just think, "Oh, well, what about it? I did the best I could."

You cannot straddle the fence and go places, and the more you conquer your difficulties the easier they become. Right now I am up to my neck in difficulties, but I'll master them somehow. I just live one day at a time, and if I get through that alright I am thankful.

After all, what more can you do than your best? If you cannot get the thing you want to-day, well, you may get to-morrow. But it is how you master your difficulties or let them master you which determines the type of person you are.

Lying down wailing about how hard life has treated you will not help. But buckling right down and thinking that you will master these things or die in the attempt that shows what a spirit you have, and curiously enough, most troubles can be mastered easier than we ever think they can.

No man or woman have reached their ambition in life without having to conquer things as they came along. We see their success, but not their travail, and many times they must have been tempted to let the whole thing go. But they were determined to reach their goal, and so they kept on, gritted their teeth, and kept on again.

The biggest thing we have to face is that we keep looking at someone else who seems not to have the struggle we have, and so let ourselves get discouraged. If a thing is worth having, it is worth some effort, yet so many think that everything should just fall into their lap.

Others again seem just to conquer one set of difficulties when they come bang up against another set. Oh, well, just think that life does not last forever, and that if God picked you for the conquering kind you will just have to go through with it. But have all the fun you can out of it.

It may be that you are meant to show those with weaker will-power how to overcome things. And when you get mad at all these things coming barging up to you, just think also what a kick you will get out of subduing them, and using them to your own advantage. They give some spice to your life, even although they may bring tears to your eyes, grey hairs to your head, and sorrow to your heart. So fight on and do your best, and e your difficulties fade away like mist in the morning.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

2994

Smart juniors know they can't have too many shirtmaker frocks in their summer wardrobe.

Here's a darling with cool action-pleat sleeves. They are a desirable feature for spectator sports as well as for active sports. Buttons attract attention to the soft bodice fulness. There's a kick pleat at the front of the skirt. It provides plenty of freedom for activities.

Yellow cotton shirting madras as the original is very smart with brown grosgrain ribbon belt and bow tie.

It's nice in crispy cool sheer seersucker, pique, shantung, linen weaves tub silks, etc.

Style No. 2994 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 2-inch ribbon for bow.

ALL SAINTS TO HEAR REV. JOHN FURLONG

Halifax Rector Will Officiate During August Vacation by Rev. J. D. Paterson.

During the absence of the rector the services in All Saints' church will be conducted by the Rev. John Furlong of Halifax, N.S. Mr. Furlong is rector of St. Mark's church which is the military and naval church of Halifax attended by the garrison and by the officers and men of such ships of the Royal Navy as may be stationed in Halifax.

Mr. Furlong with his wife and two daughters will be at All Saints' rectory during their stay in Ontario.

It is interesting to know that the Rev. J. Furlong succeeded the Rev. J. D. Paterson, at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin in Toronto many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Furlong intend to stay in the city during August and are looking forward to participating in the community affairs of the city. Mr. Furlong will conduct the church parade of the 3rd Prince of Wales' Canadian Dragoons when they are in camp under Lieut-Colonel M. R. Sloan next weekend.

If your guests are sophisticated and have been places and done things they will appreciate iced coffee if you prepare it thus.

Iced Coffee.

Make coffee in the approved manner: If you use a dripolator add 3 level tablespoons finely ground coffee to each cup of boiling water. If you percolate your coffee the same proportions are used but the coffee is not so finely ground. If you boil your coffee start it in cold water and just let it come to the boiling point, using the same proportions as above, but adding the crumbled shell from 1 or 2 eggs to settle the grounds.

To put it briefly—make good coffee and chill it quickly. You might add 2 ice cubes without injuring the flavor—it needs to stand in the ice box 3 hours to become thoroughly cold. Serve it in tall glasses, add sugar for those that want it and using heavy cream ladle it on to the surface of the coffee in such a way that it remains in a layer on the surface—this is a little trick but easy to do if you move slowly. Coffee served thus must be sipped through the cream—if straws are used the cream is not tasted at all.

QUESTION: Would you please send me the recipe for open-face strawberry pie? It must be delicious and I should like to try it.
Mrs. A. P.

ANSWER:

Open-Face Strawberry Pie.

Line a large deep pie plate with rich plain paste or with puff paste and bake it, pricking it to keep it from puffing up in the centre too much—bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for first 10 minutes, reducing temperature to finish it. Cool and fill with fresh whole berries that have been well drained of their washing water, so they do not moisten the crust. Sprinkle them with 1-3 cup granulated sugar. Now comes the clear red sauce that is a mystery to so many cooks. Mash the less choice berries until you have 1 cup and to them add ½ cup sugar in which has been mixed 2 tablespoons of cornstarch or 3 tablespoons powdered arrowroot (to be bought at the drug store)—the arrowroot gives an almost clear finished syrup—and add ½ cup water to this mixture and cook, stirring constantly until it thickens—then let cook over double boiler for ½ hour, stirring frequently, then strain while it is hot over the cold berries in pie—allowing it to trickle down the sides and over all of the berries. Serve not more than 2 hours after it is assembled if you want it at its best.

QUESTION: Could you give me a recipe for making apple cider, also how to press the apples without a press? In short, I would like to know how to make it without special equipment. P. H. B.

ANSWER: It is not practical to make apple cider without a press—however, it is possible.

Put the apples through your kitchen food chopper, using the finest knife, and catch all the juice that leaks through the crevices. Put apples and juice in a jelly bag and let them drip, pressing the bag with the hands to extract as much juice as possible. What juice you extract in this way is cider—however, you cannot press the apple pulp as dry with this drip method as the cider press does—so the method is not economical.

We hope we can be of practical help to you some time and will be pleased to hear from you again.

QUESTION: Would you please publish a recipe for strawberry jam in the very near future. Last year I tried to make some and it turned out to be very thick preserves. I believe I put a cup of sugar to a cup of fruit. I'd rather have a recipe which does not call for Certo, if you have one. Your page certainly is one grand help. Keep up the good work.

I am enclosing a few of my popular recipes (at least my family thinks they are). Perhaps you already have them.

Raisin Delight.
(Send in by "Dode")

A good dessert when eggs are scarce.

Place the following in baking dish: 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, ¾ cup seeded raisins, 3½ cups boiling water. Make a stiff batter of 1 tablespoon butter, ½ cup white sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup flour, ½ cup milk. Drop batter into first mixture. The batter will come to the top and the other mixture forms the sauce. Bake in slow oven.

Orange Cake.
(Send in by "Dode")

Cream ½ cup butter; add 1 cup brown sugar and mix well. Add 2 unbeaten eggs, one at a time and beat after each one. Put through food chopper the following: 1 orange (rind and pulp) and ½ cup raisins or dates. Add 1 teaspoon soda to fruit, and then add to the first mixture. Sift 1½ cups flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder, and ½ teaspoon salt, add to mixture alternately with ½ cup milk. Bake in moderate oven and ice with butter icing.

I have difficulty getting my children to eat vegetables, but when we have steak casserole with vegetables they just can't get enough.

Steak Casserole with Vegetables.
(Sent in by "Dode")

Cut sirloin steak into pieces to serve—one piece to each person. Flour and brown in frying pan (I use bacon grease). Place steak in bottom of casserole, cut potatoes, carrots and turnips into cubes about ¼ inch and place on top of meat. Pour boiling water into frying pan, season with salt and pepper and pour over meat and vegetables. Cover and cook in hot oven. About half an hour before it is done, slice a large silver skin or Spanish onion on top and put back in oven with cover OFF. Requires about 1½ hours to cook this meat. Sometimes I substitute tomatoes and peas for the carrots and turnips, adding them with the onion.

The above is good with hot baking powder biscuits served separately.

I shall have to close now as my "not quite two-year-old" insists on trying to help me with this letter. I shall be looking for the strawberry jam. "Dode."

P.S.—I delayed sending this letter and now have two more requests. I remember in England we used to have fig and rhubarb jam. Could you give me this recipe? Also I recall a lady made a jam which she called "Heavenly hash." She cooked a cup of fruit (almost every kind as they come along) with 1 cup sugar and put into a stone crock. It was not sealed, and she kept adding the different fruits, and stirred it up well after each addition. Could you give me the details for making this too? Thank you a thousand times. I hope I am not too much bother. I promise I won't write often.—D.

Answer: Oh, please don't say you won't write often—I love getting such pleasant letters.

Thanks for the grand sounding recipes. The casserole of steak and vegetables is ours for life: we had it last night and everybody thought it was grand.

You probably have seen the strawberry jam recipe by now—it appeared two weeks ago—and my reasons for saying you will have to make it with certo—or mix it with fruits that contain more pectin than strawberries.

Rhubarb and Fig Conserve.

Four pounds rhubarb, 5 lbs. sugar, 1 lb. chopped figs, 2 oranges, 1 lemon. Wash and peel stalks of rhubarb and cut in 1-inch pieces. Put in kettle, sprinkle with sugar, and add raisins and grated rind and juice of oranges and lemons. Mix, cover and let stand for one-half hour. Place on range, bring to boiling point and let simmer forty-five minutes, stirring very frequently. Fill jelly glasses with mixture, cool and seal.

Tutti-fruitti is the nearest thing to the "Heavenly hash" you describe that I can recall.

Tutti Fruitti.

Put one pint of brandy into a stone jar, add the various fruits as they come into market; to each quart of fruit add the same quanaity of sugar and stir the mixture each morning until all the fruit has been added. Raspberries, strawberries, apricots, peaches, cherries and pineapples are the best to use.

We hope our information is as useful as yours and hope to hear from you often.

OBITUARY

MISS MEDDA E. SWINTON

The death occurred on Monday at Nicholls Hospital of Medda Elizabeth Swinton of R.R. No. 2 Smith Township after a brief illness. She was 52 years of age. A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Swinton, she had lived in the district all her life, having been born in Smith township. She was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Archie Atchison. The funeral is to be held from A. Comstock and Sons Funeral Home, 305 Water street on Thursday at 3.30 p.m. (D.S.T.), with the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. JEREMIAH LEGROW

The funeral of Mrs. Jeremiah Legrow took place on Monday morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. O'Grady, 136 Perry street, to the church of the Sacred Heart. Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Wilfred Terrion of Portsmouth, a nephew of the deceased, assisted by Rev. J. J. O'Brien as deacon, and Rev. J. C. Maloney as subdeacon, in the presence of many relatives and friends of the family. The pall-bearers were four grandsons, nephew and son-in-law. Mrs. Legrow is survived by three daughters, Mrs. O'Grady and Mrs. Jas. Mongraw of Peterborough, Mrs. P. Terrion of Michell, B.C., and two sons, John and Harold Legrow of Peterborough. Among the floral tributes was a beautiful basket from the post office staff of which John Legrow is a member.

MRS. FRANCIS COOKE

The death of Mrs. Francis G. Cooke occurred early this morning (Tuesday) at the residence, 174 Lock street, following an illness of five years. She was in her 33rd year.

Mrs. Cooke was formerly Bertha E. Clare. She was born in Birmingham, England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clare of Edison avenue in this city. Twenty-five years a resident here, she was a member of Mark Street United Church.

Her husband and father and mother survive.

The funeral will proceed from the family residence at 3 p.m. Thursday to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. C. D. Daniel of Palmerston, recently pastor of Mark Street Church here, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Thomas Gault of St. George's Anglican Church.

VIMY PILGRIMS DIES.

LONDON, July 28.—(CP Cable)—Mrs. Rosina Kemp of Calgary, a member of the Vimy pilgrimage, died today aboard the liner Antonio between Le Havre and Southampton. She was taken ill of heart disease at Arras Saturday.

Officials of the Antonio awaited instructions from her next-of-kin, Walter Kemp of Calgary.

Fenelon Falls Seeks New Vote On Beer

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Ont., July 28.—(CP)—The "battle for beer" which was believed settled definitely in Fenelon Falls, near here, when beer parlors were voted down by a large majority some time ago, is being revived with a majority of business men reported in favor of the establishing of a vendor's store for the sale of beer, wine and liquor.

A petition for another vote on this angle of the beverage situation is being circulated and is said to be receiving strong support. It is claimed by business men that they are losing considerable money because tourists pass up the district for others with liquor stores.

Wheat Surplus Gone?

It is safe enough to say that the wheat in storage has ceased to be a menace to future crops. The New York Times reports that virtually every wheat-producing country in the world has less than a normal crop this year. If people in United States eat their usual quota of bread and cereals this year they would have to scrape the bins and have nothing left over for a nest egg. United States has imported about 40,000,000 bushels of wheat, including flour equivalent, this year. The Times says the world supply of wheat at the moment is 5,274,726,000 bushels, while the world last year consumed 5,289,800,000 bushels. In these calculations Russian and Chinese wheat, which are usually left out of computations, are included, but the figures show that production and consumption in those countries are about equal.

The price of wheat should remain firm; it will probably increase, and in that case the lower grades of wheat may have a market value which has not been theirs for a number of years. In this province in recent years when wheat prices have been low a good many farmers have been putting most of their wheat through with chopped stuff for feeding, and they found it was possible to get more of their money back from beef than a straight selling of wheat at bargain prices. There are actually districts in Ontario which within recent years have bought more wheat than has been produced in these districts.

Killing Good Men

Prof. W. J. Squirrel, head of the Field Husbandry Department at the O.A.C. in Guelph, died before receiving hospital treatment following an automobile crash near Hamilton, and his wife was also seriously injured. From reports it appears another car, out of the line of traffic, crashed head-on into the car driven by Prof. Squirrel.

An accident of that kind makes one tolerably sure that we have not done enough yet to make our highways safe for traffic. Truth is Prof. Squirrel was too good and too useful a man to be made the subject for a head-on collision. For some years he was associatde with Dr. Zavitz in the Field Husbandry Department and for ten years has been in charge. His work has been chiefly in developing and improving new and better seeds for farmers of the province.

Those who knew Prof. Squirrel would be certain he would be driving on the right side of the road, well over, and he would not be going at an excessive speed. We make that statement before the inquest and we are certain it will be found to be correct. He was a scientist and gentleman in his work and he would be the same when driving his car. When traffic becomes such that it starts to kill off such men as Prof. W. J. Squirrel then traffic is wrong, and if it is wrong—and it is—then we have got to set it right.

Danger in Draining Swamps

The Mail and Empire believes farmers in Ontario should clean up lowlying and swampy areas on their farms. It contends:

"Is is not possible that the owner of a farm which contains a number of acres of swampy land, could by clearing up and draining this area, add largely to his productive area." In another place the Toronto paper says: "No effort has apparently been made of late years to remove the stumps and underbrush and drain the areas to make them arable."

It may be the Mail and Empire has some good authority to back up its opinion, but after making inquiry at several reliable places in Peterborough the Examiner has not found any one who believes in the business of draining available swamps, or doing too much cleaning up of what might be called scrub land. The view seemed to be that we have gone far enough in draining swamps, and also that once a swamp is drained it has no moisture left in it

We found among other things that farmers with some of this low land with underbrush or scrub trees on it find there has been some pasture left there through the dry season when there was none elsewhere. It saved them from having to start using winter feed in summer. From another man who had swamp and old upturned roots on his property we learned that in early spring his sons trapped a number of muskrats. This spring they had taken $120 in this way, and he remarked "one has to work quite a good number of acres to get $120 in cash."

We are inclined to believe we have drained too many swamps. In the spring about the time when floods were on we noticed several places in this district where there were fields with a close growth of rather small cedar. While the roads were bare and snow had gone from most of the fields it was still packed fairly deep in the places where the cedar growth was heavy. It was being held there and the snow would go away very gradually, and that is the way it should go away instead of hurrying off from lands which had been made bare by too much tree cutting and too much cleaning up of swamps.

Here in Peterborough we often wonder what is going to happen in years to come when we see day after day loads of wood coming from the surrounding districts. We know nothing is being planted to take its place, and although we are blessed with an abundance of water in this wide area, this continual denuding of the land is bound to have its effect in time. We have come to the conclusion there are certain well-fixed limits past which it is dangerous for man to go in interfering with the landscape as Nature provided it.

Why the Village Is Smaller

The clerk of an Ontario village of a thousand people stated recently that he had lived there long enough to see the community change from a fairly busy place of 1,600 to a rather quiet community of about 1,000. The Examiner asked him the reason, and he said it was due to the fact that the available supply of timber in the district had been used and also because there were so few farmers retiring now and coming to live in the place.

He explained that thirty years ago there were several factories in the village. One made berry boxes and baskets and cheese boxes, and the other made chairs and handles for forks and brooms, etc. In all there was employment for about 40 people, and the repair work from the factories kept a machine shop busy. When the timber of the sort needed was exhausted the factories closed and so did the machine shop. It was not profitable to bring the needed timber from greater distances. Then there used to be a woollen mill there but that closed when woollen mills started going into large units in a few places. He recounted that in all about 27 families had found it necessary to gradually leave and look for work elsewhere.

Farmers were not retiring as they formerly did; he said he could recall in the last ten years but two farmers who had moved to the village.

He reasoned it this way: Farm values have been low for a number of years. Previously a farmer depended on two things on which to retire: (1) the money he had saved through his years on the farm and (2) on the clearance sale he held before retiring. There was not much difficulty in former years of disposing of everything including the farm; farmers' notes were considered good then and often enough some person from the bank in the village would be clerk at the sale in order to secure as many of these notes as possible for his bank. Now, our informant explained, the bank does not want the farmers' notes and the farmer who wants to retire is not able to get any kind of a price for his farm, so the farmer has to stay even if he is too old for farming.

So this village was getting hit two ways—the industries had gone from it, and there is not any place for the young people to work, and the farmers who used to be in the market for village property are not coming in any more. The clerk of this community has always lived in the village and he had seen the change take place, and there is not the least doubt that a large number of our villages and towns have passed through similar experience.

It Was Well Done

A change is shortly forthcoming in the management of the Canadian Radio Commission but evidently the present organization does not intend to sit round and just fill in time until their stay in office is through.

At all events the Commission is to be congratulated upon doing an excellent job in the broadcasting of the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the memorial at Vimy Ridge by His Majesty the King. The whole program came through in excellent style, the technical difficulties of broadcasting an event 3,000 miles away being successfully overcome. The announcing by one of the Commission's staff was of high order, there was no difficulty in hearing the addresses, and the crowd noises and other sounds incidental to the ceremony, including the cheering with which the Canadian pilgrims welcomed the King and the commands given the guard of honor, were brought into thousands of Canadian homes with remarkable clearness. It was one of the best things the Commission has done and demonstrated that in technical ability the Canadian radio organization does not need to take a back seat for experts anywhere.

Education Is Needed

City police were busy on Saturday night educating the pedestrian section of the public how to cross the street at protected intersections and observation justifies the comment that the lessons are needed. There are far too many folk who fail to take advantage of the margin of safety offered them at corners where there are lights. Some of them disregard the signals altogether and saunter blithely out into the stream of traffic, in the face of the warning, making conscientious drivers gray-haired before their time.

American tourists declare that Peterborough has an unusually large percentage of "jay-walkers," that is the kind of pedestrian who not only pays not the least attention to the light signals and does not even bother his head about traffic, but strolls calmly across an intersection, sublimely oblivious to the fact that the warning light is showing and motor cars are bearing down upon him from two directions. It is a charge against which it is difficult to defend a large section of the community.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Where is there a fool proof sport. Here is an Alberta boy who breaks his arm in a pillow fight!

We would imagine the most general feeling in Manitoba just now is one of thankfulness that at all events the mid-summer election is at an end.

A five-legged frog is reported from Windsor. Probably the extra leg is for pushing the thing round the dried-up ponds.

Reports from the Vimy Pilgrims do not mention Mademoiselle from Armetieres, which seems to be a serious omission.

It is to be hoped there will be enough cabinet ministers left in Canada to give President Roosevelt a proper reception when he visits Quebec.

Premier King's appeal to Europe to obliterate whatever makes for war and for death is, unhappily, answered by orders for more battleships and airplanes.

Another Toronto picnic has drawn a visit from the police and confiscation of the liquid refreshment. The authorities probably take the view that there are enough beverage rooms for those who want to drink beer.

An umpire was felled with a pop bottle at a ball game in Chicago but it is not recorded that the action contributed in any way toward victory for the side favored by the partisan who did the shooting.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne has been named Joseph Oliva Robert Telesphore Dionne. The multiple system of births in the family has for the moment been changed to the multiple system of names.

Contests in elocution will be held at the Canadian National Exhibition this year and we suppose the changes will be rung on such old favorites as "Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night" for the benefit of visitors to the "Ex."

Canadian pilgrims greeted King Edward by singing "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" which may have been a bit informal but most certainly accurately expressed their feeling toward their monarch.

Toronto yachtsman says the best place to teach a lot of people how to drive cars would be the middle of the lake. There are folk driving fast motorboats who might well take some lessons in the same spot.

Somebody was heard lamenting the cost of the Vimy memorial the other day. If it is remembered that the expense involved would not have paid for the shells fired in half a day of battle on the Vimy front probably the thing would take on a different appearance.

With Quebec closing the office of its agent-general in London as an economy measure, British Columbia remains as the only province of Canada to be represented at the heart of Empire. It is not a trend that is welcome to those who urger closer Empire relations.

HE'S FINDING OUT

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Cousin Alf some time ago, he bought a wood-lot bungalo, it was set near the lake; he spoke of rest he'd have out there, and of the ancient clothes he'd wear, he'd be a happy rake.

¶ It would be nice to get away, and join the children in their play, it was a splendid lot; and he would soak up lots of rest, when he came back he'd feel his best, he'd lounge upon a cot.

¶ Well Alf packed up three weeks ago, his relatives all saw him so, he's lots of kith and kin; and every week one of these tribes, goes into huddles and decides, they'll go and visit him.

¶ When one set goes Alf heaves a sigh, he fairly yells his fond good-bye, he and his wife will loaf; next day more relatives drop in, perhaps two loads will call on him, he has to take them both.

¶ His wife is busy getting grub, at night Alf sleeps beneath a shrub, there is no room within; he can't get near the wash dish now, there's dirt and trouble on his brow, and whiskers on his chin.

¶ My Cousin Alf is feeling glum, hopes that his stay will soon be done, his nerves are all on ends; before he bought his bungalo, he says he really did not know—he had so many friends.

Harvest May Be Average Even Yet

(By Rusticus in the Stratford Beacon-Herald)

ON THE FARM: The drought is broken. The earth has felt the magic touch of life-giving raindrops. Quite likely this has been about as dry a period as Ontario has ever experienced. We came about as near having a crop failure as we have in many years, but we cannot talk of crop failure now. While it is certain that our spring crops, roots and potatoes are not going to be a bumper crop, there is still the possibility of harvesting fair crops when hay, wheat and other grains are balanced against the average year. No one can say even yet what the yield or quality of grain is likely to be.

Farmers in these parts have been hard hit. There is no discounting that fact. Those hot, dry weeks when pastures burned brown and new grass ceased to grow were certainly not likely to maintain the cows' normal flow of milk, excepting on those farms where considerable alfalfa is grown, the second crop of which may now be utilized for pasture. In recent weeks we have often heard people say that the drought was likely to be broken by a terrific storm. While we have as yet no means of knowing whether storms did visit some localities this community certainly was blessed with about as fine a shower as could be wished for. It came down slowly and it kept right on coming. We haven't enough yet but a mighty nice start has been made.

• • •

JUST because it rained does not mean that everything is lovely out here on the farm. For instance, those dried out pastures are not going to yield green grass in a week or two. Those fields of exceptionally short oats are not going to stretch out very much after having reached their present state of maturity; and the rain has not made the plowing of summer fallow any easier as yet. Many farmers have found it impossible to complete their fallow plowing because of the hardness of the soil.

The rain will help the grain to fill out. It will help the roots, corn and potatoes, and this shower is likely to be followed by others. In fact, we have heard a few folk worry about the possibility that once it got started at raining it was not likely to quit. Some folk are like that.

• • •

THE wheat is in the stook, and we would call the fall wheat a fairly good crop. The stooks are perhaps a trifle thin on the field, but the heads are good and the grain a really good sample. A feature of the wheat crop is the excessive amount of chess to be found in most fields. The old question of what is chess is once more revived. There are those who maintain that chess is simply a bad weed that grows from seed only, and who explains its presence in the wheat crop from time to time on seed lying dormant in the ground. There are others who make the claim that wheat injured by winter killing turns to chess. The radical difference between the two plants causes us to favor the first explanation, though just why it grows some years and not others is hard to explain. And why does it come so readily in practically every wheat field after a hard winter when some winter killing hits the wheat crop?

• • •

THE long wheat straw stood up very well this year. Cutting would have been a pleasure had it not been for the hardness of the ground. The wheat field was hard and it was rough. That binder did some bumping, especially while travelling across the drills of wheat; and while we cut the wheat with a brand new binder, supposed to be the last word in modern harvesting machines, the seat was if anything even meaner to sit on than the old machine that had done over a quarter of a century of cutting.

They may improv their machines, rearrange their levers and put special grease fittings on to ensure a long life, but the most modern machine sports the same old seat they have used for fifty years or more; and cutting a field of wheat when the ground is as hard as it was before the rain is ample proof that there is very little spring in even the newest seats.

JUST PESSIMISTS.

(Ottawa Journal)

OF all human qualities, pessimism is the most tenacious. So we ha e people telling us that things are little better, that what we see of gain is on the surface, that the undercurrents are bad. One meets these people every day.

Yet the facts are all the other way. The facts tell that in practically every field of economic effort there is sustained betterment. Take, for example the United States. Scarcely an industry of importance over there doesn't show improvement. Quarterly reports of corporations show higher production, greater gross earnings, increased dividends. There is a continuous flow of constructive items.

And so in Canada. Each succeeding month shows our trade increasing. We are producing more, exporting more, importing more. Dominion revenues are up. Our wheat position has improved enormously. Our railways are doing better. Our tourist returns are higher.

Somebody must be getting the benefit. If trade is better, then our factories must be busier, and our primary producers: there must be more money in circulation; more purchasing power. Two and two always make four.

So we musn't mind the pessimists. They can't change the facts. And the facts are all against them.

THEIR OWN FAULT.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

THERE is no excuse for those Canadians who claim to have been misled by U.S. storekeepers about the free entry of $100 worth of goods to Canada. The Canadians should know that the Canadian law requires a 48-hour stay in the United States before they can bring in the $100 worth of goods. If they don't they should not try to foist the blame on the U.S. merchant.

THE DANGER SPOT

You may pat him on the crown, and stroke him down but beware, if you tread on his tail. —The Columbus Dispatch.

Henry Likes To Milk.

(From Country Home).

HENRY Betz of the University of Idaho dairy staff has powerful hands, and needs them. His job is milking the champion herd of Holsteins, owned by the university, four times a day. This herd has bred the world's only combination of dam and two daughters, each with a record of 30,000 pounds of milk a year (about 3,488 gallons), and ranks third in the world for breeding and developing 30,000-pound cows.

Four o'clock every morning finds Henry on the job—three hours on duty, then three hours off. The four-time string ranges from nine to twelve cows and averages ten the year round. The record sheets show that he juices an average of 100 gallons a day for 351 days (he takes a two weeks' vacation every summer); a total of 35,100 gallons, or 140,400 quarts a year. His technique? Every cow milks differently, Henry says. The main thing is to have hands and arms that aren't tired by the steady, rhythmic pace. How to get those powerful hands and arms? Henry attributes his ability to the fact that he drinks lots of milk every meal, and has always done so. Milking cows does not depress Henry a bit. He likes to milk and has been juicing cows—good, bad and indifferent—since he was eight years old. How long does it take to milk a gallon? He says it all depends on the cow. Last summer one of his cows completed a record of 32,248 pounds of milk, making her state champion for all cows, all ages, all breeds, living or dead. She averaged slightly over ten gallons a day and Henry spent about thirty minutes a day milking her, an average of three minutes per gallon. He says he could probably do better if he had only had one gallon to milk.

The Lure of Sports.

(From the St. Thomas-Times-Journal)

NO figures are available of the number of people who take part in sports in Canada, but allowing for the difference in population, figures compiled by the New York Trust Company, which is interested in what people do with their money, afford a comparative index, the countries being in juxtaposition, therefore, the public spending their recreation hours in pretty much the same way.

It is rather surprising to find that the game which attracts the largest number of paid admissions is basketball, the number last year being 80,000,000, which is just twice as many as attended football games, and 30,000,000 more than the aggregate attendance at baseball games. Basketball has taken an enormous hold among young people, girls as well as boys, every school, college and university having teams, and this may account for the size of the attendances. No figures are given for boxing and wrestling but they must run into many millions.

Hunting and fishing appear to draw the largest number of individual participants, the number of licenses issued being 6,000,000, but as many states do not require licenses the number is estimated at about 10,000,000. Billiards and bowling have 8,000,000 devotees each, table tennis 5,000,000 and a similar number for trap-shooting. There are nearly 4,000,000 lawn tennis players and 2,000,000 golfers.

Sport is really big business, very big business in fact. Some $500,000,000 is paid for equipment of all kinds, with another half billion for membership fees, licenses. Golf appears to be about the most expensive sport there is, the 2,000,000 players spending $180,000,000, or an average of $90 each, while the cost of maintaining golf courses and the value of the land and clubhouses is about $850,000,000.

It Wouldn't Work Now.

(From The Gnatham News).

IN these days we hear considerable regarding shorter hours of work and more pay for those employed in our great commercial and industrial enterprises. The modern employer of labor considers the welfare of the worker; assisting to provide him with entertainment and amusement, protecting his health and his life by providing sanitary and safe factory conditions, and in other ways demonstrating the human spirit.

But it was not always thus.

Our attention has been drawn to an interesting document which was brought to light during the celebration of the eightieth anniversary of the Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co., store in Chicago. The rules for employes in the first store of the company tend to destroy the illusion regarding the "Good Old Days" as far as workers are concerned. Here are the rules which clerks were compelled to obey eighty years ago:

"Store must be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. the year round.

"Store must be swept; counters, base shelves and showcases dusted. Lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water, a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast (if there is time to do so) and attend to customers who call.

"Store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless necessary, and then only for a few minutes.

"The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will surely give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty.

"Each employe must not pay less than $5.00 per year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly.

"Men employes are given one evening a week for courting and two if they go to prayer meeting.

"After 14 hours of work in the store, the leisure time should be spent most in reading."

BRIDES' PROMISES.

(Vancouver Sun)

THE bride's promise to "obey" her husbnd is under fire once more.

The National Council of Congregational and Christian Churches of the United States will take up the proposal to omit the word in the near future on the strength of pleas from clergymen everywhere.

Recommendations to the council label "obey" a "needless and irritating word," and one must agree that covers the case.

For the term had its origin a long time ago, when "obey" meant just that to a wife.

The modern view of marriage, on the other hand, sees it as a co-operative institution.

The word doubtless is repeated these days as mere formality, anyhow, so dropping it from the marriage ritual will make little real difference.

It will merely bring the ritual up to date.

RAZORS AND EGGS.

(Imperial Airways Bulletin)

THE variety in the loads now carried on long-distance air lines is indicated by lists which have been compiled recently of freight passing to and fro along the Quantas Empire Airways sections of the England-Australia route between Brisbane and Singapore. One item was an act of Parliament which was being forwarded to England for Royal signature. Yet another was a diving-suit sent urgently to Darwin for use in pearl fishing. Another was a consignment containing a number of models of theatrical scenery.

A summary of some other items yields the following list: Radium, electric razors, gas mantles, microscope parts, medicines, natural history specimens, shark skins and films.

One interesting item, recently, was a setting of eggs which went right through from London to Sydney, being consigned to a poultry fancier in that city.

NOT RELIABLE.

(St. Catharines Standard)

PELTIER'S COMET now on for a while is supposed to be technically visible to the naked eye. But there is no absolute predictability about the performance of comets. No one can really tell whether a comet will play a return engagement or not. The great Lloyd's will not make a bet on it.

As a rule, we are told, blazers come when and as they please. There was a bright one in 1858, and another in 1861.

Then for 19 years, the skies were practically vacant, so far as the naked eye was concerned.

However, 1830, 1861 and 1882 brought three notable visitants, the last of the trio sporting a tail 300,000,000 miles long and forked at the end.

Since then there has been nothing worth seeing except a second rater in 1892 and Halley's in 1910.

Lots and lots of adults never have seen a comet worth looking at—except in picture books.

Perhaps Peltier's is going to be different and show us something.

ABOUT HATS.

(Kitchener Record)

MUCH to the amusement of onlookers and quite oblivious to the attention they were attracting, two small boys were a few days ago making their way along King street. In place of more conventional headgear they wore inverted strawberry boxes held in place by clothes-pins fastened to the sides. As they strolled along a sweet youn, thing hove into sight wearing on her head what might have passed for a Red Cross bandage or a chapeau from which the crown had been chewed by the family pup. She was quite conscious of her appearance and entirely satisfied with her unusual hat. She was not trying to be funny but—!

Probably if strawberry boxes became the style people would take to them like a duck to water. Anything approved by Dame Fashion, no matter how ridiculous, makes a hit. It may be a foolish-looking disc hanging on the left ear or a silly little bit of straw perched high on the cranium. If it is "de rigueur" to have the left eye completely covered by a tilted brim, out goes the left eye! It may be a halo clinging unsteadily to the back hair or a cloche that leaves little beyond the nose exposed to public view. But so long as it is the style anything can get by.

LAKE MARON.

An option on 150,000 shares of Lake Maron Gold Mines at 25c per share fell due on Saturday and was not taken up although the agreement provided a 10-day extension and directors will meet tomorrow to determine the position of the whole option agreement. A complete extension is expected, it is reported.

O'LEARY MALARTIC.

A program of diamond drilling is now in progress at the David Lake property Chibougamau area, on O'Leary Malartic Mines, with the No. 1 hole being spotted to intersect underneath trench 112 which returned values of $42.70 and $14.36 respectively, across a width of 39 inches, according to Noranda reports. Drilling is being conducted under the supervision of C. A. D. MacIntosh, M.E., the company's engineer.

GREENE STABELL.

Greene Stabell Mines has encountered ore showing a width of 3 feet in the bottom of the shaft, according to wire reports from Noranda. A cross cut is being started at once to intersect the known ore zone, and which is reported to be only a short distance away. Milling operations will be resumed in the near future, it is reported.

CUNIPTAU MINES

R. W. Watkins, President of Cuniptau Mines Ltd. in a progress report to shareholders states that the new plant installed on the property at Goward, Ont., is now in operation. Satisfactory market arrangements have been made for the entire production of high grade matter containing nickel, copper, gold and platinum. An active program of development has been carried on underground during the past six weeks. Diamond drilling from the 225 foot level intersected what is believed to be the downward extension of the high grade ore found on surface and developed at the 100 foot horizon. Drifting on the 100 foot level had added length to the known high grade occurrences. Stopes have been prepared and the mine generally made ready to supply the mill. The new smelting and concentrating equipment is paid for. Current trade accounts are paid to July 1st while the company has sufficient working capital on hand to carry on current operations. This will be augmented by receipts from mine shipments. In addition the company has sufficient shares still in the treasury to take care of any anticipated expansion.

Cheese was quoted at 13¼ to 13½ cents for Ontarios, and 13 to 13⅜c for Quebecs. Receipts, 2,252 boxes.

New Quebec potatoes were quoted at $1.25 to $1.35 per 80-pound bag.

TORONTO HOGS.

TORONTO, July 28.—Toronto and Montreal provided small gains in hog prices on the major Canadian live stock markets yesterday. Toronto led the way with a 10 to 35 cent gain, while Winnipeg prices remained unchanged. Outside points firmed with no change in prices from Saturday's close. Offerings were heavy.

The local market proved the centre of interest providing the largest gain in hog prices. Off truck bacons sold at $9.35 generally with some as high as $9.50. Selects drew the usual $1 premium, while butchers, heavies, lights and feeders were discounted $1. Sows ranged from $5.35 to $6.50. Offerings were heavy at 1,020.

MONTREAL HOGS.

MONTREAL, July 28.—The market gained slightly here with fed and watered bacons bringing $9.75 to $9.85. Butchers, heavies and lights were cut 50 cents per cwt. Sows ranged from $6.50 to $7. Offerings were heavy at 1,711 head.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 28 (C.P.) — General steadiness featured the afternoon session of the Toronto Livestock Market to-day. Cattle were about steady with the calf market also steady.

Hogs were unsettled and sheep and lambs were steady. The cattle holdover was 1,300 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 990; calves, 1,060; hogs, 1,080; sheep and lambs, 630.

The cattle market was active on all grades except weighty steers. A few loads of choice weighty steers sold about steady at $5.50 to $5.75, with plain grades ranging downwards to $4.50. Butcher cattle sold steady at $5 to $5.25 for choice quality, with common grades selling downwards to $4. Butcher cows ranged from $2.50 to $3.35, with a few tops at $3.50.

Good bulls brought $3.15 to $3.50 with bolognas at $3. Choice fed calves were steady at $7 to $7.50 and mediums downwards to $5. Stockers sold slowly from $2.50 to $3.25, with one lot at $3.50.

The calf market was steady at Monday's decline, choice vealers bringing $7 to $7.50. Common grades sold downwards to $4.50 and grassers brought $3.50 to$4.

No hog prices were established by early afternoon but indications were that prices would settle about steady. Yesterday's hog prices closed 25 cents higher at $9.35 to $9.50 off trucks for bacon.

Good ewes and wethers brought $9 on a steady market. Bucks went at $6 and sheep held steady at $1.50 to $3 a cwt.

TORONTO, July 28.—Trading in calves featured the opening session of the week at the Union Stock Yards yesterday. The market opened 30 cents per cwt. higher, but on receipt of news that Canada had filled the calf quota to the United States, prices made an about face and dropped 50 cents to $1 to close at $7 to $7.50 for tops. Fed calves also shared in the limelight by advancing 25 to 50 cents. The cattle market was active on all grades and prices finished steady with last week's close. Approximately 1,200 head of the heavy supply were unsold at the close. Sheep and lambs remained unchanged.

Choice weighty steers sold at $5.50 to $6, with medium and good grades bringing $5 to $5.40. Good butcher steers and heifers went at $5 to $5.25, with common grades downward to $3.50. Butcher cows held a general top of 3.25, with a few $3.50 Plain grade butcher cows sold down to $2.50. Good bulls brought $3.25 to $3.50, with bolognas $2.75 to $3. Choice fed calves sold at $7 to $7.50, with medium grades downwards to $5.50. The stocks market was fairly active at $3.25 to $5.50 for good quality. Mediums brought $2.75.

The calf market opened 50 cents per cwt. higher at $8 for tops, but on receipt of discouraging news from the United States, prices weakened 50 cents to $1 and closing tops were generally $7 to $7.50. Grassers went at $3.50 to $4.

The lamb market was steady, with good ewes and wethers selling at $9. Bucks and culls brought $8 and $7 respectively. Sheep sold steady at $1.50 to $3 a cwt., according to quality.

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point: Wheat, 75 to 77c; oats, 35 to 38c; barley, 46 to 50c; corn, 70 to 73c; rye, 52 to 57c; buckwheat, 50 to 54c; malting barley, 56 to 59c; milling oats, 34 to 36c.

MONTREAL CATTLE

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP)—Steer prices advanced as much as 25c in good buying late yesterday on Montreal Livestock Market. Receipts were: Cattle, 1,108; calves, 354; sheep, 1,558.

Good steers sold up to $6; medium from $4.75 to $5.35; and common from $4 to $4.50. Common bulls ranged from $2.50 to $3.25, while canners and cutters brought $1.50 to $2.25.

Cows, however, lacked demand and finished steady to 25 cents lower. Heifers were selling from $2 to $5; good heifers making $4.50 to $5; while medium kinds were around $4, and the bulk of common at $3 to $3.50. Good cows brought as much as $3.75, medium $3 to $3.25, and common butchers $2.50 to $2.75.

Grass calves sold from $3 to $3.85, with heavy drinkers around $4. Fair to medium vealers were $5 to $5.50, with medium kinds u pto $5.75, and top vealers up to $6 and $6.75.

Lambs were $8 to $8.10, with culls out at $6. Several loads were sold at $7 to $7.75. Sheep ranged from $2 to $3, with the odd good light sheep at $4.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Wheat futures prices advanced under impetus of strong displays in outside markets on the Winnipeg grain exchange yesterday. Export demand estimated at 650,000 bushels and moderate buying for southern account were sufficient to absorb offerings in a session inclined to nervous and erratic trading. Values closed 1 to 1⅛ cents higher, with July at 94½c, October at 94c and December 93⅝ cents a bushel. Export business to-day included two cargoes for shipment out of Churchill.

Movement of wheat from farms continued light, with 94,000 bushels delivered to country points Saturday compared to 494,000 the same day last year.

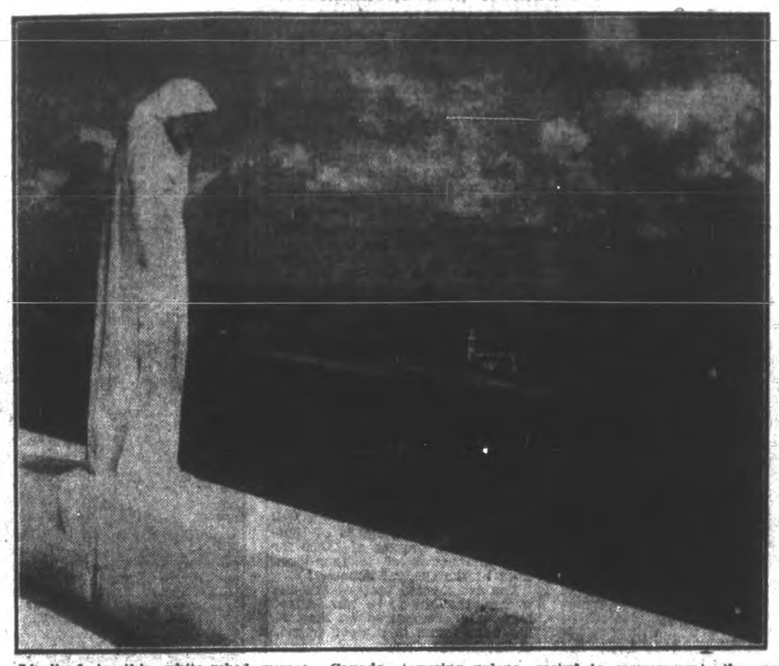
COURT OF HONOR

Havana Officials Will Seek To Prevent Three Duels.

HAVANA, July 28.— (CP).— A "Court of Honor" was named today to forestall three pistol duels between members of the Nationalist party.

Representative Miguel Suares Fernandez was said by other Nationalist congressmen to have been challenged to fight by both Senator Octavio Pedraza and Jose Lopez Del Rio over a controversy involving the question of party support to the three-party coalition. Del Rio was said to have been challenged by Representative Paul Gomez Herraza.

A Nation Mourns And Remembers



Idealized in this white-robed woman, Canada broods forever under the dappled sky of Northern France on the sons she gave in war. Twenty years ago these Vimy slopes were pocked with shell-holes, the sky grim with smoke of battle. Today grass carpets unknown graves, there is peace in the village of the plain, and the woman stands between towering pylons erected to commemorate the sacrifice and comradeship that made an honorable peace possible. Here King Edward VIII dedicated the vast memorial in the presence of 6,000 Canadian pilgrims —men who "took the khaki and the gun," and the kin of those who "laid their lives away" in so doing. —(Canadian Press Photo).

11 YEARS ADDED MAN'S LIFE SPAN

Improved Sanitation, Better Standard Living, Labor-Saving Inventions Credited

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(CP)—A better design for living is credited by the Census Bureau with adding 11 years of life for the average American man and 12 years for the woman.

Director William L. Austin estimated that at the beginning of the century the average length of life in the United States was 48 years for white men and 51 years for white women. The latest statistics, contained in life tables for 1930, give the average for men as 59 years and for women as 63 years.

"This change reflects the great progress that has been made in lowering the death rate," said Austin's report, "and thus adding to the years of life through improved sanitation, higher standard of living, labor-saving inventions in the homes and the advances made in education and in the science and practice of medicine and surgery."

A Lefist committee in Madrid was named to take over "necessary" industry and the government continued widespread enlistment of both men and women, even mobilizing several score of bullfighters.

Sharp fighting was reported in the north, both in the vicinity of San Sebastian and at Oviedo, where loyal besiegers took position overlooking the city and prepared for a new bombardment.

(Reports from across the French border said rebel barracks at Loyola, near San Sebastian, had surrendered unconditionally. New cannon fire was heard at Hendaye, France, during the morning).

Rebels at Toledo were reported to have marched out of the famous Alcazar to surrender after government troops had made plans to mine the structure. But advices through non-official channels from Malaga said Loyalists were retreating after taking heavy losses in yesterdays' battle at Estepona.

Mystery Is Solved Elliott Office Safe

The steel safe in the law office of Alex L. Elliott, which for eleven days balked efforts of skilled locksmiths to open it, has at last yielded to persuasion. The routine of the office, which was rudely upset when books and documents relating to Mr. Elliott's practice remained imprisoned in the safe, has now returned to level keel.

Opened by a locksmith from the Toronto office of The Taylor Safe Works Monday afternoon, a broken pin in the delicate combination lock was diagnosed as the cause of the safe's refusal to open.

On the evening of July 16, Mr. Elliott and his staff left the office after depositing confidential documents and law briefs in the steel vault for safe keeping, but when they twirled the combination lock to open-up for business the next morning, the door refused to open.

Two different locksmiths were called on the job in the course of three days, one of them bored from the front of the safe and the other from the rear, but without avail. It took a locksmith from the plant where the safe was made to turn the trick.

BOYHOOD DREAMS BEING REALIZED BY YOUTHFUL TAR

Adrian Seligman Supervises Remodelling Of 300-Ton Vessel

SOUTH SEAS ODYESSY

ST. MALO, France, July 28 (CP). —The ring of shipwrights' hammers on the 300-ton barkentine, Cap Pilar, is making boyhood dreams of Adrian Seligman of Wimbledon, England, come true.

About two months ago Adrian advertised in a London paper for a crew of 10, who would give $500 towards expenses on a 30,000-mile cruise. But it is more than adventure for this young traveller—it will be his honey moon.

His offer of a two-year South Seas Odyssey met with instant response from young and old all over England. Applications practically swamped Seligman. One man was willing to give $25,000 as his share, others didn't have the necessary money. They all wanted to go—300 of them.

Seligman scrutinised the "personal" life of most of them and now he's all set. His shipmates have been chosen, his ship is being prepared. Two bluebirds painted on her white bows are a fitting symbol of the happy spirit that will drive her around the world.

They will take over a heritage bequeathed by a generation of her sailors who have watched the Labrador icebergs thunder past her broad decks, and guided her head through the Grand Bank fogs and currents. The Cap Pilar type of ship is passing. Before the Great War 115 of them sailed each year from St. Malo across the western ocean for the northern fishing waters. Only 25 remain. The Cap Pilar is now being refitted for the longest voyage of her long and adventurous career.

Sightseers who peer down and point cameras to capture a snap of a "rare windjammer", little realise it is no relic they are recording, but the rebirth of a splendid ship. "Subject to survey," Seligman says, "we are all set."

There is room in the forecastle for 20 bunks—ample accommodation for the 10 men who will live there. The cabin aft will be quarters for Seligman, the new skipper, his wife, three officers and a doctor and site for a new chart house.

Absence of cargo makes it possible for increased space to be used for improvements and when the refit is complete she will be a remarkably roomy and comfortable ship. Orders have been placed for charts, new navigating equipment, boats and all the extra gear necessary for an 18-months round trip. The canvas—the Cap Pilar carries 17 sails—is being overhauled in the sailmaker's loft down the street.

Seligman has visited St. Malo with his parents nearly every year for the past 20 and has always wanted to take one of these fine old ships to sea. "A few months ago," he says, "I first saw the Cap Pilar, and even before inspecting many other vessels in England, France and Finland, knew that no other sailing ships could compare with the sturdy barkentines of St. Malo.

"The more we see of her the more we like her. She has stood up to the hardest weather and the most trying conditions generally that any ship could face.

"She has been anchored for months on end in 50 fathoms of water and more than 100 miles from the Newfoundland coast during her fishing days. A ship that can stand up to that is built to stand anything in the seven seas," he says proudly.

STRIKE IN 100th DAY

JERUSALEM, July 27.—(AP)— The Arab general strike against Jewish immigration today reached its 100th day in an atmosphere of continued tension.

Authorities were alert against a possible signal for concerted disorder. The 100th day of the strike coincided with the ninth day of the Hebrew month "AB", the anniversary of the destruction of Solomon's temple.

Spirit Debunker Starts House Dehaunting Drive

Plans To Tackle New York Tenement With Ghost On Each Of Four Floors

ALL PERFORM NIGHTLY

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)— Joseph Dunninger, stage magician and spirit debunker, said today he was starting a "house dehaunting" expedition in the metropolis.

"My first job is a pip," he said. "An untenanted four-storey building in Yorkville. It houses a ghost on each floor."

Dunninger recently offered $10,000 to anyone who can lead him to ghosts which he cannot expose as frauds or duplicate through trickery.

He is custodian of the Science and Invention fund offered spiritualistic media under the same conditions. The fund was administered originally by his late friend, Harry Houdini.

Dunninger said the Yorkville "haunted house" is an eight-family affair.

It has echoed nightly, say believers in ghosts, with the alternate moans and kindly chatter of an aged woman murdered by her husband on the fourth floor; the gasps of a third-floor tenant who drowned; the cries of a second-floor suicide, and brawlings of a patron murdered in a ground-floor speakeasy.

The arrest was carried out by Sergeant of Detectives John Hicks and Detective Sergeant Tom Whitelaw of the Toronto Police Force and Constable Alex Wilson of the Ontario Police.

Constable Wilson made a hurried overnight trip from the district where the four men disappeared yesterday. Before leaving he interviewed George Maxwell of Toronto, who surrendered to police yesterday, walking from a field near Dornoch where officers carried on the search in swamp land.

Police said Campbell expressed surprise at his arrest and maintained he was not near Wiarton at the time of the break-in.

Galt Recalls Great Cholera Calamity

GALT, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Today is the 102nd anniversary of the "greatest calamity" that ever visited Galt, an outbreak of cholera.

It was on Monday, July 28th, that a menagerie of wild animals visited the then village. One of the showmen was ill and the village doctor found he had the Asiatic cholera. Old histories state that by the Friday one fifth of the population had died from the disease.

The number was not stipulated. Death came quickly and the victims were buried as fast as possible.

LEGIONNAIRE'S CAR YIELDS BULLETS

Mechanic Discovers 150 Rounds In Machine Of Accused In Negro's Death

DETROIT, July 28.—(AP). —Discovery of 150 round of ammunition in an automobile belonging to a Black Legionnaire accused of killing a negro added impetus to-day to multiple investigations of the night riding terrorists.

Police said a mechanic, repairing an automobile damaged in a street car collision July 10, found the bullets. The automobile was registered in the name of Charles Rouse.

Rouse is one of five defendants who will receive a court examination today on charges of kidnapping and murdering Silas Coleman, 42-year-old Detroit negro whose body was found in a swamp near Pinckney, Mich., in May, 1935.

His co-defendants are Harvey Davis, Black Legion 'Colonel;" Ervin D. Lee, John Bannerman and James Roy Lorance. They are accused by Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion 'excutioner," of luring Coleman to the swamp and shooting him without provocation, for a thrill.

Rouse also is charged with being an accessory in the Black Legion slaying of Charles A. Poole, of which Davis, Lee and Bannerman also are accused, and to which Dean has pleaded guilty.

CITY AND COUNTY REACH AGREEMENT BOUNDARY ROADS

Will Be Supervised By The Suburban Area Commission

MEET AT CITY HALL

Boundary sections of Monaghan Road and the stretch of Armour Road from Nicholls Oval to the public school at Auburn were recommended for assumption by the Suburban Area Commission at a conference of county and city council representatives Monday night.

The proposal was embodied in a resolution by Warden Gifford, seconded by Reeve W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, of the county road committee of the county council, and requires the approval of the county council, probably at the concluding sessions in December.

Mayor Macdonald presided at the conference in the city hall attended by Aldermen Sloan, Stocker and Hamilton; Warden Gifford, Reeve E. N. McDonald, Dummer, chairman of the county road committee, Reeve Anderson, Reeve Chris Steenburgh of Belmont-Methuen; M. H. Gainey and John McIntosh of the Suburban Area Commission; R. H. Parsons, city engineer, and A. E. Chalmers, county engineer.

The sections of Monaghan Road designated were from Lansdowne street to Patterson street; from Sherbrooke street to Charlotte street; and from Woodlawn street south of Mount St. Joseph to Park Hill Road at Jackson Park. Formerly the joint responsibility of the city and North Monaghan township this road was adopted by the county council as a county road and has been virtually proposed to the Suburban Area Commission already. At any rate Monday night's agreement closed that deal, the city immediately to provide storm drains and other preliminary improvements recently considered.

The other road from Nicholls Oval to the north boundary of the city at Auburn has been classed a boundary road between the city and Douro. It must first be designated as county road by the county council and as such passed along to the Suburban Area Commission. It is understood that the change does not materially affect the municipalities financially. Suburban road costs are shared 25 per cent. by the county, 25 per cent. by the city, and 50 per cent. by the provincial government; and on boundary county roads the city paid half and the county the other half receiving a refund of 25 per cent. from the government.

Drainage on the north end of Armour Road will be undertaken by the city. Any increased levy on the city by the new arrangement will be from the cost of a retreated asphaltic surface which has been proposed.

Late For Supper

The county's delegation was an hour late in reaching the city hall at 8.30 o'clock on their arrival from inspecting a Dummer road in the Stony Lake area. Warden Gifford and his associates went directly to the meeting and did not have supper down town until nearly ten o'clock.

Sawflies Threaten Canada's Spruce

Science is trying to halt the advance of the sawfly which threatens to destroy Canada's spruce timber supply in the next 25 years with loss of $10,500,000,000. In five years the European pest has spread from the Gaspe peninsula east to Nova Scotia and west to Timiskamingue, Que., The caterpillar (inset) which emerges from the sawfly's egg does the damage. It has eaten the foliage from the spruce (marked with arrow) in this spruce-balsam forest. The dark-colored trees are balsam which the caterpillar doesn't like. (Canadian Press Photo) named course is that the prime purpose of last spring's bill—to aid the separate school system—would not be entirely achieved. In the school districts where the "flaw" has been uncovered there are very few corporations. Even after the Catholic schools get their tax from the big companies like the C.P.R., they won't have much money.

Politically, Liberals don't like the situation, because they stand to lose heavy Catholic support. And this is said to be the more true in that many Conservatives are against any further alienation of Catholic support.

Again—Bill No. 51

According to rumors at the Parliament Buildings, if the tax law is amended it may be amended along the lines of "Bill No. 52. This was the mystery bill of last February. Most of the printed copies were supposed to be destroyed, but a few are extant.

The suddenly dropped measure would have stiffened the municipal income tax on corporations. Increased proceeds, it was reported, would be split by the School Boards and the municipality.

The bill imposed a 3.5 per cent. tax on incomes of corporations in every municipality in Ontario. More the corporations were to pay income tax in every municipality to the extent of the taxable income earned in that city or town.

Clauses of the mystery bill would have exempted the purely Protestant corporations from the tax. Clause "g" exempted the income of any religious, charitable or educational corporation, and Clauses "h" and "j" exempted benevolent or fraternal societies and clubs or associations.

Though these amendments might increase municipal revenues in most of Ontario, it is pointed out that the tax would be of little more value in Northeast Ontario than the amendment put through by the Premier in the spring. Both levy on corporations. This fact is said to make it more likely that the separate school grants will be continued in that section of the Province.

Marie And The Caterpillar.

Yesterday those who watched the children during the afternoon visiting half-hour saw Marie catch a caterpillar in her little fingers. She released it two or three times and watched it crawl around. Then, when her interest lagged, she calmly stood up and stamped on it.

That started a bug and caterpillar hunt among the five sisters. They crawled around in the grass searching for them. They would catch them, watch them try to scurry away and bring them back again. But the end was always the same. A firm little foot came down and the bug would be no more.

People have given up thinking the Quints may sometime become sick, but just to keep the record straight Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe announces each month that they are still well. The quint physician said today that all five are thriving, adding weight gradually and developing physically and mentally.

Marie, Emilie and Cecile each put on a pound last month despite the warm weather. Annette added four ounces and Yvonne's weight was stationary. Marie, Annette and Yvonne each have 16 teeth, Cecile 15 and Emilie 14.

Here are their weights today and the gain from last month:

Yvonne	25	12	Unch.
Annette	25	8	4
Cecile	24	8	16

OBITUARY

MRS. LOUISA CULKEEN

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28.—The death of Mrs. Louisa Culkeen, widow of the late James Culkeen, occurred at her home, Concession 8, Seymour township, on Monday, July 27, at the age of 74 years and seven months.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday, July 29, from the family residence. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Campbellford, at 9 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Mary's Cemetery.

MISS MARY JOHNSTON.

ROSENEATH, July 28.—The funeral of the late Miss Mary Johnston took place from the residence of her niece, Miss Jessie Johnston, on Friday afternoon, July 24. The deceased, who died at Cobourg, was in her 80th year. She was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Johnston, who were pioneer settlers of Hamilton Township. She spent a great part of her life around Harwood and was a faithful member of Bethesda Church where the funeral service was held and interment in the cemetery at that church. Rev. G. W. Scott had charge of the service.

Pallbearers were: Ross McCracken, Sol. Leach, James Grieves, Nicholas Doidge, John Dainard and M. D. Brown.

Survivors are two nieces, Mrs. John Dainard of Hastings and Jessie Johnston of Roseneath, and one nephew, W. A. Isaac of Consort, Alberta.

MRS. JERRY LEGROW.

There was a large attendance at funeral services for Mary Ann Terrion, widow of Jerry Legrow, which were held on Monday. The funeral proceeded from 138 Perry Street to the Church of Sacred Heart where solemn requiem mass was sung by the Rev. C. J. Moloney and Rev. J. J. O'Brien, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. Father Moloney delivered a very inspiring sermon to the congregation admonishing them to follow the example which the late Mrs. Legrow had practiced during her life as a true Christian and mother. Rev. W. Terrion and Rev. C. J. Moloney conducted committal services at the graveside.

Predeceased by her husband, Mrs. Legrow is survived by a family of four, Mrs. O'Grady and Mrs. James Mongraw, and John and Harold Legrow all of this city; and three sisters Miss Isabel Terrion of this city, Miss Ellen Terrion of Marmora, and Mrs. Bedome of Manitoba and a brother Michael Terrion of Michel, B. C. She also leaves thirty grand-children and 4 great grand-children.

Grand-children acted as flower bearers, while pall-bearers were: Messrs J. Mongraw, Jack Legrow, Reg Mongraw, P. Terrion, Romeo Mongraw, and John Legrow.

JOHN PORTEOUS.

BETHANY, July 28. — With the passing of Mr. John Porteous on Friday evening at his home in the village, following an extended illness, the community loses a highly esteemed gentleman of sterling quality.

The late Mr. Porteous, whose genial, happy nature was a boon to all those with whom he associated, was a thorough Christian, attending most assiduously to all his church duties and devotions, leaving a monument of example that will long be remembered. The deceased gentleman was in his 85th year, and for some time has been feebly incapacitated. Several years ago he had two serious hospital operations from which he made a remarkable recovery.

Mr. Porteous was born on the 7th concession of Manvers, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porteous, of a family of six brothers and four sisters, only three of whom survive: Robert of Kinmount, William of Nestleton and Mrs. C. Taylor, of Chicago, the youngest of the family.

He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Annabeth Gardiner, and two daughters: Mrs. Edwin Veale of St. Catharines and Mrs. Alva Thorndyke of Bethany. His only son, Claude, predeceased him about 10 years ago.

About eighteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Porteous moved from the family homestead on the south line and took up residence on Wilson street, owing to failing health, where he quietly passed away.

The funeral on Sunday was very largely attended. Following a short private service at the residence, the casket was taken to the United Church for a public service. Rev. L. Scott, of Roseneath, a former pastor, officiated, assisted by a boyhood friend, Rev. James McMullen, of Toronto. Mrs. (Rev.) Scott sang in pleasing voice, "The City Four-Square." Interment was made in the family plot at Fallis Cemetery. The pallbearers were six grandsons, Carl, Eric, Morvin and Alvin Porteous, Keith and Kenneth Thorndyke.

FAMILY QUARREL NEARLY TRAGEDY

Son Takes Shot At Father As He Assaults Wife While Drunk

HAMILTON, July 28.—(CP).—A family quarrel which nearly ended in tragedy when a 20-year-old son took a shotgun to protect his mother from attack by his father, had its sequel in court when David Stewart of Saltfleet Township was remanded eight days for sentence after being found guilty of assaulting his wife.

Mrs. Stewart testified she had been awakened by her husband pounding on the door. He was drunk when she let him in, and when he could not find a lamp, he began to beat her, she said.

Her screams brought her 20-year-old son, George, night watchman in a nearby potato field, and his brother, 12, who was with him.

George entered the house, grabbed a shotgun, put in a shell and ordered his father to leave. "I called to the boy not to shoot him," Mrs. Stewart said. "After they had both left, I heard a shot and saw my husband lying on the road."

When he was taken to hospital, it was found only two pellets had entered his leg and he was not seriously injured.

Clothmakers Easy Victims For Wire

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28.—Frank De Carrol's "Electrics" walloped Pal Peloquin's "Mill" team to the tune of 13-3 at the school grounds last night in a town league fixture. Don Barnum turned in a stellar performance and was given superb support by his men in the field. Besides having three runs to his credit, Eddie Bush made a nice double play in the seventh which brought him a hand from the fans.

The Cloth-makers were never in the picture after the first innings, in which Montgomery clouted out the only homer of the evening with one on. Fred Ingram, former Marmoon hockey star, was on the grounds last night and got a great welcome from his old pals. Fred is down from Kirkland Lake on a holiday and looks as if the north country agrees with him. Les. PLANS COMPLETED ROTARY CARNIVAL

District Governor George Barbour To Visit Campbellford in August

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28.—A regular meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club was held in the St. Lawrence Hotel on Monday with President Tom Hall in charge. Secretary Edge Dolman advised the members that he had received a communication from District Governor George Barbour of the 27th District advising the club that he would like to make his official visit on Tuesday evening, August 11th due to the fact that 27 clubs of the 27th district hold their meetings on Monday and that he found it a bit difficult to make his calls on the usual day. After a brief discussion it was decided that the regular meeting for that particular week would be changed to Tuesday, August 11 and the time set for dinner be 6 o'clock p.m.

It was also decided that due to Monday, August 3rd, being Civic Holiday no meeting would be held on that day. Plans were completed for the annual Rotary Carnival which will be held in Davidson's Arena on the evening of Tuesday, August 25th. In addition to the bingo, horse race and other games of chance it was also decided to have a draw for which prizes totalling $50 will be given. After the reading of the secretary's report the meeting adjourned.

TROUSSEAU TEA HELD AT BETHANY

Successful Event In Honor Of Bride-Elect Miss Ruth Hamilton

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, July 28.—Mrs. J. J. Hamilton was at home to a number of her lady friends on Tuesday last in honor of her daughter, Miss Ruth, whose marriage will take place early in August at Edmonton. Miss Laura Morton, of Delora, received the guests at the main entrance to the living-room, which was decorated with a beautiful arrangement of summer flowers.

Mrs. Hamilton received, with her daughter, in a beautiful gown of blue flowered sheer chiffon. The bride-elect was tastefully dressed in midnight blue crepe with lace insets, and gracefully acknowledged the congratulations and gifts which were tendered her on her approaching nuptials. Mrs. Harold Padgham ushered the ladies to the upper rooms in groups where they were shown the bridal trousseau by Miss Verna Belle Lee, cousin of the bride. Miss Hazel Jackson presided in the room where the many beautiful wedding gifts were arranged, bearing testimony of the high esteem in which Miss Hamilton is held by a host of warm friends.

The guests were served refreshments in the dining-room, which was centred with a long table draped with a lovely lace cloth and bearing duplicate silver services, tall rose and green candles in silver urns, diffusing a lovely lighted effect throughout the room. Mrs. McKinnon and Miss Winnie Nesbitt poured tea and were later relieved by Mrs. F. W. Reynolds and Mrs. H. Padgham. The dainty waitresses were Misses Isobel Sisson, Evelyn McKinnon, Muriel Hannah and Clara Beer, wearing pretty summer gowns.

Guests were present from Cavan, Millbrook, Brantford, Guelph, Bowmanville and other points.

Showers Looming To Break U.S Drought

CHICAGO, July 28. — (AP). — Widely scattered clouds and the promise of local showers loomed to head off a threatened general entrenchment of withering heat in the drought states for the second time in July.

Temperatures ranging from 106 at St. Joseph, Mo., to 108 at Des Moines, Iowa, and 113 at Fremont, Neb., brought additional misery yesterday to the drought ravaged west central states.

The outlook, however, was for rain in Iowa, local showers in Nebraska, spotty precipitation in the Dakotas and some light rain in Missouri.

Minnesota, parts of Kansas, Illinois and Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan also expected showers.

QUEBEC LIBERALS PLEDGE REFORMS EDUCATION LINES

Aim To Give Young People Better Start In Trade And Industry

STOP IMPORTING EXPERTS

QUEBEC, July 28.—(CP).—Educational reforms to fit the youth of Quebec to take a greater part in development of their province are planned by the Liberal government if returned to office at the polls Aug. 17. Premier Godbout declared last night at Hull the educational policy would be widened to give young people a better start in trade and industry.

"Too often in the past companies have imported men from outside the province of Quebec to occupy important positions in our various industries," he said. "The youth of Quebec is as capable and ambitious as the youth of any other province or any other country, and with the proper training will be able to occupy the positions which are justly theirs."

Material aid will be given high schools and universities to help them better fit students for the battle of life, said the Premier.

His opponent, Maurice Duplessis, had no meeting last night.

Chief lieutenant of Mr. Duplessis, Oscar Drouin, warned electors at Montreal last night that the present Liberal government was the old regime of Hon. L. A. Taschereau under camouflage. Electors should beware of "tatters of Taschereau's political rags," said the Union Nationale chief organizer and former member for Quebec East.

Contented working people provide the best bulwark against communism, Premier Godbout said, and it was the intention of the government to do what they could to aid the working man. The Premier waved an election pamphlet, declaring charges contained in it were false. He denied he ad "protected" those concerned prominently in the inquiry into government departmental affairs launched by the Public Accounts committee of the last legislature.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 29

An exceedingly lively, eventful and memorable day is forecast from the important positions of major planets. Employment, big business, finances, trade and all pertaining to writings, publishings and promotional programs are under excellent stimuli for progress, advancement and stability, with personal satisfaction and pleasure assured. It is a time for working toward great achievements but be alert to subtlety and duplicity.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is will find themselves immersed in very important affairs spelling progress, promotion, honors, prosperity and much personal gratification and happiness. It is a year for reaching large attainments and high goals in every direction. But be on the lookout for subtlety, craft and deception in doubtful situations.

A child born on this day may be gifted with great talents, versatility and efficiency and should attain much success, high station and prosperity through his ambitions, popularity and merit.

A serious accident happened at the International Cooperage plant at Eagle Lake when the right arm of Conway Woodcock of West Guilford was cut off above the elbow. The injured man was working on a "butting saw," cutting logs at the top of the jack ladder. He was found lying unconscious beneath the saw. None of the fellow-workers saw the accident and none were able to explain just how it happened. His condition is critical.

CONTRACT TO J. K. SHEEHY

Johnson Motor Company has let the contract for extensive repairs to their boat department building to J. K. Sheehy. The work was begun on Monday. This building is adjacent to the warehouse that was recently destroyed by fire. The east end of it was considerably damaged. The warehouse will be rebuilt by the company itself. It will be of galvanized iron construction, and the material has been ordered from the Pedlar Company of Oshawa.

PRAISE FOR THE COMMISSION

Members of the city council last night congratulated the Suburban Area Commission on the condition of the thirty-nine miles of roads comprising the system under their supervision. Alderman Hamilton especially mentioned the Warsaw Road as being probably the best in the district. A. E. Chalmers, county engineer, said there are only three other counties in the province with as large a suburban mileage as Peterborough. The members of the Commission are John McIntosh, Harry Gainey and Morley Smithson.

JULY BUSINESS INCREASES

Tourists from the United States have stimulated business during July at Routley's chinaware store. Herb S. Routley told The Examiner to-day that up to last Saturday the month showed an increase of twenty-five per cent more than July, 1935, with this week's purchases to be added to the total. June was up 35 per cent in the records, and there has been no falling off for the midsummer month. "I think our business from tourists is nearly as good as the best summer we have had," Mr. Routley said, "and August is usually better than July. Some of the visitors are taking home even dinner sets."

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Three local young men, ages ranging from 18 to 20 years, appeared before the cadi Tuesday morning charged with unlawfully having liquor. Two of them entered pleas of not guilty, while the other pleaded guilty to the charge. The trio were remanded on the application of the Crown until Friday, bail being set in the sum of $1,000 each. Pleading guilty to having liquor in a place other than a residence, a visitor to the city was fined $100 and 75 cents costs, while his companion, was assessed $10 and 75 cents costs on a charge of consuming. A local man who pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy requested adjournment for a week, but the Crown insisted on a remand instead. Bail was set in the sum of $500.

LOCAL MAN FOUND DROWNED IN CANAL

Was An Old Employee Of The Peterborough Lumber Company

The death of Albert Milliken of 179 Simcoe street occurred early Tuesday under tragic circumstances. He was found drowned in the canal near the C.P.R. bridge at the junction of Armour road and Maria street at 6 o'clock a.m. Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young recorded a finding that Mr. Milliken came to his death from drowning and shock.

In poor health for a considerable time, Mr. Milliken had been under the care of a physician. He was a patient at St. Joheph's Hospital. Reported missing at 4.30 a.m., his body was recovered from the canal by an orderly 90 minutes later, clothed in a nightgown and bathrobe.

A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Milliken, he was born in this city and had lived here all his life, being held in wide respect and esteem. For several years the late Mr. Milliken was employed by the Peterborough Lumber Company, while he had a brief period of service also with the Canadian General Electric Company. He was a member of St. Luke's Church.

Surviving is an only sister, Mrs. Dan Hurley of 1110 Elm street, Medina, N.Y., and a nephew, Albert Milliken of George street, city.

The funeral is to be held on Thursday at 2 o'clock p.m., from A. Comstock and Sons Funeral Home, 306 Water street, with the Rev. G. J. Bousfield, rector of St. Luke's Church, officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

FILM STAR'S DIARY LENDS TRIAL COLOR

Reveals Her Immoral Conduct Says Mary Astor's Divorced Husband

LOS ANGELES, July 28. —(AP). —Mary Astor's divorced husband pointed to what he represented as her diary today to show the screen beauty admitted "her gross immoral conduct" for the future enlightenment of their four-year-old daughter.

R. Franklin Thorpe, Hollywood physician, made the charge in a sensational answer to his former mate's suit to regain custody of their daughter.

Earlier, in a deposition, Dr. Thorpe declined to answer whether, during March, 1935, he had "stolen two diaries belonging to Miss Astor" and threatened to publish them.

His counsel advised him not to reply and he was likewise silent on questions concerning Miss Astor's charge that he already had a wife when he married her.

"Unfit To Keep Daughter.

Miss Astor "is an unfit and improper person to have the custody and care" of the daughter, Dr. Thorpe charged in his answer.

Excerpts from intimate diary entries, assertedly made by the trim actress on February 6, 1935, were given.

"Why I keep writing things down in this book I don't know," the diary was quoted "It seems to help me for some reason. I am such a muddle-headed person that I love to tear myself down—my thoughts down—so they won't go skidding off in all derections.

"Then, too, maybe, Marlyn some day would like to know what sort of a person her mother was, and maybe she will be consoled when she makes mistakes and gets into jams to know that her mother was a champion at making mistakes. I blush a little (very little) at the idea of her reading some of the stuff in this book. I have been and am such a fool."

The Rambling REPORTERS

GOOD POSTAL SERVICE.

Arriving in the city on Saturday last to join some friends who were holidaying somewhere on Chemong Lake, a visitor from Pittsburgh found to his dismay that he had come away without the address. It was apparently his first visit to the Kawartha Lakes district and he was in something of a quandry. During the week-end he made a fruitless search of the Chemong district in an effort to locate his friends and the cottage at which he was to stay. On Monday morning he hit on the bright idea of seeking the co-operation of the post office staff here. The only information he was able to supply was that his friends had rented a cottage at Chemong Lake from a Peterborough business man. He was at once directed to Moncur's cottages, which proved to be the address he sought. While searching for the location on Saturday night he had been within a few hundred yards of the cottage he was seeking, without knowing it.—H.R.

FALLS OFF WAGON STABBED IN HEAD

Hamilton Doctors Fear For Recovery Of Young Farmer Pierced By Hay Fork

HAMILTON, Ont., July 28.—(CP) —Falling on the tines of a hay fork from the rack of the wagon where he was working, Douglas Banks, 24, is in general hospital suffering from grave head injuries. Doctors fear that he will not recover.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon on the banks farm on Number 2 highway near Bulmers Glen. Wheat sheaves were being hauled from the field to the barn for threshing and Banks was standing on top of the wagon, leaning against the back rack. The wooden support suddenly collapsed, throwing the young farmer to the ground. Behind the wagon a helper was standing with a fork in his hands, the tines pointing upward, and Banks' head struck the sharp points.

a dollar for his meal, and he couldn't get over it."

"That's a lot of money to spend on a meal," Lally said. He didn't realize that he was a wealthy man now.'

A suit against Ben Kaufman, head of the Ray Jewelry Co., his sons Irvin and Martin, and the Sirroll Laboratries of Detroit has been before Circuit Commissioners George W. Shudlich for a month. The suit was started by Collier, who demanded an accounting of the money they have received from the sale of the product and the stock issued, as he says they agreed to do when they organized a year ago.

Lally, who was an itenerant watch repair man with chemistry as a hobby, called the formula in 1928 and 1929. Collier said he interested Ben Kaufman in the product.

Claims Inventor Vanished

Kaufman advanced $10,000 to incorporate after he had learned the formula, with agreement that Lally was to receive 51 per cent of the stock and to divide the remaining shares equally. Lally disappeared a short time later, Collier said.

Kaufman has testified that he advanced money to Lally to sell his formula and then he disappeared. Collier, who knew the formula according to Kaufman gave it to Edward I. Kaufman of New York, a brother of Ben. Edward is the head of the Ray Jewelry Co., a chain firm with stores in the principal cities. He has refused to come to Detroit to testify, Commission Schurlich said.

The case will be resumed Wednesday or Thursday, when Lally will appear before Schuldich to testify that he invented the formula and that he is entitled to his share of the profits.

STUBBS IS GIVEN BIGGEST MAJORITY EVER IN WINNIPEG

Former Judge Amasses 24,671 First Choices Out Of 78,181 Total

COMMUNIST SECOND

WINNIPEG, July 28 (CP).—Riding the crest of the greatest majority ever given a candidate in Winnipeg, Lewis St. George Stubbs, Independent, former county court judge, was elected to the Manitoba Legislature in yesterday's voting.

Unrevised figures for the 10-member constituency in the elections showed the fiery, 56-year-old lawyer had amassed 24,671 first choices out of a total vote of 78,181 and left 20 other candidates in the ruck. He topped the poll by a wide margin and was far ahead of the previous high mark for one candidate set in 1932 when 13,507 gave their first choice to W. Sandford Evans, Conservative.

Mr. Stubbs, extending thanks to supporters for his election, declared the parties in the campaign were of the Right and the Left. "In respect of myself, I have run as an Independent although I have repeatedly declared myself to be a Socialist," he said. "Therefore I am definitely of the Left."

Communist Runs Second

Running second to Mr. Stubbs was James Litterick, a Communist who came out to Canada from Scotland ten years ago and became prominent in the party's affairs in Toronto and Vancouver. He became district secretary here after being campaign manager for Tim Buck, president of the Communist party, in Winnipeg North in the last federal election.

With the re-check of first counts still underway, the quota which candidates must reach to be elected was still undecided. It was expected to be around 7,000 and Mr. Litterick had around another 1,300 votes to gather to assure his election. If he succeeds, he will be the first Communist to sit in a provincial legislature.

McDiarmid Trailing

Candidates of other parties were trailing the Independent and Communist. Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources; Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney-General, and Mrs. Mary Dyma were three Liberal-Progressives in the fight, Col. Ralph Webb, former mayor of Winnipeg and Conservative member of the last legislature for Assiniboia, topped the Conservative nominees in Winnipeg.

Candidates of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation were still in the fight but the nominees of the Social Credit League appeared out of the running. Last election the C.C.F. forces elected four members and there was a possibility they would be returned in later counts.

Marcus Hyman topped the C.C.F. list with Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, S. F. Farmer, Federation leader, and William Ivens following.

The vote was far lighter for Mr. Queen and other C.C.F. members than in previous years. Mr. Queen, first elected to the legislature while serving a year in jail on a charge of sedition arising from the Winnipeg strike in 1919, had fewer than 3,000 votes compared with his 9,000 first choces last electon. Likewise Mr. Farmer, who received 5,053 first choices in 1932, was below the 2,000-mark.

COUGHLIN DENIES REPUDIATION DEBT

Blames Old Public Address Set For Incorrect Report

CHICAGO, July 28.—(AP).—Rev. Charles Coughlin said he had not urged farmers to repudiate their debts in the event Rep. William Lemke, Union party candidate, were defeated for the presidency, as he was quoted. He had asserted, he said, that unless something were done to aid them they would be 'forced" to repudiate.

He repeated "as he recalled it," the quotations which he said was incorrectly reported in accounts of his speech yesterday at Hankinson, N. D.

"I told them that 'if something will not be done forthwith to aid the farmer, he will be forced to repudiate his debts and those who engendered the debts.'"

The priest blamed what he called "the world's worst public address system" for the version of his talk at a Lemke "homecoming" rally.

"It was an old hand set that had to be cranked," he said. "I couldn't hear what I was saying, and I don't see how he (referring to a reporter) could hear."

18-Year Barbarette Wins Shaving Derby

SEATTLE, July 28. —(AP).—Louise Nagel, 18-year-old High School girl, won Seattle's first mixed doubles barbarette shaving derby last night.

But when the clouds of talcum had cleared, her opponents were not convinced of her superiority. Her partner was 17-year-old Norman W. Porteous and his face, they contended offered no formidable handicap.

Miss Nagel's time was two minutes flat: Porteous' face was unscathed.

Competition was limited—only six males dared risk their chins.

Mrs. Estelle McDonald breezed through in second best time, two minutes and 15 seconds, but was shunted to third place because of numerous penalizing nicks and scratches left upon the face of her partner, Clarence W. Massart.

Clan of Isaak Walton Initiates New Member Showing Such Is Fame

Interviewing Lucky Muskie Fishermen No Easy Task

PRACTICAL JOKERS

The penalties of fame extend even to the man whom luck singles out for favor and thrill in the catching ofa twenty pound lunge.

A reporter telephoned one of these celebrities some days ago, and encountered a robust note of doubt.

"How many reporters have you people? You're just the sixth that caleld me this morning."

The press man reply was to the effect that there was something queer about all that enquiry.

"Not queer, just funny; a gang of my friends kidding me; and how do I know but you're another?"

Reportorial indentification did not help much, because the last in the Waltonian society and a news man whose muskie tops was a mere minnow of a seven pound lunge had never crossed outboard motor paths.

"One chap told me he was Gordon Sinclair telephoning from Toronto, and another said he was Ted Reeves. But they were only second raters for another assured me he was Damon Runyon of the Chicago American, and would I give him a story of how I bagged a big fish and what it felt like, and would I send my picture by air mail. And I still think you're another kidder."

All of which indicates that interviewing muskie men isn't as easy and expeditious as it might seem. A lot of ground work has to be spaded to remove entaglements.

"One chap offered me a dollar a word if I would write a story for Cosmopolitan, and the net result has been a field day for the gang as apparently they passed the word around abou t that confounded lunge."

Furtehr assurance brought some measure of credence at the other end of the line—and "Oh well I did manage to hook one you know, andit gave me a lot of fun, but I'd like to know who put you up to calling me."

Canadian Car Robbed By Mexican Bandits

MEXICO CITY, July 28.—(AP)—Reports reaching here today said bandits robbed seven automobiles travelling the newly-constructed highway between Cuernavaca and Tepotzlan, Moreolos, yesterday.

One of the cars bore Canadian license plates, said Nicholas Tortolero de la Vega and Luis G. Verduzco, who were among the victims. Names of occupants and amounts taken from the victims were not learned.

Tortolero and Verduzco reported eight or 10 bandits, masked and heavily armed, jumped out to halt the automobiles as they moved slowly over the new construction, crying:

"We're hungry! Either you give us what you have or you die!"

Visitors Score 288 Runs For Two Wickets In Second Innings

FINAL DAY'S PLAY

MANCHESTER, July 28.—(C P Cable)—A second innings drive gave India 288 runs for loss of only two wickets in the final day's play of the three-day test cricket match against England. Rain delayed start of the game 25 minutes and only 2,000 persons were on hand as the teams took the field.

The Indians' first attempt gave them 203 runs and England attacked mercilessly in reply, declaring at 571 runs for eight wickets. The visitors need 80 runs to avoid an innings defeat.

V. Merchant and Mushtaq Ali wielded strong bats in the Indians' second innings and both hit up centuries before being retired. Merchant got 114, including 13 fours and his partner two less. Mushtaq Ali hit 17 fours.

At the lunch interval Y. S. Remaswami and C. K. Nayudu were at the wickets, with the former not out for 45 and Nayudu five, not out.

Thousands of Pilgrims Recross Channel In Five Steamships

LONDON, July 28.—(CP Cable)—Several thousand of Canada's pilgrims to Vimy Ridge were in London today after returning from the unveiling of the Canadian memorial there Sunday and visits to former battlefields.

The Legionnaires, many with their families, crossed the English channel in five steamships and arrived here late last night and early today.

One thousand of the pilgrims landed at Folkestone and came by special train to Victoria Station, London, stopping mostly at hotels in the Bloomsbury district. Others who travelled across the channel in the Montrose, the Montcalm and the Ascania were landed in Tilbury and likewise distributed at various hotels. Still others crossed in the Antonia from Le Havre to Southampton and arrived at Waterloo Station.

The pilgrims were cheered and greeted with old war-time marching songs as they arrived at the stations and proceeded through the streets.

A Railing Separated Their Different World But She Clung to a Hope

It was the first time Gay Elwell had seen Wayne Adams. His dark eyes were smiling steadily at her, almost as if they were friends, the check girl thought, as she declined his proffered tip. The railing between them separated their different worlds and yet Gay wondered why it should. A glimmering ray of hope surged within her as the attractive young man looked back and smiled again at her before he was whisked from sight in the elevator. It marked the opening of a refreshing romance which did NOT prove that

BERLY ON TOP MOUND

ALBANY, N.Y., July 28.—(CP).—Crashing through for five runs in the first inning with an attack that drove Bob Burke, Albany left-handed pitcher, to the showers, Toronto Leafs went on to win from the Senators, 9-7, last night, to record their sixth straight triumph.

As the fourth-place Baltimore team was idle, the Leafs picked up one-half game on the Orioles in their belated drive to gain a place in the International Baseball League playoffs.

Lincoln Blakely led the Leafs to their victory. Smashing out two doubles and two singles on his first four appearances at the plate, Blakely batted in four runs and carried another across.

The victory went to the credit of John Berly, who replaced Bots Nekola in the box in the fourth inning when the Senators took kindly to the offerings of the Leaf southpaw. Berly pitched through the eighth inning in which Smead Jolley hit a homer with one man on and Silas Johnson was sent in to hold the Senators at bay in the ninth. This Johnson did.

Leafs Outhit.

It was the first time in six games that Ike Boone, Toronto, manager, has been forced to make a pitching change.

The Leafs banged the combined pitching efforts of Bob Burke and Al Veach for 13 hits but were held hitless by Orlin Rogers in the last two innings.

Albany outhit Toronto, getting 15 hits, but the Senators allowed 12 players to perish on the sacks.

There were ten doubles in the game, five by each team.

Metropolitans	13	6	12	2
Omemee	16	4	12	4

Crashing through with twenty-one hits, Quakers smothered the Westclox last night at Central by a 20-7 margin. The Cereal men, battling to retain third place in the standing, went to work with a will and by the end of the third inning had piled up a sizable lead. From then on they merely went through the motions and breezed home to an easy win.

Shine did the flinging for the victors and same through with a fine performance. He allowed seven hits but he kept these well scattered and seemed to improve as the game wore on. Curry, making his first start of the year on the Clock-makers mound, was not impressive. The slugging Quakers removed him from the picture in the sixth inning and continued their assault upon his successor, who happened to be T. Parsons.

Jones, with a triple and two doubles, led the winners powerhouse attack at the plate while Shine assisted his cause with three timely bingles. T. Parsons was the big gun of the Alarm crew with three singles.

Jones, for the Puffed Wheat gang pulled off the fielding gem of the affair in the eighth inning when he galloped miles to snare a hard hit fly ball.

Stella Walsh Equals 2 World Track Marks

WARSAW, July 28 (AP).—Stella Walsh equalled the world records for the 50 and 100 metre dashes yesterday in her last competitive appearances in Poland before going to the Olympic Games. Miss Walsh—Stanislawa Walasiewicz in Poland—was timed in 6.4 seconds for the 50 metres and 11.6 for the 100.

The record of 11.6 for the 100, made by the American, Helen Stephens, has not yet been accepted internationally. Miss Walsh holds the accepted mark of 11.8.

Golf Facts

Alex Morrison says:

Here are questions I've put to many golfers recently. "How much should the right side relax in the various shots?"

"Should it be relaxed more for a drive than for a putt?"

Of course, the caption in the illustration above gives you the answer, but I'll bet none of your friends will reply in this way.

Most players believe that only part of the side should be relaxed in some swings, instead of loosening all of the side except the right thumb and forefinger.

This small part of the strong side is all that should be active in any swing. To relax the whole side means to have this side following the leadership of the weaker side—a leadership that should be just as great in short shots, as it is in the long ones.

Check up on your right side at the end of each swing. See if your right ankle is loose, the knee and hip relaxed and the right shoulder dropped.

Even the muscles in the arm should be pretty loose at the end of your swing.

Canada To Make Bid For 1940 Olympics

BERLIN, July 28 (CP Cable).—Canada is in the race for the 1940 Olympic Winter Games.

P. J. Mulqueen, chairman of the Canadian Olympic committee, made the announcement last night, saying he would carry the plan before the meeting of the International Olympic committee here later this week.

If the bid is successful, the international sports would be staged in Montreal and the nearby Laurentian Mountains, favorite Winter playground of Eastern Canada.

Mulqueen said the committee would be asked to approve the holding of the Winter and Summer meets in separate countries in 1940. If this were approved, Canada would officially bid for the Winter sports.

Japan and Finland are leading contenders for next Olympics.

SUDBURY FALCONS WIN EASTERN TITLE

Defeat Montreal - Hamilton United In Final Game Of Soccer Series

SUDBURY, July 28.—(CP).—Falconbridge Falcons, Ontario soccer champions, advanced in their quest for the Dominion Cup soccer title here last night by defeating Montreal-Hamilton United, Quebec finalists, 1-0, in the final game of the Eastern Canadian series.

Falcons won the first game of the two-out-of-three series by a 2-0 count Friday night. Montreal came back to tie up the series Saturday night with a close 1-0 decision.

Both teams played superior soccer throughout last night's contest. Roworth scored the only goal in the game within two minutes of the opening whistle to give the Falcons a lead they never relinquished through two periods of gruelling play.

Cricket Results

MANCHESTER, July 28. — (CP Cable).—Spurred on by the brilliant batting of Wally Hammond, Gloucestershire, England declared its first innings Monday at 571 runs for eight wickets in the second test cricket match against India. The visitors pounded England's bowlers unmercifully to run up 190 for no wickets before stumps were drawn at the end of the second day's play. They scored 203 in their first innings.

As the game goes into its third and closing day to-morrow, the Indians now need 178 runs to avoid defeat by an innings. Batsmen had matters all their own way on today's fast wicket, Hammond running his overnight total of 118 to 167 before dismissal. Mushtaq Ali and V. Merchant, star batsmen on the touring team, played forceful cricket against the impotent English bowling, the former having made 105 and merchant 79 at the end of the day.

Joseph Hardstaff, Nottinghamshire player, was behind Hammond with a slashing 94. T. Worthington, Derbyshire, rang up 87 and R. W. V. Robins, Middlesex, kept in line with 76. The score card:

Schoolboy Rowe

In a last-ditch fight to remain in the race after they had absorbed three straight drubbings from the world champions opened up with everything they had and belted over the league-leading Yankees 9-1 yesterday.

In itself, that doesn't look like a particularly important feat but most of the other clubs in the league will gladly point out that it isn't often the clouting Yankees have been limited to a single run, even during their recent publicized "slump." And in the last couple of weeks their opponents haven't been able to hit that high score mark. In addition there's the fact the Tigers did it with exactly the same team that kicked itself down from second place to fourth not long ago.

Schoolboy Rowe, whose flinging had been a standout among the recent Detroit performances, was the main factor in the Tiger triumph. He limited the league leaders to five hits and had a shutout in hand until Frankie Crosetti belted a homer in the eighth. Rowe virtually won his own game in the third inning when he drove one of Lefty Gomes's pitches out of the park with Ray Hayworth on base to start a three run rally. He singled home two more tallies in the seventh, when Detroit fell on Walter Brown and Ted Kleinhans for six more tallies after Gomes had gone out for a pinch hitter.

The defeat did little damage to the Yanks' lead as the Indians' game with Washington was rained out while the Browns, led by the aged and ailing Jim Bottomley, knocked off the third-place Red Sox, 7-5.

Bottomley poked out two doubles and a single to lead the attack while Russ Van Atta's three-hit pitching in the last five frames held the Sox in check.

A terrific and totally unexpected slugfest by the Athletics and Brooklyn's third straight victory over the Pirates completed the major league program as rain and threatening weather wiped out the Cubs - Phillies and Reds - Giants game while the Cardinals and Bees had an open date.

The Mackmen opened fire on Vernon Kennedy, who had won nine straight games for the White Sox, and before they finished they had smashed out 25 hits for a 15-8 victory. Kennedy left the scene in the sixth with the count 8-4 against him and escaped a loss as the Pale Hose, no mean sluggers themselves with 15 blows, tied the score in the eighth. Red Evans and Sugar Cain were the victims of Philadelphia's final seven run blast.

Brooklyn beat the Pirates 6-3 as Fred Frankhouse hurled seven hit ball while his mates knocked Cy Blanton off the slab in the fifth and touched Waite Hoyt for their final run.

The executive of the Oshawa Hungarians have invited the Canada Packers to visit Oshawa, on Saturday afternoon, August 8th and have guaranteed th local boys that they will return the same hospitality that they received in the city.

Down on King Edward Park, last night, an executive of the Danforth Albions club interviewed the local association executive in regards to a game in the city in the near future.

The visit of the Toronto Kimberley team to this city is causing the local fans a great amount of anxiety because of the attitude of the Toronto and District Football Association not permitting Toronto teams to visit outside elevens. After a lengthy discussion, the local secretary was instructed to write the secretary in Toronto asking for some definite information. Surely this kind of action is not encouraging the code throughout the Province.

On Thursday evening, the two local teams that were chosen to play will kick off at 6.30 prompt. This is for the purpose of getting the players acquainted with each others style of play. All the players selected have reported that they will day; except Ben McMaster who has day; except Men McMaster who has informed the board that he will be out of the city on the holiday.

The semi-finals of the five-a-side competition was played, last night, before a fair crowd when Art Downer's five defeated the Board five 7 goals, 2 corners to two goals, two corners. The other semi-final between Jack Chamberlain's five and Eric Jones' five resulted in the latter winning 4 goals, 2 corners against 1 goal, 2 corners.

The local association has been informed by Mr. Wood of the Roger-Majestic team that they cannot get permission to play outside the city because of the action of the O. F. A. and T. and D. F. A. Perhaps, because the local association is not affiliated with the O. F. A. But it is not encouraging the code.

A special invitation has been extended to Alex. McKinley to travel to Oshawa and referee the tilt in the Motor City on August 8th. Peter Gow complimented the local "Knightof the Whistle" and remarked that it would be a revelation to the Oshawa fans.

C.G.E. Stages Four-Run Rally In Ninth To Defeat Westclox

FINAL SCORE 12-11

Girl's Softball League standing to date (2nd half):

Team	P	W	L	TP
Keene	5	4	1	3
Omemee	6	3	3	2
C. G. E.	6	3	3	2
Westclox	5	2	3	3
Bailleboro	6	2	4	2

(Including Monday's games)

C.G.E. girls climbed into a second-place tie with Omemee last night before a good crowd at the Bowl when the Electrics rallied for four runs in the ninth and copped a 12-11 verdict over Westclox. It was an exciting battle all the way through with Westclox having an edge most of the way but C.G.E. pulling in front in the first of the ninth and holding Westclox to one run in the last half.

Mary McCarthy went the distance for the winners, allowing but 10 hits as she fanned five and walked seven. Her support was fair. Marg Snowden twirled a good game for Westclox but was weakening the last three innings and gave way in the ninth to Barb Blade. She had been touched for 15 hits and four walks as she struck out three. B. Blade finished with just a walk against her. Their support was mostly good all the way.

M. McCarthy hit a homer and two singles for C.G.E., while G. McCarthy had three singles, M. Hallihan a double and triple, M. White a homer and single, D. Miller a double and single, and E. Graham two singles. For Westclox, A. Sturgeon led the list with two doubles and a single. Two hard homers were conked by M. Ferguson, a double and single by M. Snowden and two singles by G. Mann. Fielding features included a line-catch by M. Hawthorne, a neat grab in centre by G. McCarthy and a running catch in left by M. English. The teams:

HEART TROUBLE CAUSES DEATH OF I. B. L. PREXY

Charles H. Knapp Passes Following Several Months Of Illness

IN HIS 62ND YEAR

BALTIMORE, July 28.—(AP). — Charles H. Knapp, president of the International Baseball League, died in a hospital here last night. He had been ill for months with heart trouble.

Knapp, who was 62, had headed the league since the death of John Conway Toole in 1929. Prior to that time he also had been president of Baltimore Orioles.

His entry into baseball came in 1908 when the late Jack Dunn bought the Orioles and Knapp was Dunn's attorney. Later he became a director of the club and its secretary.

Dunn died in 1928, making Knapp his executor. Mrs. Dunn asked him to assume the presidency of the club until a deal could be arranged for its sale. That deal never was arranged however, and Knapp held the presidency until his death.

He had been ill for some months and spent last Winter in Florida for his health. He was forced to enter a hospital here, however, when he returned in April.

Knapp was born in Alleghany County, Md. He attended the University of Virgina, later transferring to the University of Maryland where has was graduated in law in 1895. He headed his own law firm here.

He never held public office but was regarded as one of the closest advisers of the late Albert C. Ritchie during his long term as governor of Maryland. He was a member of a number of boards and was president of the board of the Maryland Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter.

Secretary Manley's Tribute.

NEW YORK, July 28. —(AP).— The death of Charles H. Knapp in Baltimore last night marked the passing of one of the "old guard" in the International League.

Together with Bill Manley, secretary; Ernie Lanigan, information director and Bill Carpenter, supervisor of umpires, Knapp had been connected with the circuit for more than 25 years.

"I knew him as one of my best friends," declared Manley "Never a kinder man lived than Mr Knapp.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

ON MONDAY NEXT (Civic Holiday) we will run a mixed tournament commencing at 1.30 p.m. The draw will be made from the board under the 2-1-0 system, and the fee is set at 25 cents per player. It is not yet too late for the men to get partners for tomorrow's mixed, starting at 1.30 p.m.

H. NORTON and W. Bell were the winners in Monday's Central Ontario doubles championships; Jack Skitch and Les Wilson, Cobourg, were runners-up. These two pairs were the only ones to win all three games and consequently a playoff was necessary. The Lindsay boys stepped out in front right at the beginning and were never in trouble. Other towns represented were Oshawa, Cannington and Peterborough. Each of the winners received leather bowl cases.

IT IS VERY seldom that a schedule game commands as much interest and attention as did the Zeihr-Heckman battle on Monday eve. Both boys were fighting for group honors and this particular game meant a lot, it was a well-fought battle, being tied no less than six times and it was only in the last three ends that Zeihr took the lead. We are not sure, but we think we could put our finger on some people that this game meant life or death to. Both the players and spectators were taking this affair in real earnest; however, these are the games that put the pep into the sport and makes bowling worth while. This group is not settled yet, as both teams have more games to play.

Southend Softball

Another hectic Southend Junior Softball League battle was staged last night when Wilf Davis' Cubs and the Cardinals tangled at the Sacred Heart diamond with Cubs copping a 12-4 win in the late stages. It was an interesting tussle till the Cubs came to life in the fifth and Long John Hodson poled out a homer with the bases loaded. They got four more in the sixth and another four in the seventh as Hodson came through with another circuit clout. Feature of game was the relief hurling of C. Barnes. With three on in the sixth, he retired the side on nine strikes in a row. The contest was called in the seventh owing to darkness.

"TOBY" SEXSMITH DEFEATS GILROY
Tory Carries Portage La Prairie By 1,717-1,279 In "Battle Of Sports Moguls"

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., July 28 (CP)—The political status of a former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was definitely known to-day.

Tried campaigners in the battle of ballots, W. R. "Toby" Sexsmith and A. E. Gilroy tried conclusions as Conservative and Liberal-Progressive candidates, respectively, in the Manitoba general elections.

The honor of representing Portage La Prairie in the next provincial legislature to-day rested with "Toby." In a spirited fight in which he was never headed he was elected by a plurality of 438 votes over his one-time rival for leadership of Canada's premier winter sport destinies.

It was known as the "battle of the sport moguls." "Toby" took the lead from the outset. When his election was conceded his vote for the 12 polls totalled 1717 against 1279 for Mr. Gilroy.

Canadians Compete For Silas Rogers Cup

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 28 (CP)—Lake Ontario's international yacht racing season got under way at the port of Rochester this morning in the 19th renewal of the Silas R. George series for six metre sloops at the Summerville course of the Rochester Yacht Club.

Aphrodite, entry of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, of Toronto, is the challenger in the best two out of three race series, with the Erne, entry of the Olcott Beach Club defending the cup retained last year by a Rochester Club sloop since sold.

A victory by the United States would transfer possession of the historic trophy to the Olcott Club since the Rochester yachtsmen were unable to put a six-metre sloop in the contest.

Art Harrison, veteran Olcott Tillerman, is skippering the Erne. Skipper Bobby Barr is at the helm of the Canadian entry.

LINDSAY, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Two horses and rigs which ran away from the express office at the Lindsay station didn't get very far but they caused enough commotion. The two jammed between a telephone pole and a guy wire supporting it. They struck the pole so hard that the force on the wires leading to several houses nearby pulled bricks out of one house and wrecked the hydro and telephone service in the others.

LITTLE PERCY WYER NOT IN DISTANCE RUNNERS
Webster, Bartlett And Callard Will Represent Canada In Marathon ATHLETES IN TRAINING

BERLIN, July 28 (CP Cable)—As Canada's contingent to the Olympic Games got down to rigorous training to-day, little Percy Wyer of Toronto apparently went to the sidelines because of the late cabling of his entry for a marathon berth.

It was announced the venerable Harold Webster of Hamilton, Jimmy Bartlett, Oshawa, and Vic Callard, Toronto, would carry the Maple Leaf in the long grind. Only three entries are allowed in each event.

Wyer the grandfather of distance running in the Dominion at 52, was second to Webster in the Olympic trials. Because of lack of funds, the committee decided neither Wyer nor Bartlett, third in the trial, would be carried with the team. They went, however, by popular subscription, but apparently the length of time it took to raise the money in behalf of the veteran Percy robbed him of the chance to bask in the Olympic sun.

Start Training

After the downpour that curtailed outdoor training yesterday, the general hope was for bright sunshine to-day. Fully rested now after a near-sleepless trip from France in day coaches, the Canadian hopefuls were eager to cram in five active days of prepping before the starter's gun heralds the opening of competition Sunday.

The opening heats of the 100-yard dash are one of the first events on the bulky program and it is expected Howie McPhee, the promising young Vancouver sprinter, will be one of the hardest workers from now until Saturday.

The heavily muscled McPhee needs plenty of work to bring him to his peak, as do also Lee Orr, Vancouver, and Bruce Humber, Victoria, the other dash men.

Rumors that Charles "Chuck" Campbell, Toronto winner of the Canadian and United States sculls last year, might be displaced here in favor of Johnny Coulson of Toronto Argos, were denied by Chairman P. J. Mulqueen of the Canadian Olympic committee.

Campbell has been displaying fine form on the broad waters at Gruneau in a new shell. Mulqueen pointd out that Coulson was appointed substitute for the single sculls several weeks ago. The understanding was that he would displace Campbell only if the Don ace was ill, or disabled in training.

Tom Alison of Toronto, manager of the Canuck rowing team, had an expert eye on Campbell and the Hamilton Leander eight at Gruneau yesterday. After the workouts he said both "Chuck" and the powerful Leander boatload appeared to be nearing top form.

Look Impressive

The University of Washington crew, which faces the task of trying to uphold the United States unbroken string of triumphs in the eight-oared event, also looked impressive. Al Ulbrickson, coach of the American crew, expressed admiration for the Australian boat, manned by policemen from Sydney.

On the other hand, Ulbrickson foresaw little threat from the highly touted Japanese crew. The Japs zoomed up to a beat of more than 50 to the minute from a leisurely 27, but their oars fluttered badly at high speed, he said.

While Monday's torrent cramped the style of eager trackmen and women, dozens of swimmers managed to get in training licks. The head coach of the Maple Leaf group, Percy Norman of Vancouver, said he expected great things from Phyllis Dewar, Vancouver, in the 400 metres event, and from Toronto's Bob Pirie in the 1500 metres. He expressed confidence Miss Dewar would better the world marks at 100 metres as well as 400.

SCION OF MIC MACS REMAINS AS CHIEF
Later Election Will Give Any Disgruntled Factions Chance To Name Leader

LENNOX ISLAND, P.E.I., July 28—(CP)—Jacob Sark, scion of Mic Mac chieftains who peopled Lennox Island when Prince Edward Island was known only under the Indian name 'Abegweit,' remains as head man of his island tribe.

Sark was confirmed in his chieftainship in tribal elections yesterday but there will be another election when any faction among the Lennox Island residents think they have a brave who would make a better chief than the present one.

After the election Sark merely nodded, grunted a couple of times and moved off toward his cabin. He did not deem it necessary to thank the loyal followers who gave him 27 votes against 18 for his only opponent, Dan Mitchell.

Nineteen eligible voters failed to cast ballots in the Dominion's smallest electoral district. There was little or no fuss prior to the election, decided upon by mutual agreement os the island dwellers.

TALL BABY GROWS UP
Boy 27 Inches at Birth Now 6 Footer Teaching School.

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., July 28.—(CP).—One of the world's "tallest babies" who measured 27 inches at birth and whose distinction became known Saturday in a dispute over the honor, has grown into a six footer, and teaches school on the Rosebud Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

He is Wayne Faxon born here 21 years ago.

His height at birth, all sources agreed, was 27 inches. 2½ inches taller than the infant born to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schmits of Dumont, Minn., last week.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—Well, after all is said and done it seems a good time was had by all on that United States Olympic trip . . . Pete Norton, Tampa sports ed, and Joe McCarthy were the only ones to give the Yanks a tumble in the spring . . . As far back as April 2, Pete predicted they'd win the rag . . . Looks like he may have have a chuckle or so coming . . . Leon Ketchell, Polish heavyweight, is so tall he steps over the ropes when entering the ring instead of climbing through.

While listing the year's prize baseball comebacks, don't overlook the corker Pat Malone is turning in for the Yankees . . . John Henry Lewis is just about to supplant Tony Canzoneri as the busiest ring champion . . . The Negro light - heavy king has fought 25 times in the past 13 months and goes to the post again Thursday night . . . It will be just too bad for Texas Tech if war breaks out . . . Thirty-nine football players are in the National Guard . . . Which ties up nicely with the Tech colors, red, white and blue.

Shots in the dark: Bill McGinty, pro at the Homestead Club, Spring Lake, N.J., bet a guy he could shoot the first nine holes of the course in the dark in not more than 45 strokes . . . Bill teed off at 2:30 a.m. with six flash lights furnishing the only illumination . . . Well, the best he could do for six holes was 31 . . . Par for the first nine is 37 . . . But Bill had to call off his stunt because the torch bearers (who previously had visited the 19th hole) called it a day and went home after the sixth. Is that shooting golf, or is it shooting golf? . . . If Bill could play like that in the sunlight he could sign his own ticket at any club in the country.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

LACROSSE FANS who have been yelling in a hoarse whisper—and they do not number in the thousands, alas—for a game here can see one tonight at seven in Auburn Field, weather permitting. Norwood and Auburns are billed for a Tri-County Loop fixture and it promises to be a neat scrap. Since the second half their schedule commenced, Auburns have dropped two while Norwood has split on two, Millbrook being in front with a deuce on the right side of the book. Needless to say ye Auburns will put up a battle tonight to keep in the running. They play Millbrook here Friday.

JOE KIRKWOOD, Australian-American pro golf star, will perform on the links of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club August 12th. In the afternoon. He will play some good golfer—unnamed as yet—in a match, and will also dish up some of his specialty, which is trick shooting. Seen here a couple of summers ago with Sarazen, the Italian wonder amazed many spectators. He can make a ball do everything but ride a bicycle around the green! For instance, he can slam a ball hard and with so much English on it that the doggone thing boomerangs in the air and falls behind him. He's oke.

BEFORE A sizeable gathering of fans and fannettes in the stands and some three dozen cars last eve, C.G.E. girls took a 12-11 win over Westclox in the Bowl. A four-run rally in the ninth did the trick after the scrappy Electrics—who sure play for keeps—whittled down an early Clockmakers' lead. The latter team got a run back in their end of the ninth but were one shy of a tie. A good game with some neat softball seen and lots of yelling going on. The win puts C.G.E. in a second-place tie with Omemee with the Alarm Girls half a tilt back. Omemee is at Keene tonight while Westclox play in Omemee on Wednesday. Standing appears elsewhere.

AS TO the tussle last night, it was anybody's till the final out. Westclox looked better the first half but C.G.E. kept fighting away till they narrowed it down and went on to win as the sun went to bed. The pitching of Mary McCarthy and Marg Snowden was pretty fair and the fielding mostly good. Some smart catches were made. Marie Ferguson cracked a batting slump with two hard homers, and Millie White hit a circuit clout. Dot Millar—besides kidding her sister, Gladys Mortimer, out of several nice strikes—stole home with the tying run in the ninth. Lots of action all the time.

IT WAS a tough night for Westclox as their men's softball team took a 20-7 shellacking at the hands of the up-and-coming Quakers at Central. The Porridge Punchers had good hurling, hard hitting and some nifty fielding. Westclox hadn't much of anything last p.m. Curry and T. Parsons pitched for the losers while Shine shone on the other slab. Best fielding feature was a catch by Jones of the winning outfit. As a glimpse at the standing will show, the Quakers are in third place, a game and a half up on Metropolitans. These teams are fighting for a third-place playoff berth and the Mets had better look lively and pronto. Omemee meets Westclox here tonight while Quakers and the Mets tangle Wednesday, Swartz going to Omemee that eve.

AND THUS spake Zarathrusta, the Oshawa sage: "Our Peterborough writing friend doesn't agree with us when we say the junior Petes are not in Oshawa's class and he even declares the Petes are still going to win group honors. No doubt he is trying to make the local boys feel good, but if he really means it we would like to suggest a wager. We'll give him 3-2 and take Oshawa, even though Peterborough did win both league games." Now, this is a very fair proposition indeed and we would like a piece of that offer. But what is it, dollars, dimes or steins? We will be needing a hat when autumn rolls around and won't mind in the least wearing one partly paid for by a gent from Oshawa. Only better print the amount before Rotary steps into the Motor City and evens the playoffs Wednesday.

A BOX score from Ottawa the other day shows where Knotty Lee's Ogdensburg pros and the Senators went to a 5-5 tie. Eddie Murphy, ex-local shortstop, played in left field, got a hit in three, one putout and was charged with an error on a hard running chance. He also batted in a run. Knotty's squad is having a time keeping out of the cellar, due to poor pitching. This item on the game was in the sports column: 'A sidelight for the customers was provided by a horse from the nearby barns at Lansdowne. The steed wandered leisurely into left field during the third inning, attracted by better grazing. Just as Outfielder Murphy, of the Colts, began to lead him off the field a fan shouted, "Leave him alone, he's looking for Pilon'."

• • • • • •

THE PETES are off to Kingston for a tough tilt tomorrow, and they play Napanee back here on Saturday. Oshawa is at Belleville tomorrow and takes on the Ponies in Oshawa Saturday. These latter two teams clash three times this weekend, having a double-header in Kingston Monday, which is Civic Holiday. Oshawa should have the best of that bargain as they have five flingers. Our gang has a morning game in Belleville on Civic Holiday. The Petes haven't got a playoff berth, even a third-place one, cinched yet by any means. In fact, the last-place Belleville squad still has a chanceof getting into the money serial.

PICKING 'EM off the grapevine: A Baltimore lawyer gets 10 G's a year for drawing up the major baseball league schedules . . . . At the annual checker tourney in Lindsay Wednesday, outstanding players will be Dr. M. B. Annis; George Irwin, former Canuck champ; A. Crawford of Alton; Joe E. Brown, Toronto champion; N. McGee of Oshawa; and Mayor Bennett of Port Hope, former Ontario champ . . . . . Oshawa British Consols took a 13-0 gals' softball win over Cobourg yestiddy with Celia Siblock hurling no-hit ball . . . . These teams clash for the Lakeshore Loop title, winner meeting the Peterborough champion . . . . Four Westclox girl players will be vacationing next week as playoffs start . . . . The Mets took half a team to Lindsay Sat'day and were trimmed soundly . . . . Petes' batting averages will be run again at the three-quarter mark, after two more tilts . . . . MEMORIES: Remember the Petes of some 10 years back, that colorful outfit of Jake's; with Swanny, Heck, Shiner, Hap and the rest, who would much sooner fight than eat steaks!

STARTLING NEWS.

LONDON, Ont., July 27 (CP). — Captured as he was attempting to break into the residence of Clarence W. Sager of Springbank Drive early today, John Walter, 41, appeared before Magistrate Donald Menzies in city court and told the court it was all news to him. A remand to Friday was ordered at the request of Crown Attorney Norman Newton.

A MODERN DISEASE.

LONDON.—(CP).—"One of the diseases from which we suffer today is vulgarity, which is largely ignorance," said Headmaster M. J. Jacks of Mill Hill school. "A vulgar people cannot be a great people," he added.

Durocher Was Fast—But The Ball Was Faster

It looks as though Leo Durocher is a cinch to beat the ball (EXTREME LEFT) to the bag, but the ol' apple had plenty of stuff on it, and came in first. Sam Leslie, Giant first baseman, is receiving the throw, which came from Fitzsimmons. Action took place in the second inning of a recent Cardinals'-Giant game.

Prince Of Asturias Is Willing To Rule

CANNES, France, July 28.—(AP)—The Prince of the Asturias, heir to Spain's lost throne, was reported ready to return to Spain if leaders of the Spanish Fascist rebellion will have him.

He is living in his Cannes villa, where his wife is expecting a child next month.

It was also reported the Prince had telephoned his father(former King Alfonso, in Czechoslovakia. Alfonso, however, was said to have asked Don Jaime, another son now in Italy, to come to Cannes to dissuade his brother from going to Spain.

Savings Deposits Drop $22,000,000 In June

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP).—Savings deposits in Canadian chartered banks on June 30 amounted to $1,504,792,628, a drop of $22,000,000 as compared with May 30, but an increase of $80,000,000 over the balance at June 30, 1935, the monthly statement of chartered banks to the Minister of Finance said.

Current deposits increased $42,000,000 as compared with May 30 and $76,000,000 over the balance at June 30, 1935. Call loans in Canada were down $42,000,000 compared with the previous month and $74,000,000 less than June 30, 1935.

Government and other securities in the hands of chartered banks were $23,000,000 greater than on May 30 and $350,000,000 greater than a year before.

The island of Ceylon, a British possession, is as large as the state of West Virginia. It is located in the Indian ocean, off the southern tip of India, and has a population of over 5,000,000.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. W. J. Stockdale wishes to express his gratitude to those who fought the fire that endanged our home on July 19. He wishes to especially thank those who saw the fire and gave the alarm.

IN MEMORIAM.

HAWTHORNE.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who died July 28, 1927.
Sleep on thou loved one, thro' the summer's sweet,
Sleep on, the flow'rets waving at thy feet;
Lone tho' our hearts feel, yet we would not weep;
For, "Lo He giveth His beloved sleep.

CEREMONY AT VIMY STIRS U.S. HEARTS

Brilliant Canadian Achievement Seen As Apt Celebration Of State's Entry To War

NEW YORK, July 28 (CP) — Commenting to-day on the dedication of the Canadian memorial to her war dead at Vimy Ridge Sunday the New York Herald Tribune said editorially the ceremony "must have stirred American hearts only in less degree than it did Canadian."

Continuing the paper says:

"We had come into the war on Friday, April 6, 1917. The following Monday began the general attack of the British forces about Arras which included the capture of Vimy Ridge as its most important and costly operation.

"Nineteen years have passed since the Canadians sealed that victory with their blood, but none of us who remembers the day and the circumstances will forget its galvanic effect on the nation which had just resolved to share its fortunes with the Allies.

"Weren't these boys from above our border the equivalent of our own and wasn't their brilliant achievement an apt celebration of our entry and a portent of the triumphs to follow it? Coincidence and consanguinity combined to start that battle in the American consciousness.

Strong Ties

"An emotion deeper than mere curiosity or good will will attach us, therefore, to the huge cenotaph on the hill, as it impelled us to share by radio in the dedicatory exercises. If it is a monument to Canadian prowess and Canadian sacrifices it is also a reminder of an international friendship unique in human history — a friendship cemented in war but founded in more than a century of peace. And so "in a spirit of thankfulness for their example, of reverence for their devotion and of pride in their comradeship," to cite King Edward's eloquence, was salute the memorial to Canada's dead."

MACARTHUR ANNOYED

Denies Report He Was At Bar With Eleanor Holm Jarrett.

LONDON, July 28 (AP).—Charles MacArthur, playwright-husband of the actress, Helen Hayes, said today he was "extremely annoyed" over his reported participation in a champagne party with Eleanor Holm Jarrett, New York swimmer, aboard the S.S. Manhattan about 10 days ago.

"I wasn't at the same bar with her," he said, "I was at a bar at the other end of the ship. I met her briefly, and I am unknown to her otherwise."

CHAPTER 49

"I THOUGHT that would surprise you,' Beatrice Winsloe said stamping out her cigaret with a cool gesture after announcing she intended to divorce Win and name Sheila True as co-respondent.

She sat back comfortably in her big chair and threw back her fur scarf.

"You can't!" Joan protested.

"Oh yes, I can," Beatrice answered calmly.

"You see I don't jump to things impetuously. I know what I want and I go after it in an organized way."

"Do you?" Joan asked icily.

"I wanted Win from the moment I first met him in daddy's office and you didn't have a chance."

"My kind of girl doesn't boast about that sort of thing," Joan answered.

"Your kind of girl doesn't get along very successfully," Beatrice retorted reasonably. "When I was 14, I knew how to get the things I wanted and I knew that whether it was a college boy to take me to a party or the man I wanted to marry, the method was the same."

"Evidently."

"I knew better than to trust men. I knew that if they thought I was waiting for them, they'd never come around. You have to go after them."

"But Sheila . . ." Joan tried to interrupt.

"We'll get around to her in a moment." Beatrice was leisurely. "To go back to what I was saying, men aren't worth all the trouble we go to get them or hold them."

"I don't want to be rude," Joan said then, "but you see Win is completely out of my life and there isn't any point in going back over that. If you've come here to give him back to me the way you'd return something you borrowed, there isn't any point to any of this. I don't want . . ."

"How do you know you don't? You loved Win enough to wait five years for him. You like him well enough to be friends with him. He's told me about the five years and I had ways of discovering that you've been seeing him recently."

"But I . . ."

"I know, it was all quite innocent. I also discovered that. You see, I know that all women aren't alike. You're different from me and you'd take him back—if you want him when I get through telling you about hom."

"You just said that you loved him yourself. This strikes me as being a very peculiar way to talk about a man you love," Joan got in hastily and angrily.

"I do but I'm too young and attractive to stay married to a man who married me as much for the money and position I could give him as for what he felt for me. I should have known how it would work out but I wanted him so badly that I took the gamble."

"Then why not be sporting enough to see it through?" Joan asked in a brittle voice.

"It doesn't make good sense," Beatrice answered. "I haven't got your kind of temperament. I want everything or nothing."

"It's time to let me do a little talking," Joan said at that point. "You've got everything wrong. I can answer for Win's conduct with both Sheila and myself. It's true that I have seen him but if, as you say, you know that's innocent, I also know it to be.

"It was I who introduced him to Sheila True." Joan told her the circumstances of that midnight call. She felt that she could trust this girl for all her ruthlessness. "Sheila is a famous actress. She has a lot of glamor. She gives lots of parties and collects people. It may not be unusual, or it may be, for Win to meet people like that. He didn't think it was wrong to go there."

"Listen," Beatrice said wearily, two weeks after we were married, Win started meeting glamorous people, women who fell for 'that darling doctor'. At first I thought it was all professional but I found ou. it was not.

"I'm not entirely to blame. I'm not unduly jealous. My friends saw it all before I did. I have to save my self-respect and my face with my friends and I'm going to do it."

She told Joan things that Joan didn't want to hear. About a dancer at Palm Beach, about a social leader they met on a yacht, about the wife of another physician.

"He can't help it. He's a born chaser. He's a weakling where women and flattery are concerned. He always will be but I'm not going to be around to watch it. There are too many other good men in the world. I won't love him forever."

"Why did you come to tell me all this?" Joan asked then.

Beatrice blew a cloud of smoke ceilingward.

"Don't laugh," she said. I'm squaring my conscience. You may not believe it but I've been terribly sorry for you."

"Thank you." Joan answered bitterly.

"Don't mention it. Win told me all about you, what a wonderful 'pal' you were, how fine and all that. I thought if you were that good, you'd get another man quickly. I also thought," she added honestly, "that it was a shame for anyone as attractive as Win to be wasted in a little town. I didn't know how attractive you are."

Joan didn't bother to thank her that time. Her mind was racing ahead of this conversation and meeting obstacles as she came upon the obvious, unpleasant truths about Win. The Win that she had loved, she now despised and knew that she should have seen him as he was long ago. She felt sorry for Beatrice who still loved him. But she had a need to summon her resources not for them but for someone else at this moment.

"Perhaps you'll be good enough to tell me why you are slumping up an impossible scheme to name Sheila," she said.

"Not at all impossible, my dear. I'm rather sorry it has to be Sheila but she has to be the goat. It might have been anyone of dozens of other women but this is the psychological moment and I happen to have the evidence."

"You can't have. That friendship is completely innocent." Joan seemed to be conscious of saying the same stupid things over and over again.

Beatrice Winsloe favored her with a questioning look.

"Either you're dumb—which I don't think you are—or Win has been pulling the wool over your eyes, too."

Joan was getting a little desperate. And pretty disgusted with Sheila whose troubles she seemed to be forever trying to straighten out.

Not for Sheila's sake, however.

She had just rescued Sheila from one scandal to save Julian's play and now here she was threatened with one that would be doubly catastrophic. If Sheila were named in the divorce suit of a bride in Beatrices's position, it would make no end of unpleasant publicity. And heaven only knew what other things would be disclosed!

"I can stop you," she announced, having not the slightest idea what she coul d do.

"You're a funny girl," Beatrice said, picking up her things. "I came here to tell you that you can save Win and you want to stop it. But you can't. I'm through and I've got the information. I'm going to use it."

Then Joan got her idea!

"Wait," she said through white lips. "Will you do something for me if you're determined to get a divorce? Will you name me instead of Sheila?".

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SUMMER SCHOOL

"Oh, dear," Baby Bunty sighed one afternoon, "I wish I had something to do! Uncle Wiggily, can you think of anything?"

The gentleman rabbit was sitting on a log near the hollow stump bungalow. He smoothed his whiskers, and said slowly:

"Something to do? It's odd that you should ask me that question, Baby Bunty. Because for the past two hours that's just what I have been thinking of. Something to do for all the animal children."

"Hurray!" Baby Bunty exclaimed joyfully. "Tell me what it is, Uncle Wig, quickly! I can hardly wait!"

Uncle Wiggily smiled a peculiar smile. "When I tell you what it is, you may not like it, at first," he said. "But I want to tell all the children at once. So will you please get them together, in the front yard, Baby Bunty? Jiggle, and all the little rabbits, and even Spot, the fire dog. Then I'll tell you."

Have Them In a Jiffy

"Of course I will!" cried Baby Bunty. "I'll have them here in a jiffy." And she hopped into the house, and then into the back yard, calling: "Come here, everybody! Something important is going to happen! Everybody come to the front yard!"

In a short time all the little animals were gathered about Uncle Wiggily. Besides the rabbits, and Spot, and Jiggle, the honey bear, there were Billy and Bawly No-Tail, the frog brothers; Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck children, and lots of others, who happened to be at the hollow stump bungalow. So you see there was quite a crowd in the front yard.

"Now!" said Uncle Wiggily in a loud voice. "Are you all listening?"

"Yes, indeed!" the animal children replied. "What's going to happen, Uncle Wiggily?" They were all very excited.

"Well, I have a plan which I hope you will like," the bunny uncle explained. "I've been watching you all, and I noticed that, since it is now almost the middle of Summer, you find it harder and harder to keep busy," he added, so all would understand. "Am I right?"

"You certainly are!" Bully No-Tail answered. "As for me, I can't think of a single new game to play."

"Exactly," and Uncle Wiggily smiled again. "So here is my plan. But don't say anything until I've explained it. I want to start a Summer school!"

"Summer school!" the animal children exclaimed, rather disappointed, and Jimmie Wibblewobble quacked: "You mean we have to study lessons, like geography, and arithmetic, and spelling?"

Different Summer School

"That's just what I don't mean," Uncle Wiggily chuckled. "You won't have to study a thing. This Summer school is going to be different. You're going to learn, but you won't have to study! And the things you will learn will be just what you, yourselves, want to know! How's that?"

"That sounds interesting," Spot, the fire dog, said. "What sort of things, Uncle Wiggily?"

"That's a fine question," the bunny gentleman laughed. "Suppose I answer it by another question. Jimmie Bushytail, what would you like to know? I mean, is there anything you'd like to have explained about the forest, or the trees, or anything else?"

"Yes, there is," Jimmie replied quickly. "I want to know why all the twigs on the ends of the tree branches have been broken off. It looks as though the branches have been cut with knives. How did that happen, Uncle Wiggily?"

"And that's just what I'll explain in the first class of my Summer school," Uncle Wiggily promised. "It was done by the seventeen-year locusts. I'll tell you all about it." And he'll tell you, too, tomorrow night, if the lemon drop doesn't drop too hard so that it bounces. The story will be called Uncle Wiggily's locust story.

PROBE MUST GO ON.

QUEBEC, July 27.—(CP). —Premier Adelard Godbout's Liberal government and the Union Nationale, led by Maurice Duplessi, agreed the inquiry into operation of government departments must be continued. Premier Godbout, however, has declared a Royal Commission will take over the probe started by the Public Accounts committee of the last legislature. Mr. Duplessis insists the Public Accounts committee carry on.

Detroit Police Check List Of Unsolved Crimes After Black Legion Confession

DETROIT, July 28 —(AP). — Detroit and suburban police scrutinized their records of unsolved crimes in which negroes were victims today after Dayton Dean, confessed Black Legion "executioner," had told of a second unprovoked attack by Black Legionnaires on a negro.

In his latest statement, Dean said Harvey Davis, black "Colonel," ordered him and Charles Rouse to "drive around and find a negro—anyone so long as he's black," and then fired a shot into the back of the first negro they saw.

Ecorse police said the victim was Edward Armour, 339, a factory worker, who was shot at the door of his home in the suburb in February. M. Armour, who was in a hospital for months, will view Dean, Davis and Rouse today.

Davis denied Dean's story, but Ecorse police said the bullet taken from Armour's back was fired from a pistol taken from Davis.

A Victim Essential.

Dean said Davis' insistence upon shooting "any" negro followed an unsuccessful attempt to find Clarence Oliver, negro campaign worker for Mayor William W. Voisine, of Ecorse. Oliver had been marked for death by the Legion, Dean asserted.

Mayor Voisine, who also was the target of an unsuccessful Black Legion death plot according to another of Dean's numerous statements, ordered Ecorse police to seek possible Black Legion ramifications in a dwelling fire in which James E Bailey, a negro campaign worker, burned to death in February, 1934.

Davis, Rouse, Ervin D Lee, John Bannerman and James Roy Lorance will be given a court examination tomorrow in connection with the unprovoked slaying of another negro Dean again was their accuser.

The victim in that case was Silas Coleman, 42. Dean said the negro was shot to death there because Davis "wanted to see how it feels to kill a negro."

WARSAW

Rev. Mr. Chapman conducted services in the temperance cause at Ion, Carmel and Warsaw. At Warsaw Mr. Chapman spoke very earnestly not only on the drink question but on the whole moral issue. He advocated no political party, but did strongly advocate strong men of high principles, no matter what party. He did exclaim, "If you cannot get good men, for goodness sake let the men get out and get Agnes MacPhail and some other women who are not afraid to stand on their own feet." At his request the choir sang, "If I Have Wounded Any Soul To-day."

Mr. and Mrs. King, of Michigan, also Miss King, of Howell, Michigan, were guests of their aunt, Mrs. Robert Matthews, Warsaw, for a few days last week. Miss Jean Hawthorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hawthorne, accompanied them on their return home and will spend a few weeks' vacation with Mildred King and others in Michigan.

Rev. Hugh Brown and Mrs. Brown called on some of Mr. Brown's former parishioners on Thursday last.

Miss Dorothy Chambers, Toronto, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George Russel.

Miss Minna Moore is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Greystock.

Miss Ruth Cullen, Toronto, has returned home after visiting relatives in this district.

Mr. McManus and Stuart Miller spent a few days last week on the back lakes. They had a fairly good catch, but did not get any of the very large ones.

Miss Edna Payne was home for a short time on Saturday.

Rev. Mr. Chapman was guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent during his stay in Warsaw.

Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, Mrs. Wilkinson and family are spending their vacation at "Cumfy" cottage, Darnarvon.

Mr. David Armstrong and Miss Armstrong, Keene, called upon friends in Warsaw on Friday.

Miss Cressa Payne is spending a few weeks in Kingston.

Miss Dorothy Anderson returned to her home in Peterborough after spending a month with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Anderson.

MARMORA

Grant Courtney of Cornwall spent Friday in the village.

Misses Bridgman of Sudbury spent the week-end with friends in town.

Mrs. T. Cornerford has returned to Sudbury after spending a month with relatives here.

Miss Geraldine More of Havelock is visiting Mrs. M. Clement for a few days.

RITCHIE HOME DAMAGED.

TORONTO, July 27. —(CP). — Flames visible for miles caused damage to the $75,000 home of the late Harold P. Ritchie in suburban Forest Hill village last night. Oil paintings and costly rugs in the part of the house were saved by neighbors.

CANADA'S WHEAT EXPORTS SHOW LARGE INCREASE

Exportable Supply For Next Season Is Expected To Be Lowest In Years

SITUATION REVIEWED

OTTAWA, July 28—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in its monthly review of the world wheat situation, reports wheat and wheat flour for the crop year ending July 31 will approximate 500,000,000 bushels of which Canada will have contributed about 250,000,000.

Such an export movement shows an increase of about 84,000,000 bushels over that of the previous year and the carry-over will be reduced by a similar amount. A higher proportion of the carry-over of Canadian wheat this year will be held in United States ports mostly sold for domestic consumption or subsequent export overseas.

The bureau predicted the exportable supply of Canadian wheat in the 1936-37 season will probably be the lowest since 1924-25 and will be at least 100,000,000 bushels less than in 1935-36.

Considering the destination of the 84,000,000-bushel increase in Canadian exports during the crop year 1935-36 over the previous crop year, the report said it may be calculated that roughly 30,000,000 bushels more have gone to the United Kingdom, about 24,000,000 more to the United States and the remaining 30,000,000 to continental European countries. For the balance of this calendar year, at least, consolidation of gains to these countries is expected.

Short in Kingdom.

"The 1936 wheat crop of the United Kingdom will be 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels less than that of 1935," the report continued, indicating an increased total import of which Canada should obtain a large share. The United States position is still somewhat obscure, but with the sharply reduced carryover, a 1936 harvest probably lower than that of 1935, and heavy purchases for consumption during the last few weeks, the recent prediction of the United States Department of Agriculture that there seems to be little probability of net imports during the current crop season seems rather brave. It seems doubtful whether United States prices will return to an export level or whether even assisted exports of certain surplus types will offset the imports of durum and hard red spring wheat from this country.

"Providing Russia remains out of the export market, exports of Canadian wheat to the continent in 1936-37 should be at least up to the 1935-36 level.

"In considering probabilities of the new 1936-37 season in more detail, so far as they are discernible at this early date, there are a few outstanding features that might be listed.

Reduced Harvests.

"No marked improvement in world net imports of wheat and wheat flour is indicated, but the movement is likely to be slightly higher.

"Most European importing countries will have reduced 1936 harvests compared with those of 1935, but carry-overs will offset the reductions in some countries and the increased supplies of the Danube Basin, now being pressed forward under specific trade agreements will reduce the quantities required from ex-European countries. Hungary, for instance, is shipping to Italy, Holland and Belgium in this way.

"Present indications are Russia will not be an important factor in the 1936-37 trade because of drought in her spring wheat area. There have been no Russian shipments for six weeks and little of consequence since the middle of March. No offers are being made on the c.i.f. market.

"Canada will face more competition from the Danube, but decidedly less from the southern hemisphere in the first half of the new crop year.

More Competition.

"Increased acreages and generally favorable seeding conditions in Argentina and Australia indicate possibility of greater competition from these countries in the last half of the crop year.

"Canadian supplies for export or carry-over in 1936-37 will probably be 100,000,000 bushels and possibly 125,000,000 bushels less than in 1935-36 or 1934-35, indicating a remarkable change in the domestic situation with important wider effects on the international situation. The combined effects of heavy exports in 1935-36 and a short crop for disposal in 1936-37 have been to transform the Canadian wheat outlook.

"In the Orient China offers a poor prospect for wheat sales in 1936-37, but there is some hope in Japan. Exchange difficulties persist in China and the new crop is promising, but Japan has a poorer crop outlook and the present trade agreement troubles with Australia, her usual source of wheat, may divert demand to Canada. In essence, however, the Oriental market will not be of much more importance in the world picture in 1936-37.

"The United States will probably make substantial imports of high quality Canadian Durum and bread wheats during 1936-37.

"It is doubtful whether the new crop will bring an outturn equal to that of 1935, although there is still one to four weeks when abundant rains would assist filling."

May Resign

E. G. ODETTE

Reports are current that Edmond G. Odette, liquor commissioner of Ontario, will resign his position due to ill health. If this is so the government may divide the work among several of the cabinet members. Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn had no comment to make on the report.

HAPSBURG PURSE GETS A WINDFALL

Austrian Chancellory Restores Six Confiscated Apartments Worth $380,000

VIENNA, July 28 (AP) — The empty pocket of the Hapsburgs, once the rich and powerful rulers of the dual monarchy, was partly replenished to-day through arrangements whereby some of the family's confiscated property was restored to them.

A chancellery official said the title to six apartment houses and title shares with a face value of 2,000,000 schillings (about $380,000) had passed to agents of the Archduke Otto.

Legitimists, who have declared Otto, the heir legitimate, was too poor to eat meat and his sisters had holes in their stockings and runover shoes, rejoiced.

MUSKOKA MAN TO FACE CHARGE MANSLAUGHTER

Croll Orders Action Following Fatal Motorboat Accident

COST GIRL'S LIFE

Explanation Necessary Says Minister Despite Fact Body Not Recovered

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP)— Alfred H. Bickmore, Pleasant View, Muskoka, stood charged with manslaughter today as a sequel to the reported death" of Miss Reta Anna Hamacher, Toronto, in Lake Muskoka July 20.

In making this announcement last night, Hon. David A. Croll, acting attorney general, said "When a death occurs, such as this girl's, from other than natural causes, the public is entitled to an explanation.

"I can't stand on maxims," he said, commenting on the supposed legal necessity of having the body produced in such cases. "Some one died and explanation is necessary."

Miss Hamacher was believed to have been lying in a rowboat struck by Bickmore's motorboat. Witnesses said they saw Miss Hamacher go out in a boat shortly before the accident, but Bickmore was quoted as saying he was unaware anyone was in the drifting boat until later, when he saw a human limb bob up in front of his boat.

Mr. Croll said Toronto lifeguards had been dragging the lake for the body of the Toronto waitress but so far had failed to find it.

Difficult Bottom to Drag

The physical structure of the lake makes it exceedingly difficult to locate a body, said Mr. Croll. The lifeguards report the lake bottom drops suddenly from a 50-foot depth to a 100-foot one, and naturally this creates many crevices where a body could be lodged," he said.

According to police reports, Miss Hamacher, whose family lives at Plattsville, near Woodstock, left Cedar Beach alone in the boat, clad in a bathing suit. Apparently, the report continued, she decided to take a sun bath and lay beneath the thwarts in the bottom of the boat.

A brisk wind was blowing at the time, the lake was choppy and the windshield of Bickmore's motorboat was obscured by spray. He told police he had no idea he was approaching the boat until he heard the crash.

Miss Hamacher, who had gone to Lake Muskoka for a week's vacation, was born at Plattsville, but left there 10 years ago and worked in Galt, and Toronto. At the time of her death she was employed as a waitress at the Boulevard Club, Toronto.

'CONSTUBLE' SEEKS SOME INFORMATION

Virginian's Letter Gives Woodstock Police a Laugh And Some Deciphering

WOODSTOCK, Ont., July 29 (CP)—Chief of Police A. T. Moore is chuckling to-day over a communication received from a Virginia police official who signs himself "Constuble of Rockington County Virginia." The "Constuble" asked for any police record here of a man who claims to come from Woodstock, Canada, and who alleges he shot his wife here.

The letter was addressed to "The Sherif or Marshal or eny other of arthorty" and his peculiar spelling and phraseology made the deciphering of his query difficult. However, after unravelling the mystery, Chief Moore decided the confessed fugitive was more likely from Woodstock, N.B.

No Record in N.B.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., July 29 (CP)—Police Chief Barry Schiver said his records, going back 17 years, fail to show any man wanted for shooting his wife. A Virginia police official had written police at "Woodstock, Canada" a prisoner admitted shooting his wife there.

Fate of John Bracken Government See-Saws

Hold 18 Out of 35 Seats With Their Opposition Leading 13 of 18 Others

Winnipeg Voters Give Communist First Seat In Any Dominion Legislature

COUNT ON FOR DAYS

Bracken Ministers Find Re-election Hard Going--Several May Fall

WINNIPEG, July 29 (CP)—The opposition gained two seats to-day from the Liberal-Progressive government of Premier John Bracken as counting of ballots cast in Manitoba's general election of last Monday continued.

Two seats in Winnipeg's 10 member constituency in which the results were in doubt early to-day sent one Conservative and one Communist candidate to the provincial legislature. They were Ralph H. Webb and James Litterick, respectively. Seven other seats in this riding remain to be decided. L. St. George Stubbs, Independent was conceded election previously.

The total of elected candidates stood to-day at 35. Of this number 18 were Liberal-Progressive, 10 Conservative, four Social Credit, one Independent and one Communist. Voting was held for 53 seats of the 55-member legislature. Two seats, one at The Pas and one in Ruperts Land will be decided Aug. 21.

Win 18 Seats

With 11 rural seats also in the doubtful column, government followers returned in 18 constituencies faced a potential opposition of 17. Liberal-Progressives were leading in five other seats while opposition groups were ahead in 13.

Election of Winnipeg's former mayor and the district secretary of the Communist party was decided after a count of first choices under the proportional representation system. A total of 7,108 was the vote-quota set for election in the city riding. Stubbs, a former judge, polled the huge vote of 24,671, was the only candidate to surpass this quota.

Distribution of the surplus occupied returning officers all day Tuesday and until the early hours of this morning. Transfer of 2,107 votes gave Litterick a total of 7,971. Webb received 1,669 to win re-election with 7,250 votes.

Reds Get First Seat.

Election of Litterick assured the Communist party of a first seat in any provincial assembly in the Dominion. He was running second among 21 candidates when the election of Mr. Stubbs, a former Manitoba county court judge, campaigning as an independent, was conceded Monday night.

Litterick has been prominent in Communist circles in Canada for a number of years. He was active in Toronto and Vancouver before coming to Winnipeg and was campaign manager for Tim Buck, party leader, in the last Federal election campaign in North Winnipeg. Mr. Webb was a member of the last House.

Tabulators to-day prepared to complete a second count for distribution of the remaining surplus am-

Eagle Carries Off An Italian Baby

TRENTO, Italy, July 29.—(UP)—An eagle yesterday swooped down, seized and carried off Ola Maria Robizert, year-old daughter of a peasant farmer, as she slept on the edge of a field her father was cultivating.

BRITAIN TO START TWO BATTLESHIPS EARLY IN JANUARY

Admiralty Plans To Start Soon As Permissible Under Naval Treaty

PLANS READY OCTOBER

LONDON, July 29 (AP).—Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced to-day in the House of Commons the keels of two new British battleships will be laid in January of 1937.

Sir Samuel stated orders for the battleships had been given Vickers, Armstrong, Ltd., at Walker-on-Tyne, and the Cammell Laird Co., at Birkenhead.

"Arrangements for laying down these ships," explained Sir Samuel, "are being made in full accord with the declared policy of His Majesty's Government to press on with naval replacement and the new construction program with all possible speed.

"It's intention is that the keels shall be laid at the earliest moment permitted by the Washington naval treaty, namely January, 1937."

He announced the order for the vessel now, although complete specifications will not be ready until October.

The contracts are to be accepted now, subject to a settlement on the price later. In the event of disagreement on the price the contractors will accept the decision of the First Lord, he said.

POTATOES IN JUNE

'Made Ground' Yields Potato Crop Planted In February.

GUELPH, Ont., July 29.—(CP)—William Stevenson, Guelph, and his family are eating potatoes he planted last February and dug in June Sutherland, whose garden is "made ground", the soil containing sand and foundry refuse, planted three rows of potatoes about seven weeks after New Year's. Because of its nature, the soil freeses only to a depth of a few inches and in early May the tops were above the ground.

Snatching Red Lanterns Costs Prankster $25.00

Youth Pleads It Was Dare But Cadi Thinks Of Hole On Highway

PARTY OF 7 CHARGED

BRANTFORD, Ont., July 29. —(CP). —Cost of removing a red lantern from the highway, although done in a spirit of bravado, comes high. When Alex Lundy, county resident today pleaded guilty to lifting the lantern that guarded an excavation on No. 24 highway, the fine was placed at $25.

The case was started some time ago when Motorcycle Officer Robert Dukes prosecuted John Logan, another county youth, with the offence. Logan pleaded not guilty, stating there were seven in his roadster at the time the lantern was removed and he was not responsible for them.

Magistrate James Mackay, Hamilton, presiding at that time, suggested the officer charge every one of the seven. Alex Lundy told the officer he was sitting in the rumble seat and when it was suggested he could not pick up a lantern while the car was running, he accomplished the feat to prove the man who dared him was wrong.

The original charge, laid against Logan who owened the car was dropped. Logan pleaded guilty to having purchased a car and not having notified the department of the change. In view of the heavy costs in the case, the magistrate imposed a suspended sentence. The costs were $14.50.

Teacher to Test Cave Men Technique

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Without knives or forks, nearly 1,000 educationists from all sections of the United States attending Summer sessions at Columbia University Teachers' College, next Saturday will eat one-pound T-bone steaks.

Philip S. Sayles, general chairman for this traditional men's steak dinner, announced to-day that in addition to steaks there will be potato salad, tomatoes, coffee, ice cream, cake, onions and butter buns—all served without knives, forks, spoons or napkins. Women students are barred.

PARENTAL PROBLEM

Great Grandfather at 67 is Father of New Born Baby Boy.

CROWN POINT, N.Y., July 9.—(CP).—Enos Dudley, 67 year old watchman and a great grandfather, is the father of a new-born baby boy.

A son was born July 23 to the Dudleys. Dudley is the father of 13 children and has two great grandchildren. The present Mrs. Dudley is 46. She is his second wife, whom he married 23 years ago.

Dudley works nights at the Crown Point reservation and daytimes on a farm.

"I get about five hours sleep a day, and that's enough for any man," he said to-day.

Another Kawartha-Trent Sample

Mrs. Marie Neapolitan of Youngstown, Ohio, was one of the successful anglers who crossed the international line to do their playing in Ontario's summer playgrounds, the Rice Lake-Kawartha district. The American tourist was successful in landing a 38-lb. muskie after half an hour's battle in Rice Lake waters, opposite Frank Godfrey's tourist camp. The above picture shows Mrs. Neapolitan on the right, along with Mrs. Verraker, also of Youngstown with the prize lunge between them.

Eight-Foot Youth Sticks Close to Fan

ALTON, Ill., July 29.—(CP)—Eighteen-year-old Robert Wadlow, the tallest human of which the world has authoritative record, sat in front of an electric fan today and complained of the heat. He refuses to budge from in front of the fan except for an occasional swim. For further comfort he kicks off his $56 shoes—size 39.

The Wadlow family yardstick says Robert is 8 feet 5 inches tall. He weighs 425 pounds.

Wadlow has an overactive pituitary gland, pea-sized organ at the base of the brain which controls growth. His parents and four brothers and sisters are normal.

$100,000 STORM STRIKES OTTAWA FARMING DISTRICT

Hail Cuts Crops To Ribbons In Two-Mile Swath For Forty Miles

SCORE BARNS LEVELLED

OTTAWA, July 29.—(CP).— A violent hail storm last night injured one man seriously and caused damage to Russell County crops estimated at $100,000, a county-wide survey showed to-day. Conferences were launched looking toward government aid for stricken farmers.

The hail swept along a two-mile front for about 40 miles, cutting corn to ribbons and flattening other garden crops. Many farmers said their gardens, containing the best crops in years yesterday, were worthless to-day.

The storm, described as more severe than one which struck the same area almost exactly a year ago, lifted roofs from barns, moved a chicken house containing 100 hens and blew William Boulay, resident of Nawan Road, east of here, from a load of hay. Boulay struck the paved road head first and was taken home suffering severe head injuries, exact extent of which was not known.

A score of barns and outhouses were reported wrecked in the district. Windows were smashed in many farm and greenhouses and hail was left four inches deep in many places.

CAR MECHANICS STRIKE

Negotiations at Toronto Fail for 70-Cent-per-hour Wage Agreement

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP)— A strike called by the International Auto Mechanics' Union was in force here today following the breakdown of negotiations over a 70-cent-per-hour wage agreement.

Union officials said they had ordered 20 men to cease work at two Toronto motor sales and repair companies and indicated 500 workers may be out if discussion with other dealers which will take place today and tomorrow fail.

SPANISH LEFTISTS START DESPERATE PURGING OF RANKS

Many Fascist Officers And Prominent Women Are Rounded Up

REVOLUTION UNABATED

By Alexander H. Uhl
Copyright 1936 The Associated Press.

MADRID, July 29.—The Leftist Spanish republic pressed a desperate purge of its enemies from within today while its troops smashed two insurgent garrisons in the southwest and rushed reinforcements to the siege of others.

Suspected Fascist functionaries and officers were wrenched from state departments and the army. Special civil boards, given a five-day deadline, hastened to seize all church teaching property "to satisfy the legitimate desire of the people."

Women of prominence were caught in the Leftist dragnet. They included the wife and daughter of Gen. Emilio Barrera and the wife of the transatlantic flier, Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda.

The government announced the fall of the coastal towns of San Roque and La Linea, in the shadow of Gibraltar, and hurried new reinforcements to Zaragoza, in the north, and Cordoba, Granada and Seville in the south.

Categories where military operations were being carried on were declared "war zones" in which military authorities are supreme.

The government appropriated 40,000,000 pesetas (about $5,600,000) for suppression of the 12-day rebellion.

Militia Take a Rest.

In the Somosierra Pass of the Guadarrama Mountains, militiamen and loyal guards rested from the exhaustion of 11 days' continuous battle. They claimed complete domination of the slopes guarding Madrid.

Reserve conscripts of 1934 and 1935 were called to barracks to reinforce the Loyalist defenders of Madrid.

Juan Garvia, who escaped after being imprisoned by rebel forces in the Guaderrama, said Gen. Emilio Mola, northern insurgent commander, was not in the sector. Many Fascist civilains, he declared, were included in the rebel forces, some wearing military uniforms, other clad in blue overalls with the insignia of the "Spanish phalanx."

Loyalists, although confident of victory, were beginning to admit the fight would last longer than they had expected.

Success on numerous fronts and a series of rebel aerial catastrophes cheered them.

Cannonading was reported resumed in the San Sebastian sector adjacent to the Bay of Biscay, although the town itself was in Leftist hands, with booted proletarian women patrolling the streets.

Both the government and the rebels claimed nearby Renteria, and the rebel objective apparently was

BALDWIN LAYS WORLD WOES TO GREAT WAR

Tells Canadian Vimy Veterans Nations Lost Leaders Of Today 20 Years Ago

TWO-HOUR SERVICE

Pilgrims Duke Of Gloucester's Guests At Buckingham Palace

LONDON, July 29—The world's "present troubles" may be traced to the fact the nations lost in war 20 years ago "their best, who today would be their leaders," Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin said as he spoke in Westminster Hall to Canadians of the Vimy pilgrimage.

"If the world can find no other means of settling disputes than war, while bodies that fell 20 years ago are still being unearthed, then the world deserves to perish," said Baldwin. But he saw hope for the future, recalling the recent conference of France, Germany and Great Britain in which the nations had united to preserve the war burial grounds, and the June 8 ceremony in London when French and German veterans laid their colors on the cenotaph.

"When men can do that, there will be no more fighting, and it was the German General Von Seeckt who said he hoped that after the sacrifices of the Great War there might be a long period of human comradeship and peace."

Fitting Rendezvous

"As you come from Canada on a pious pilgrimage to visit scenes of incomparable heroism, to cement old friendships, to revere and honor those who fell, it is fitting I should meet you at Westminster Hall," said the Prime Minister.

"Canada was born of a union of two great European civilizations, and here you see a building erected by a Norman king, where the first parliament met seven centuries ago.

"We can never forget how in those first days of war, at the moment of peril, Canada sprang to the side of Britain. You stood with us in that grim fighting around Ypres, and faced there the first gas attack.

"I think we showed you then what we thought of you, for we gave you Vimy, the key-spot of the whole line. We gave you our best—Byng.—I think you loved Byng as I know he loved you, and when his work was done Canada produced a man in our own Currie to take over.

"Byng and Currie were friends in life, and in death not long divided, for both have been called home in recent years and each lies honored for all time in the pleasant lands that give them birth."

Cauldrons for Cannibals Bunk Says Solomon Chief

Only Warriors Who Went Away To Fight Had Human Flesh—Children Under 12

COOKED ON HOT STONE

DETROIT, Mich., July 29 (CP)—That stuff you see in the comic strips and in the movie comedies about the cannibals using a big black cauldron when they find someone they want to stew for a tribal feast, is hooey, says Kata Ragoso. They don't use kettles. They use hot stones.

Mr. Ragoso ought to know. His bare legs and kinky, bushy black hair should be authority enough; but he is still a chieftain and rules over 1,000 persons on one of the Solomon Islands. The island is named Marovo.

Mr. Ragoso came to Detroit for a day to speak at the Seventh Day Adventist Evangelistic tent where meetings are being held. At the age of 12 he became a Christian and now he is the Rev. Mr. Ragoso. But until he was 12 he used to see those cannibal ceremonies.

"Only the warriors who went away to fight could have the human food," the chief explained to his host, the Rev. C. J. Coon, pastor of the Grand River Avenue Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"Women, children and the home guard, who might swing just as deadly a spear as any to defend the island, never got a bite, added the former devil worshipper.

Dreams From Wooden Idol

Taking their directions from the Kimbo (wooden idols) into which the spirits of forefathers had supposedly entered, the devil priests would dedicate a new canoe or hall a victorious battle with cannibalistic rite.

"Only children under 12 years old were used," Ragoso said. Their

Fire Fighters Try Saving Family Wash

EDMONTON, July 29 (CP)—Firemen had a new one put up to them here — rescuing the family wash. An excited woman phoned the department. A stiff breeze had blown socks, sheets and clothes down the street. Would the firemen respond? They did. A detachment from Station No. 6 answered the call and rounded up the straying sheets.

REDUCED INTEREST.

ROME, July 29.—(AP)—Italy agrees today to grant Germany reduced interest rates on its reparation debts. It lowered from seven to five per cent the rates on the 1924 Dawes loan and cut the interest on the 1930 Young loan from 5½ to four per cent.

Only Seven Rescued As Sand Laden Craft Rolls and Goes Down

Lightning Hits Tree, Blocks All Traffic

ST. CATHARINES, July 29.—(CP)—Traffic on Hartzel Road between Merritton and St. Catharines was blocked tonight when a large tree, struck by lightning, fell across the road. The smaller branches of the tree trapped a truck driven by Frank Ipischuk, St. Catharines. Only minor damage was done to the truck although fallen electric wires threatened to set it on fire.

Captain Believed to Have Gone Down With His Ship

FOUR MILES OFF CHICAGO

No Time To Launch Boats Says Survivor—Grabbed At Anything

CHICAGO, July 2. —(AP).— Sixteen men were feared drowned early today when the motor powered ship "Material Service," capsized in the rough waters of Lake Michigan four miles off Chicago's south side.

Seven members of the crew were rescued but Captain C. D. Brown and 15 others were listed as missing by the coast guard.

First Mate John M. Johnson, one of the seven who were saved after they had clung for more than a half hour to wreckage bobbing in the white-capped waves, gave the first account of the tragedy.

He said the vessel loaded with sand listed suddenly to port as it nosed through a heavy sea some time between 3 and 4 a.m. E.D.T. It lurched crazily to an even keel, Johnson related, and then sank swiftly.

Spotted by Lighthouse Keeper.

A. E. Pierce, keeper of the Calumet harbor lighthouse station, two miles off 86th street, saw the "Material Service" go down. He notified the coast guard and put out in a small boat with R. A Carlson, his assistant

They picked up two of the survivors A south Chicago coast guard craft rescued three others. A Benham Towing Company boat lifted the remaining two from the lake.

Other coast guard boats, from the Old Chicago and Jackson Park stations, and the cutter "Rush," dispatched from its berth at the municipal pier, were rushed out to the scene to comb the waters for Captain Brown and the 15 members of his crew.

The survivors were first taken to the Calumet harbour light-house.

There, chilled and exhausted, they related the details of the tragedy.

They told how a huge wave struck their 2,000-ton sand and gravel carrier.

Ship Suddenly Lists

"We were going along as usual," said First Mate Johnson, "When suddenly the vessel listed to port. Then it came back to an even keel but immediately began to sink. We had the usual complement of lifeboats, but the sinking was so sud-

KING CONSIDERING GIVING HIS RANCH TO FARM SCHOOL

6,000-Acre Holding In Alberta Considered One Of West's Show Spots

AID IMMIGRANT BOYS

LONDON, July 29 (CP Cable)—King Edward is considering a plan to present his 6,000-acre ranch near Calgary to the Fairbridge Farm School on Vancouver Island, the News-Chronicle reported today.

The E-P Ranch at High River, Alberta ,acquired by His Majesty when he was Prince of Wales and situated in southern Alberta, is one of the show places of the Canadian West.

Thoroughbred stock from the ranch has won many prizes at agricultural shows throughout Canada and the United States. His Majesty transferred blooded stock from his English farms to the E-P for breeding purposes.

The Fairbridge Farm Schools, on Vancouver Island and in western Australia, are for training young British immigrants in farming and settling them on the land.

Manager Uninformed

PEKISKO, Alta., July 29 (CP)—Prof. W. L. Carlyle, manager of King Edward's E-P ranch near here, knew nothing last night of reports current in London His Majesty might present the 6,000-acre property to a Vancouver Island school.

He said no indication of the presentation was contained in a letter received from London yesterday.

CLAIM REBELS ORDER WOMEN SUSPECTS SHOT

Madrid Government Publishes Alleged Instructions To Insurgent Troops

PLAN REIGN OF TERROR

Homes, Herds, Crops Of Loyalist Farmers Said Doomed

MADRID, July 29. (CP-Havas)—All Madrid newspapers yesterday displayed the text of alleged general instructions to the insurgent troops issued by the high command which planned the uprising.

Women were to be shot down without mercy, summary executions of all suspects were to be ordered, and a reign of terror designed to "show the public what we will do if any revolt is organized against us" was arranged, according to the published version.

Instructions to destroy the homes, crops and herds of all farmers loyal to the People's Front Government also were included in the order sheet, which stressed the importance of 'moral annihilation" as an object of the revolt.

War Minister General Luis Castello announced the Spanish Army would be completely reorganized after the revolt has been suppressed.

Government forces tonight moved to smash Zaragoza, the main rebel stronghold in the north, while reports from the south and the Mediterranean area indicated loyal Leftists and insurgent Fascists were engaged in a fight to the finish.

ARREST TWO MEN FOR SHOOTING DEER

Game Wardens Of Lindsay Area Report Poaching Plentiful In North

LINDSAY, July 29—Game Warden Reg Windsor, who has just returned from a trip through the north country, brings back the information that he, with the Northern Game Overseer, Wally Scott, succeeded in apprehending two men who, it is alleged, were shooting deer out of season.

The Wardens discovered the men at 2.30 o'clock Sunday morning coming from Marsh Lake, one with a shotgun in his possession and the other carrying a rifle.

According to Mr. Windsor, there is a great deal of poaching going on in the north country, which the Wardens are determined to stamp out. He said that deer throughout the northern country are plentiful, and that during the five-day trip he saw five of them.

Work Is Underway On Highway No. 30

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD July 29 —Work on highway number thirty between Campbellford and Bradley's Corners is getting well under way. Messrs James Gray and D. N. Murray of Toronto have charge of the survey. The contract is in the hands of the Jupp Construction Company of Hamilton who have already placed machinery and road equipment on the job.

It is understood that the bridge at Meyersburg will be widened and also that one side of the road will be done at a time so that traffic will not be held up. The pavement will be of the penetration type which hardens quickly. As the work proceeds a number of local men will be hired which will greatly relieve the unemployment here.

TWO WOMEN DIE HIGHWAY CRASH

Husbands Of Both, U.S. Tourists, Taken To Belleville, Kingston Hospitals

NAPANEE, July 29.—(CP)—Two persons were killed yesterday near Deseronto on the main highway between Toronto and Montreal when two cars collided. The dead: Mrs. Estella Cassin of Detroit, who was killed instantly, and Mrs. Joseph Eldridge of Azore Park, Long Island.

Mrs. Cassin's husband, Ambrose P. Cassin, was taken to hospital in Belleville suffering from fractured legs, chest and internal injuries. Eldridge, who was not badly hurt, was taken to hospital in Kingston where his wife died about two hours after the accident.

The accident occurred just east of Deseronto when the Eldridge car, it was said, was about to make a left turn into a tourist camp. The Cassin car turned over after the impact and both cars were wrecked.

Dr. W. C. Blackwell and Dr. H. A. Boyce of Deseronto attended the injured. Mrs. Cassin died from a fracture at the base of the skull.

Coroner T. M. Galbraith of Napanee said an inquest would be held in Napanee in about six weeks, allowing time for anticipated recovery of witnesses.

Inquest Undecided.

Plans for an inquest into the death of the two women depended today upon recovery of Ambrose Cassin, Detroit, in hospital in Belleville with fractured legs, chest and internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassin had been married only a short time, and had deferred their honeymoon until this summer. They were visiting relatives in Hastings County, and were on their way here when the accident occurred.

Russia To Baild Strategic Railway

To counter Germany's attempt to cut off France from her Little Entente Allies, Soviet Russia is reported to have reached an agreement with Roumania whereby Russia would build a strategic railway line through Roumania to Czecholsovakia thus making it possible for her to rush troops into the heart of Europe the instant trouble breaks out. As the map shows, Czechoslovakia is hemmed by Poland, Germany, Austria and Hungary, now all allies of Germany. The military advisers of the Little Entente are said to have advised the railway.

Sweet Pickling Trick Saves Burned Out Crops

Fodder Kept Green All Year By Adding Fifty Cents Worth Of Phosphoric Acid

GOOD FOR ALL STOCK

ITHACA, N.Y., July 29.—(AP)—Science today offered the drought-stricken Midwestern United States an immediately practical relief, a new sweet pickle method of converting half-burned crops into superior fodder.

"Sweet pickles" for cows, horses and sheep equal in food value to sauerkraut, and superior to some of the best fodders, is made by adding sirupy phosphoric acid to high protein crops.

The new method was announced at Cornell University. It has been tried out in 1,000 silos. It was developed by Dr. J. K. Wilson, Professor of Bacteriology in the Department of Agronomy.

The announcement says the acid can be added in silos at a cost of 50 to 75 cents a ton of fodder. Even the most burned-out crops in the high protein class, it is declared, can be preserved so they will furnish an all-year green fodder.

Grass cuttings only a few inches high, too small in most cases for forage, have been converted into a palatable and highly nutritive food. The "high protein" crops particularly responsive to the new treatment include alfalfa, red or alsike clover, sweet clover and soy beans.

"The addition of acids for the preservation of foods," says a report by Professor Wilson, has been practiced for a long time. Sauerkraut, pickles and silage are good examples. Therefore, why not add acids if it is suspected that a sufficient quantity to preserve the crop is not going to develop spontaneously?"

Sir John MacDonald's Grave Is Uncovered

TORONTO, July 29—(CP)—Beneath the tall grass of a little abandoned graveyard in Stormont County, in Eastern Ontario, have been found the graves of Sir John Stanfield MacDonald, first premier of Ontario, and Simon Fraser, famed Canadian adventurer, who was the first white man to view the Pacific from the western shores of this continent.

A friend of Premier Mitchell Hepburn, interested in the history of his community, found the graves in a little cemetery near St. Andrew's. He sent word of his discovery to the premier who ordered arrangements be made to care for the graveyard.

FIRE VICTIM DIES

NORANDA, Que. (CP) — Mimi Pronovost, 20-year-old maid, died in hospital here to-day, bringing the death toll of a fire at Lake Dufault yesterday to five.

Mrs. Emile Auger, 25, and her three children, Cecile, four; Therese, three; and Lyse, eight months, also died in the flames that destroyed their home, eight miles north of here, while they slept.

The London Passenger Transport Board now employs 78,000 people.

PRAIRIE HARVEST LIGHTEST IN YEARS SURVEY REVEALS

Good Prospects Seen For Maritimes, Quebec, Eastern Ontario And B.C.

FRUITS STAND UP WELL

OTTAWA, July 29.—(CP).— The Dominion Bureau of Statistics yesterday reported the Prairie grain harvest is definitely established as the lightest in many years, and that coarse grains have suffered more from drought than has wheat.

The bureau, in the fifth of its telegraphic crop reports for all Canada, said during the past fortnight good crop prospects have been maintained in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec, Eastern Ontario and British Columbia, but that drought has caused heavy damage in Western Ontario and throughout most of the Prairie Provinces.

The drought situation in Ontario was relieved last week by heavy rains it said, but no such relief appeared for the Prairies. Drought threatened parts of Quebec and rain is now needed in New Brunswick and the interior of British Columbia, it added.

Saved By Rains.

"In Ontario and Quebec drought which was becoming serious in Eastern Quebec, was broken by soaking rains last week, and general conditions are much improved," the report said. "Haying is almost completed, with good yield and quality. Cool nights have delayed corn, but cereals and roots are making good growth. Milk production is still above normal. Pests are not a serious factor.

"In Ontario, harvesting of fall wheat and barley is well advanced with good yields reported. While moderate rains were general over Central and Western Ontario during the past week, the long drought has cut the prospect for spring grains about 20 per cent for the whole Province.

"Much more rain is still needed to restore soil moisture to normal, though immediate drought danger is past. Bush fruits and garden crops were severely damaged by the hot dry weather, but tree fruits stood up well. All crops in Eastern Ontario look very promising."

CONVICT LAD 16 OF MANSLAUGHTER

Ordered Detained Two Years After Fatal Shooting Of Night Watchman

LONDON, July 29 —(CP Cable.) —A jury in Old Bailey court today convicted a 16 year old Brentford boy of manslaughter. He was ordered detained for two years at such a place and under such conditions as might be decided by the Home Secretary.

The boy, whose name was not made public, went on trial yesterday on a charge of murder arising out of the death of Arthur Hodgson, watchman at Kew fair ground. The prosecution reduced the charge to manslaughter.

The jury deliberated 35 minutes before returning its verdict. C. G. L. Du Cann, counsel for the accused, in his address to the jury, said Hodgson's death was a case of misadventure. It was not a crime but a catastrophe. The shooting was not deliberate, but a pure accident.

Du Cann said the boy went to shoot rats. He saw Hodgson, then he slipped and fell, the gun accidentally firing. Hodgson staggered and fell. The boy fled, overcome with terorr.

Falsehoods Bring Trouble.

The prisoner's counsel said if the boy had fetched help and said that he accidentially shot Hodgson his story might easily have been accepted, but unfortunately he told what amounted to a number of falsehoods.

Testifying in his own defence, the boy said: "I shot at two rats but missed. When I saw Hodgson he stumbled over a brick or something. I seemed to pull the trigger. The gun went off. He fell and I ran away."

Du Cann asked: "Did you intend the gun to go off?"

"No, Sir," said the boy.

He added he was so frightened it didn't occur to him that Hodgson might be badly injured and in need of help. The watchman died later in hospital of a spinal wound.

MUSSOLINI PASSES HIS 53RD BIRTHDAY

Nation Forgets Anniversary Congratulations Under Duce's Ruling He Is Ageless

ROME, July 29 (AP)—Premier Mussolini, to all outward appearances forgetting his fifty-third birthday falls to-day, continued deeply engrossed in the affairs of state he has been conducting as premier for almost fifteen years.

Anniversary congratulations were discreetly forgotten by the men who surround Il Duce at his work.

If a family reunion is planned, it was carefully kept out of the press.

Mussolini, the Fascist attitude proclaims, is ageless. He himself has made "youth" the theme song of Italian politics. "Giovanezza" (Youth) is the Fascist hymn played or sung after the Royal March on all state occasions.

Hence, national silence marks an event which adds another year to the life of a man whose own dictates must keep him perpetually young.

Whether he feels the added year or not, Mussolini has just passed twelve strenuous months.

His last birthday came while Italy feverishly prepared her assault on Ethiopia.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

A Column Conducted by the Department of Public Health, Peterborough, in the Interests of Peterborough Citizens.

NUISANCES

The Public Health Act says a nuisance is any condition which is or may become injurious or dangerous to health. The important point in the whole subject therefore, is to decide what type of nuisance actually is injurious to health. This decision usually rests with the Medical Officer of Health to whom complaints are made.

Briefly, nuisances are buildings of faulty construction, discharge of filth in a public place, bad drinking water, offensive trade, over crowded house, excessive smoke, harmful gases, etc.

The opinion of the public generally seems to be that odours from stables, refuse, etc. are dangerous to health. Actually, the public health does not suffer from bad odours. It is admitted they are offensive and disagreeable but to prove in a court of law that the smell from rotting manure is a menace to health is a very difficult task. Likewise, noise, which in itself is objectionable, is not specifically dangerous to health.

The Medical Office of Health is frequently asked to correct conditions which are not nuisances. It is a regrettable fact that personal animosity leads to complaints about petty annoyances which should be settled privately and not referred to the Department of Health. People are, on the whole, averse to assuming the responsibility for the cost of legal action to settle conditions affecting their property and prefer to have the cost of such actions borne by the municipality.

Most conditions giving rise to complaints should be settled by private individuals under authority other than the Public Health Act.

LARGER NUMBERS FIND EMPLOYMENT

Canadian Employment Commission Member States Work Going Up

EDMONTON, July 29 (CP). — Young people determined to get work are landing first positions, according to Mrs. Mary Sutherland, only woman member of the Canadian Employment Commission, who said employment figures in Canada were going up.

Mrs. Sutherland, from the Cariboo district in British Columbia, has been gathering information here after a tour of British Columbia.

The picture of relief is not the picture of unemployment, she stated, for the unemployed most eager to work are getting work. She mentioned mining towns in British Columbia where young men are being absorbed in new projects as opportunity opens up.

Mrs. Sutherland, who some years ago was assistant secretary to the Council of Agriculture in Saskatoon, thought the new code system for household workers splendid, and one that has brought fine results in Vancouver.

Business and professional women, the Federal commissioner reported, were doing their bit in the Canadian unemployment situation. In Vancouver their club had assisted 470 girls who attended an organization formed by them to offer practical employment courses.

COBOURG COUNCIL DEEDS EAST PIER TO GOVERNMENT

Mayor Refuses to Sign Fearing Action May Make Harbor Free

REPAIRS NEEDED BADLY

COBOURG, Ont., July 29. —(CP). —At a council meeting, last night, which reached the midnight hour, a by-law was passed, under protest of the Mayor, deeding the East pier to the Government, in order that much needed repairs could be made to it.

The striking out of a clause in the by-law, referring to the right of the grantor to collect harbor dues, was protested by Mayor Jack Delanty on the grounds that it would leave the harbor open to the future possibility of being declared a free harbor, in which case the Ferry Dock rental would drop from $2,500 to a mere nominal sum. Mayor Delanty refused to sign the by-law for that reason and Deputy Reeve L. Wilson was empowered to sign it in his stead.

Commenting on the Mayor's objection, Councillor A. J. Keans asserted that as the entire pier was not deeded over to the Government and there was no likelihood of the harbor ever becoming a free harbor.

Are You Underweight Weak and Run Down?

Sparkling, Bubbling KKOVAH containing Iodine ... Highly Recommended

According to medical science, certain glands of your body need iodine but the trouble to date has been for the system to assimilate the right amount regularly. Now, however, for those who cannot take iodine in any other way KKOVAH with Iodine is now available.

KKOVAH accomplishes four things:

1. Refreshes you as you drink it.
2. Cleanses your system.
3. Reduces excess acidity—the cause of many headaches and other ailments.
4. Nourishes starved glands — builds energy and strength.

GOODRICH TIRES ARE SAFER FROM BLOW-OUTS and SKIDS

No other tire has this life-saving invention

It's bad enough to see a blow-out accident happen to somebody else. But how much worse it is if it happens to you. And it might. Thousands are killed or injured in blow-out accidents every year.

You get no warning

At today's high speeds, terrific heat is generated inside your tires. Unknown to you, rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms—and grows bigger and BIGGER until—BANG! A blow-out! And your name may be added to the accident list. Is it worth taking a chance?

But Goodrich has perfected the amazing life-saver Golden Ply now built into every Goodrich Safety Silvertown. It resists heat generated inside the tire, keeps blisters from forming and so protects you against high speed blow-outs.

Another safety factor

At first sign of a skid on wet roads, the three big centre ribs act like a windshield wiper—wipe away the water and leave a dry surface for the husky cleats to grip.

No extra cost

Don't gamble on tires. You may lose. Ride in comfort and without worry. See your Goodrich dealer about a set of Goodrich Silvertowns now. That's the way to get Golden Ply blow-out protection and months of extra, troublefree mileage! And remember, Silvertowns cost not a penny more than other standard tires.

The New Safety
SILVERTOWN

The only tire in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply. The utmost in protection against high-speed blow-outs—with a windshield wiper action non-skid tread—and many extra months of "trouble free" mileage.

Girls' Outdoor Club Visits Birdsall's Landing.

The Y.W.C.A. Outdoor Club held a very jolly campfire supper at Birdsall's Landing last evening. After a swim, the hungry girls gathered around the fire, attracted by the appetizing aroma of weiners, bacon and coffee. Fortunes and the popular sport of spearing marshmallows and toasting them over the coals of the fire followed the supper. Then a program of games and stunts was run off with a tug of war as the concluding feature.

The merry party made its way homeward in the moonlight singing the popular club songs. Transportation was arranged through the kindness of Mrs. V. Curry, Mrs. L. Smithson, of London, and the Fitzgerald Estate which was responsible for the loan of a large truck driven by Mr. E. Genge.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

A THING of beauty is a joy for ever;
Its loveliness increases; it will never Pass into nothingness, but still will keep
A bower quiet for us, and a sleep
Full of sweet dreams and health and quiet breathing.
Therefore, on every morrow, are we wreathing
A flowery band to bind us to the earth,
Spite of despondence, of the inhuman dearth
Of noble natures, of the gloomy days,
Of all the unhealthy and o'er darkened ways? —Keats.

* * *

Dear Friends:

I have been asked by two particular friends to write of the desecration of beauty spots in and around quite a radius of our fair city, by those who go there for picnics and scatter all their debris over the landscape. They go there, and find everything nice and clean, and orderly, but when they leave—oh dear!

So many times I have noticed it as I have travelled over the country, and many times it is caused by people who would praise such a howl if a child were to cast a piece of paper on their lawn at home. They like to think they can take care of THEIR property, but when they go out for the day the lid is off as far as cleanliness or order is concerned, and what was a beauty spot when they came looks as if an evil spirit had been at work to see how much ugliness and dirt he could leave behind.

It is the same in the rest rooms that have been provided for us at the various service stations along the way. There are receptacles for paper towels, etc., but they will scatter them over the floor, leave the wash-bowl in such a mess, clog all drains, and leave all manner of nastiness behind.

Can they not realize that what they are using is theirs while they use it? The picnic spot is really their own for the time being, and the state they leave it in denotes the sort of person they really are at heart.

The spotless lawn at home is only kept like that, because otherwise the neighbors would talk, the cleanliness of their homes is only make-believe, because no one would leave litter behind if they were not a dirty person at heart.

I wonder what they would say if they went into a restaurant to eat and the waitress set their food on the plates of the ones who had eaten there before them? What horror they would show at anyone daring to offer them such an insult. Yet they do not hesitate to offer the insult of a dirty littered picnic place, to the next person who comes along, or a messy rest-room to the next traveller along the way.

Same with rented houses. There are many who leave a place better than they found it, but there are others who think that because they don't own the place they can do with it as they will, to the extreme disgust of those who want to occupy it after they have moved.

Everyone should realize that where they are at the moment is really theirs, to beautify or destroy. No one else can occupy it while they are there, so it is their own bit of outdoors for the time being, and they leave the stamp of their personality on it in one way or another.

Any decent person would hesitate to go into another person's house, eat the food they had brought with them, then scatter the papers and containers all over the floors and rugs. Yet they will go out to God's garden, and after finding everything in perfect order, proceed to desecrate it by their uncleanliness.

So, let us one and all try to leave a place we are using as clean and nice as we found it. If you do not like other people's dirt, how much less do they like yours? If you would feel like beating anyone up who came and littered your front lawn, remember that the place you select belongs to someone, whether it belongs to the Government or is privately owned, so do as you would like others to do with your property, and GATHER UP YOUR RUBBISH BEFORE YOU GO.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

SPANISH WOMEN WITHOUT MERCY

Fight Like Furies In Barcelona —More Violent Than Men

MARSEILLES, France, July 29. —Spanish women who fought like furies, shaming their men comrades in Barcelona battles, are described by an American woman when the American Export Line's steamship Exeter, bringing refugees from the Catalan capital, reached here.

The witness who gave this account is Mrs. Ruby Beach of Washington, D. C., a cousin of Rex Beach, noted writer. She was among the Exeter's refugee passengers, composed mostly of women and children. Many American men, chiefly employed by the General Motors plant there, refused to leave preferring to stand by the company's property, but glad to have their families taken to a place of safety.

Saw a Mexican Revolution.

"I have seen a Mexican revolution and I lived through the revolution in Spain in 1934," said Mrs. Beach, "but they were like a girls' boarding school commencement in comparison with what I saw in Barcelona.

"The only reason I wasn't killed and am able to tell about it today is that our kitchen maid had a Communist sweetheart. I have never approved of maids having sweethearts in the kitchen before in my life, but I do now, because this Communist sweetheart stood by us throughout and really saved us.

"There was fighting in every part of the town, and neither age nor sex or religion calling was respected. Women, children and priests were among the victims. Women, in fact, played an extraordinary role in all this violence.

"I saw girls in beach pajamas carrying ammunition up to men behind barricades. I saw women with rifles in their hands fighting and firing from these barriers.

"Women were the worst and fiercest of fighters. They demanded that their men comrades kill prisoners, and often the men were horrified and refused to do what their women comrades demanded they do."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

"Teacher to Teachers"

PRODUCING A NEEDED TRICK

Declarer's craft is called upon continually to produce at least one trick that would not seem possible to an average player. Today we have such a case.

	♠ A Q J 10 9 6 4 ♥ A 5 ♦ 3 ♣ Q 10 5
♠ 7 2 ♥ K Q 8 7 ♦ 3 ♣ K 8 5 ♣ A 9 8	N. W. E. S.	♠ 3 ♥ J 10 9 6 ♦ Q 9 4 2 ♣ K J 8 2
	♠ K 8 5 ♥ 4 2 ♦ A J 10 7 6 ♣ 7 6 4

Bidding went: West, 1-Heart; North, 2-Spades, to force partner to shift or support, even upon small strength, as the bidder counted 7 tricks in his own hand, with spades as trumps; East, 3-Hearts; South, 3-Spades; West, 4-Hearts; North, 4-Spades, that West doubled, knowing that usually it is difficult to make game over an opening bid, supported by partner.

The opening lead was the 6 of hearts. West played the Q. Declarer's Ace took the trick. The declarer could see just 8 added tricks, 7 in trumps and a diamond trick in dummy. That was a trick short of game, and his side was vulnerable, even if that could make no difference to an ambitious declarer. The club situation appeared bad, as the three missing honors were probably divided between defenders, and declarer had no idea what that division was. Only the long diamond suit in dummy seemed to offer a hope of picking up the one trick required for fulfillment of the game contract. At once he started that suit.

Declarer's lone diamond was overtaken with dummy's Ace. The 6 was returned. Declarer ruffed with his 10, to make certain that he could regain entry often enough to establish and use the fifth card of that suit, provided trumps and diamonds broke as desired. The 9 of spades was overtaken with dummy's K. Both defenders followed suit. Declarer ruffed the 7 of diamonds with his J of spades. West's K fell. Dummy was again put in the lead, this time by overtaking declarer's 8 of spades with dummy's 9. Next to the last diamond was led. Declarer ruffed with the Q of spades, leaving North only the Ace and 4 of spades, while dummy still held the 5.

Dummy's 5 of trumps overtook declarer's 4. The good J of diamonds was led. On it declarer discarded his lowest club. West discarded next to his last heart, and East let go the 3 of clubs, starting an echo as well as he could. The 4 of clubs was led from dummy, declarer put up the Ace and won the first trick for his side. Declarer had to play the 10. East completed his echo with the 2 of clubs. West led the 9 of clubs and declarer's Q lost to the K. East led back his good J of clubs, but declarer ruffed with his last trump, thereby fulfilling his contract, having to give defenders a single heart trick.

What Kind of a Car?

Story from Sudbury tells of a man appearing in police court there on a charge of driving without a 1936 license. His defence was that he did not own the car, and it was established he had purchased it in the first place for $10, and shortly after sold it for $15. It was noted in the story that the man had established himself as a good bargainer.

That may be so, but the thing cannot end there. There is more to it. We believe in such a case the court should want to know what sort of a car it was that was bought for $10 and sold for $15. The car will go out on the roads and possibly on the highway, where there will be people crossing streets and other cars will be travelling.

Did that $10 to $15 car have good brakes? Was it or is it today in a state of fitness and repair so that the driver can have perfect control of it? We doubt if a $10-$15 car is in that condition. More likely it is in the rattletrap class, and the court would be doing a better service by order it off the road than worrying much about the 1936 license plates.

Should Keep It To Himself

Report from Toronto says that E. S. Thompson of Southport, Mississippi, arrived in that city to attend the International Fire Chiefs' Convention. He left home on Saturday morning and arrived in Toronto Monday morning, and the distance travelled had been 2,200 miles. The chief from Southport believes he has set some sort of a record for long-distance driving and that may be so.

But one cannot help wondering why under the sun he wanted to do it. That would be an average of 1,100 miles a day, and he would have to make an average speed of 50 miles an hour for 22 hours of the day in order to cover 1,100 miles. Whether the chief had a siren on his car which kept constantly sounding is something which we do not know.

We can only hope that when he turns toward the south a greater degree of common sense will have become assertive. When a man has done such a thing as drive 2,200 miles in two days he should keep it to himself. He should never speak openly about it.

Are English Folk Boastful?

We have heard it said that English folk are at times boastful about how they do things at 'ome. But we have failed to see anything boastful in the manner of navigating that great liner, Queen Mary. On her maiden trip there was no claim that a record would be secured. On the last trip westward she crossed in 4 days, 8 hours and a few minutes, but the course travelled had not been as long as that taken by the Normandie.

So the ship's commander, Sir Edward Britten, says: "We don't get the pennant because we jolly well don't deserve it."

Some day—although he does not say so broadly—the Queen Mary may step along a little faster on the crossing and a record may result, but what concerns him most is that she is running on schedule and giving a satisfactory performance. But that phrase of explanation, "We don't get the pennant because we jolly well don't deserve it," stands as a bit of a classic and we are glad the skipper put it just that way.

It All Seems Wrong

Now and then cases come to the surface where everything appears to be wrong. A young man in Saltfleet was charged with assault by his father, the charge being that a shotgun fired by the son had injured the father.

When the case was aired in court the father was charged with assault. The story was this: The young man was out in the potato patch at night watching that no one came to steal the potatoes. The father came home, drunk, and started beating his wife because she could not find a coal oil lamp. The woman was in bed. The son discharged the gun, thinking the pellets would miss, but a few of them hit the drunken father in the leg.

So everything was wrong.

They live in a community where the potato patch is not considered safe after dark unless guarded by some one armed with a shot gun.

The father came home drunk.

He started beating his wife, who was in bed, because she could not get a lamp for him as quickly as he wanted it.

The son had to fire off the gun in the general direction of his father in order to protect his mother.

Actually, there does not seem to be anything right in the situation from beginning to end.

A Wide Gap

New York Yankees played a double-header ball game in Chicago and in both games they won. That was more than the loyal people of Chicago could stand. So they started throwing pop bottles at the umpire, Bill Summers, and finally one very smart individual managed to hit him in the groin with a bottle and Summers fell to the ground. After receiving first aid he was able with assistance, to make his way to the bench. Commissioner Landis was present at the game and posted a reward of $5,000 for the arrest of the person who threw that particular pop bottle. It was probably the right move to make, but there were 100 or more pop bottles thrown so the chances of the reward ever being claimed are remote.

We claim we have advanced quite a good deal in sports of various kinds; many people do nothing else and they make a good living out of sport, but that Chicago affair shows we have not advanced far in sportsmanship. That old feeling that the home-town team must win at home has a deep root and a wide planting. If the home team is not good enough to win at home then the visiting team must be punished for openly demonstrating that sad truth There is a wide gap between sport and sportsmanship.

Cars Make People Lazy

Magistrate Burbidge of Hamilton says that driving in cars so much is making people lazier and lazier. He had a number of cases before him, some of which were for double parking. One driver said he parked double although half a block away there was room for proper parking. If he had gone the half block to park he would have had to walk back to the store he wanted to enter and then walk the half block on the return trip. The driver knew it was against regulations to park double but he did not want to walk a block.

Undoubtedly cars do spoil people for walking. The trip to the nearest store must now be made in the car; often the man down town who must make a call a few blocks away must have his car for that purpose. We believe the Hamilton cadi was correct enough when he said that cars make people lazier and lazier.

Performing a Real Service

People who are critical of the radio generally refer to the programmes; there is much they do not like, nor can we wonder at it. It would not be humanly possible for all the stations on the air to keep on providing good programmes. It is one of those things which has not yet been done nor will it ever be done.

But radio is fitting into other fields where it is doing a great work. To illustrate: Two men in Hamilton stole a car and as they were driving in it one of them carelessly dropped a cigarette stub on the upholstery of the back seat and fire started. They saw a man with a lawn hose and asked him to extinguish the blaze. The temporary fireman thought there was something queer about the men with the car, so he called police headquarters. Police sent out at once a description of the men and car and it was picked up by a police cruiser car, and before the men had a chance to get far from the scene they were arrested and charged with having stolen the car. In that field radio is doing something to assist police which could not be done in any other way.

He Was Called 'Pump Handle'

We read the other day, under the heading of "The Art of Shaking Hands": "A cordial grip of the hand conveys a message laden with feeling which can hardly be expressed or extended in any other way."

So that's it, eh? It's too bad we did not understand that a good many years ago for it would have saved a good deal of false impression and perhaps some nasty and unkind words which should never have been uttered.

A good many years ago there was a deacon at the church in the village and he earned for himself the title of "Pump Handle." And all because he was such a handshaker. The minister used to get down to the door while the congregation sat down after the benediction and created the impression they were solemnly taking departure while in reality the men were reaching for their hats.

Pump Handle used to get outside the door and stand on the platform at the front and when the minister had finished with the folk then Pump Handle went at them again. He had a peculiar sort of shake; it started at the top and went down and there was just one stroke to it, and as he pumped he uttered one phrase "And how are you today?" Those words came out just in exactly the same time as it took him to give one pump. He had it timed. Folk often wondered why he was asking how they were because they saw Pump Handle almost every day in the week, and they considered the fact that they were out to service was sufficient proof that there wasn't much wrong with them. Some of the young people used to slide out the back door. They liked the minister but they wanted to dodge Pump Handle. Of course they didn't understand that Pump Handle intended to "convey a message laden with feeling," and so some of the little brats used to boast on reaching home that they had missed Pump Handle. So perhaps it's too bad that more information regarding the "Art of Shaking Hands" was not published a long time ago.

NOTE AND COMMENT

One thing to be said for the old rubber collar—it never wilted during a heat wave.

Mean jobs? Yes, we know one. Taking the scythe to cut the hay in the corners of a rail fence.

The attitude of governments seems to be that if the taxpayer is not here to pay taxes then what is he here for?

We regard the educated man as one whose much learning has convinced him there is a great deal he does not know.

Someone has sent Premier Hepburn a silk hat and he does not know where it came from. Anyway it is not likely to get much mileage as headgear.

That Norwich, N.Y., man who accidently mixed house paint with maple syrup can shake hands with the local girl who took a bath in maple sap.

They are talking of establishing a golf course on Mugg's Island which seems to be an ideal name in view of some of the people we have seen trying to play the game.

Those Canadian cricketers who are visiting the old country secured 169 runs for three wickets against Eton College. Hon. R. C. Matthews seems to be a keen judge of cricket material.

Perhaps it is wise not to say too much about the failure of the farm crops just yet. They are threshing in Kent and Middlesex and wheat is running 25 to 30 bushels to the acre.

Fenelon Falls "wets" after having had a beverage room proposition voted out by a large majority now suggests a plebiscite on a liquor store. Hope springs eternal, etc.

Social credit does not seem to have impressed the electors of Manitoba as a going concern. Possibly the failure to get the thing working in Alberta had something to do with lack of enthusiasm.

Andrea Leeds, described as a youthful film beauty, says she was kissed 467 times in a day's work. Now we suppose there will be another grand rush on the part of the gals to get in the movies.

S. A. G. Barnes, Social Credit member who has been read out of the party in Alberta, will continue to hold his seat in the Legislature. The Aberhart government has no intention of testing its strength in a by-election.

St. Catharines council wants legislation to stop the operation of slot machines. We had an idea there was some such law already although just how, where and when it is enforced seems to be a matter of local option.

Right in the dog days and when most people are thinking of quitting work for a week or so, the Mail and Empire produces a leading editorial on "A Stable Tariff Policy for Canada." All of which makes us believe that F. D. L. Smith, the editor-in-chief of that paper, must be an iron man.

American scientists are seeking information in regard to the lance-nosed fish and we are sorry we cannot help them out. We have lunge, bass, pickerel, trout, whitefish, and salmon, to say nothing of perch and sunfish and alas even carp in our district waters, but lance-nosed fish are among the missing.

MUST KNOW A LOT

(By A. R. K.)

¶ The man who enters politics, must have his bag well filled with tricks, the man must be alive; for otherwise he'll meet defeat, and like as not he'll lose his seat, nor can he long survive.

¶ The toilers come to wait on him, and he must show them hands of grim, and muscles made from toil; he must know all their problems too, the price of liver and of stew, likewise what's best to boil.

¶ The farmer comes and he must know, the state of all the things he'll grow, how fares the fatted sow; he must know how they serve the whey, how many tons of new-cut hay, will feed the brindle cow.

¶ The man who runs the factory comes, he does not walk, but mostly runs, he has a tariff wail; the politician man must know, just how it is such matters go, so he can add a rail.

¶ The man who wants a job arrives, there's thunder in his voice and eyes, he cannot pass him by; he has no job that he can name, but he must keep him loyal and tame, so glimmering hope won't do.

¶ The politicians knows a lot, between the bases he's not caught, nor weakens in the knees, for he must know the price of wheat, why bills are high for making heat—likewise the price of cheese.

Should There Be A Second Chance

(From the Financial Post)

SHOULD the stock swindler get a second chance? There is a lively question in Canada.

Recent The Financial Post refused to accept the advertising of a notorious ex-bucket-shop operator now in business under a "dummy" name in Toronto. He is just out of prison, where he spent some time for running a bucket-shop. As he is operating in Ontario he has presumably obtained authority from the government to do so. Was the government right in giving him a "second chance"? Was The Financial Post wrong in refusing him the opportunity of advertising in its columns?

Whatever else may be said for jail, the record so far does not show that it is an effective instrument for making crooked financiers straight. When they get out of jail most stock swindlers and bucket-shop operators want to go back to stock selling, promoting or whatever "work" they know best. It is in the public interest to let them do so?

John M. Godfrey, Ontario's Securities Commissioner, appears to think it is well to give some, but not all, of these men a chance again. Mr. Godfrey says, in an interview in this issue, that some of them will repay the consideration shown them but his remarks also show that the privilege has to be extended to such men with the greatest of care and with exceptional safeguards.

Every securities commissioner is familiar with the argument that fair play requires that any man who has the right to make his living again in the trade or profession or business that he knows. A grocer or a railroad man or a mechanical engineer can leave jail and work at what he knows therefore why not a stock salesman or promoter? It is asked

One man who underwent a jail term 25 years ago has since then formed company after company in different provinces and in different countries. All have gone broke, the public has not had a single break in its favor in all that time, and yet his record is clear so far as the police are concerned because he did learn one lesson thoroughly when he went to jail. Since he got out he had not omitted a single legal formality at any time and the law is therefore satisfied. But he has caused more loss by far since he got out of jail than he ever thought of doing in the days of his inexperience.

If jail made a crooked man straight, the argument for fair play would be sound. Most social studies indicate that the majority of criminals come out of prison worse than when they went in. Banks and most business houses or businessmen will never employ an absconding cashier after he has theoretically expiated his crime by serving a sentence. They may have the best will in the world for his future success but their attitude will be that he must make his comeback in some other line. He has forfeited the right to handle other people's money until years of fair dealing have shown he can be trusted again.

The States has found it necessary to limit practising doctors, lawyers and professional men generally to those who can fulfill or have fulfilled exacting requirements. Even a reckless motorist runs continuous risk of losing his license to drive a car. Should not a reckless promoter or stock salesman be similarly curbed?

So far the public has seen nothing but good come from the effective administration in Canada of securities laws. The public sentiment can therefore be depended on to rally in favor of those who protect the public savings and rout the crooks. If it is difficult smetimes to decide whether or not a man is sincere in his protestations of reform, a refusal to give registration may hurt the heart of the refuser but it would undoubtedly be in some cases a protection to the savings of the public.

HARD TO BEAT.

(Sault Ste. Marie Star)

WHEN it comes to sidestepping an extra municipal tax levy for relief purposes ordered by Hon. D. R. Croll, it looks to be a pretty stiff job, as several municipalities are finding out.

In fact Mr. Croll seems to be prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner all in one.

Take York Township's case as an example.

Mr. Croll as Minister of Public Welfare ordered the township to collect a special tax—5.7 mills in York and 6.7 mills in East York—to meet relief costs. The township says it can't raise the money and is appealing against the order.

But Mr. Croll, as Minister of Municipal Affairs, will hear the appeal and decide the issue, which will be, of course to back up Mr. Croll, as Minister of Public Welfare.

So the township will go a step farther, and appeal to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. But here unfortunately Mr. Croll is also in control as Minister of Municipal Affairs.

As a last resort, York will go to the courts and fight it out.

Can you imagine anything better for a comic opera?

HAPPY INSPIRATION.

THE British Pottery Manufacturers' Federation makes the announcement that, in connection with the Coronation ceremonies of next year, "millions of school children in all parts of the Empire will become the proud possesors of the King's signature."

It appears that King Edward has expressed his willingness to autograph the approved competitive designs of Coronation mugs and beakers manufactured by British pottery concerns. These souvenirs will be distributed by the million to the Empire's school children.

It is another instance of King Edward's thoughtfulness which amounts to positive genius. It means a much-needed stimulation of the British pottery trade, and this action of His Majesty, as can readily be recognized, has drawn the most favorable comment.

Horse-and-Buggy Methods.

From the St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A delegation of Republicans went to Topeka, Kansas, Thursday night to inform Governor Alfred M. Landon that he had ben selected candidate for the presidency next November. There was a great crowd there, bands 'n everything, and everybody reported a good time.

Although the delegation went there to tell Mr. Landon he had been chosen, he had his speech all ready. The reporters could not say, "that although Mr. So-and-so was taken completely by surprise he made a neat reply," which is a stock phrase we seldom believe is true. For in this instance the gentleman waited upon knew all about it. He knew it six weeks ago. We saw pictures of him listening in to the Cleveland convention on the radio, and it is unlikely he shut it off at any time and missed the great hullabaloo which greeted his nomination. As a matter of fact he sent the convention a long telegram saying that he stood four-square on their platform.

There was really no need for a body of Republicans to go all the way to tell Mr. Landon he had received the nomination. It is merely a survival of the horse and buggy and the pre-telegraph days. When presidents were nominated and Congress elected in the early days the delegates went to the conventions on horseback or in buggies. Some of them took months to reach the meetings and get back home again. The presidential nominee, who might not have happened to be present, had to be informed of his selection, so a delegation selected a day to ride to his home and tell him. In the same way it took weeks to collect votes for members of Congress and to let the successful candidates know they had won, then it took a month or two for some of them to travel by horse and buggy to Washington. That is why, up until the last election, Congress never met until four months after the elections. Our American friends poke fun at the British adherence to archaic traditions, but this is one case in why they follow archaic tradition themselves.

Being what he calls a "horse-and-buggy" candidate, perhaps this event pleased Governor Landon. At the same time our guess is that it is now just another excuse for another bit of "whoopee" without which most folks seem unable to enjoy their elections.

Consider the Engineer.

From the Chatham Daily News.

AMONG those most enthusiastic in their support of the "Try Courtesy" campaign inaugurated this year by the Ontario Minister of Highways, are the railway engineers.

It is a common thing to read of appeals to motorists to consider other motorists and pedestrians, little children and old people; but seldom is advice given to consider the nerves of the faithful engineers and train crews engaged in the highly important work of transporting passengers and freight across the country, promoting commerce, and otherwise serving the needs of humanity.

They have a right to consideration too.

Few people realize the thoughts of an engineer as he notes an automobile speeding towards a crossing which he himself is approaching. The whistle shrieks and the bell rings out—and that's all the engineer can do. He can't swerve to one side, and he cannot control his speed, as he might if he were seated behind the wheel of an automobile. If the auto refuses to obey his warning, the best he can do is to jam on his brakes, then close his eyes and wait for the inevitable crash, which he knows will be far more disastrous for the motorist than for anyone else concerned. From his seat in the cab of his engine, he often watches people riding directly to their doom, crushed by the mighty iron horse he is hired to pilot—and all the time he is utterly unable to avoid the catastrophe.

We are told that these experiences have a serious effect upon the nerves of engineers, and we can readily understand it. Men grow old before their time with their hands on the throttle of a railway engine. It is time that some consideration were afforded them.

Just try it yourself, some time.

On the next occasion of your approach to a railway track, when a train is in sight, stop your car in plenty of time—not too close to the track—and then when the train whizzes by just reach out of the window and wave to the engineer. You will be surprised at the result of your action. The railway man will return your cheery greeting with enthusiasm, a broad smile covering his face, and the friendliest light in his eyes.

You will almost be able to hear him say to himself, "There's a wise and courteous motorist."

So why not "try courtesy" in your relations with the railway engineer?

A Problem of Aching Feet

From the Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

A medical man remarks that human beings are at last giving some attention to their feet, after ages of neglect that has caused many deformities and inflicted untold suffering.

It is a peculiar thing that perhaps one of the parts of the human body that must always bear extreme stresses has been so neglected and abused. A survey of any group of people will reveal that the majority have more or less deformity of the feet, from cramped toes to fallen arches and they suffer much discomfort without realizing the exact reason. They are largely the victims of incorrectly fitted shoes or footwear that was not designed to meet their particular requirements. Sey omresa ¼ ¼ quirements. Some years ago, when extremely pointed toes were the vogue, many young people sacrificed comfort to style and inflicted permanent deformity on their feet, with the further result that their general health and usefulness have been impaired.

Shoe manufacturers and retailers are now happily aligned in the mission of providing footwear that is not alone stylish in appearance but conforms to the natural lines of the feet. In that regard it is one of the most important advances in human wearing apparel and is contributing immensely to the cause of good health.

There is probably no worse misery than that inflicted by feet continually aching from corns, callouses, bunions, cramped and deformed toes or defective arches. Most of these deficiencies have been self-inflicted. They are the results of wearing the wrong kind of shoes and much relief can be obtained by such sufferers by consulting their shoe dealer and explaining their disabilities.

It is also the case that many people are ignorant of the benefits that can be derived from daily bathing of the feet in alternately hot and cold water. There are various liniments and ointments available which are specially adapted for relief of aching feet and those suffering from that torture should give some attention to the remedial measures. It is necessary, however, to treat the feet to good shoes and to always keep the latter in first-class repair. The money spent on the best of footwear is one of the most profitable investments that man or woman can make. If that had always been an accepted decision, there would be much less illness in the world. But it is never too late to start on a regime to give the feet the attention that they should have. Even serious mistakes of the past can be overcome and much discomfort and pain avoided by appreciating that the feet are the great burden-bearers of the body and are thus entitled to the best of care.

THE TWO TUNES.

(Letter in The Mail and Empire)

SIR,—Some friend has sent me a copy of the Port Hope Guide containing references to the volunteers from that town who came to Toronto during the Fenian raid in 1866. Since it is now too late to be included in my review of that important period of Canadian history and the story is too good to be lost, may I tell it here?

This company had a band. Going up Yonge Street, the band played "Protestant Boys," but the mayor of the city told the officer commanding the company to change the tune as there were many Catholics going to fight the Fenians. The band did change the tune and played "Boyne Water." The mayor again came to the captain and told him that was as unsuitable as the other one. Then the officer said that the band knew but two tunes and he could have which he liked.

DECLARE STOCK WAR.

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

WHIG-STANDARD employees are leaning out of the windows of the newspaper office today waving broomsticks and old dust cloths in an effort to frighten away a stork which made two attacks on the newspaper staff on Wednesday. At 4 a.m. Wednesday a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davies and at 4 p.m. a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hamilton. A. L. Davies is managing editor of The Whig-Standard and H. J. Hamilton is assistant sports editor.

At the time the paper went to press today, no further casualties had been reported, but sentries have been posted on the roof of the building with instructions to shoot any bird that looks like a stork.

MORE "HOWLERS."

(Amherstburg Echo)

THE examiners of the entrance examination papers in Mr. Bowden's inspectorate had an occasional laugh when reading the papers last week. Here are a couple of the highlights:

Talon was the Intendant of New France. He took a great interest in the matter of increasing the population. He taught the women how to have babies.

One bright boy quoted the first few lines of the Burial of Moses, thusly: "By Nebo's lonely mountain on this side Georgian Bay."

FOR DOCTOR DAFOE.

(Brantford Expositor)

THE leading women's publication of Australia took a straw vote as to whether the Dionne quintuplets should be returned to their parents or left in the charge of Dr. Dafoe. There were 24,000 answers with 16,000 in favor of the continuance of state care. This majority verdict would probably be substantiated in all other civilized lands.

COTTAGER RESENTS WOLF IN GARAGE

Plans To Put Door On It After Dog Scares Prowler Off

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 28.—(CP).—W. E. Best, of Sault Ste. Marie, is going to put doors on the garage of his camp at Goulais Bay and keep his dog hungry.

"When wolves begin roosting right in my garage," he said, "it's time to do something about it."

"The other morning," he said, "my dog wakened me about five o'clock. He was whining and sniffing as though there was something wrong. I opened the door and let him go out. Right back of the camp is the garage and it has no doors. He sniffed for a second or so and then dashed right for the garage, but before he got there a big wolf slipped out and made off for the bush. The dog chased him for a while and then came back. He seemed to enjoy it, but I didn't.

"It's just a bit surprising to find a wolf using your garage for an over-night roost. I was fairly close to the animal when he made his break and I'd say he was a fairly big brush wolf."

COSTS MORE TO ARGUE

Practical Joker Forced to Pay Out To Tilbury Cafe Owner.

TILBURY, Ont., July 29.—(CP)—It would have cost him 15 cents less if he had paid up when asked. A Detroit man declined to pay Pon Tong, proprietor of a Tilbury restaurant, 10 cents for damage to sugar when he poured catsup and two glasses of water on it. When the man declined, Pon called police. They took one look at the mixture of sugar, catsup and water and charged him 25 cents.

Crop Reports

Central Ontario

Hastings — Threshing of early grains and alsike clover are under way. Drought has seriously reduced the grain crop but late oats are being helped by showers.

Muskoka and Parry Sound—A large proportion of the spring grain crop is going to be very short in the straw. On the high land, oats are heading out, not more than 12-14".

Peterborough—A few reports are coming in that fall wheat is yielding better than was anticipated but the kernels are slightly shrunken.

Prince Edward—While beneficial showers have occured during the week, more rain is needed throughout the county. Harvesting of spring grain has commenced and yield will be very light, and quality inferior. In general, tomatoes and corn crop look promising at present.

Victoria—Cooler weather with showers on Wednesday and Thursday have helped the crops, livestock and agricultural workers. Pastures and hoe crops most benefited. Fall wheat harvesting completed Peas being cut for feed in some cases. Raspberries only half a crop.

York—Crop outlook was decidedly unfavourable until the most welcome rains on Wednesday and Thursday, which will help a great deal in filling the grain and in freshening up the pastures. Rain seemed to go down pretty well in the root fields but where plowing is being done we find that the moisture has only gone down a couple of inches. The rain should help the late berries. Quite a number of orchards report severe burning of fruit from the extreme heat a couple of weeks ago. Many of these are drying up and falling off the trees.

Eastern Ontario

Carleton—Grain crops throughout the county give every indication of a good yield and rain on Thursday should to a great extent insure proper filling of grain. Barley and alaska oats are ripening quite rapidly. Considerable hay remains to be saved yet.

Dundas—Early fields of oats such as alaska are practically ready for cutting, and will not yield heavily, due to extreme hot weather. Later fields are in the milk stage and, with the heavy rain fall on Thursday night, should fill out well. Haying is practically completed with the exception of a few farms. Second growth of alfalfa and red clover is looking short and thin due to drought.

Glengarry—Field crops look very well with odd exception on grain lodging due to rain and heavy crops.

Grenville—Crops look well and recent heavy rains will practically ensure sufficient moisture for the remainder of the growing season for grain crops. Some early grain has been cut and considerable of it is ripening up rapidly. Second growth alfalfa is looking well.

Leeds—A splendid rain on Thursday was very beneficial to all crops, particularly corn, potatoes, roots, pastures, buckwheat and late grain. Some early oats, barley and wheat have been cut. A number have not yet finished haying.

Prescott and Russell — Recent rains have considerably improved growing conditions of field and garden crops. Acreage of timothy which is being kept for seed production is slightly reduced due to the prevalence of Oxe Eye Daisy this year. The hay market seems to be improving and the propects for better prices are generally considered to be good. Hop growers are complaining that the "Hop Vine Borer" is doing considerable damage in old yards. In some cases as high as 30 per cent. of the vines are affected.

Renfrew—Field crops are in excellent condition over most of the county. Showers which have delayed haying were very beneficial. Heavy second growth of alfalfa and early cut fields will be almost ready for second cuting before haying has been completed on later fields of timothy and clover.

New Prairie Wheat Yields 15 Bus. Acre

REGINA, July 29.—(CP).—First delivery of new crop wheat was made at the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool elevator at Willows, near Assiniboia, Friday last by Himbeault brothers. It was made known here yesterday. Yield was fifteen bushels an acre and weighed sixty-one and a half pounds a bushel, of "fair sample" grade. The territory was in the drought belt of the south.

Canadian Sentiment Shock To Britisher

NEW YORK, July 29—(CP)—Gordon Helsby, associate editor of the London Daily Herald, arrived here yesterday at the conclusion of a tour across Canada, and said that he was "considerably shocked at the lack of mother-country sentiment in Canada."

"It shocked me in a way," he said, "to find that the young people were restive in the sense that Great Britain does nothing for the Dominion. There is a feeling among the young people that if Canada were linked with the United States all of them would have jobs."

Mr. Helsby, with 12 other prominent London publishers and editors, made a six-weeks tour through Canada for the purpose of celebrating the Canadian Pacific railway jubilee and also of "gathering a better interpretation of the Dominion," he said.

RADIO LISTENERS HAVE CLEAR PATH

Plan To Make Ordinary Electrical Appliances Interference Free

LONDON, July 29—(CP)—Very soon, if the postmaster-general has his way, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and all electrical apparatus will have to be suppressed in the interests of radio listeners. But the word "suppressed" is used only in the technical sense.

It does not mean that these valuable household gadgets must be dispensed with, but only that they must be prevented from causing a noise in nearby wireless sets.

After three years' investigation, the Committee on Electrical interference, has reported to the postmaster-general and he is to act on the recommendation it should be illegal to allow electrical apparatus to jam radio sets. It is expected legislation will be introduced in the House of Commons in the autumn.

The committee proposes the electricity commissioners should be given powers to draw up regulations controlling electrical interference, and that the post office should be given power to enforce them. At present the post office employs 300 men, who investigate 40,000 cases of electrical interference a year, but they have no power to compel owners of noisy electrical interference to stop the nuisance.

The committee plans that certain standards of electrical interference measurements should be laid down and that manufacturers of electrical apparatus conforming to these standards should be allowed to stamp it with a radio interference-free mark.

To make an ordinary electrical vacuum cleaner interference-free might cost from 50 to 75 cents. To suppress noises from an elevator would cost from $50 to $75.

C. C. Paterson of the Electricity Commissioners and chairman of the committee, says: "Powers to enforce the regulations are necessary only to deal with the small number of cases—four or five per cent—in which owners of interfering plants refuse to suppress the interference."

Lt.-Col. A. G. Lee of the post office, said that theoretically, every form of electrical interference could be cured. "In the case of power lines, the cost might be prohibitive," he says. "The most difficult cases are medical apparatus, where the only solution seems to be walling the entire room caontaining doctor, apparatus and patient, with metal, or at least chicken-wiring."

WHEAT IN BRITAIN BELOW '35 CROP

No Shortage Likely If Argentine, Australian Yields Are Average

LONDON, July 29—(CP Cable)—According to the Daily Mail, the British wheat crop is likely to be less satisfactory this year than in 1935.

The ministry of Agriculture contends it is too early yet to speak definitely of an alleged world shortage of wheat. It says that the real determining factors are the Argentine and Australian crops. If these prove average, no shortage is likely in the United Kingdom.

The Daily Mail also quotes the ministry as saying "It seems at present that Canada, the source of our main supply, likely will have a good crop with conditions here mainly favorable."

Nevertheless, Canadian Minister of Agriculture Gardiner is reported by the Daily Express as saying: "The latest information is not cheerful. Drought has reduced the crop nearly 50 per cent.

WOMEN FIGHT FOR NEW DEAL

Equality With Men Is Aim Of The New Venezuela Party

WANT INDIVIDUAL PLACE

CARACAS, Venezuela, July 29 (CP)—The women of Venezuela have started a fight to prevent themselves from becoming mere creatures "of luxury and pleasure."

They want an individual place in the world; they want to be on a footing of equality with men.

For many years the battle has been going on, but it was not until the death, last December, of Juan Vincente Gomez, dictator for 27 years, that the women fought on a broad front.

The women of this country have no political rights and their property rights are vested in their husbands. As soon as a girl is married, her husband may take all of the money belonging to his raven-haired wife and squander it on blonds if he wants to. The law so provides.

The more highly placed women do not have to walk from their weddings behind a donkey, and they do not have to till the soil, but they feel their lot is nevertheless hard. The women summed the matter up in a platform of their campaign, now in full swing.

This states, among other things, their object is "to abolish womanhood as a mere object of luxury, of pleasure, of indifference, and free her from the economic yoke; to make her conscious of herself and efficient."

The suffragists are organizing throughout the country, and a men's society known as Orve, with 30,000 members, recently took up the cudgel for them. A feminine group has been added to this body, and Senora Anna Julia Rojas, a prominent Venezuelan who long was a resident of Long Island, N. Y., is secretary.

As a part of the suffragist drive, the working women of the country are being organized into unions to obtain decent pay. At present women get an average of 40 cents a day for unskilled work.

Men receive higher wages in the same jobs, and the women are demanding the same pay as males.

Lindsay Lad Held On 3 Theft Charges

LINDSAY, July 29.—A 16 year old Lindsay boy was arrested late yesterday by Acting Chief Constable Alfred Hodgson on there charges of theft. The accused is said to have admitted breaking into the Canadian Department Stotres on Sunday morning and stealing merchandise, including a grey sweat shirt, two white sweaters, one pair of blue pants, two pairs of grey pants, two pairs of shoes, one pair of mitts, one belt, eight pair of socks, one summer hat, one swimming suit, one fine shirt and one windbreaker. Police say the youth also admitted breaking into the Little bookshop last week and stealing a pen and pencil, about 60 cents from the till and several pads of writing paper.

HOLD 18 OF 35

assed by Mr. Stubbs while final counts in other ridings where transfer of votes was necessary proceeded slowly.

Complete results of the election, returning officers stated, may not be available for several days.

Cabinet ministers in the Bracken administration ran into difficulties as opposition stiffened in various sections of the province. Prospects of re-election of Minister of Education Hoey were not certain. With 11 polls to hear from at St. Clements he was trailing Herbert Sulkers, C. C.R. nominee, 2,240 to 2,938 votes. R. J. Bates, Social Credit candidate, was last with 1,150 votes.

Two Trail C.C.F.

Hon. W. J. Major, Attorney General, and Hon. J. S. McDiarmid, Minister of Natural Resources, were running close behind John Queen, C.C.F. member and Mayor of Winnipeg, in the race for the 10 city seats. Heavy transfer of Stubbs' second choices lifted Mr. Queen from 10th to fourth position, and in the lead for election.

Bulk of second choices were distributed among Leftist candidates. S. J. Farmer, C.C.F. member, received 2,564 to elevate him from near the bottom to eighth place.

Litterick received 2,107 and Queen 2,045. John Ivens, another C.C.F. nominee, received 944 but he was far down the list.

Social Credit Now

Election of S. E. Rogers at Roblin increased the strength of the Social Credit Party in Manitoba to four. They also won ground from the Government at St. George, Gilbert Plains and Hamiota. Lone gain of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation was counted at Assiniboia, where transfers gave the vote to James Aiken. William Sanders, Social Credit aspirant, lost his deposit.

A close race was under way at St. Boniface, where Fred Lawrence, C.C.F. nominee, opposed L. P. Gagnon, Liberal-Progressive candidate. Count of first choices was expected to be completed late to-day and transfer of votes started. The result was not expected until late Thursday.

Women candidates lost prestige as returning officers resumed their task of selecting ten candidates in the Winnipeg constituency.

Mrs. Mary Dyma, Government nominee, slipped from seventh to eleventh position in the transfer of surplus votes. Miss Beatrice Brigden, C.C.F. candidate, held sixth place with a total of only 571 votes.

With a record vote of 78,181 confronting them officers declined to estimate the time it would take to complete the count. Distribution will go forward until all surpluses of elected candidates have disappeared when low totals will be divided and tail-end candidates eliminated.

THEIR BUMPS BROUGHT FAME

Thomas Edison Didn't Know Himself Until He Saw a Phrenologist

ENLIGHTENED MINDS

LONDON, July 29—(CP)—Thomas Edison never knew he had inventive genius until he had his head "read" by a phrenologist. This secret was revealed in a letter from the famed genius read at the British Phrenologists' Society here recently.

The world might never have been blessed with some of its most valuable modern inventions if Edison had not seen a phrenologist. "I never knew I had inventive talent," the letter read, "until phrenology told me so. I was a stranger to myself till then."

Letters from Andrew Carnegie, W. T. Stead, Lloyd George and Lord Runciman were also read to delegates at the golden jubilee congress and exhibition.

Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, four times Prime Minister of England, late in the 19th century, has also written of the value of phrenology. He wrote:

"I declare that the phrenological system is as much better than all the other systems as the electric light is better than the tallow dip."

Phrenologists claim their science may have a profound effect on medical and psychological research in the future.

Somerville Township Voting Today On Beer

LINDSAY, July 29. — To-day Somerville Township will vote on whether beverage rooms will be allowed to be established.

At present no beverage rooms in standard hotels have been alolwed since the Hepburn Government was elected, and recently a petition secured the required number of names necessary for a vote. Kinmount is the only town with a standard hotel eligible to operate a beverage room.

There is also another petition being circulated in Fenelon Falls to have a brewery warehouse established there. In conversation with The Globe several merchants of that town claimed that business had dropped considerably in Fenelon Falls since the beverage rooms were closed following the vote last fall.

Beaverton will also vote to open the beverage rooms on Aug. 12.

LOW BIRTH-RATE BOTHERS AUSTRIA

100,000 Unwed Women Social Problem Engaging Leaders

VIENNA, July 29.—What to do about Austria's low birth rate and high proportion of old people and unmarried women is engaging the country's best minds.

The suggestions are made that, as in Italy and Germany, loans should be made to enable couples to marry, and that the tax burdens of large families be lightened.

Dr. Wilhelm Heckle, one of four university professors who have spoken on the subject, said Austra's birth rate is the lowest in the world.

The number of unmarried women he disclosed, has risen to 100,000 and the number of working women has jumped to 70 per cent. in the case of public positions.

This fact, and the presence of men between 24 and 34 years in most of the available jobs, he added, made it almost impossible for youths to find footholds. He foresaw dire political and cultural results.

Among the reasons Professor Wilhelm Winkler listed for the declining birth rate were increasing sterility among women, lowered food supplies and fear of the future.

He recommended financial aid to large families, and fundamental reforms" in the Austrian wage system.

MISSIONARY PLANE LEAVES FOR NORTH

Advance Patrol of Miva Carries Pilot, Priest Photographer

MONTREAL, July 29—(CP)—The advance patrol of the MIVA missionary organization, founded by Germany's flying priest, Rev. Paul Schulte, left yesterday by airplane for Edmonton.

Aboard the plane were pilot Pat Howard of Toronto; Father Beaucage of the Oblate order, and Rolf H. Carl, photographer. They will be followed in about two weeks by Rev. Schulte, who will pilot another plane.

The planes will be taken into the Arctic region to aid in missionary work in the far north. It is the first time the MIVA has supplied planes for northern Canada.

Purpose of the MIVA is to provide aerial transportation for Oblate missionaries in far-flung places of the world.

Father Beaucage will be met at Edmonton by Mgr. Breynat, Bishop of the MacKenzie. They will await Rev. Schulte at Edmonton and proceed into the arctic for organization of the planes' operations there.

WRITER FAVORS DEBT PAYMENTS

British Journalist Says Monetary Systems Need Experimentation

CALGARY, July 29.—(CP).—Settlement of International War Debts to stabilize trade and an experimental attitude towards monetary problems are advocated by R. H. Bacon, assistant editor of the Yorkshire Post and writer on economic subjects, who has just crossed the continent with a party of British journalists.

"Our present financial and monetary system has not reached a stage of perfection. It does not follow anything unorthodox is necessarily unsound," Mr. Bacon said. "The great need today is an experimental attitude towards monetary problems, the solution of which would be a great step forward.

"It is unfortunate that those who are adopting an experimental attitude towards the monetary system should combine with their enterprise a desire to default on existing obligations. This must not only destroy the confidence and support of those who have done so much by thrift to expand resources and raise the standard of living in all countries in the world, but must also cast suspicion over the whole purpose of monetary reform.

"What the world needs is final settlement of international war debts which are in a distinct category. It is quite obvious that such settlement can only be on the basis of a fractional part of the fantastic figures presented by the nominal debt.

"The United States must remember that debts can only be paid in goods or services. Coolidge's remark 'They hired the money' is quite inaccurate. The allies 'hired' goods and could only repay their debt in goods. So much is obvious; but the existing flow of international trade could no doubt carry reasonable debt settlement without disturbing effects.

"Most Observers in England think an effort should be made to reach a settlement as soon as posible. Only one good thing can be said for the existing position—it serves to drive home the lesson that war does not pay."

The Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1936

His Own Son: WINDSOR.—An angry expression on his face, a man entered police headquarters here today with his 15-year-old son in tow. He placed a box containing cigarettes and tobacco on a desk. "He's been up to something," the father said, "and I brought him here so he could tell you what it is." The boy said he broke into David Swagta' grocery shop.

A Cold Spot: SUDBURY.—Nick Kosrig is all set for a long, hard winter. So much so in fact that police, after one look at his woodpile, charged him with operating a woodyard without the necessary license. "It was all for my own use this winter," observed Kosrig. "How much have you got in?" asked Magistrate J. S. McKessock. Kosrig said he had about 200 cords.

CANVASS OF CATTLE OWNERS FINISHED TO ERADICATE T. B.

Only One Township Clerk's Affidavit Needed Today To Close Application

TEDIOUS PRELIMINARY

Peterborough county's request to the Minister of Agriculture to become a restricted area under the plan of eradicating tuberculosis among cattle is now ready for presentation to the Hon. Duncan Marshall, provincial Minister of Agriculture, A. D. Runions informed The Examiner.

The canvass of farmers owning cattle has been completed, and the additional preliminary of obtaining affidavits from the township clerks to the effect that the census facts comprising the petition are correct required only one more signature. When Bruce Johnston of North Monaghan affixes his signature to the statement for his township the tedious details will be wound up, and another Peterborough county agricultural project will be in the hands of the government for their approval.

A minimum of two-thirds of the cattle owners must express their willingness to have their herds tested as a requisite condition to the extension of the restricted area plan to this county. Mr. Runions has withheld until the final routine has been finished the announcement of the complete results of the canvass in his county. And from the provincial department the application is then forwarded to the federal Department of Agriculture.

"I expect to have Bruce Johnston's affidavit to-day that to the best of his knowledge the number of cattle in North Monaghan is as stated in the application," Mr. Runions remarked, "and when we get that the job is finished as far as we are concerned, and that means the county's Agricultural Development Association and all the farmers who have declared their willingness to adopt the restricted area plan."

OBITUARY

MRS. ELIZABETH TOOLEY.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Tooley, 272 Rubidge street, widow of the late Michael Tooley, occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday following a long illness. She was 72 years of age.

Mrs. Tooley was born in Troy, N.Y., daughter of the late John Keough and Martha Collins. She came to this city to live in 1900 after periods of residence at Oshawa, Port Perry and Myrtle. A member of St. Peter's Cathedral, she was active in the Catholic Mothers' League and took an interest in the work of St. Vincent's Orphanage. During the Great War she was particularly active in the work of the Ladies' Aid at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Devoy, of Schnectady, N.Y., and Mrs. Anna Boudreau, of Troy, N.Y., survive.

The funeral will proceed from the residence at 8.45 a.m. Thursday for requiem mass at St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, July 30

This day may be notable for setbacks, delays, disappointments and thwarted purposes, judging by certain planetary directions. However, there are promises of fine coups to be made, possibly through writings, contracts or agreements through strategy, determination, cleverness or connivance.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of some delays, obstacles and disappointments, although there are excellent opportunities to be encountered and grasped through tact, strategy, shrewdness, determination and perseverance.

A child born on this day may have an alert and ambitious mind, yet may be discouraged easily and inclined to solitude or morbidity unless he learns to be optimistic.

Champion Husband Caller Finds Voice Saves Her Plenty Of Steps During Day

EASTHAMPTON, Mass., July 29 (AP).—Mrs. William Underwood, champion "husband-caller" of Mt. Tom, finds the ability to make herself heard half a mile away "surely saves a lot of steps."

Winner of a recent contest conducted by the Hampshire Pomona Grange, Mrs. Underwood pointed to the farm buildings across the road from her home and explained:

"My husband is always busy in or around those barns at meal times, and if I couldn't holler loud enough for him to hear me I'd have to walk over there.

"On a good day I can make my son Richard hear me when he is swimming in the river more than a half mile away. It surely saves a lot of steps," she said.

ROOSEVELT DOCKS AT CAMPOBELLO

Plans Picnic With Family And Friends—Reception For Neighbors

By D. Harold Oliver,
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

CAMPOBELLO ISLAND, N.B., July 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt under guard of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the United State Secret Service, relaxed in a big, red cottage on a hilltop here today.

A picnic with members of his family and friends in the Campobello summer colony shortly after noon and a reception for his neighbors of the cottage about tea time were the only events on the day's calendar.

Reports circulated that Major General Edwin H. Markham, chief of army engineers, was enroute here for a conference with the United States President on the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project, which was abandoned when the Washington Congress refused to appropriate money for further construction.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, has been looking over the model village built to house the Quoddy workers. He was understood to have made some proposal to the president yesterday regarding its future.

The President docked last night after a 437-mile cruise from Maine. On his private wharf were Canadian and American flags and a lane of 20 Royal Canadian Mounted police.

Mr. Roosevelt will remain here until Thursday afternoon. He then will board a special train for Quebec, where Friday will be spent in a "good neighbor" visit with Lord Tweedsmuir, governor general.

CITY WORKERS GET GODBOUT'S PLEDGE

Will Reap Benefits Of Subsidies To Farmers Premier Claims

QUEBEC, July 29.—(CP).—Quebec farmers will receive Government aid but city workers need not fear the Government will neglect them if returned to power, Premier Adelard Godbout assured a Liberal campaign meeting last night at Fort Coulonge, North of Ottawa.

Subsidies and technical services are devised to return prosperity to the rural areas, and city workers know they will reap the benefits of increased buying power in country districts, the young former-Premier said.

His opponents, the Union Nationale, were spreading false reports the Liberal Government was trying to create friction between farmers and workers, said the Premier.

"We intend to introduce legislation which will assure the city worker of minimum salary which will afford him the guarantee of being able to support his family honorably.

Public works undertaken through the cooperation of the Federal Government at Ottawa and the Legislature in Quebec will aid him doing away with direct relief," Mr. Godbout said.

Duplessis Has Complaint.

Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale leader, complained at Grandmere last night that Government supporters declared in one part of the Province that he was Conservative, and then insisted in other localities that he was not a Conservative. Premier Godbout appealed to Conservatives at Hull Monday night that Mr. Dupiessis was "not one of them," said the Union Nationale chieftain.

He did not believe the Liberal cabinet ministers were the changed men they claim to be, said Mr. Duplessis.

"Hitherto they have had the intelligence to conceal what they really were,' he said, "but now they reveal their hypocrisy."

His critics said the public accounts committee probe into departmental affairs he talked of so much would not save the party. "That may be true, but when a man's arm is infected with gangrene the arm must be amputated if the rest of the body is to be saved," he commented.

Fine Is Imposed License Suspended

On pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Wednesday morning, J. S. Reynolds, manager of The Home Bakery was fined $10 and $2.75 costs, and his license was suspended 7-days. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., told the court that defendant was making an early morning delivery to Dean's restaurant recently, when his motor truck collided with a car being driven by Ross Crouter on McDonnel street. Reynolds had three tendons in his arm severed. Mr. Gordon stated and had spent some time in hospital. Neither the driver of the other vehicle or his passenger was injured. During a discussion of the damage done to the car, counsel remarked, "The car could not have suffered much damage because it was just three jumps ahead of the wrecker." He added there were fifteen empty beer bottls found in the Crouter car, but nothing could be done about them as "the evidence had been consumed."

BLACKSMITH 90 SHOES HORSE 30 FOR OWNER 100

Battle Of Ages Takes Place In Edmonton Smithy Shop

FULFILLS PROMISE

EDMONTON, July 29 (CP) — Charles Gibbs, healthy and agile for all his 90 years, came out of retirement the other day, donned a blacksmith apron and put shoes on the 30-year-old mare Nellie, owned by Joseph Haire, who is 100 years old.

The event was staged in an old blacksmith shop here and attracted a large crowd. Though Haire, who is still hale and hearty, had never met Gibbs before, the pair had a great time after the shoeing talking over old times.

For Gibbs it marked the fulfilment of an ambition. Born on a farm near Saginaw, Mich., he promised himself years ago that at the age of 90 he would shoe a horse, and all present agreed that he had done an expert job. He came to Edmonton in 1900 and was a blacksmith and horse dealer for a number of years. He learned his trade in Saginaw and claims he was "the best oxen shoer in Saginaw county."

Finally he turned to farming and still owns the farm near Athabasca from which he retired four years ago.

Gibbs read a newpaper story reporting that Joseph Haire had celebrated his 100th birthday by hitching Nellie up and ploughing a field in North Edmonton.

"By golly, I'd like to meet that man and shoe his horse for him," said Gibbs.

"Keep in touch with me and I'll let you know when Nellie needs shoes," said Haire to Gibbs' messenger, and some months later he sent word that all was in readiness.

Reporting at the smithy bright and early in the morning Charlie Gibbs shouted: "Give me an apron and let me go to it! I'll show you how to shoe a horse. I'll handle her to the Queen's taste." And that's just what he did.

"It's nothing at all," said Gibbs when Haire complimented him on his workmanship. "Many's the horse I've shod in the old days, and many's the horse I could shoe again if I had to." And the talk drifted on.

CAMERA USED FOR METER RECORDING

Obviates Disputes Over Power Charges Between Consumer And Commission

The taking and filing of photographic meter records is a system that has been successfully employed by Peterborough Utilities Commission for the past fourteen years.

It is a system designed for the protection of the Commission and industrial power users, which has obviated any possibility of disputes in connection with power charges.

Equipped with a special camera (of the type used for finger-printing purposes), a meter reader makes tomers who buy industrial power from the Commission, and secures a photographic record of the meter reading.

The films are developed and printed locally and prints relating to demand meter readings are kept on file at the Utilities Commission office, ready to be referred to at any time in the event of a dispute arising between the Commission and the consumer.

Demand meters are fitted with two pointers. One of the pointers indicates the peak load of power used by a consumer in any given month, and is set back to zero after the meter reader has obtained a record of the reading. The consumer pays a service charge of $1 per horse power per month, in addition to a consumption rate based on the peak demand for the month.

CIGARETTE STARTS FIRE.

A cigarette thrown from a passing automobile into the dry grass at the side of the road and a breeze that fanned it into a flame started a blaze Monday afternoon that gave Ned Minnicola of North Monaghan an anxious hour or more as he battled the blazing grass to keep it from doing serious damage to his property.

THIRD ADJOURNMENT.

The Crown consented to a further adjournment of a drunk-driving charge against a local man, who made his third appearance before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Wednesday morning, on condition that defendant pay fees of $5.55 to a witness who had come from Lindsay to testify. Defendant through his counsel declined to elect or plead to the charge which relates to an alleged offence on July 5. The hearing was adjourned to August 7.

STRUCTURAL ALTERATIONS

Extensive alterations are in progress at Zellers Limited, the contract having been awarded to The J. K. Sheehy Construction Company for structural changes that will permit of the addition of new departments and a general expansion of the business.

Dennis Fitzgerald, manager of the firm's Peterborough branch commenting that the work in hand reflects a marked improvement in business conditions, said that the upper floor of the building is being remodelled, and the old passenger elevator is being taken out of the building to make more room. When the work is completed he stated, new departments will be added to the store.

TAKES ICE ALONG

Most fishermen are content to catch their fish first, then buy ice on which to preserve their catch. Other luckless fellows go angling and return empty handed.

There is one local individualist however, who with supreme optimism takes along an adequate supply of ice on his fishing excursions. He is Reg. H. Turner, genial proprietor of The Sanitary Ice Supply.

Tuesday afternoon he was seen climbing aboard an auto of very ancient vintage which he uses exclusively for fishing trips. He had on his fishing togs, and was puffing with deep contentment at his corn cob pipe anticipating the pleasures of some angling on Rice Lake near Serpent Mound.

Besides an outboard motor and his fishing tackle Reg stowed away in the car a couple of blocks of ice —200 pounds in all, but it was not learned whether his optimism was justified or not.

Traffic Held Up 2 Hours

For two hours all traffic in Whitehall was diverted as the pilgrims held service at the Cenotaph. Reinforced by members of the British Legion, the pilgrimage numbered 8,000, while nearby streets were thronged with multitudes of watchers. Later the veterans marched down Whitehall to the Horse Guards Palace for dismissal.

Later today they were guests at Buckingham Palace of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, acting for the King.

Two thousand Canadians left London today for Scotland to place a wreath on the Scottish memorial in Edinburgh, and another on Earl Haig's tomb in Dryburgh Abbey. Tomorrow the main body of pilgrims will attend a special service in St. Paul's cathedral, and a wreath will be placed on the grave of Earl Jellicoe.

Toward the end of the week many will embark for Canada. Others will cross the channel again to France for a five-day tour as guests of the French government.

Fine Booking For Peterborough "Ex"

A dazzling flash of diamond-studded costumes, flying clubs, hoops and rackets, and five beautiful young girls, comprise the troupe known as the "Five Juggling Jewels," which will be presented as one of the feature attractions at Peterborough Industrial Exhibition opening three weeks to-day.

These clever British artists are famed throughout Europe for their amazing ability, and are a rare and artistic treat. After a lapse of many years spent in touring Europe and other eastern continents, where they met with great success, they have been brought to this continent by an American booking office. They are to be featured in front of the grandstand at the local Exhibition.

The amazing dexterity and ease with which these talented young ladies juggle heavy Indian clubs, hoops, rackets and other objects is only equalled by the stunning and dazzling appearance they make, with their shimmering costumes, white wigs and their props used in the act, which are all lit up with small dry batteries.

JOHNSON PUMPER HELP TO FARMERS

Fire On Fred Walsh's Farm In Douro Subdued In Swamp

The fire on the farm of Fred Walsh, Douro township, was stamped out late Tuesday afternoon after burning twenty-four hours, and threatening adjoining properties.

The flames from a parched grain field had reached a swale and lodging there in a last stand kept one hundred farmers busy all Tuesday in extinguishing it. J. J. Duffus had responded to an appeal from Mr. Walsh for help, and obtained a Johnson motor pump and adequate supply of hose from Chief Gimblett. The hose reached to the Indian River, and threw a stream of water into the swamp that would have been a credit to the fire department's big pumper. The city's equipment was a great help to the fire fighters, confining the blaze to a comparatively small area of the swamp.

FIND WOMAN SLAIN SON BADLY INJURED

Husband's Arm Gashed Is Held Under Guard In Montreal Hospital

MONTREAL, July 29.—(CP). — Twenty-year-old Patrick Doolan was in critical condition in hospital to-day while police probed the death of his mother in her Des Erables street home and held her injured husband under guard in hospital.

Police discovered the woman's body last night and her injured son. They also found her husband, former district fire chief Patrick Doolan, sitting on a chair in the dining room, his left arm gashed by a razor blade.

The woman's body lay across the bed clad in night clothes, and police believed she had been slain as she slept. Her head had been bashed in.

The son lay half conscious on the floor of another room. Doctors said he suffered from a fractured skull. Near the injured youth was a baseball bat spattered with blood and on a dresser in the room was a blood-stained iron dumbell.

Patrick Doolan, Sr., suffered a gashed tendon and vein in the left arm and doctors said it would be at least three days before he can leave the hospital.

Detectives said they were informed Doolan, Sr., had been in ill health for a long time. Two years ago he retired from the fire department after being injured in a fire.

EXPLORER PLANS ANOTHER POLAR REGION JOURNEY

Lincoln Ellsworth Yearns For Icy Antarctic—Fly To Enderby Land

CHATEAU LAKE LOUISE, Alta., July 29—(CP—Lincoln Ellsworth, Arctic explorer, on a visit here said he felt "let down" and at a loose end and plans soon to return to Antarctica's icy allurements.

"I want to fly in from Enderby Land," he said, "and approach the Bay of Whales (Little America' thus from the other side. Antarctica, which is approximately 5,000,000 square miles—that is a bigger continent than Europe—has at least 2,500,000 miles still uncharted. This unveiling of a continent for the last time in human history has limitless possibilities."

"Three hundred miles from the Pole there are 100 miles of coal seams, 40 feet thick. All the baser metals have been discovered. A flight in from Enderby Land with three or four established bases with dogs might divulge the precious ores."

"But it isn't so easy to organize," he continued, "I've given my plane to the Smithsonian. My men are disbanded—some very tired of Arctic exploration. They have been with me three times."

"My little ship the Wyatt Earp needs reconditioning," the modern Ullysses declared. "I need a new personnel, and the right men are not easy to find. Sir Hubert Wilkins won't come with me again. He wants to do something on his own —naturally. And yet I feel I must go back soon, or the incentive goes.

Western Canada is no new story to this wanderer. He learned his peaks and passes working on the Canadian Pacific Railway. He has hunted in the old Cariboo. He had a job in Prince Rupert. He has dragged a surveyor's chain across the Canadian prairies.

Soon Ellsworth intends leaving for England to lecture before the Royal Geographic Society in November. He will also write a book about the expedition which last November gave 3,500 square miles of hitherto uncharted land in the Antarctic to the United States.

Water Selling Is French Industry

PARIS, July 29—(CP)—Strange as it may seem, selling water has become a prosperous industry in France. It gives employment directly or indirectly to more than 150,000 persons. This sale of water brings in 50,000,000 francs per year (about $3,300,000) in taxes to the government and more than 50,000,000bottles of French mineral water are exported abroad annually. These facts are from an inventory of "French thermal resources" just completed.

In olden days taking cure was often a matter of clever guesswork; it succeeded or it didn't. Today, in 10 French universities, there are chairs devoted to the sciences of hydrology.

The railways of France give a reduction of 25 per cent in first-class and 20 per cent in the others, to all persons going to a French thermal station to take the cure.

Dodgers-Phillies Still Bugbear To Nationals

PHILLIES RALLY IN NINTH FRAME TO DEFEAT CUBS

Dolf Camilli's Second Homer Of Game Is Winning Blow—Score 5-3

GIANTS GET DOUBLE

By SID FEDER.
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

The Phillies and Dodgers appear to be going no place in the National League this year, but they aren't giving up one bit of the honors they've won in the past as the "Giant-killingest" crews of the big time.

They've been doing it for years, this waiting until some club gets out in front or near the top, and then landing on that particular outfit like a ton of bricks. Bill Terry found out when they beat his Giants out of the pennant two years ago, after his famous crack asking if the Dodgers were "still in this league."

At the moment, the Dodgers and Phils have been applying themthemselves, respectively, to Pittsburgh Pirates, who were in tthird place until they reached Brooklyn, and the League-leading Cubs. Previously they combined to take care of the Cardinals, clubbing the gas house gang right out of the League lead by beating them in four of six games in successive series.

Cubs Muff Chance.

The Cubs came to Philadelphia Sunday with a grand chance to boost their league lead to a commanding margin, inasmuch as the Cards were not scheduled for Monday or yesterday. But the best they could get was an even break in the four games against Jimmy Wilson's wallopers, winding up on the short end of a 5-3 count yesterday, with Dolph Camilli smashing out a pair of homers, and Rookie Claude Passeau stopping the league leaders with six hits, leaving them only 2½ games in front of the cards.

At the same time, the Dodgers, although losing yesterday's finale to the Bucs 9-8 in 10 innings after an uphill climb to tie the count in the eighth, took three of the five game series with the Pirates, to slug them far out of third place and let their arch-enemies, the Giants, take over that spot.

Yanks Swamp Tigers.

The Yankees maintained their nine-game American League lead with a 20-hit barrage against the Tigers for a 16-6 win. Although Lou Gehrig hammered out his 31st homer, and Johnny Murphy showed fine form in a three-hit, five-inning relief trick, the victory wasn't all "beer and skittles" for murderers' row, since Myril Hoag was hurt when he and Joe Dimaggio collided while chasing Goose Goslin's fly in the sixth inning, which went for a freak homer when both the fielders were knocked out by the smash.

Earl Averill hit two homers to lead the second place Cleveland Indians in a 6-3 win over Washington Senators; Chicago White Six climbed back to fourth place with a slugging triumph over the Athletics, getting 20 hits to pile up a 10-6 score, and Boston Red Sox held third place by downing St. Louis Browns 5-2, with Johnny Marcum turning in a six-hit pitching job.

Percy Wyer Gains Place In Olympics

BERLIN, July 29. — Venerable Percy Wyer, Toronto's "grand daddy" of the marathon trails, will compete in the Berlin Olympics after all.

After Harold Webster, Jimmy Bartlett and Vic Callard had been announced as the Canadian trio for the grind, leaving the 32-year-old, 95-pound Wyer out in the cold, it was decided last night that Callard would be dropped instead of Wyer.

Sam Manson, general manager of the team, explained only three runners were allowed in each event, Webster, Hamilton veteran, Wyer and Bartlett, of Oshawa, finished in that order in the Canadian trials. Callard was well up until the last mile, when he was forced out.

The Olympic committee decided to send only Webster, owing to the shortage of funds. Bartlett and Callard raised their own expenses and made the trip.

SCOTTISH CLUBS SET FOR OPENING

Footballers Tuning Up For Nine Months' Grind—Opens August 8

GLASGOW, July 29. — (CP). — After a three-month layoff Scottish Football League clubs are tuning up for the official opening Saturday, Aug. 8. Many of the clubs have been busy "touching up" the weak spots during the off season, buying and selling players, and a great season is expected.

Looming big for honors when the nine months' schedule expires are the big guns of last year—Celtic, the champion, the powerful Glasgow Rangers, cup holders, and Aberdeen. The Aberdonians were up among the leaders all through the campaign and finished in third position.

Falkirk and St. Mirren practically swept the second division all year, and they will line up with senior company, taking the places of Airdrieonians and Ayr United, who finished in 19th and 20th positions, respectively.

Third Lanark and Arbroath, who were promoted to the major division after the 1934-5 campaign, remain. Last season Third Lanark closed in ninth position and Arbroath in 11th.

Opening games scheduled for the two divisions follow:.

Div. I.—Arbroath vs. Clyde; Celtic vs. St. Johnstone; Dundee vs. Rangers; Dunfermline vs. Hearts; Falkirk vs. Hamilton Academicals; Hibernians vs. Aberdeen; Motherwell vs. Queen's Park; Partick Thistle vs. Queen of South; St. Mirren vs. Albion Rovers, and Third Lanark vs. Kilmarnock.

Div. II.—Airdrieonians vs. Forfar Athletic; Alloa vs. East Stirlingshire; Ayr United vs. Leith Athletic; Brechin City vs. East Fife; Dumbarton vs. Edinburgh City; King's Park vs. Dundee United; Morton vs. Cowdenbeath; Raith Rovers vs. Stenhousemuir and St. Bernards vs. Montrose.

Omemee Defence Collapses In Tenth To Give Winners Necessary Run

FINAL SCORE 7-6

Coming from behind, Westclox nosed out Omemee 7-6 last night at Central in a hectic ten-inning struggle. The Beckerman crew were fortunate to pull out a win as the visitors had a one-run lead going into the last of the tenth. Then the Omemee defense collapsed completely and permitted the tying and winning runs to cross the plate.

Elliott was on the slab for the winners. He was hit freely from start to finish but managed to keep his opposition from bunching their hits and squeezed through to a win. Reeds did mound duty for the losers and pitched a fine game. He allowed fewer hits than his rival and only for loose fielding might have been returned the winning hurler.

T. Parsons with three singles was the shining light at the plate for the Alarm Men while Goodson had two hits and a walk for the same team. Rehill and Jones, each with three hits, were the O's chief threat at bat.

The fielding by both squads was loose throughout. Omemee came up with two smart double plays; the first came in the sixth inning and the second one in the ninth to halt the Clockmakers in their tracks with the winning run on the base-paths at that point.

The teams:

Omemee: McQuade, cf; Pogue, rf; Jones, ss; Prince, 2b; Brooks, c; Drieonians and Ayr United, who finished in 19th and 20th positions, respectively.

T. Parsons, 1b; Curry, lf; White, c; Elliott, p.

ALBANY HURLER HALTS TORONTO

Leafs Fail To Score On Pitcher Phebus Of The Senators

HERRMANN BEATEN

ALBANY, N.Y., July 29 (CP). — Toronto's winning streak in the International Baseball League was stopped at six straight games last night when Albany won 2 to 0, behind the splendid pitching of Ray Phebus, right-hander, whose sale to Washington was announced recently.

Phebus allowed six hits, four of which were made in the seventh and eighth innings, but he did a good bit of pitching to prevent scoring in these frames.

Leroy Herrmann and Johnny Pomorski pitched well for Toronto, Herrmann allowing only five hits in the six innings he pitched, and Pomorski setting down six Senators in order in the two innings he worked.

The Senators scored in the first and second innings, using two hits in the opening session and two more in the second. Thereafter the Senators were helpless before the Toronto curvers.

Toronto's best chances to get into the contest came in the seventh and eighth innings. In the seventh singles by Comorosky and Handley with one away had Phebus in a jam but Miles made a spectacular catch of Burnett's line drive and Boone flide out in the role of a pinch-hitter after getting a three and two count on him.

Oliver was on third and McQuinn on first by virtue of two hits with one down in the eighth, but Blakely popped to Estalella and Bell grabbed a hot smash from Comorosky's bat and retired McQuinn at second. Comorosky for Toronto and Bell for Albany were the only players to get two hits.

WOOLLENS TIE NORWOOD GANG FOR 2ND PLACE

Homesters Have Edge On Play In First Half To Gather Safe Lead

SPEEDY CONTEST

Auburns climbed into a second-place tie with Norwood in the second half schedule of the Tri-County Lacrosse League by defeating the Norwood gang, 8 to 4, in Auburn Field last night. The small crowd saw a speedy, clean contest with the homesters having an edge on play in the first half to gather a safe lead. It was a lively tussle all through, with play shifting fast from end to end and some good lacrosse shown.

It was 3-0 for Auburns in the first quarter and 6-1 for them at halftime. The Norwood crew scored the lone marker of the third frame and each side tallied twice in the windup chukker. Play was more even the last half. Auburns had a better passing attack and had more close-in shots on goal than their opponents. The visitors' passing was off at times and they were checked hard by the local rugged defence. There were but three penalties.

The opposing goalies both looked good in every quarter, having some hot thrusts to block and letting in no soft ones. E. Creighton, Dundas and Magee provided the main scoring punch for the winners, while H. Baker shone for the losers, with B. Baker being in on two goals, also.

The teams:

Norwood.—Goal, Rogers; defence, Rathwell and K. Puffer; centre, G. Puffer; wings, Godin and C. Puffer; rover, H. Baker; alternates, B. Baker and Ennis.

Auburns—Goal, R. Creighton; defence, Miller and Gerow; centre, Magee; wings, Dallin and J. Creighton; rover, Dundas; alternates, Ellis, Hunt, Jackson and Heard.

Referees—Ennis and LeBarr.

Summary

JOE JACOBS LOSES MANAGER'S LICENSE

Schmeling Must Find New Director—May Vacate Lightweight Crown

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 29.—It appeared to-day that the world's lightweight crown will be begging for a wearer within a week.

The New York State Athletic Commission threatened yesterday to declare vacant the title now held by Tony Canzoneri, if Tony failed to fill a scheduled date with Lou Ambers, August 6. A request by Canzoneri for a third postponement of the much-talked-about fight was flatly denied by the commission.

Sammy Goldman, Canzoneri's manager, declared later he positively would not let Tony go into the ring next week.

"We'll not take any action until August 6 of course," Chairman John J. Phelan said. "We've ordered the fight for August 6 and if it isn't held we can declare the title vacant and let Amers fight it out with somebody else."

Although he supposedly has been in training for a month, Canzoneri told the commission he needs more time to get in shape.

"My physical condition is all right," he said, "but my timing is bad. My injured nose has prevented me from boxing as much as I should."

Chairman Phelan turned to Ambers, who was also present, and asked if the Herkimer lad is in shape and ready to fight. Ambers said he was.

"I believe another postponement would be an injustice to Ambers," Phelan said. "He has worked hard and he is ready. Canzoneri has had just as much time as Ambers."

Joe Jacobs Out

The commission came up with a real bombshell when it revoked the license of Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling and one of the best known fight managers in North America.

Chairman Phelan said it was "for the best interests of boxing," then explained Jacobs has repeatedly refused to file with the commission a copy of his contract with Schmeling.

"He made a half dozen appointments to do this, both before and after the fight, but failed each time," he said. "So he's out."

This means that Schmeling, who returns to New York soon to fight Jimmy Braddock for the heavyweight title in September, either must get a new manager or make his own matches and sign his own contracts.

Johnny Marcum, Red Sox — Limited Browns to six hits for 5-2 win.

Freddy Fitzsimmons, Al Smith and Mel Ott, Giants—Pitching of first two defeated Reds in doubleheader; Ott hit homers, driving in six runs, in nightcap.

Bill Dietrich, White Sox—Held Athletics to ten hits and led attack in 19-6 victory with four singles.

Arky Vaughan, Pirates — His triple and single drove in three runs in 9-8 win over Dodgers.

COUNTY CRICKET TEAMS' TACTICS EXCITE WRITER

Old English Game Not What It Used To Be According To Critic

NO 'MONEY GOD'

LONDON, July 29. — (CP). — Cricket is generally recognized as a game where unsportsmanship has no place. The "Money God" that has crept into many sports is practically unheard of in this great English game.

They have a phrase for unfair actions, "That's not cricket." It shows the high level the game has achieved.

Lately, however, a News-Chronicle writer has had some misgivings of the sport following incidents in the English county championship. At the Sussex-Nottinghamshire game played at Hove recently, Sussex needed two runs to win as rain started. The Notts captain appealed to the umpires, obtained a verdict to stop and led his men off the field. The contest was declared drawn.

Another "unsporting" action occurred in the Surrey-Yorkshire fixture at Leeds. Surrey needed 337 runs to avoid an innings defeat. Surrey went in for stone-walling when the score was nearing the 200-mark. Batsmen knew that at 200 Yorkshire bowlers would get a new ball and reduce chances of dragging the game out to a draw. The Yorkshire captain outwitted them, owever, allowing 13 runs by bowling wides and byes, got the new ball and bowlers used it to dismiss five batsmen for seven runs. "Yorkshire won the 'game,' if 'game' is the word," says the writer.

"Does any fun seem to be left in nationally-followed football, cricket, tennis, golf or racing?" he asks. "And if the answer is a melancholy 'No,' can there be any doubt that what fun there once was has now been driven away by the brooding countenance of the great money god?

"The committees of the county cricket clubs would roar with rage at any suggestion that county cricket was becoming 'commercialised.' The charge would be false, moreover, if it implied that investors are making profits out of the play. But for years county players have been chained to the general system by which clubs that do not make as much money as the system says they must make are punished for their failure. In county cricket, as elsewhere, a team makes money, that is, it gets profitable crowds, so long as it keeps up its reputation. If it loses its reputation and place in the results-table, it loses money automatically. So, knowing what is at stake, the team takes the field with the solemn determination to avoid defeat.

"Batsmen spend uninspired hours at the wicket, intent not on scoring runs, but on preventing themselves from being dismissed. Rules of tactics force them to take no chances; to cry 'Wait!' when a butterfly crosses the pitch or the sun glints on a spectator's wristwatch. The system demands it.

"Once it was just disappointing when we t weather cancelled a match. Now it is disastrous. Yorkshire lost $15,000, Gloucester $9,000, Worcester $40,000, Warwick $1,500, Kent $1,000 last season, chiefly because rain caused matches to be abandoned. That is serious. It is all serious.

"Football, lawn tennis, horse racing and greyhound racing also come under the writer's fire. The Arsenal football team, watched from the touchline of a pitch on Plumstead Common in 1886, was one thing; but the Arsenal team watched from a seat in a new $500,000 stand, with television tower, broadcasting room and a 96-foot bar, such as is now being built at Highbury, is quite another thing.

"While it might be ridiculous to insure a miner for $40,000, it is merely a sensible precaution to insure six Arsenal players for $40,000 each before they go on a Continental tour.

"Could Aston Villa take chances with players it had bought for $150,000?' he asks. "The Villa received $320,000 in gate money last season and yet finished up with a loss of $34,426. There is little 'amusement, diversion or fun' in the contemplation of figures like those.

"So have the $195,000 investments of the Lawn Tennis Association. Was there not every reason for the recent anxiety of the Wimbledon debenture-holders when Fred Perry was rumored to be thinking about turning professional? If he had done that he would have disqualified himself from appearing on the Centre Court this year, and would have jerked down the receipts from the championships to a regrettable extent. 'The position is very grave,' one of Wimbledon debenture-holders was reported to have said at the time. The fact is that with so much money tied up in it the position of sport is perpetually grave. Or rather, perpetually sombre.

"It is calculated the total turnover of betting on horse-racing is now between $1,250,000,000 and $1,500,000,000 a year. Another $250,000,000 a year changes hands in bets on greyhounds at something like 300 tracks throughout the country. One company has put $6,000,000 capital into its dog and speedway tracks.

"Nobody but a lunatic would run risks with industries in which sums like this are wrapped. Light-hearted talk about the game being the thing may be all right in its place, but this is business. This is big business. It makes league tables into balance sheets, goals into gold. It furrows the brow of fun with the cares of commerce."

NEWARK SNAPS LOSING STREAK BEATING BISONS

Buffalo's Second Place Margin Reduced To One Game By Defeats

WINGS INCREASE LEAD

If you're trying to dope out that dizzy International League pennant race, don't overlook the Newark Bears. They're still in third place, but they're plenty hot when they hit their home grounds and may go right back into the lead they once held.

Paced by Al Piechota and Steve Sundra, the Bears broke a five-game losing streak all to pieces last night by winning two contests from the team that, at present ranks as their most important rival, the Buffalo Bisons. As a result Buffalo's second-place margain was reduced to one game while the Rochester Red Wings, edging out Baltimore 8-7, increased their league lead to 6½ games.

Newark Mound Stars

Piechota and Sundra each limited the slumping Bisons to four hits, winning 8-0 and 3-1. Piechota got the benefit of eight blows, bunched for two big innings, but Sundra hooked up in a mound duel with Truett Sewell, who also hurled four-hit ball for the seven innings he worked.

The Bears brought their double play total up to 130 with three twin-killings.

A five-run blast in the seventh inning, marked by boundary belts by Estil Crabtree and Louie Scoffic, enabled the Red Wings to get the edge in the slugfest at Baltimore. Woody Abernathy clouted homers 30 and 31 for the Orioles.

The last-place Syracuse Chiefs rose up to dispute Toronto's claim to being the circuit's hottest club when they belted over the Montreal Royals twice 3-2 and 7-3 while the Albany Senators checked the Leafs 2-0 as Ray Phebus outpitched Leroy Herrmann.

PHILADELPHIA CATCHER HURT BY THROWN BALL

PHILADELPHIA, July 28 (AP)—Catcher Earl Grace of the Phillies was hit in the left eye by a thrown ball during practice yesterday. A physician treated him and sent him to a hospital for further observation.

Grace's eye was blackened and closed and his nose was bruised, but Dr. A. G. Fewell said he did not know whether the optic nerve was affected.

HAMILTON CREW IMPRESSES IN EIGHT-OARED WORKOUTS

American And Italian Scullers Face Tough Opposition In Canucks

CALLARD SATISFIED

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

BERLIN, July 29 (CP Cable).—Canada's stock in the eight-oared rowing event of the approaching 11th Olympiad soared today following an impressive workout by Hamilton Leanders.

After Bob Hunter's car-pullers raced over the 2,000-metre course against strong head winds in the commendable time of six minutes 21 seconds, experts on the scene started envisioning a tight struggle for the classic honors between Leanders, the University of Washington crew seeking to maintain United States supremacy in the event, and the Italians.

Talk in the Canadian track and field camp centred on the return to the picture of Percy Wyer, the little Toronto marathon machine. After being pushed into the shadows on the misunderstanding that his entry had not been received in time, the amazing 52-year-old athlete was returned to the sun on the explanation of Manager Sam Manson of the Canadian team.

Manson pointed out to officials of the international games that he cabled Wyer's entry before leaving Canada. Previously the entries of Harold Webster, Hamilton ace, Jimmy Bartlett, Oshawa, and Toronto's Vic Callard had been sent by mail.

Callard Satisfied

On the approval of the International officers, Callard was dropped in favor of Wyer. Callard, who like Bartlett and Wyer, arranged his own travelling expenses, said that while he was disappointed he fully understood the situation.

The draw for the basketball competition pitted the Canadian squad—the Windsor Ford team strengthened by three stalwarts from Vancouver and Victoria — against the Brazilians in the first round. If they clear the first hurdle, the wearers of the Maple Leaf will then meet either Hungary or Czechoslovakia.

The Canadians and fleet-footed Americans, of the 23 teams entered, are expected to advance through the heetic playdowns to the basketball finals.

Granau, site for the rowing races, was a hive of activity yesterday after shells were christened in the presence of German notables. Charles "Chuck" Campbell, burly young Toronto aspirant for the single sculls, in which 21 are entered, took a spin in his new boat and had onlookers praising his style.

A favorite in many Granau circles to take the singles is Cecil Pearce of Australia, who is following in the shell-wake of his illustrious cousin, Bobby Pearce. Cecil, who is 23, is almost the equal of Bobby in stature and muscular development. He has three deek's training here under his belt.

Campbell Confident.

Campbell, who travelled to Berlin on borrowed money and bribed a train porterinto permitting an otherwise free trip from Hamburg to Berlin, said he was not hurrying his training and believed he would be at top form when his event is reached. His new shell, like that of the Leanders, was late in arriving from London, but both express complete satisfaction with their equipment.

Campbell is living with the Hamilton crew in the palatial rowing club, situated 50 yards from the finish line of the broad course. The oarsmen are looked after by trained stewards and cooks. Hunter revealed the Leanders threatened to go home before they were installed in the modernistic club house

"When we arrived on July 12 they put us in a barracks several miles from th course and we had to take the bus down. We said that unless we were placed beside the course we would go home. The result is we've absolutely the finest quarters in the world.

"Everybody in the party is feeling great. We are just starting to hit our stride."

The male Canuck swimmers are not so fortunate. They are obliged to spend five hours daily going to and from the practice pool in a bus. Coach Percy Norman said the arrangement was highly unsatisfactory but there appears small chance of it being remedied as pools closer to the Olympic village were taken when the Dominion Mermen arrived.

Track and field men spend twenty minutes reaching their training grounds by bus. There is a field in the village immediately in front of the Canadian cottage but the Americans and others spoke for it first.

The girl athletes, quartered in the women's dormitory near the Majestic stadium, have training facilities at hand. They are completely satisfied and have expressed their thanks for the thoroughness with which the German officials arranged everything.

The four sprinters—Aileen Meagher of Halifax and Jeannette Bolson, Hilda Cameron and Dot Brookshaw, Toronto—are said by their coach to be running near top form. Bet Taylor, Hamilton, and Mrs. Roxy Atkins, Toronto, are topping the timbers in fine style, while Margaret Bell, the tall Vancouver scissors jumper, is impressive over the high obstacle.

The girl swimmers have a pool hard by the dormitory for prepping. There are indoor pools for cold weather, in addition to those outdoor.

RACERS PILE UP HORSE DROPS DEAD

Drivers, Pacers, Sulkies In Collision At Wallaceburg Trotting Meet

WALLACEBURG, July 29.—While several thousand race fans filled the Saint Park yesterday afternoon a classy race program was presented with over 35 entries competing in three classes, one of which had to be divided into two division. The meet held in connection with the Old Boys' Reunion, was marred by one of the worst pile-ups seen in this district in recent years, which took place in the last heat of the major event when Larry Grattan, promising young three-year-old, owned by Gordon Knight of Blenheim, which gave every indication of winning three heats, dropped dead in front of the grandstand on the first lap, bringing three other horses down to top of him.

Stan Fraser, driver of the animal, miraculously escaped with but minor injuries, while F. Wildmore, driver of Sandy Signal, received a broken arm and other injuries. He was rushed to the hospital. Clint Hodgins, driving Lee Counterpart which was also injured, had a close escape, as did W. Fleming, driver of Merrymarker. Shortly after the start of the heat, Joe Evans ditched his driver, at the first turn, and completed the course but was stopped before reaching the mix-up. Of the nine horses which started in the heat only four finished. The winner of the race was Larry Grattan, with Lee Counterpart in second position.

Dr. Meldrum's fast-stepping Sir Esme, son of Grattan Direct, came in with straight firsts to capture the first money of the first division of the 2.24 class and Lee Ora W., owned by Moore Brothers of Sarnia, eased into second money with two threes and a two.

Dillon Mac, also of the Meldrum Stables at Norwich, captured first money in the second division with three stright wins, while Merry Maid, owned by Jackson Brothers and Harvie of Calgary, won second money.

In the final pace, Leona Grattan, owned by G. Holingsworth of Watford, was the winner, with Trixie G., of the Pine Ridge Stables, London, getting into second money.

STEAMER CARRIES WHALE 150 MILES

Captain Unable To Figure Out Reason For Ship's Strange Performance

SEATTLE, July 29.—(CP).— The fast coastwise liner H. F. Alexander caught a whale in the Pacific Ocean and brought it 150 miles to Seattle, No one aboard knew about the whale until the steamer docked.

The whale was wedged across the ship's bow, just below the water line.

"I couldn't figure out what was the matter with the ship coming down Puget Sound," said Captain Charles G. Hansen. "She wasn't performing right and there didn't seem t obe anything particularly wrong.

"We were making 22 knots when the bow cut into the whale and probably killed it instantly. We thought we had hit a log."

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

THE FOOTBALL fellows down in Belleville are getting organized early. They held a meeting the other night to arrange for a membership campaign, a program, floodlights for practises early in the fall and such and such. The Trenton airport—which is just like a Christmas tree to Quinte athletics—is expected to drop a few former senior rugbyists into the laps of a happily stunned Belleville executive. Gibson, kicking half of last year's Camp Borden team, is one. But they expect to lose Hilton and Folwell, two nifty regulars, who leave Belleville for university this fall. The team will again be grouped in intermediate O.R.F.U. with Peterborough, Oshawa and Lindsay. Cobourg may be back again, too.

• • • • • • •

NO ACTION yet regarding rugby here, but there is plenty of time. The officers were elected last winter and certain plans made. The Orfuns will be back again and stronger than before. They made a great showing the last half of their schedule last autumn after losing Gardner, regular quarterback. They'll have Smoke this fall but will miss Lepper and Murphy. There will be a few other changes likely, also. We expect a few newcomers will plug the gaps and don't forget some of those starry P.C.I. grads who will be available. But this isn't rugby weather so let's give it a pass.

AUBURNS COPPED an 8-4 Tri-County Lacrosse League win over Norwood in Auburn Field last p.m. before less than a hundred fans. It puts the Woollens in a second-place tie with Norwood in this section of the schedule. Millbrook meets Auburns here Friday night and then Millbrook goes to Norwood Monday eve. The boys dished up a lively tilt last p.m. with lots of speedy, smart and clean lacrosse. Norwood worked hard but missed a couple of their imports and their passing game wasn't as good as that of the winners. Ira Dundas was in on a flock of counters and Harry Baker, sore leg and all, looked classy for the visitors.

PLAYING A one-for-two game at Central last night, Westclox just managed to jerk out a 7-6 win over Omemee in 10 frames. The game counted as two (one a postponed fixture), so Westclox are well up in the race and the luckless O's are well out of it. A pretty fair struggle all through and lots to yell about—no matter which side you wished to yell for.

THE OMEMEE girl softballers copped an 8-6 win in 11 innings over Keene last eve right on the Keenesters' diamond. It must have been a lovely battle with the O's pudging out the verdict with two counters in the overtime spasm. Jean Hickson twirled for the winners while Marjorie Plunkett went nine frames and Marlyn McCarthy two for the home squad—all heavers tossing nifty ball. The victory shoved Omemee into second place a half game in front of C.G.E. and the same distance back of the top-place Keene club. An important tilt is booked for tonight (Wednesday) when the Westclox lasses travel to Omemee. It's Keene at Bailieboro Thursday.

OUR JUNIOR Rotarians go to Oshawa this evening for the second of the five-game Lakeshore Junior Baseball League playoffs, Oshawa having won the first. The third was listed for Riverside Park Monday, Civic Holiday, but now the Motor City crew claim they can't make it. It seems to us that the junior outfit there want everything in the way of good dates and aren't worrying how the locals do financially. Rotary rates one good gate surely in a season and what day should be better for both teams than an open holiday? Herb Ralph is going to give them an argument on it tonight and he's a sucker if he doesn't insist on Civic Holiday here. Take it to the Supreme Court if necessary.

THE WRITER in Oshawa, remarking on the senior struggle here last Saturday, starts off by chuckling over the fact that the GM-men won with a weakened team but winds up—for fear of offending the Oshawa extras who were used—by saying they are strong in reserve power. It is no secret around the C.O.B.L. that several of their imports—which include Biddle, Turner, Miller, McCarthy, May, Jubenville and Osborne—aren't pleasing the powers that be in the General Motors any too much. Biddle is okay but Miller is just fair; Turner has been no improvement on homebrews like Wills, Ogden and Mathews; McCarthy has been subbed repeatedly by Elliott; and May boots several a game The GM-men are strong, but some of their tourists aren't responsible.

THE PETES play in Kingston tonight and probably Spook Scriver will do the hurling. Whitehill has a sore arm, suffered in practise the other evening and Bill Callaghne has not yet found his flinging arm this season. On account of it is a long, tiresome trip to the Limestone City, it is an even bet that some of the regulars will again find themselves unable to make the jaunt and the Petes—who do go—will have a fight on their hands. But they've licked the Ponies twice to date and may upset the dope and do it again. Like the locals, the Ponies aren't overblessed with a big pitching staff. Napanee is here Saturday and the Petes go to Belleville Monday in the morning.

• • • • • • •

HITHER AND yawn: Quakers play Metropolitans tonight at Central in a crucial men's softball fray while Swarts are in Omemee . . . . Which will leave two more postponed ones to be run off to complete the schedule . . . . Five or six cars from here chugged today to Bobcaygeon for a regatta where local chaps will compete . . . . Gee Clark or Roy Armour will pitch for Rotary in Oshawa this e'en . . . . When can Lindsay play the Mets that exhibish fracas here? . . . . After their 11-inning tie with Napanee, the Ponies' scorer sympathizes with the Petes on that 12-inning loss Saturday . . . . While there is certainly no love lost between Kingston and the Petes, the Ponies sort of regard Oshawa as an intruder into C.O.B.L. playoffs . . . . MEMORIES: Do you recall the old Lindsay Greybirds, and our games with them so hard-fought; guys like Allen and Coombs and big Jack Oulette, Carewe and Cannonball Scott?

Golf Facts

Alex Morrison says:

In the days of old Tom Morris a feather instead of a rubber ball was used. They were called "old featheries."

These balls were made by forcing a hatful of feathers into a little bag or pocket of bull's hide cured with alum. The long drive of today couldn't be had with a featherie if it was fired from a gun.

Comparing these balls with the lively rubber ball of today gives you some idea of the progress made in equipment for the game. Further evidence of the great change is had in some of the courses about the country.

The older ones still bear some marks of construction according to the limits of earlier equipment, the gutta percha ball and old style niblick.

In short, the old equipment is like the horse and buggy compared with the modern motor car and the old courses like the wagon roads compared with the up-to-date express highways. If you are inclined to complain about modern equipment remember that you could have fun playing golf in the stone age.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

ISN'T IT FUNNY what a few hours will make, especially in lawn bowling. On Monday night it looked as if Mose Zethr had Group No. 2 by the neck, but now see what happened. Al. Heckman, who was a bangup second, is now on even terms with Bill and it all happened so sudden. Al. plugged away to defeat R. Ross, while the Routly's, father and son, brother and brother combination, took care of William; so the old ball game is all tied up in the well-known knot.

IF THOSE of our friends who think that there is no kick in lawn bowling would only drop around some night and see these exciting games, we feel sure they would not only change their minds, but would join our club. In two nights Bill Zeihr's rink has been called upon to give all they have in order to stay in the running. In Tuesday night's game it was another nip-and-tuck affair, tied every other end and fighting for every inch. The last was just about a perfectly-played end, with the Routly quartet getting the edge. It was anybody's end until Nels Routly with his last bowl moved the kitty over near one of his own bowls. Bill elected to pick the shot bowl out, but stubbed his toe on a short bowl and the game was over, the round tied up and those of us who stayed to the finish were well satisfied that he had seen a wonderful game put on by two well-matched rinks.

THE ENTRIES for the Central Ontario rink competition are not coming in very fast; Saturday is the last day.

GEORGE CUP RACE WON BY APHRODITE

Bob Barr Handles Toronto Craft Brilliantly To Open Series

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 29 (CP) —The sloop Aphrodite of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto to-day had a half-hitch on the George Cup, international trophy being contested for in a series over the Summerville course of the Rochester Yacht Club here.

Skipper Bob Barr brought the trim six-metre yacht across the finish line 14 minutes ahead of the defending Erne yesterday. Another win to-day will give him possession of the coveted cup.

Yesterday's course was twice around a straight beat to windward and return in a breeze which failed rapidly towards the end of the race. Aphrodite was off to a good start and was not headed.

Art Harrison, handling the Erne for the Ocott Beach Club, will seek to equalize to-day. If he succeeds, the final race will be sailed to-day.

PICK OUT GENIUS IN MILLIMETRES

Studies Of Heads Of Representatives Group Described By Dr. R. J. A. Berry

LONDON, July 29.—(CP).— The Burden Mental Research Trust can now detect genius in millimetres.

Experiments on 109 persons between the ages of infancy and 30 years and comparisons between the heads of 10,000 Australian children and those of a smaller group of English children of the same age were described by Dr. R. J. A. Berry in a recent issue of the "British Medical Journal."

Results of these investigations are said to indicate the brain reaches full adult dimensions between the ages of eight and 11, and does not grow thereafter. Mental deficiency, it is suggested, is due to the fact that the brain does not grow but remains the size of an infant's.

The normal children, the proportion of brain size to head size is roughly assessed at two-thirds, the article says. The new method of measuring brain size is by multiplying together the figures for length, breadth and height of the head and then taking the first three figures of the calculation as the index product of brain size.

Thus, as in a normal adult, if the length is 170.67 millimetres, breadth 133.92 and height 108.25 the sum is 2,474,712 cubic millimetres. And the brain product is said to be 247. The clinical importance of knowing whether a child's brain is or is not keeping pace with its age is emphasized.

Another use for these lists would be the possibility of making a scientific separation between those children who can be educated and those who cannot, with a corresponding diversion of labor into more profitable channels.

MANY ETHIOPIANS PERISH IN ATTACK

Attempt To Cut Dessye—Addis Ababa Highway Costs 1,000 Casualties

ADDIS ABABA, July 29.—(CP). —Heavy losses were inflicted on Ethiopian tribesmen who attempted to cut the Adids Ababa-Dessye highway, it was officially announced here last night. The communique placed the number of casualties at 1,000 killed and wounded.

The tribesmen were reported led by Dedjazmatch Abarra, son of Ras Kassa, whose skilful guerilla tactics in the Tambien country during th eItalo-Ethiopian was was one of the chief obstacles to the Italian armies in the north.

Dessye is 150 miles northeast of Adis Ababa.

Four Boats Will Race In Series With British Small Boat Sailors

OTTO GLIDDON CHOSEN

TORONTO, July 29.—When the Royal Canadian Yacht Club's sailing committee allowed Walter Windeyer to take over Henry Hill's dinghy in the middle of the trials to pick a team of four boats to go to Lowestoft, England, they laid themselves open to just such a situation as arose over the week-end when they were forced to make a decision. With Charles Bourke and Atwell Fleming already sure, the fight was apparently between Harvey Bongard, Otto Gliddon and Gordon Reid for the other two places. Up to that time Henry Hill had been nowhere. With Windeyer at the helm, though, Hill's boat took on a new lease of life and made a fine showing in the races sailed on Saturday and Sunday.

The committee was embarrassed by the sudden change of events and the recommendations made by the two judges, Frank Mills and Frank Moore, the performance of the Windeyer-Hill combination could hardly be ignored and yet it seemed hardly fair to wipe out a half season's racing with that of a week-end. Reid was definitely out on his showing but who to choose between Bongard, Gliddon and Windeyer was a problem. A decision had to be made and the committee, after much consideration, decided that Windeyer's good sailing outweighed all that had gone before. He was given the call over Gliddon which, to say the least, was a courageous decision. Possibly the choice will be criticized, but more than likely the committee had further reasons which have not as yet been disclosed which aided them in making up their minds.

SENTENCED TO CHURCH

CHICAGO, July 28 (CP).—It's up to Edward Elitzer, 18, to attend church every Sunday for a year or go back to jail.

This sentence was passed by Felony Court Judge Grabner yesterday when the youth was brought before the jurist on the claim of new evidence. Elitzer had served eight months of a year's sentence on a charge of tampering with an automobile.

Probation, with the church sentence, followed.

Sport Spice
By EDDIE BRIETZ

HAVE YOU SEEN the ears on Cliff Melton, the pitcher the Giants just bought from Baltimore?....If the guy would run 100 yards he'd take off....Paste this one in your hat: Warren Giles of Rochester, will be the next president of the International League, if he'll take the job....Patty Berg, the Minneapolis golfette, won a $10 ticket the other day for driving her roadster 65 miles an hour....Van Mungo, Dodger pitching star, has just bought nine more fox hounds, bringing his pack to 16....Helen Wills Moody's decision not to compete in the United States' championship has tennis moguls singing the W. K. blues.

BOBBY SWAN, 21 year old southpaw, is the reason why Big League scouts are buying tickets to the Nebraska State League....Bobby's swell twirling has 'em all pop-eyed. He twirled a no hit, no run game for Sioux Falls on July 18, striking out 13 batters....Four days later he went back to fan 20 hitters while this feat all the more sensational turning in a four-hitter....He made by handling all of his team's three assists to personally account for 23 of the team's 27 batters....three popped out to the infield and another filed to the outfield....is that some sort of a record?....Not to scouts: Hienie Groh of the Giants has the inside track.

AND WHILE speaking of pitching, how about this: In a recent string of 16 games, pitchers for the Houston Buffs of the Texas League yielded but 31 runs, won 12 of the 16 and the starting pitchers finished 10 of the 12....Col. E. R. Bradley has a two-year-old named Brooklyn who'll show you plenty when they start racing him....New York writers with the Yankees report Mickey Cochrane looks like a sick man....The reason Joe Gould agreed to take the Braddock-Schmeling bout into the Madison Square Garden bowl is because Braddock assured him the jinx means nothing to him....He says he'll be the first champ to successfuly defend his title in the bowl.

CASEY STENGEL of the Dodgers is 45 to-morrow and newspaper friends will pitch a party....The East Grand Forks, Minn., American Legion junior baseball team, composed of 10 year old kids, completed a triple play the other day ....and just to prove it happened in Minnesota, the play was Anderson to Larson to Hinson....try to find an Irisher in that bunch....Mike Jacobs said Stanton Griffis, chairman of the Garden directors, was a "nice guy to do business with" ....and Griffis said, "Mike is the greatest promoter in the world"....The Baltimore club in New Jersey made $17,000 out of the national open.

IN MEMORIAM

MONTGOMERY.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Jennie Montgomery, who passed away July 29, 1934.

Two years have passed, dear mother,
Since you were called away.
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day.
You suffered much, you murmured not.
We watched you day by day.
Some may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the heartache
That the smile holds all the while.
We who loved you sadly miss you
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Though of you are always near.
—Sadly missed by Husband and Family.

CHAPTER 50

"WILL I DO what?" Beatrice dropped her gloves and stared at the determined, desperate Joan who had just suggested that Mrs. Winsloe name her instead of Sheila in the proposed divorce suit.

"You heard me. You want a divorce. You want to name some woman. What's the matter with me? No one knows me but my own small circle of friends. They all know that I was in love with Win. It would sound reasonable." Her words came stiffly from her throat.

"You do love him, don't you?"

Joan shook her head miserably.

"Then perhaps you'll tell me why you suggest such a preposterous thing."

"I've just discovered myself and it isn't such a preposterous thing." Joan's voice took on strength and a strange light glowed in her eyes.

"Oh, no, not preposterous at all," Beatrice dismissed it. "You just want to make yourself the center of a scandal for no good reason. What is Sheila True to you?"

"Nothing. Nothing at all." Joan's voice was far away.

"It's all over my head and I'm afraid I can't agree to it," Beatrice answered firmly.

"Beatrice, haven't you ever heard of sacrifice?"

Peace was coming on Joan now. She was no longer desperate, frightened at what she had said.

"Sacrifice?" Beatrice asked, as if that were a word that could have no meaning.

"Yes." The light still glowed in Joan's eyes.

"Let's have it." Beatrice waited.

"You said you love Win. Maybe you're right Maybe we are different And maybe you won't be able to see what I mean. But I think if you love someone, what happens to you isn't important, your self-respect or what other people think of you. Only the happiness of the person you love is important."

She stopped and gazed into space, into the blinding light of the truth that had been revealed to her. It was some moments before she spoke again and she didn't realize that Beatrice had not broken that silence.

"For five years I loved Win. I could have married him at any time during that time but I loved him and wanted him to be free to get on with his work and to marry me when he was able to afford marriage.

"I still loved him when he married you. I didn't realize that by doing that, by not being fair with me by even telling me he was . . . well, that he was through with me, he had destroyed my belief in him. Like most girls, I thought I loved him more when I lost him.

"Then I met the man I love. . . ."

"Oh!" Beatrice murmured.

"I didn't know then that the real love I have now had come into my life. I only knew it a few minutes ago when you cleared the cobwebs of yesterday out of my mind. I only knew it when you told me that again his happiness and security are threatened. I . . ." She stopped then.

"Look," Beatrice's voice was as low as her own. "I never saw things that way before. Is he in love with you?"

Joan shook her head negatively.

"How do you know?"

"He's in love with Sheila."

"Oh," there was a world of meaning in Beatrice's little monosyable "Does he know you're in love with him?"

"No."

"He's in love with that woman, yet you'd sacrifice yourself, your good reputation to keep him from knowing what she is!" Beatrice found her eyes surprisingly wet.

"There's nothing new about that," Joan said softly. "Women have been doing it since the beginning of time, I guess. They've done lots more, too, that was harder to do. Like sticking to the men they love until they come to their senses. Wives like you married to men like Win.

She got up and walked to the window. She didn't want to look at Beatrice then.

"Listen, Joan, you can thank me for something." Beatrice had left her chair and now slipped her arm through the other girl's. "If I hadn't come along, you would have married Win and missed the real love you talk about. Understand?"

Joan nodded.

"I'm glad I did it because, if I had known you, I wouldn't have done it because I would have liked you too much. I'm going back and try to be the kind of a wife you would have been. Okay?"

Joan gripped Beatrice's hand. "Okay," she said.

"There are two sides to every story, aren't there?" she asked Joan.

Joan nodded.

"Well, I suppose I might try the other side for a change. It will be a novelty."

She held out her hand. "I'm sorry for what Win lost but I guess he'll have enough punishment with me for the rest of his life. Thanks, Joan Spencer. I'll do something for you sometime."

She did.

When Beatrice Winsloe wanted something she said she always went out and got it. There was something that she wanted that day.

Joan, alone in the library again, made a slow pilgrimage about it. She touched a pipe, a book Julian had been reading, the pen his hand had laid down. Slowly, photographing everything in that room in her memory to carry through her life, her eyes traveled over it.

Then she took off her smock and hung it in the little stockroom.

She went upstairs to her own room and closed the door behind her. Moving in a daze she took down her suitcases and opened them.

There was time, time to think, time to hold close to her that which she had realized only today. She gazed down through the years ahead that she was to face alone but never without peace again.

Her heart had found its home.

She could go back to the little schoolroom in Blakeville now.

The door opened softly. Julian stood in the doorway.

"May I come in?" he asked.

"Please do," she said and saw that his face was white and strained.

"Is there something the matter?" she asked quickly.

"Yes," he said. "A Mrs. Winsloe has been calling on me."

"And?" Even Joan's knees felt clammy and her heart bobbed up in her throat. Julian looked so stern.

"She told me a great many things. I have to know if they are true."

Joan swallowed. So Beatrice had decided to go through with a divorce!

"Yes, they are," she said. Julian could hardly hear her and she didn't look at him.

"Then I shall have to dismiss you as my secretary," he said, and she was shocked to find that his voice seemed elated.

"I suppose you will," she said. "I was planning to leave tonight."

"Dismiss you as my secretary, Joan, and keep you by my side all my life as my wife."

She clasped her trembling hands. "Your wife?"

"She told me that you loved me and you just said the things she said were true," he said sumply.

"Well," Joan laughed. "Isn't it time you stopped treating me like a secretary?"

"Oh, my dearest!" he said, because there was nothing else to say when all the other things could be said in the heaven they were making for themselves.

Love isn't Important

CHAPTER I

THE CLOCK in the ladies' lounge struck seven.

Gay heard it abouve a multitude of other sounds: the roaring of motors outside the club entrance; swish of revolving doors; jangling of telephones; clatter of conversation. On Saturday night, the lobby of the Pontchartrain club was the noisiest spot in Detroit, Gay thought.

It was fun though! This was Gay's first week as check girl at the Pontchartrain, and she loved it. The hubbub and confusion. The continual procession of men and women passing through the lobby, sleek and arrogant in their evening clothes. Even though you weren't part of it yourself, it was exciting to be on the sidelines, looking on.

No one realized, or cared, that she was watching. She stood behind the check counter, a demure, slim figure in her gray silk uniform.

"Here's your check, sir."

"The cigaret lighter ont of your pocket? Certainly, sir."

"Just a minute, miss and I'll take your things."

"You're quite welcome, sir."

A tall, lean young man in dinner clothes tried to give her a tip. Gay flushed. He must be a new member or someone's guest.

"I'm awfully sorry. We're not permitted to accept tips. Thank you just the same, though."

The young man flushed a little, too. In the tanned bronze of his face, his dark eyes were smiling steadily at her. Almost as though they were friends, Gay thought. He walked toward the elevators, but before entering the car he looked back and smiled again at her. A charming smile—half friendly, half questioning.

Would you mind giving me a little attention?"

Gay came abruptly back to earth. A girl in green georgette was tapping on the counter.

"Do hurry," the girl fretted. "People are waiting for me, upstairs!"

Gay checked the gold brocade wrap with racing fingers.

"Yes, miss. I'm so sorry."

Only 15 minutes more. Then the other check girl, Jean Briggs, would come on duty. Gay realized suddenly that her arms ached. Funny, you didn't notice you were tired till someone was rude or impatient.

The pile of wraps on the check counter seemed never to diminish.

Overcoats, with gloves dripping from the pockets. Galoshes—for it was raining outside, the dismal sleet of late March. Gorgeous fur coats. Tiny jackets of ermine. Fragile chiffon capes with fox or sable trimming. Gay had to work fast to keep up.

She slipped each garment carefully onto a hanger, handling the expensive wraps caressingly. What would it be like to own adorable things like these; to snuggle your chin into soft furs—mink, or silver fox, or chinchilla? Would she, Gay Elwell, ever have such luck as to marry a rich man, who would buy wonderful furs for her?

Why not? If you were smart—if you met somebody with money, and played your cards right—

"How's it going, kid?"

Too busy to look around, Gay knew Jean Briggs had arrived. Rough, friendly Jean, with her bright red hair and good-natured smile.

Gay answered cheerfully, "Everything's just fine!"

The other girl set to work, moving with the automatic precision that comes from long practice.

"Better scram while you have the chance," she advised.

There's no particular rush. I'll help hang these coats."

"What a pal!" Jean's whisper was filled with mock admiration. "How come you're not in a hurry to get away? No heavy date, tonight?"

"You know perfectly well I haven't any date, for tonight or and other night!" cried Gay, resentfully. She and Jean were close friends: they shared a tiny, furnished apartment, and there were no secrets between them.

"All I've got to look forward to," Gay went on, "is chop suey supper and a movie, which I'll pay for out of my own pocketbook."

Both girls kept their voices carefully lowered. Jean handed a check over the counter, and in a momentary lull of work stared curiously at Gay.

"You sound kind of sour. Don't you like the movies any more? There's a swell one at the Paramount!"

Gay hesitated, then words came in a torrent.

"I'd like to have some real fun, for a change. Here it is Saturday night, and you know I have that darling new dress and hat I've never even worn, yet. But what of it? Where can I go?"

Her voice rose. "Look at all these other girls—the ones who come in here, I mean. Having dinner parties, going to the theater, doing all sorts of things! It isn't fair! Why should they have everything, while you and I—'

"Soft pedal! Somebody'll hear you!"

Another group of dinner guests had sauntered across the lobby, and were flinging wraps and overcoats on the counter. While Jean handed out checks, Gay got her locker keys and hurried away.

Downstairs, in the help's dressing room, she slipped off her uniform and stood frowning at herself in the mirror over the washstand. In brief pink teddy, with blonde hair unpinned and rippling over her shoulders, Gay was arrestingly pretty. But her consciousness of this only heightened her mood of stormy rebellion.

What good did it do her to be pretty? No one seemed to notice!

That one man tonight—the tall, bronzed young man with smiling dark eyes. He'd seemed interested. But then he'd gone on upstairs, and probably forgotten her completely. It was maddening! And she'd hoped that, working at the Pontchartrain club, she'd meet some attractive men immediately.

Well, she was meeting them, all right! Gay winced, half laughing at herself. The trouble was, they were seeing her across the barrier of a counter. She wasn't a human being to the men who came into the club: she was just the check girl.

Gay looked around the dressing room, hating it. Why did it have to be so ugly? Why wasn't it like the adorable pink and silver powder room upstairs?

How different down here in the basement! Faded linoleum; uncurtained windows; battered furniture.

"Oh well!"

Gay shrugged, crossing the room to the locker where she kept her street clothes. While you were poor you had to accept ugliness as part of your life, but if you were pretty, and smart, you didn't need to stay poor forever!

And at that, the dressing room at the Pontchartrain was no uglier than any of the other places to which she was accustomed. The furnished flat that she shared at present with Jean Briggs wasn't much better. And back home in Traverse City, where Gay had lived with relatives since the death of her own parents, things had been lots worse.

She grimaced, now, as she recalled the ramshackle frame house, built close to the railroad tracks, on the outskirts of town. The dirt and untidiness. The constant wailing of children. Aunt Sophie and Uncle Fred hadnt liked it very much when she left, to go to Detroit. They thought she ought to be perfectly satisfied there with them: working all day as typist at the lumber company, then coming home to help with housework.

"After all we've done for you!" Aunt Sophie had cried, indignantly. "I should think you'd be ashamed. You've got a good job, and a good home, here with us. What more do you want?'

There was so much more she wanted. Gay hadn't even tried to tell them, for they would have thought she'd gone crazy. So she said nothing; simply made her plans with the ruthless, clear-eyed determination of modern youth, and when she had enough money put aside to finance herself, she had packed her suitcase and taken the train to Detroit.

CHAPTER 2

GAY'S FIRST job in Detroit was a blind alley. For three dull, uneventful months she had taken dictation and typed letters in a dusty office on the west side of town. That was just marking time, until something better developed.

Her chance had come in an unexpected way. She had met Jean Briggs in a serve-self restaurant, one February night, and they had struck up an instant friendship. Through Jean she had learned that a new check girl was needed at the Pontchartrain club. She applied for the job, and accepted Jean's invitation to share the two-room-and-kitchenette apartment on Erskine street.

Gay had planned her campaign carefully, giving every move considerable thought. She wanted contact with money. A chance to meet rich, successful men. What place could offer better opportunities than a smart city club? Without an instant's hesitation, she resigned her office position, and became check girl.

"The rest is up to me," she told herself, now. "I'll land a rich husband one of these days, or die in the attempt."

She fastened her smooth blonde hair in a small chignon, and slid into the new dinner dress. It fitted perfectly.

"Blondes with lovely white skin like yours should always wear black," the saleswoman had said. "You look like a million dollars in that little number!"

Gay pulled the tiny black hat to a more becoming angle, then took one last glance at her reflection. Really, she looked fearfully smart, all in black from the top of her head to the high-heeled slippers and slim ankles encased in frivolous chiffon stockings.

"Much too elegant," she mocked herself, "to be wasted on a chop suey restaurant and a movie. Guess I'll show Jean how I look—" and she darted up the narrow stairway toward the coat room.

"Oh, Miss—"

Halfway across the lobby, Gay stopped short.

A man was hurrying toward her: a gray-haired, stockily built man, in evening clothes. Gay recognized him immediately, for she had been trained to learn the names of as many members of the club as she possibly could.

This was Dr. John Wilson, one of the most prominent surgeons in Detroit, Jean had informed her, and on the board of the Pontchartrain.

As Doctor Wilson came closer, his face grew puzzled.

"I beg your pardon. I've made a mistake, I guess." His friendly gray eyes studied her. "But your face is familiar."

Gay smiled. "You've seen me in the coat room, doctor. I'm the new check girl."

"No wonder I thought I knew you. But you look different, out of uniform. In fact, you look very charming."

Gay was at a loss how to answer. "Thank you, Doctor Wilson," she stammered. "It's awfully kind of you to—"

"Never mind thanking me. Are you through work for tonight?"

"Yes, doctor."

"How would you like to kill two birds with one stone? Do a favor for me, and earn yourself some extra money?"

Gay's interest deepened. Extra money! She'd been worrying about car fare ever since she'd bought that new dress.

"I don't know whether I'll be able to do what you want. But I'll try," she promised.

"Fair enough!" The doctor glanced around like a conspirator. "Come into the lounge, and I'll explain."

They sat down together on one of the sofas, and Doctor Wilson announced, "I'm in a jam, and I need some very nice young lady like yourself to help me out. Before you came along, I approached three others, and every darned one of 'em was otherwise engaged. If you refuse, it will be just too bad."

"I won't refuse," Gay promised. "What is it you want me to do?"

"I'm coming around to that. Suppose I begin at the beginning. Have you ever read 'Alice in Wonderland?' Marvelous book. The White Queen gives Alice some excellent advice about telling a story. Begin at the beginning, she says. Go on till you come to the end. And then stop . . . Priceless!"

Gay smiled, feeling suddenly quite at ease with this queer, delightful doctor, so different from any man she'd ever talked to before.

"I remember that! Only it wasn't the White Queen. It was—"

"Right!" interrupted Doctor Wilson. "Well, in the beginning, about a week ago in fact, my wife and I planned a dinner party for tonight, in honor of a guest from New York. A Mr. Adams—Wayne Adams. It was to be a very nice party—private dinning room upstairs here— and so on and so forth. Fourteen of us. Note that carefully. Fourteen. Seven men and seven ladies. Do you follow me?"

"Yes, doctor."

"We started out tonight by having a few cocktails at our house. Then we had a few more at Mark Vance's place. You know Mark Vance, the artist? No? Great chap. Nothing like any artist I ever met before. Well anyway—"

He paused, and ran his hands despairingly through his thich gray hair. "Good Lord, I don't seem to be getting anywhere, but the gist of the thing is, that one of the young ladies—I shan't mention her name —"

"Yes?" said Gay, patiently.

"That sixth Side-car was too much for her," declared the doctor. "She passed out. We had to take her home."

He leaned forward, prodding Gay's shoulder with a triumphant finger. "And that's where you come in!"

Gay's face, lifted to his, was a study in bewilderment.

"Me?"

Doctor Wilson groaned. "Where are your brains child? Don't you remember I told you there were 14 of us? Well, if one person passes out, how many does that leave?"

"Thirteen, of course!" Gay suddenly understood. "You mean—you're afraid to sit down 13 at table?"

"Exactly." The doctor rose to his feet. "I'm not particularly superstitious myself, but one of our party, Mrs. Larrimore, absolutely refuses to stay unless we locate an extra guest to fill in and remove the jinx. So come along."

Gay gasped. "Oh, I couldn't do that, Doctor Wilson! All your friends—society people—they wouldn't want me, a check girl!"

"What difference? He had taken her arm and was propelling her toward the elevators. "They're all half tight. No one will recognize you. I'll introduce you as Miss—er, Miss Smith, Daughter of my old college chum, Doc Smith. From Syracuse. All you need do is sit down with us, eat dinner, then leave whenever you're ready. And it means $10 for candy and stockings. Aren't you game?"

Gay's head whirled. Half an hour ago, she'd been envying those people going upstairs to dinner parties and dancing. Now, by the maddest turn of luck, she had a chance to be with them.

She said, "Of course I'm game. I felt frightened for a minute, Doctor Wilson, because I've never been at a big dinner party before. But I'll do my best to fit in, and thank you very much for asking me!"

Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LOCUST STORY

(By Howard R. Garis.)

The animal children were all gathered around Uncle Wiggily for the first session of the new Summer school. You remember that last night I left off with Uncle Wiggily about to tell why the branches of the trees seemed to have been cut off, as with knives.

Jimmie Bushytail, the squirrel boy, who had asked the question about the cut branches, spoke up again.

"Is it really true that the seventeen-year locusts made the trees look so funny?" he wanted to know. "And why do they call them that strange name?"

"Yes, it's really true," Uncle Wiggily declared, as all the animal children listened carefully. "And the reason why they call them seventeen-year locusts is because, in this part of the country, they come out every seventeen years. On the same day, and almost at the same hour, every seventeen years the tiny insects come out of the ground."

"But how do they know what day it is?" Baby Bunty inquired excitedly. "Do they have alarm clocks with them underground?"

Would Run Down

"Ho—alarm clocks!" Jiggie Flatpaw shouted. "How could they have seventeen-year alarm clocks? They'd run down wouldn't they, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Yes, I'm afraid they would" the rabbit gentleman laughed. "No alarm clock would keep time that long. But Baby Bunty, your question isn't as silly as it sounds. Because we don't know exactly why the locusts all come out on a certain day and a certain hour, every seventeen years. It's really a mystery."

"Maybe they have some one call them, as we're called to go to school in the morning," Alice Wibblewobbie suggested.

"No, that can't be it," Uncle Wiggily declared. "But, somehow, they seem to know it's time to come out of the ground and out they come—all at once!" That happened a month or so ago in June. Once they get out of the ground they start climbing. They climb anything—even grass, if a tree is not handy. But most of them go up trees. There the mothers make holes in the branches and lay eggs in the holes. In a little while the twig, or branch, breaks off where the hole was made. And that, Jimmie Bushytail, is why all the trees around here look as though they'd been trimmed!"

"My, but that's interesting!" Baby Bunty declared. "But I'd still like to know how they all come out of the ground together."

"So would I," Uncle Wiggily chuckled. "I can tell you though, that they don't sleep all the time they're underground during those long seventeen years. They grow longer legs, to help them dig deeper, and they grow wings, so they can fly when the time comes. Oh, they're quite busy, I can tell you!"

Thought He Was Bitten

Spot, the fire dog, suddenly gave a loud yelp. "I think one of those locusts bit me!" he cried. "I put my paw down, and—"

"No, it wasn't a locust," Baby Bunty laughed. "That's my sewing I laid there, and you stepped on the needle! I'm very sorry, Spot. Did it hurt you very much?"

"Hardly at all," the kind dog answered. "But I wish it had been a locust. I would like to have asked a few questions myself. When are we going to have another class, Uncle Wiggily?"

"When one of you thinks up a good question," the bunny uncle smiled. "Maybe the children who read these stories have some questions they'd like answered, about trees, or animals, or birds, or insects. And now, how do you like the Summer school?"

"Fine!" every one shouted. And it was interesting, wasn't it? And tomorrow night, if the peach doesn't rub its fuzz on the apple and make it look like a tennis ball, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the chirping sparrow.

AVIATRIX WAS 'UNTEACHABLE'

Miss Laucha Warner Perseveres And Completes 1,000 Solo Flying Hours

DISMISSED FROM CLUB

LONDON, July 29 (CP).—Three years ago an instructor at a flying club dismissed Miss Leucha Warner as "unteachable." He said she would never be an airplane pilot. A few days ago she completed 1,000 hours of solo flying.

Miss Warner's achievement shows the art of airplane pilotage can be mastered in time by anyone whose eyesight is accurate and who is sufficiently keen and determined. Natural aptitude is not essential, but good teaching of the quality that Miss Warner found at Heston airport after her first essay, undoubtedly is. Ofter the safest and best pilots are those who found flying difficult at the beginning but who persevered.

Miss Warner's flying time has been recorded in all kinds of weather. She keeps a flying suit at three different airdromes, though most of her flyin is still done from Heston, and she hires various types of airplane according to her needs of the moment. When the weather is too bad to leave the airdrome, she frequently practises landings in an open machine, scorning wind and rain while other pilots remain indoors. She has qualified for a "blind" flying certificate, and in poor weather, with visibility low, sets forth in a cabin airplane on a long flight over England or the continent.

Heston airport's official bulletin records that recently Miss Warner lost her way in bad weather and landed in an exceptionally small field. Later, on attempting to take off again, she found the airplane had insufficient height to clear the trees. Many experienced pilots would have tried to pull it over the treetops without enough speed, and stalled or spun into the ground with serious results. Miss Warner had the courage and wisdom to put the nose down and go on into the trees, which acted as a shock absorber. The airplane was not extensively damaged and Miss Warner climbed out unhurt.

This experienced was the only narrow escape in 1,000 hours' flying —a record a professional pilot would be proud of—and it is mentioned because it is a creditable example of making the best of a difficult situation.

BEFRIENDS YOUTH THEN HE'S ROBBED

Murdoch Harris Goes To Reformatory For Stealing From Employer

COBOURG, July 29.—Six months in Guelph reformatory was the sentence given Murdoch Harris, 19, who pleaded guilty to stealing from A. H. Carter, Hope township farmer, who said he had taken the youth in off the road and given him a home and a job on his farm.

While Carter and his wife were away a few weeks after the arrival of Harris, the latter bundled up some clothing and provisions belonging to his employer, it was testified. He left a note saying that he had taken only enough to make up what was owing him for his work up to that date.

Part of the note contained the advice to Carter that he refrain from hiring anybody who had been on the road, advice which Carter said he would remember in future. Complainant testified that he had treated the boy kindly and had put up with the fact that he was a green hand at farming. In passing sentence Magistrate Campbell reprimanded Harris for his ingratitude.

THINKS POISONOUS SNAKES NUMEROUS

Believes One That Killed Western Ontario Dog Was Prairie Rattler

LONDON, Ont., July 28.—(CP).—Opinion that poisonous snakes of the kind which killed a dog at Parkhill last week are far more numerous in Western Ontario than is commonly supposed was expressed yesterday by Dr. J. W. Detwiler, professor of applied biology at the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Detwiler said he thought it was a sistrurus catenatus (prairie rattlesnake) which killed W. A. Sutherland's dog at Parkhill. He knows of no other poisonous snake to be found in the southern part of this province.

He produced a list of places in Western Ontario where the prairie rattlesnake has been observed, including Kingsville, in Essex County; Charlotteville Township, in Norfolk County; Parry Sound, Georgian Bay district; Tobermory, Manitoulin, Dorcas Bay, Bruc Peninsula, Muskoka, Welland Marsh and Simcoe County.

Toronto Couple Hurt Crash Near Lindsay

LINDSAY, July 28.—Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Toronto, passengers in a car driven by James Rigby, 80 York Road, Toronto, were injured in accident on the Fenelon Falls road just north of Lindsay.

It is alleged that George Cook, 350 Windermere Avenue, Toronto, when passing the Rigby car, misjudged the speed and pulled over to the right of the road, catching the fender of Rigby's car and causing it to take to the ditch.

The injured passengers did not require medical attention. The Rigby car was badly damaged.

UNHAPPY, HE DESERTED.

ALDERSHOT, England.—(CP).—A private of the 2nd battalion of the King's Own Royal Regiment, sentenced to 42 days' detention for desertion, said he went home because life in barracks was made unhappy through a speech impediment and bad sight.

Suggests Boat Sailing Course For Motorists

TORONTO, July 27 (CP). — The best place to teach many motorists how to drive their cars properly is in the middle of the lake, according to Norman R. Gooderham.

Commodore of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Mr. Gooderham said he was thinking of suggesting to Highways Minister McQuesten that applicants for a driver's license be required to go through a course in sailing a boat.

"Courtesy is second nature to a sailor," he said. "I mean the courtesy that comes from decent consideration and practical give-and-take. On the water, courtesy avoids accidents and makes sailing more enjoyable. I am satisfied it would have the same effect if tried on the streets and highways."

EXPLORER'S WIFE PREFERS AFRICA

Can Get Carriers There—Not So Hard As In Gobi Desert Says Mrs. Andrews

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP). — Mrs. Roy Chapman Andrews hopes some day to accompany her husband, who is a director of the American Museum of Natural History, on an expedition to Africa.

"Exploration in Africa is more comfortable than in any other country," she gave as her reason for preferring Africa over the Gobi Desert, where Dr. Andrews did some of his most distinguished scientific work.

Mrs. Andrews is keenly interested in exploring, as are the wives of two other explorers—Mrs. Martin Johnson, now with her husband in Borneo, and Lady Wilkins.

Lady Wilkins, wife of Sir Hubert Wilkins, hopes to accompany him next year on his submarine trip to the Antarctic.

"In Africa, you can get dozens of boys to help carry equipment," said Mrs. Andrews, "but it's harder in the Gobi Desert, and women can't take hardships the way men do."

BELIEVES WORLD GETTING WARMER

Expert Traces Period Of Rising Temperatures Back To 1850

CINCINNATI, July 28 (AP). — An authority on the relation of weather to human behaviour advanced to-day a theory that the world is getting warmer.

Basing his observation on extensive experiments with animals, he asserted the trend to higher temperatures, if continued, would provide an effective method of birth control.

Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine at the University of Cincinnati, said he traced the period of rising temperatures back to 1850. Before that, temperatures tended downward over a period of two or three centuries.

"During the period of generally decreasing temperatures, the increase in world population was terrific," he said. "As we move into a cycle of higher temperature, we conceivably may record a gradual decrease in world population. Fertility of animals goes down as temperatures increase."

TORONTO SEES NEW LOW FOR INFANT MORTALITY

TORONTO, July 29—(CP)—A new low record for infant mortality is expected this year as figures announced by Medical Officer of Health, Dr. G. P. Jackson reveal that the rate so far is 12 per cent lower than in the corresponding period for 1934 when the rate for the complete year was the lowest ever recorded.

Both infant and maternal mortality shows a sharp reduction for the first six months of 1936. The rate for infant mortality so far is 54.2 per 1,000 living births for deaths under one year of age. The maternal rate is 3.9 per 1,000 live births.

$140 IS REALIZED SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL

Annual Garden Party Held On St. Aidan's Grounds At Young's Point

YOUNG'S PONT, July 29—The annual garden party, under the auspices of St. Aidan's church, was held on the church grounds on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 22nd, and was successful in every way, $140. being realized. The well arranged white clad supper table was laid in the shed where threatening showers caused no alarm. A profusion of beautiful summer flowers bedecked the supper table and the ladies had provided most abundantly, a variety of appetizing edibles of cold ham and beef, together with delicious salads and relishes and every kind of pie, to which all guests did ample justice, from five-thirty until all were served. A corps of attentive waiters supplying the particular choice of each one seated at the table.

After supper was served Wilson's orchestra entertained for the evening. The seperate booths were well patronized, the Bingo, the refreshment, the fancy work both and the tea-cup-reading. The Sunday school children had charge of the fish-pond. At ten o'clock the threatening storm broke when every one scurried to either the veranda or their cars, having enjoyed a very pleasant social evening.

The rector, Rev. E. C. Moore and the wardens, Messrs Robt. Johnston and Percy Stenner wish to thank every one who contributed in any way to the very profitable party.

NO SCRIP VOUCHERS WANTED IN OSHAWA

Mayor Stacey Cannot See Plan Would Be Of Any Value

OSHAWA, July 29.—Mayor John Stacey is not planning to inaugurate any scrip plan in Oshawa similar to that being tried out in Orillia, although he is very much interested in the experiment being carried out in the northern town. Mayor Stacey could not see that the plan would work out very well in Oshawa.

One disadvantage, Oshawa's chief magistrate pointed out, was that the scrip could not be used outside the city at all. Merchants who took the scrip in return for goods could not pay their wholesale supply houses with it, but would have to pass it off to other citizens. Another drawback is that the scrip, although carrying a supposed face value of say fifty cents, cannot be redeemed in cash until it bears 52 cents in municipal stamps. A person accepting a scrip to be redeemed at 50 cents would find it valueless, with, say forty cents in municipal stamps affixed.

"The whole scheme may be all right for Orillia, and I hope they can work it out successfully there," said Mayor Stacey. "If it proves a success there we will look into it further, but I have no notion of suggesting to the council to undertake such a scheme at present."

WINDSOR, YORK GET SPECIAL RELIEF LEVY SLASHED

CENTRAL SMITH CREAMERY ROOF SWEPT BY FIRE

Spark From Furnace Ignited Shingles And Wind Fanned Flames To Blaze

BUILDING SAVED

Fire Chief Gimblett With Chemical Engine Gave Valuable Help

Peterborough's fire department was mainly responsible for saving Central Smith butter factory from destruction at noon to-day from fire which started from a spark in the roof.

A tiny tongue of flame was noticed in the shingles near the chimney from the furnace by Dorothy McFarlane in the adjoining home of Kenneth Murray, manager of the creamery. It was then about 11.45 o'clock standard time.

Mr. Murray was absent on his cream route, and the immediate action to extinguish the small blaze was taken by George Ross, buttermaker.

A vigorous wind blowing from the north quickly spread the fire through the dry shingles, and a call for help from farmers of that neighborhood was sent out over the telephone. The operator at Omemee picked it up and sounded a long ring over the wires—a rural fire alarm.

Call on Peterborough

Men quickly began arriving from the countryside, but it was evident that their lack of equipment would prevent them from overtaking the flames that were breaking out in patches scattered over the roof. A call was sent to Peterborough, and Chief Gimblett responded at once with the chemical engine and ladder.

The fire might have been quickly put out if the gasoline engine that ordinarily pumps water from a deep well on the creamery property was in commission; but circustances seemed to be conspiring to destroy the building. This engine was not in working order early in the morn-

SOMERVILLE VOTES TO KEEP BEER OUT

Local Option Ballot Shows Wets With Only 268 To 449 Dry

FENELON FALLS, July 30.—Temperance forces in Somerville Towzship yesterday voted down a proposal to introduce beverage rooms.

In a local option election the drys cast 449 votes, the wets 268.

The drys carried all the six polls but Kinmount, where they ware defeated, 135-131.

Most spectacular defeat for the wets was in Baddow, where a single voter for the beverage rooms in the township gamely faced 78 drys.

AUSTRIA CLAMPS DOWN UPON NAZIS

200 Arrested Following Vienna Riot During Olympic Rites

VIENNA, July 30.—(CP-Havas)—Heavy sanctions against Austrian Nazis were being clamped down today against more than 150 Anschluss sympathisers who staged a demonstration here yesterday with the arrival of the traditional Olympic flame en route for Berlin.

Incensed over the conduct of the Nazis who practically broke up a meeting here in the great square of heroes, where thousands of Austrians had gathered to witness Olympic rites, the government also revoked the amnesty which recently freed hundreds of political prisoners and cut their sentences short. The amnesty celebrated the recent signing of the Austro-German accord guaranteeing the independence of Austria. The total of arrested Nazis exceeded 200.

The cabinet was considering means of rescinding the clemency orders under which many Nazis benefitted and steps were taken to compel all previously amnested Nazis among those now arrested to serve the full extent of their original sentences. One of the Nazis arrested yesterday was a German citizen described as professional agitator.

TRENT RIVER, July 30.—A muskie tipping the scales at 12½ pounds, length 38" and girth 15½" was landed over the week-end by Mr. Frank Osborne of Toronto who is holidaying with his sister, Mrs. Claud Goodman, the fish was caught while trolling down the river.

Fishing remains good right at the city's doors. This morning Arthur Potvin of Windsor who is visiting his sister here caught a thirteen and a half pound lunge while fishing at the Peterborough lock this morning.

Germany Moves War Fleet in Spanish Waters

French Premier Fears Nation May Be Forced To Aid Madrid Regime

Blum Hints Action To Avoid Being Surrounded By Dictatorships

REBELS RING CAPITAL

British, U.S. Banks And Factories Reported Seized For War Purposes

By George Le Lorraine,
(Copyright 1936 the Havas News Agency.)

MADRID, July 30. —(CP Havas).—A German Nazi fleet, consisting of two heavy-gunned battleships and the second destroyer flotilla, was reported concentrating in Spanish waters today.

Following the German Government's protest to Madrid against the attack by "proletarian" militiamen on the Nazi organization quarters in Barcelona, Leftists newspapers expressed fears of a possible intervention by Germany on the side of the rebels.

France May Aid Leftists.

PARIS, July 30.—(AP). — French Senators today said Premier Leon Blum had told the Foreign Affairs Committee France might be forced to aid the Spanish Government with arms less she be "surrounded by dictatorships."

The Premier was quoted, however, as denying categorically that any airplanes or arms had been supplied to the Spanish Government since theoutbreak of the Fascist insurrection.

"We have made no deliveries up to now," he was quoted as having said, "but we might be forced to do it because of dictatorship encircling France on the east and south."

British Banks Seized

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—Reports received in London from rebel sources in the last 24 hours indicated to-day Spanish insurrectionists were gaining ground.

These advices filtered in as the British government began an investigation of rumorsh that the Leftist Government at Madrid had seized British and American banks and factories for war purposes.

The Ford Motor Company was advised its Barcelona plant had been occupied by the government.

From Cordoba it was announced Madrid would be surrounded today so tightly not even diplomatic representatives would be able to evacuate.

2000 Slain in Trap.

PERPIGNAN, France, July 30. —(AP). —Spanish mountaineers reported here today that more than 2,000 loyal troops were killed when they were ambushed in a pass in the hills outside of Zaragoza by the rebel army.

Merchant Ships Confiscated.

MADRID, July 30 —Loyalist Spain confiscated its merchant marine today to form an anti-Fascist armada of defence and launched a desperate ground and air battle for possession of the strategic city of Zaragoza.

Leftist forces, the Government announced, were driving insurgent Fascists out of the Guadarrama mountains near Madrid and back to Avila and Segovia.

Norwegian Ship Bombed.

Casablanca, French Morocco, July 30—(AP). The crash of a rebel airplane carrying arms to Spanish Morocco and the attempted bombing of the Norwegian freighter Frank by insurgent airmen were reported by travellers reaching here today.

The captain of the freighter said 11 bombs were dropped near his ship

Scratches Her Nose In 40-Foot Tumble

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP)—Mrs. Isabella Hannay, 48, yesterday paid a fine of $10 for drunkenness and was probably glad she could. Yesterday Mrs. Hannay volunteered to assist boys gather old bottles at the north end of Kent Street at the edge of a cliff that drops 40 feet to the Ottawa River shore. She fell over. Horrified spectators clambered down the cliff to help her. Her nose was scratched.

ATLANTIC PLANE SERVICE DETAILS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three Companies To Act Jointly—Canada To Have 24½ P.C. Share Of Capital

DOMINION ON MAIN ROUTE

LONDON, July 30 (CP Cable). — Provision for exchange of landing facilities between Great Britain and the United States was contained in details of the projected trans-Atlantic air mail and passenger flying service announced in the House of Commons to-day by Sir Philip Sassoon, under-secretary for air.

No definite date was set for the start of the service, but he said experimental long-distance flights would be conducted shortly.

The details announced by Sir Philip were as follows:

1: A joint operating company will be incorporated at the instance of three companies, nominated by the governments of the United Kingdom, the Irish Free State and Canada. The company nominated by the United Kingdom will be Imperial Airways.

Three directors will be nominated by each country. Fifty-one per cent of the capital subscribed will be held in the United Kingdom. Canadian and Irish Free State subscribers will hold a total of 24½ per cent each.

2: In return for landing facilities granted by the United States, Pan-American Airways will be granted landing facilities in the United Kingdom, Canada, Newfoundland and the Irish Free State, and will participate in the operation of the services.

Canada on Preferred Route

3. Preference will be given to the direct route via Newfoundland and Canada but it may be necessary during the initial period to operate via Bermuda in the winter time.

4. Experimental long-distance flights will be conducted shortly by Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways.

5. Control of commercial and technical operating matters is secured by Imperial Airways, subject to the superior jurisdiction of the directors in a question of major policy.

6. During the experimental stage the United Kingdom will finance the flying. When the joint company assumes responsibility it will receive an annual subsidy. Of this subsidy Canada will contribute 20 per cent. subject to a maximum of OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP)—Need of a shave gave Thomas Fleming his freedom in magistrate's court yesterday. Appearing on a charge of begging Fleming told Magistrate Strike: "Guilty in a way your worship. I wanted to get a razor blade to have a shave." He needed it so the magistrate allowed him to go.

EMPLOYMENT LIST CLIMBS STEADILY

9,744 Employers Report 987,955 At Work July 1 With Only 963,401 June 1

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP)—Considerable improvement was shown in the employment situation on July 1 compared with the previous month and the corresponding date last year, according to a report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It was the largest gain at this season in the past 15 years.

Statements from 9,744 employers reported 987,955 at work compared with 963,401 the preceding month, while on July 1 last year 9,323 firms had 934,262 employees.

The employment index on the base 1926 equals 100, adjusted for seasonal variation, was 100.9 on July 1 against 100.5 a month previously.

Continued advance was shown in manufacturing with gains in the food, lumber and pulp and paper groups, mining, except coal, communications, services, transportation, and construction and maintenance. On the other hand there was a seasonal decline in logging and in the factory group, a seasonal decline in leather, textile, and iron and steel plants.

Ontario Peps Up

There was an increase in activity in Ontario where 4,296 firms reported 409,031 employees, 6,143 more than at June 1. Employment in previous years has usually, though not invariably, advanced at July 1 compared with the preceding month, the average change being a moderate increase. The gain was considerably above the average and larger than that indicated at the same date in 1935 when the index was 3.5 points lower.

The improvement at July 1, was fairly widely distributed, food, lumber, pulp and paper, rubber, electrical apparatus, non-metallic mineral and non-ferrous metal product factories, logging, transportation, services and construction showing considerable gains. The increases in construction were greatest, occurring mainly in the railway division. On the other hand, leather, textile and iron and steel works were seasonally slacker. The 4,100 employers on July 1, 1935, had reported 392,961.

LITTERICK FIRST RED TO WIN SEAT NORTH AMERICA

Winnipeg Member Is Life-Long Socialist—Lost Count Of Times In Jail

WORLD TRAVELLER

WINNIPEG, July 30 (CP).—James Litterick, 35-year-old Scot elected to the Manitoba Legislature in Winnipeg, is the first Communist to win a seat in a provincial or state assembly on the North American continent.

The only other Communist now a member of a British legislative body as high or higher than the Manitoba Legislature is William Gallacher, former comrade of Litterick's in Clydebank, who is Communist member of parliament for Fife in the British House of Commons. He will visit Canada shortly under the auspices of the Canadian Communist Party.

Born in Glasgow, the sandy-haired, blue-eyed Litterick has been interested in the Labor movement since his youth. His father was a life-long Socialist, and young Litterick officially joined the Socialist movement at the age of 16.

Jim says he has lost count of the number of times he has been in jail. His first experience was in Clydebank in 1920, when he was arrested for participation in a "rent riot" there. For five years, from 1920 to 1925, 80 per cent of the Clydebank residents were on a rent-paying strike.

Joined Party in 1920.

When the Communist party of Great Britain was formed in 1920, Litterick became a member almost at once. He came to Canada in 1925 and worked in Alberta and British Columbia mines and forests until 1928, when he was appointed district secretary of the Communist party of British Columbia.

Two years later, he moved to Montreal as general organizer of the Workers United League. After the arrest of Tim Buck, leader of the Communist party of Canada, Litterick went to Toronto to direct the organization's affairs. He came here in 1934 to become Manitoba secretary of the party.

The new Communist member is a world traveller of experience and can converse with intimate knowledge of conditions in nearly every European country. He spent two years in Russia and lived for a while in Germany, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and France.

James Litterick, Winnipeg newspaperman, is an uncle of the Communist member.

BETTER THAN MOST

77-Year-Old Fermoy 'Old Timer' Wins Village Tap Dancing Contest.

GANANOQUE, Ont., July 30.—(CP)—Joseph Quinn of Fermoy, better known as Uncle Joe who was 77 years of age this week, demonstrated he was indeed "limber" after he was told he won the prize for tap dancing defeating a large entry of men, many 50 years younger than himself. In exultation he raised his foot and touched his head.

KILLED IN FALL ON FORK

PINCHER CREEK, Alta., July 30 (CP).—George Levesseur, 40, fell from a haystack onto his hay fork. He died instantly when a prong pierced his brain.

Last Minute News Flashes

WINDSOR.—The Windsor and Niagara Falls offices of Lionel Brooke and Company, brokers, were closed today by order of the Ontario Securities Commission.

LONDON—Viscount Swinton, Secretary for Air, announced in the House of Lords today the creation of a volunteer reserve for the Royal Air Force. He said it was designed to provide an adequate reserve of pilots for the expanded air force and was open only to civilians.

Chief Gets Pinched As Reckless Driver

WHITBY, July 30. —(CP)— A charge of reckless driving has been laid against Chief Constable Hector Reid of Beaverton by Chief H. Quantrill of Whitby, following an accident here recently. Chief Reid has laid a charge of reckless driving against Norman Wetherup, 18-year-old son of C. S. Wetherup, 209 Nassau Street, Oshawa, allegedly driver of the other car.

MANITOBA RESULT HEADS FOR IMPASSE AS COUNT GOES ON

Bracken To Win Working Majority Must Carry 8 Of 9 Undecided Seats

HOLDS 21 NOW

Willis, Youthful Tory Chief, Swells Strength From Ten To Fourteen

WINNIPEG, July 30.—(C P)—Manitoba politics today appeared headed for something like the impasse which confronted Quebec last November and which the French-speaking province is attempting to settle with a second election within a year.

Four days after the voters went to the polls tabulators in seven Manitoba seats are still busy counting and recounting votes today in an effort to determine the winners. Besides the seven doubtful seats are two in which voting was deferred and in order to win a working majority in the next House Premier John Bracken and his Liberal-Progressive party must win eight of the nine.

Out of the 46 seats in which returns and counting is complete the government has obtained 21 followers against a total opposition of 25. In the 55-member legislature a party needs a minimum of 29 supporters to give it a bare majority as the election of a speaker cuts

New Anglo-Russian Naval Agreement Is Completed

Two Nations Conform On All Points—Number Of Ships Unlimited

SIGNING DATE UNSET

By Alexander H. Uhl,
(Copyright 1936 The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—An Anglo-Russian naval agreement "on all points" was announced at the Admiralty to-day.

No date was set for signing the treaty, but it was stated to be completely drafted.

All that remains to be done, officials said, is to inform other powers which are parties to the Washington Naval Treaty, including France, Italy, the United States and Japan, and other governments with which Great Britain is now negotiating bilateral treaties.

These include Poland, Germany, and probably Denmark.

The object of the Anglo-Russian agreement, it was stated officially, was to obtain Soviet adherence to the principles of the recent Tripartite London pact between Britain, the United States and France.

This accord provides for limitation of tonnage in different categories but not of the number of ships and for an exchange of building information between signatory powers.

ATTACKS YOUNG GIRL

Knife-Throwing Marauder Frightens Residents Of Toronto Suburb.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP). — For the second time in 24 hours a man who brandishes a knife has threatened a young girl, police reported today. Dorothy Houlden, 16, of suburban York, told officers she was attacked by a man who threatened her with a knife. She screamed as he leaped at her, she said, and he fled. Tuesday night in the same district, another 16-year-old girl reported a similar attack, but as she fled the man hurled the knife at her, wounding her shoulder.

BIRD IN GILDED CAGE

Wild Canary Gives Up Natural Life For Mate Behind Bars

THATCHER, Ariz., July 30. —(CP)—A wild canary turned her back on freedom today for a mate and family life within a cage.

Mrs. Grant Bingham placed her pet canary's cage in the sun. Soon, she said, she was attracted by a wild canary pecking at the window pane.

Opening the window and leaving the door to her bird's cage ajar, Mrs. Bingham left the room. When she returned, she said, both birds were perched within the cage.

B.B.C. POST SEEN FOR WILLINGDON

Former Canadian Governor-General Expected To Accept Presidency

LONDON, July 30 (CP Cable)—The Daily Mail said to-day the Marquess of Willingdon probably will be offered, and will accept, the presidency of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

The B.B.C.'s new five-year charter comes into operation Jan 1, 1937. Donald Collecit Norman, brother of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is president of the B.B.C. at present.

Lord Willingdon was raised to the rank of Marquess after his return this year from a five-year term as viceroy of India. Prior to that he was Governor-General of Canada.

SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S.

LONDON, July 30 (CP Cable).—Between 500 and 600 of the Canadian Vimy Ridge pilgrims today attended a service in St. Paul's Cathedral. The dean, Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, officiated. The service consisted of a shortened form of morning prayer.

Girl's Honesty Produces Heart's Desire—a Bicycle

Finds Handbag With $175 — Spots Weeping Owner, Returns It

4 YEARS' SAVINGS FOR TRIP

WINDSOR, Ont., July 30.—(CP).—Virtue may be its own reward, but you can get a new bicyle for being honest, Thelma Grace Ford, 13 year old, realized today.

Thelma found a woman's handbag at the Windsor market, opened it and saw $175 in currency. A short distance away she observed a woman weeping, a man trying to comfort her.

"Finders keepers, losers weepers," thought Thelma and she decided that wasn't justice. She went up to the woman and asked what was wrong. The woman said she lost a purse in which was all the money she and her husband had been saving for four years so they could go into Northern Ontario on a vacation. Thelma handed her the purse.

Losers weren't weeping any more and the husband, just like Santa Claus, asked Thelma what she wanted most. Thelma simply answered "a bicycle."

She got it.

REFUSED TO STUFF SKUNKS.

WICHITA, Kas., July 30 (CP).—Mrs. Margaret L. Jones told District Judge Robert Nesmith she met the demands of matrimony until her husband, William J. Jones, set her to a new task—stuff skunks. That, she said, was too much and she wanted a divorce. She got it.

Wine for Workers, Latest Soviet Rule

MOSCOW, July 30—(AP)—Wine for the working people, the Soviet Government decreed today. The newest official edict ordered champagne production increased from 300,000 bottles this year to 12,000,00 in 1942. Communist leaders declared the order was one of a series which point toward greater freedom and a more abundant life for the Russian proletariat. Champagne, they said, will no longer be considered a luxury in the Soviet.

Four Mills Is Enough Welfare Minister Croll Finds After Appeal

Gives York Council Till Friday To Show Extra Cash Can Be Saved In Budget

OVER MILL REDUCTION

Denounces Alleged Extravagance In Certain "Pampered Municipalities"

TORONTO, July 30 (CP)—Special levies for relief purposes in two Ontario municipalities will be reduced under a dicision handed down to-day by Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare, in appeals against additional taxation for relief purposes.

In the case of York Township, the minister suggested that evidence has been presented to him indicating the four mills, instead of 5.4, will be all that is necessary to take up the slack between what he regards as adequate provincial grants and municipal under-budgeting and over-expenditure.

The minister told Reeve Marsh Magwood that if it is demonstrated through resolution of the township council before noon Friday that this additional money can be saved out of current budget, he is willing to amend the additional order and reduce the special levy to a straight four mills.

In the case of Windsor also a four-mill levy will replace what previously had been considered necessary—a 5.7 mill rate.

Notification despatched

Letters to the two municipalities went out yesterday as a sequel to hearings of their appeals which Mr. Croll had heard during the past two weeks. In both municipalities relief funds had been exhausted and special levies had been ordered over protest of the councils.

Both York Township and Windsor were told in effect that they had handled the relief inefficiently and as a result must look to their own taxpayers to make up the difference between what they had expended and what is considered by the province to be an adequate governmental grant.

In suggestion that the municipal councils had attempted to appease both unemployed and taxpayers while passing the matter along to the government, the minister remarked in his letter to Windsor, "You have tried to save both your faces."

Mr. Croll denounced alleged extravagance in what he has termed "pampered municipalities," those which, as a consequence of default, were able to shift for a time relief responsibilities entirely to the province.

In both cases the minister argued that it is unfair for these "pampered municipalities' to expect the rest of the province to support their unemployed at a scale higher than that which prevails in all other municipalities.

Seven Skunks Amble Seven Drivers Wait

MARMORA, July 30. — Seven skunks of good girth held up seven cars on No. 7 Highway about seven furlongs from Marmora village's western limits around 7 p.m. on Monday, halting the first car for approximately seven minutes.

Two of the animals stuck to the centre of the road, finding there some morsel or other to their liking, while the other five ambled to their respective sides of the highway with leisurely gait.

The road being level for a good distance at this section, driver No. 1 detected them in time to avoid an undesirable collision.

"And you didn't toot your horn to speed up the animals' program?"

"Not on your life," was the ready admission.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE BURWASH FLEE, STOLEN CAR

Believed To Have Abandoned It In Powassan And Taken Another

SPOTTED BY TRAVELLER

POWASSAN, Ont., July 30 (CP) —Two escaped prisoners from Burwash Industrial Farm near Sudbury were believed to have abandoned their car here to-day and to have headed southward in another stolen car.

The second car, believed to contain the men, Peter Cruickshank and Albert C. Johns, bore license CJ-727 and was reported stolen in Powassan.

Police at southern points have been notified. Traffic Officer E. J. Cleland at North Bay was advised by a traveller that he had seen the men in the first car in which they fled.

Registered in Guelph

TORONTO, July 30 (CP).—A car bearing license plates CJ-727, reported stolen at Powassan by two men believed escaped prisoners from Burwash Industrial Farm, is registered in the name of E. H. Chart, 59 London road west, Guelph.

EDWARD CHARTERS YACHT FOR CRUISE

Will Holiday Several Weeks On Dalmatian Coast With Three Or Four Friends

LONDON, July 30.—(AP)—King Edward has chartered the yacht Nahlin for a three or four-week's cruise along the Dalmatian coast, it was announced today at Buckingham palace.

The King will probably join the yacht in about 10 days at Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia. He will be accompanied by three or four friends.

The vessel is the property of Lady Yule, widow of Sir David Yule, former Anglo-Indian merchant. It is a twin screw schooner, originally costing $1,500,000, and is registered from Glasgow.

The cruise will replace a projected vacation at Cannes, France, which was cancelled after the outbreak of the Spanish rebellion.

BOY'S CONDITION UNCHANGED.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 30 (CP). —The condition of Eric Locke, aged 8, South Mountain, was reported to be unchanged today at the general hospital, where he is suffering from a wound at the base of the neck, penetrating the lung as the result of a pitchfork having fallen upon him.

FILL VACANCY CAMPBELLFORD SCHOOL STAFF

Miss Violet Patrick Selected To Fill Post On Public School Staff

COMPLIMENT CARETAKER

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30.— The Board of Education met in the Public Libraryon Monday evening. Nine applications were read in response to the advertisement for a teacher to fill the vacancy on the Public School staff, caused by the resignation of Miss Ella Cook. The vote, which was taken by ballot, resulted in the selection of Miss Violet Patrick to fill the position; her duties to commence at the opening of the fall term. Trustee Walter Henson, on behalf of the property committee paid a compliment to caretaker James Massie for his painstaking efforts in connection with the High School renovation work during the summer vacation.

After discussing the financial situation of the Board, it was agreed that secretary Wesley Stephens prepare a report for presentation at the next regular meeting. Chairman Arthur J. Armour had charge of the meeting. Trustees present were Frank C. Bonnycastle, A. E. Burgis, William Cook, George Free, Walter Henson, John A. Irwin, Roy Loucks, Charles Palliser and Wilbert Wood. After the passing of the accounts the board adjourned.

Accuse Bannockburn Man Of Pointing Gun

BELLEVILLE, July 30 (CP). — Charged with pointing a fire-arm and threatening his father-in-law, Ernest Lessard, Bannockburn, was remanded until Friday here yesterday by Justice of the Peace H. B. Wilson. He was not asked to plead. Friday he will appear in police court at Tweed.

Lessard was arrested by Provincial Constable Alex Kidd of Madoc, following a complaint laid by George Woodcock of Coe Hill, the accused man's father-in-law. Woodcock told police Lessard pointed a gun at him and threatened to shoot him. The trouble arose out of family difficulties, police stated.

Knife-Hurler Wounds Young Toronto Maid

TORONTO, July 29 (CP)—Mary O'Neil, 16, maid in a home on Riverside Drive in West Toronto, was wounded in the back early to-day by a butcher's knife hurled at her by a man who jumped from a clump of bushes on that street.

York township and city police combed the district for a trace of her assailant but without success. He was described as a young man wearing a grey suit and a fawn sweater.

Miss O'Neil was returning home and had just turned off Bloor street into a darkened section of the street when she heard a rustle in a clump of bushes. She wheeled around in time to see a man jump from the bushes with a long knife in his hand.

She screamed and started to run, then the man hurled the knife, which pierced her back near the left shoulder blade.

Communist Ousted From Huelva After Five-Day Bombardment

MADRID, July 30.—Loyal troops and militia, aided by squadrons of government planes today engaged in a desperate fight with rebels near Zaragosa.

Luis Companys, provincial president of Catalonia, flew over the Aragon front and reported to Leftist officials the Liberal armies were advancing victoriously.

Leading the government troops was a column under Colonel Villalba, the president reported.

Government airmen were bombing the rebels, he said, and aiding the offensive from strategic points.

The Spanish Government in Madrid, meanwhile, mobilized the merchant marine into an anti-Fascist armada.

The merchant ships will assume an official naval status.

Dispatches from Casablanca, Morocco, said 15 armed Loyalists who fled a rebel bombardment at Huelva arrived in a small boat to report 20 persons killed and many wounded in the southern Spanish city.

Five-Day Battle

"We fought for five days against the Fascists in Huelva," said a Communist. "For five days shooting raged in the streets.

"Unfortunately, at Seville, General Queipo de Llano was winning and we underwent continual bombardment by airplanes from Seville. Out last cartridges gone; our last ammunition exhausted; we could do nothing but flee."

The French destroyer Odriot also reached Casablanca from Seville with 71 refugees. The Spanish fugitives were not permitted to land.

In Madrid's 13th day of civil war, workers, lawyers, bullfighters, army officers and shop girls were mobilized in the "Fight against Fascism."

SMUGGLING DROPS TO SMALL CHANGE RACKET ON BORDER

Repeal Takes Profit Out Of Liquor—Gangs Turn To Butter, Turkeys

LESS EXCITEMENT

WASHINGTON, July 30.— (CP).— Since repeal took the profit out of liquor smuggling United States customs inspectors along the Canadian border have been pursuing the unexciting job of chasing butter and turkey smugglers and other "small change" operators.

Edson J. Shamhart, legal adviser to the enforcement division of the customs bureau, said today that some "small change" smuggling may be going on across the International Boundary line but not on what the customs bureau regards as "a big scale."

Shamhart said the last important case the bureau investigated was a suspected airplane smuggler who dropped down on a New York Airport and immediately took off again after shaking off a policeman who tried to board the plane.

The routine reports of border patrol wark, he said, has become so quiet that inspectors were working against occasional and insignificant attempts to smuggle turkeys, wool, cattle, wheat, butter and onions into this country from Canada.

Shamhart attributed the lack of any large scale smuggling to the greater concentration of border inspectors at likely smuggling points and changes in tariffs.

Less Incentive.

Shamhart declined to say that the trade agreement between the United States and Canada had any material influence on the reduction in smuggling operations, but voiced his personal view that " a reduction in duties reduced the incentive to smuggle."

During prohibition, he said, the customs patrol devoted most of its attention to blocking rum runners.

"They only had time to hit the high spots on other things," he said, "but now with liquor smuggling no longer a major concern, the inspectors are able to devote their time to other types of smugglers. Even infested fish concealed in shipments of good fish engage their attention.

Shamhart said butter smuggling gave customs bureau its greatest trouble along the Dakota line.

"We made a couple of hits there a year ago and put them out of business, least temporarily," he said "Some smuggling may be going on now but not on a big scale because they have to build up their organizations for a large attempt and we know the specific sources of the smuggling."

Will Discuss Proposal With Gov. Tweedsmuir Prime Minister King

Sees Free Export Of Hydro If Canada Develops Its Side Of 'Quoddy

TIDE PROJECT FEASIBLE

St. Lawrence Seaway Possibilities Also To Come Into Conference

CAMPOBELLO ISLAND, N. B. July 30.—(AP)—Mutual development of hydro-electric power by Canada and the United States and the proposed St. Lawrence waterway treaty, once rejected by the United States Senate, were disclosed by President Roosevelt yesterday as two subjects he will discuss Friday in Quebec with Canadian officials.

Sitting on a rock on the Bay of Fundy shore of Campobello Island, after a hot-dog and cake picnic, the President also announced in his first press conference in weeks that he still felt the $40,000,000 Passamaquoddy tide - harnessing power project feasible.

Dream of the Future.

The President said that if Canada ever should start developing its side of 'Quoddy, the dream of the future would naturally be a free export of surplus power between that country and the United States.

He would discuss this, he said, with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, when he reaches Quebec on Friday for a one-day visit there. The St. Lawrence ocean navigation seaway treaty, which the Senate turned down two years ago when a required two-thirds vote failed to be mustered, also has tremendous power angles.

Tide-Harnessing Feasible

Replying to questions about the future of 'Quoddy, the President said the scientific transmission of electric power has been growing by leaps and bounds and he still though harnessing of the 28-foot tides in the bay for power purposes was feasible. He added, however, the project could not be continued without authority of Congress.

Should Congress fail to appropriate money next session for it, he said, the 5,000 relief workers originally employed, but now down to around 1,200 would have to be put on some other relief jobs.

He said tide-harnessing had been tried on the Severn River in England and was under consideration for St. Malo in France, and he thought it an experiment worth trying. There would be more such projects in the United States, he said, if the first succeeded.

Mr. Roosevelt said the whole conception of 'Quoddy was based on the fact that use of power in Canada and the United States has been increasing from 10 to 15 per cent. annually. There was bound to be more power development of all kinds, he added ,if new methods of creating it could be found.

Car Badly Damaged Campbellford Crash

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — That a danger sign should be placed at the end of Sebastopol street where the road turns sharply at Hastings Road on highway No. 30, was again evidenced when a motorist failed to follow the pavement and after ripping through several fence posts landed in Albert Mills' garden.

The car bearing a Toronto license was badly damaged but fortunately the passengers were uninjured. The last mishap at this dangerous curve was more serious, the car crashing into an apple tree and the driver badly cut by flying glass. A mud road leading to an ice house is the cause of the confusion.

Federal Cabinet Discusses Removal Of Stock From Drought Areas

AGREEMENT PENDING

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP)—The livestock situation in Western Canada occupied the attention of cabinet at its regular weekly meeting yesterday. At the conclusion of the three-hour sitting, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said consideration was being given to the removal of feeder cattle from drought-stricken areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan to places where feed would be available. Ontario had been suggested as a suitable province in which to locate some of these cattle.

The Prime Minister stated, however, no agreements had been reached yet with the western provinces to meet the situation. Officials of the federal departments concerned had been considering the problem of Western Canada cattle-producers from various angles. The grave situation due to serious feed shortage was still being canvassed from the angles of marketing, shipping and processing cattle.

Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce, who has been in Europe on a trade mission for some weeks would hardly return to Canada until the beginning of September, the Prime Minister said, Mr. Euler had practically finished his work in Russia, but no decision in respect to trade relations with that country would be reached until the trade minister's return to Canada. The Netherlands would be Mr. Euler's next point of call.

Visit to Europe Valuable.

Mr. King expressed the view that Finance Minister Lapointe would be back in Canada about the middle of August. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, might be home earlier. With Europe in its present disturbed condition he thought it a valuable thing for members of the Canadian Government to visit that continent, the Prime Minister said. Thus firsthand information of conditions there was made available to Canada.

It would hardly be possible for

CANADIAN PILGRIM BAND PAYS HOMAGE TO HAIG'S MEMORY

Unique Ceremony Is Staged At Centuries-Old Ruined Scottish Abbey

WREATHS ARE DEPOSITED

By Capt. W. W. Murray, M.C. (Canadian Press Staff Writer).

DRYBURGH, Scotland, July 30.—(CP Cable).—This little Scottish border community was stirred by a ceremony unique in its centuries old history today. The ancient abbey, whose ruins have for four centuries looked over the rippling river Tweed, was the locale of a service which saw the homage of the Government and people of Canada paid to the memory of Earl Haig of Bemersyde, who commanded the British Armies in France during the war.

At the same time a wreath of poppies and Canadian Maple leaves was deposited on the simple soldier's cross which marks the sepulchre of Haig.

Rev. John Kelman, minister of Fairbank Presbyterian church, Toronto, and national representative of the tuberculous veterans section of the Canadian Legion, was the preacher at the special service which was attended by members of the Vimy pilgrimage, representatives of the Canadian Government and many Scottish dignitaries.

Taking as his text the 27th Psalm: "The Lord is my light and my salvation whom shall I fear?" The Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?" Mr. Kelman stressed the qualities which contributed to the greatness of Haig and which had endeared him to the Canadian soldiers.

Byng and Currie Gone

He noted noted the absence not only of the commander whose memory was being honored, but also of Lord Byng and Sir Arthur Currie, men who beyond others were most proudly identified with the Canadian corps and whose loyalty to Haig had been firm and unyielding.

Men had admired Haig for several reasons, the minister continued. His creed had been simple, but great in its simplicity and in its implicit faith in the power of divine help. Equally strong was his conviction, said Mr. Kelman, "That the battle was not his, but God's."

The preacher recalled the many honors that had been showered on the British commander. None of them however became him so well, nor of them all was he so proud, as the fact he had been an elder of the Presbyterian kirk.

Touching on patriotism, Mr. Kelman dealt with the various forms this quality at times assumes. The patriotism of Haig demanded service, for he had given as fully as himself as he exacted from others.

In the blackest hour of the British army, during April 1918, when Haig was beset by enemies without and by cavilling and criticism at home, his great spirit had found utterance in the immortal message to his soldiers. He demanded them to give their all in order that the empire might be preserved.

Mr. Kelman praised the late commander's capacity for self-sacrifice, industry and service. After the war Haig had sought to develop unity among the ex-service men of the British Empire. If in Canada he had not succeeded, at least there had resulted from his efforts the Canadian Legion, which spoke with the strongest voice in the cause of the war veteran.

The Toronto minister recalled the "scurrilous attacks" on the memory of Haig by those "who had become bold enough to launch them only when his great soul was silenced forever." These had been met with calmness, with dignity and unflinching courage by Lady Haig, widow of the dead commander.

EARLY EGYPTIANS USED WAX DOLLS

North American Introduced To Miniature Figures In 18th Century

NEW YORK, July 30 (CP)—Wax dolls go back to the days of the ancient Egyptians who fashioned wax images of their deities. There is also abundant evidence, writes Imogene Anderson in "The American Collector," that they made miniature figures of human beings and dressed them in the prevailing fashion. Sent all over the world by France and England in latter days, they reached North America about the middle of the 18th century.

In 1790 a doll with hollow beeswax head and arms, brown eyes that opened and closed with a wire pull, was imported from Paris to show the styles of the day. It was bought in Philadelphia by Benjamin Bourne of Bristol, R.I., member of Congress from 1790, as a gift for his niece, Miss Lillie E. Turner, daughter of Dr. Turner, who had been a surgeon in the Revolutionary Army.

"Miss Lillie," as she was called, still retains the original finery in which she crossed the ocean. Her white hair is adorned with a real thread lace cap over which is a blue satin bonnet trimmed with rose colored silk. Her dress is a sheer white linen yellowed with age. She wears hand-made brown kid shoes and is, I believe, the oldest wire pull wax doll with an American history.

"Anstiss Derby" was also a mannikin doll, sent over in 1826 from France to Salem, Mass., for Martha, the granddaughter of Elias Hasket Derby.

The individuality of the beautiful wax heads that came from England can easily be recognized. For many years these dolls had no equals in realistic and delicate qualities of beauty in France or Germany. The bodies of those made in the 18th century were usually of wood or of kid or cloth stuffed with bran or rags. They were long, stiff and not jointed. The arms were often short in proportion to the bodies.

The glass eyes were difficult to manufacture, especially violet and sapphire. Consequently these colors are rarely found and the dolls that have them are much sought after. Dolls with brown eyes are usually older and rarer than those with light blue eyes which came into fashion after Queen Victoria ascended the throne. Then, every little girl wanted a doll with blue eyes like the Queen's and manufacturers, finding their brown-eyed dolls a drug on the market, sold them in Spain or elsewhere on the continent where they were eagerly welcomed.

Inspector Pleased With Johnson Pump

Here to advise the Village of Bethany in the matter of fire fighting equipment, following two recent fires in that municipality, W. L. Claremont, inspector of the provincial fire marshal's department on Wednesday evening witnessed a pumping demonstration at George street wharf.

According to Fire Chief George Gimblett, whose department staged the demonstration with a Johnson pump loaned for the occasion through courtesy of Hugh Campbell, general manager of Canadian Johnson Motors, Inspector Claremont was greatly impressed with the efficiency of the pump.

It is understood that he will recommend to the Village of Bethany the purchase of a Johnson pump, which he believes to be adequate for the needs of any municipality of similar size. Hy Wood, Canadian Johnson Motors plant superintendent was at the demonstration as representative of his company.

The Chief declared that a Johnson Motor Company pump accomplished splendid results at the recent Douro Township fire, delivering 77,000 gallons of water over a period of six hours on a 950-foot line. The pumps are extensively used by the Ontario Forestry Department.

WALL OF HADRIAN BUILT IN BRITAIN AGAINST INVASION

Less Than Five Years To Construct 73½-Mile Fortification

NEPOS WAS GOVERNOR

Just how long it took to build Hadrian's Wall, that series of fortifications erected in the second century across England, has now been definitely learned by the discovery of a tablet in the ruins. The wall, ordered built by the Roman Emperor Hadrian, was constructed in less than five years by Platorius Nepos, the Governor of Britain.

It runs 73½ miles from Wallsend on the estuary of the Tyne to Brownees on the Solway. Its object was to keep Roman Britain from being invaded by the then barbarian clans of the north.

The tablet with a half-obliterated inscription was unearthed by a member of the University of Durham excavation committee, in the wall at Halton Chesters, near Newcastle. It is the dedication tablet formerly over the West Gate, which mentions the name of Nepos, and says that the work of construction occupied him from 122 until the last part of 126. Other discoveries, however, reveal that during the building plans were constantly changed and that after the dedication important additions were made to strengthen the work.

The fort at Halton Chesters, one of six, projects 200 feet north of the Great Wall, the excavation committee report. Excavation now shows that this was not the original arrangement. The original ditch fronting the Great Wall runs straight through below the existing fort, whose east and west gates are carried down the entire depth of the filled-in ditch on massive foundations of imposing strength.

Another discovery represents the Roman power of recovery from disaster. After Severus rebuilt the fort about A.D. 205, erecting a monumental fore-hall in front of the central administrative building. Such halls are rare in Britain and none so far discovered is as fine as this.

Foundations show it to have been 160 feet long by 30 feet broad, with a monumental central entrance spanning the north-to-south street. Its roof covered the main street of the fort, providing a covered parade-hall for the garrison.

About a century later the fort was increased in size by an enlargement toward the west behind the shelter of the Great Wall, acquiring the peculiar L-shaped plan which has long puzzled students of the site. A season's work has thus shown that the fort is of particular interest to the historian of the wall, not merely in the later period which fascinated Kipling, but also in the earliest stages, when the frontier scheme was in process of elaboration.

DESPATCH RECORD

Saskatoon Writer Pens 37,404 Words On Ordinary Postcard.

SASKATOON, July 29.—(CP)—If Robert Imrie, of Simcoe, Ont., believes he holds a world record for penning words on a standard size post card, here is a surprise for him.

A recent news dispatch claimed Imrie had established a world record by writing 2,088 words, with a fine pen, on one side of an ordinary post card. But the late W. P. Bate, of Saskatoon, in 1914 wrote 37,404 words on one side of an ordinary government post card.

ROWE PICKS DREW MANAGE CAMPAIGN

Tory Chief's Strongest Convention Rival Post For Election Fight

PORT STANLEY, July 30.—Col. George Drew, runner-up at last May's party convention, was named here last night by Hon. Earl Rowe to chairman the Ontario Conservative campaign.

The new Conservative chief revealed at an Elgin County Tory rally that he had picked his strongest convention rival to head his organization. The appointment was read as healing any post-convention sore spots and securing for Mr. Rowe the aid of the bitterest critic of the Liberal Administration.

Displays Vigor

"In our friendly encounter a short time ago," Mr. Rowe said, "Colonel Drew displayed the vigor and appreciation of public sentiment that I know will make him invaluable in the organizing work necessary to consolidate the strong feeling throughout this province in support of the Conservative party.

"To improve our organization, I am pleased that I have to-day received the consent of my good friend, Colonel George Drew, K.C., to act as campaign chairman."

Wages One-Man War

The new Conservative campaign head is a former Master of the Supreme Court of Ontario and Securities Commissioner. He has been waging a one-man war on the Hepburn administration, featured by the Drew-Walkinshaw libel action.

REGAINS LOST POLE.

SAULT STE. Marie, Ont., July 29. — (CP) — Alex Verdone wouldn't mind now if he lost his fishing rod. Just the other day he was out on the lake using two rods, one being placed in the boat with the bait dangling in the water while he was casting with the other.

While he was busy casting the other rod disappeared. So he rigged up a copper line with several hooks attached, dragged the lake at the spot and finally pulled up the rod.

BRITAIN IGNORING HELIGOLAND CASE

Not Mentioning Forts Lest It Endanger New Locarno Conference

LONDON, July 30—(CP)—Britain is refraining from any answer to Germany's refortification of Heligoland lest it prejudice general European settlement envisioned or the forthcoming five-power Locarno conference, Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, told the House of Commons.

Replying to a question put by Sir William Davison, Eden said that refortification of the small German island in the North Sea was unilateral.

"If the matter were now dealt with separately," he declared, "His Majesty's government would require a form which at most would express reserve in regard to that action. Negotiations have been set on foot which, it is hoped, may lead to a fresh effort for European settlement in which Germany would play a full part.

"I hope, therefore, Sir, William will agree with His Majesty's government in feeling that individual matters of this kind, though they cannot be passed unobserved, should not be raised at the moment in a manner which may react unfavorably on negotiations to which I have referred and thus prejudice the general settlement for which we all hope."

A Big Man and Good

Possibly people in Central Ontario did not know "Rev. Billy" Matheson who is dead in London, Ont. Until he was 25 years of age he was a lumber jack and was able to knock the block off any man in camp or any other camp. For Rev. "Billy" was a man of great size and strength. When he came into the room he seemed to fill it and his voice was about the same.

At 25 years Rev. Billy was converted, and he went into his new life with all the vigor and strength he had employed in lumber camps or in knocking flat some misguided individual who thought he could lick Billy Matheson. He never apologized for his religion; he had no time to doubt. He wanted the people he met to take the whole thing as he had done.

Rev. "Billy" we believe got his title of "Rev." the right and proper way, but the "Billy" always seemed to get the greater emphasis. He had a mission in London and he also worked in Hamilton. How many people he helped we do not know, but they would make a very great company. We do not think he will have much of an estate, because Rev. Billy would give everything away. He cared not how tough a man was or how wild was youth; we believe Rev. Billy loved them all, and he fed them and cothed them and sent them away to try and do something for themselves. There was no gum-shoeing or pussy-footing about Rev. Billy's sort of religion, and he never left the Lord out of anything he had to do or say. He put Him in 100 per cent. When he went off on a tour he would hire a hall if he could, but if not then a street corner was all right. There will be hundreds of people scattered through the western part of Ontario who will say of Rev. Billy, "he helped me when I was down and out."

George Wants to Know

A letter reached the Examiner office this morning from "George," and he says he is 11 years old. He wants to check up on some of the stories his uncle has been telling him. George writes:

"Mr. Editor: I have been visiting my uncle near the lake on his farm, and the other day we caught a turtle, quite a big one. We didn't exactly catch it because it was near the lake. It was a good sized snapper and would bite at anything you poked at it. My uncle said it would be a good deal older than he is, and that is one thing I want to know about. And here's another. There is one old goose on the farm and my uncle says the bird is 30 years old, and he says too that a sparrow with any kind of luck can live to be that old. What I want to know is he fooling me?—George."

No, George your uncle has not been fooling you at all. It might be well to pay attention to what he tells you for you may learn a good many things during your visit on the farm near the lake. In this district there are a good many snapping turtles, and one of them if left alone could become a good many times the age of yourself or your uncle even if you both grow quite old. Men who know claim a turtle has lived as long as 350 years. Nor it is improbable that your uncle has a goose 30 years old. Such birds have been known to live for 50 years, although if you stay on the farm long enough you will find that few of them ever get a chance to show how long they can live. Around Thanksgiving and Christmas time a good many of them die when they are quite young. And what's more, George, your uncle was not fooling you when he said a sparrow could live for 30 years. Sparrows have been known to live for 40 years. For your information we are printing here a little table which will show the length of life which birds and animals have been known to attain:

	Years		Years
Goose	50	Sheep	12
Hen	14	Cat	13
Pigeon	30	Dog	15
Sparrow	40	Cow	25
Crow	100	Pig	25
Swan	100	Horse	30
Eagle	100	Turtle	350
Rabbit	5	Whale	500

Remember, George, these ages are given as being as nearly accurate as possible. What we mean by that is that there have been horses which have lived much longer than 30 years and perhaps your uncle or his neighbors know of such horses, but they are very few in number. So you better keep both ears open and listen to what your uncle tells you about geese, sparrows turtles and all such things. He has been telling you what is actually so, and you may add quite a bit to your education if you learn all you can about such matters.

He Knows Better

A barrister from Ottawa has been sent to jail for three months at Vancouver for passing worthless cheques. Now and then a barrister gets in trouble and it is generally reported so the news spreads well.

The legal profession generally keeps a pretty close check on its own members, and methods unbecoming to the profession will result in the name of the offender being removed from the roster of the Bar Association.

There can well be disappointment when a barrister passes worthless cheques or uses money belonging to a client. His training has all been in the direction of respecting the rights of other people, of seeing that justice is done and maintaining the tradition that there is equity in law. There is probably no other class of men who have been more thoroughly trained in all these matters, and for that reason there is expectation that they will carry into effect in their dealings that which has been so thoroughly taught to them.

For such reasons one can well register that feeling of extreme disappointment when it is recorded that a barrister has so far departed from that which he knows to be right that it is necessary to put him in jail.

Making a Show of Herself

If Eleanor Holm Jarrett, United States swimming star, feels content that getting her name in the papers is a form of glory much to be desired, then her trip to Germany has not been in vain. On the U.S. Olympic team, she decided to have a good time crossing the ocean, and her favorite form of amusement was cocktail parties, and it is said she boasted that even if she did stay up at nights to attend such parties she could outswim any other entry. When called before the committee she was somewhat repentant, but off came her name.

The other day she met the former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, and was shown over the Netherlands Palace. She is reported as having said: "Gee, I can forget I was put off the Olympic team. This is my first contact with royalty. Won't I high hat those other Olympic girls! I'll tell 'em. You can win the gold medals. Meanwhile I'm being received by royalty."

One cannot but feel sorry for this woman. From the land of the free where all men and women are born free and equal, according to the constitution, she goes loose in the tongue when she converses with a former crown prince.

She has missed the point entirely, and that is a woman going on an athletic team to the Olympic games is subject to the discipline which is imposed on all athletes, and part of that discipline says plainly that cocktails and cocktail parties do not fit in with good physical form. Mrs. Jarrett could not or would not face up to the discipline, so she was dropped. The sting of the rebuke was not sufficient for her. It did not cause her to maintain a becoming silence, nor make her see the wisdom of trying to so mend her ways that reconsideration of her case might be possible. Now she talks like a child up the back alley because she met a former crown prince.

They Can Keep on Trying

In the Sault Ste. Marie Star there is an account of a picnic held by the Slovenian Croatian Union. It took place at Peter Manzo's farm near Leigh's Bay. Amusement of various kinds was provided, but we read that the feature of the day was the annual shot-put tournament. Previously the belt-holder had been Phillip Pandidzic, but this year Joe Majic proved to be the mighty man and heaved a 35-pound stone 30 feet. This Majic individual will be entitled to be known as the champion until the picnic takes place in 1937.

Whether he will be pointed to by others of the community as the mighty man who flung the great stone for 30 feet is something we do not know; it may be these gentlemen bear their honors lightly, and cover their excursions into fame with a fair degree of humility.

Putting a 35-pound stone may be slightly different than using the regular 35-pound shot, but the record for that weight is 57 feet and 9 inches, so the Slovenian Croatian community at the Sault can keep on improving the annual mark for quite a time yet before approaching the record class. It may be that Joe Majic will doubt that a 35-pound weight can be thrown nearly twice as far as he managed to heave it, but it is a matter of official record that such was done.

It Seems Very Stupid

From Brockville comes a story that illustrates one way not to deal with American tourists if we want them to come back again.

J. E. Frazier of Rochester, N.Y., has been a visitor in the lake district near Brockville for a number of years and this summer has been staying at Delta Lake. Not long ago he committed the terrible crime of allowing his Canadian guide to use his car to procure a supply of cornmeal to preserve his catch after a day's fishing, and that apparently is a technical violation of the regulations in regard to tourist automobiles. At all events this American visitor, who knew nothing about the fine points of the law was not only fined $25 but, according to a Brockville lawyer who is taking up the cudgels in his behalf, was deported to Morristown, N.Y. by the authorities and forced to wait until a new entry had been made out before he was allowed to come back into Canada to finish his holiday. It speaks volumes for the natural attractiveness of the Delta Lake district that he should want to return after such treatment.

It is not surprising that a protest has been forwarded from Brockville to the Department of Justice protesting at the methods used in this case which certainly have done violence to the spirit of neighborly hospitality with which our tourist friends should be received.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Russia is planning to cut imports and borrowings but is not saying a great deal about meeting some of her earlier financial obligations.

New Glasgow police cannot have a holiday until they have run down a recent series of house breaks. That makes it tough for both the crooks and the constabulary.

If the Quebec election campaign only lasts long enough the electors can have anything their hearts desire. The latest promise from Premier Godbout is a minimum wage law.

United Farmers of Saskatchewan have decided to go out of politics. But there will always be plenty of folk standing about to see what they can get out of the same business.

Vancouver's jubilee celebration is estimated to have created $20,000,000 extra business for the city already. Mayor McGeer's sense of showmanship is evidently producing rich dividends.

The decision to build a sister ship to the Queen Mary indicates the steamship companies are not yet ready to leave the field of Atlantic transportation to the dirigibles and air-liners.

United States educationists attending summer school sessions at Columbia University are going to eat a beefsteak dinner without knives, forks, spoons or napkins. It looks like a real break for the laundry business.

Hon. W. D. Euler, Canada's Minister of Trade and Commerce, has arrived in Russia at a rather unlucky moment, just in time to hear the Soviet announcement that the country proposes to cut down its imports.

Site will be chosen shortly for the fourten model houses which the Ontario Government will put up in a test housing program in suburban Toronto. It is assumed these buildings will be eviction-proof.

English journalist after a short visit declares that he is shocked by the lack of "mother-country sentiment" in Canada. It would be helpful to know just what Canadians this British newspaperman was in contact with.

The latest election offer in Quebec is one hundred acres of land for every farmer with twelve children. Considering the size of the families in rural Quebec that promise approaches mass bribery.

Spanish insurgents are reported executing 60 members of the Popular Front party. If that kind of thing keeps up the front is not likely to be popular much longer.

Ex-Judge Stubbs is back in public life as a result of his election to the Manitoba Legislature. As he could always say unusual things in an unusual way the coming debates of the Manitoba house should take on an additional color.

The extent to which taxation can be applied is demonstrated in Decatur, Ala., where the motorist in buying gasoline pays the following taxes:

In addition to that he also pays for the gasoline.

AMBITIOUS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Joe Dither made piano stools, he had a box of saws and tools, that he had bought himself; Joe was a worker to your taste, he never had an hour to waste, he was pursuing wealth.

¶ Joe got a dollar for each stool, made up by blue print and by rule, so he felt rather gay; by working steady all the time, he found it easy on his spine, to make five stools a day.

¶ Joe Dither read about some jay, who speeded up his work each day, a brain wave hit him then; he'd make ten stools instead of five and on the money he would thrive, soon join the monied men.

¶ Joe Dither speeded up his pace, his work became a maddened race, there was no time for play; but he found recompense he said, in getting on so far ahead, he'd doubled up his pay.

¶ He boasted somewhat of his deed, told friends about his burst of speed, and of the plan he had; Joe Dither raced to work at noon, nor could be scamper back too soon, he jumped around like mad.

¶ The boss looked at Joe's pay sheet then, he was like other scheming men, he thought the matter through; he figured if Joe worked like that, his pay day left him far too fat—he cut the rate in two.

Canada's Wheat May Be Needed

(From the Windsor Star)

THE people of Windsor have a direct interest in the wheat crop of Western Canada. The more grain that is sold at good prices by farmers of the West, the more motor cars they will buy. And, as most of the automobiles will be made in this district, it is apparent that we have a vital concern in the crop and its disposal.

Besides the actual wheat that will be harvested this fall, there is the sale of the surplus wheat that has been in store during the last few years. That grain has been one of the chief headaches of the Canadian Government. How to dispose of the carryover at a reasonable price has been a question that taxed the brains of the most expert of the experts.

Now Mother Nature is coming along to help cut down the surplus and give Canada an outlet for her wheat. And, in the last few months the world has turned to this Dominion because Canada has had wheat to sell at the market price. For the crop year ending Friday, July 31, the net world imports of wheat and flour will be 500,000,000 bushels. And Canada will have supplied half the total, or 250,000,000 bushels.

As that is 84,000,000 bushels more than Canada sold in the previous year, it means that a substantial reduction has been made in the 200,000,000 bushels of carryover. Where the surplus had been piling up, this year will evidently make a reduction in the grain in store. That will be a welcome change.

Russia has always been an influence in the world wheat trade. For a couple of years the Soviet dumped wheat on the markets to the distress of grain growers in all other parts of the earth. The effects of that action were far-reaching, causing farmers to accept lower amounts per bushel than they would otherwise have received. And, as Russia is a vast grain producing land, the crop there is a factor.

This year the news from the Soviet indicates that the Russians will not be exporting much wheat. At the present time a shortage of food is reported in Moscow. Staple products are scarce. Housewives are going out into the villages in search of eggs and potatoes. The drought has reduced the small fruits yield to the extent that prices on these products are so high, few can buy them. Garden crops and pasturage have been affected adversely by the drought, which visited the Soviet in common with other lands. And reports from the grain areas indicate that short crops will be harvested.

With the Soviet using most of her wheat for domestic purposes, it leaves the world market to be divided among the other exporting nations. The United States will not be having more wheat than she requires for her own use. These two countries will be eliminated as extensive exporters of grain.

Canada will probably harvest a wheat crop of around 250,000,000 bushels, which is the equivalent of the amount she has exported during the crop year which closes this week with the end of July. There is nothing like the yields of 350,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels or more that have been cut in some fruitful years, but it means that those who do have wheat to sell will be assured of a fairly decent price. They ought to get well over one dollar per bushel on the basis of the best grades delivered at Fort William.

Those farmers who have had their crops destroyed by the drought will be cared for by the Dominion Government. Those who do garner fair crops will have money to spend for things they have wanted for a long time. And, once he gets his hands on the cash, the farmer won't delay putting it right back into active circulation.

SETTING AN EXAMPLE.

(Detroit Free Press)

THE Vicksburg, Mich., Rotary Club member have taken a pledge always to bring their automobiles to a complete stop before crossing any railroad track.

The immediate reason for this pledge, which means simply voluntary observation of a precaution compulsory on public busses, is a record of five deaths at village crossings within the last 16 months.

And with the ghastly record of recent tragedies at intersections elsewhere in Michigan fresh in mind, there is a sharp timeliness in the action of the Vicksburg Rotarians which should commend it to motorists everywhere.

Safety devices at railroad crossings ought to be as complete and as effective as care and ingenuity can make them.

But no device will protect the reckless driver from the consequences of his folly if he persists in hurling his car heedlesely across dangerous crossings.

The motorist who always makes a stop before crossing a railroad track is not in much danger of being run down by a train.

THE PREACHER.

(Strathroy Age-Dispatch)

A preacher has a hard time. If his hair is white he is too old. If he is a young man he hasn't had any experience.

If he has ten children, he has too many. If he has none, he should have and it isn't showing a good example. If his wife sings in the choir, she is presuming.

If a preacher reads his notes he is a bore. If he speaks extemporaneously he isn't deep enough.

If he stays home to study, he doesn't mix with the people. If he is seen around on the streets, he ought to be home getting up a good sermon.

If he calls at the home of the poor he is playing to the grandstand. If he calls at the home of the rich, he is an aristocrat.

Whatever he does someone could have told him how to do it better. Next to being an editor or a school teacher, it is an awful life!

ONE-MINUTE PULPIT

Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them.—Matthew 6:1.

BREAKING IT EASILY

"When shall I see you again, Charles?"

"Well, I think it will be the first visiting day at jail. I can't pay this bill!" —Humorist.

They Don't Know About It.

(From the St. Cath arnies Standard).

THE Halifax Herald points out that residential building in Canada in the past five years has suffered a decline of 50.62 per cent. and for the first five months this year has been only two-thirds of the figure for last year.

A writer in Canadian Business finds it difficult to understand why this should be, especially in view of the Government's Housing Act. He points out that through its contribution of ten millions, the Dominion of Canada has made forty-nine millions of dollars available to home builders on most attractive terms, and yet up to February of this year only 113 loans, under the provisions of the Act, have been made. One of the reasons, he opines, is that—

"No one of the interested factors in the promotion of home-building is making an intelligent effort to sell the desirability and accessability of a new and modern home."

He thinks that average citizens, really eager prospects, for homes, have not been made aware of their opportunity. How many realize he asks that on a new $5,000 home, the prospect puts up $1,000 and receives a loan of $4,000 at 5 per cent. interest. That the terms make it practically easier than paying rent. He repays the $4,000 loan at 5 per cent. and amortizes it at the rate of $26.15 per month, for 240 months. Then the home is his!

The writer of the article referred to urges the widest possible publicity and a vigorous advertising campaign on the part of the Federal Government to speed up action. "Here," he points out, "is this fund for fifty millions of dollars standing available for home-building, but how many prospective home builders realize their opportunity?"

The same idea was put forth in these columns month ago, before the building season was due to open up, and it was re-iterated. There is something wrong in the set-up somewhere, even interested builders not enthusing at all over the Dominion Housing Act.

Quebec's Needy Aged.

From The Hamil ton Spectator).

IN a week or so's time Quebec will conform to the practice of other progressive provinces of the Dominion and institute an old-age pensions system which, while it will be administered with much caution, is a significant departure from the conservative habits of thought which (in spite of party labels) have dominated French-Canadian politics in the past. It is the law of Quebec that children must support their parents when, through age or misfortune, they fall into a state of dependence. The civil code, it is argued, has worked very well in the past, saving the general public a lot of money and enforcing the virtues of filial obligation. For the state to take over the duty which properly belongs to members of the family is being represented as a retrograde step in some quarters, even a menace to the virility of the French-Canadian character. But these fears seem more than a little artificial to places which have long enjoyed similar legislation and which, but for it, would not have been able to survive the depression without inflicting cruel hardships on the old and incapacitated.

Any person in receipt of $365 a year or more will be ineligible for a pension in Quebec. The maximum payment is to be $240 a year and that will be given only in cases where the total income from all other sources is $125 or less. It is estimated that about 30,000 beneficiaries will receive assistance, the total annual cost of which will amount to between seven and eight million dollars. It is, apparently, going to be no easy matter to establish a claim. If children are to be relieved of the legal obligation which hitherto they have had to discharge, says the Montreal Gazette, "the conditions ought to be made extremely rigid," in the interests of the taxpayers. "Inability of a son or daughter to continue support of an ascendant as required by the code should be proved under existing tests, and wilful misrepresentation, particularly if such is made under oath, should be followed by salutary punishment. This would involve no injustice to any one and would give the taxpayer assurance of some protection."

No Need of an Undertaker.

(From the Kitchener Record).

IN a recent issue of the National Home Monthly, calling itself Canada's greater magazine, a young man, C. F. L'Ami by name, tells the newspapers of Canada that they are down and out, done for and ready for the undertaker.

L'Ami means "The Friend." But whose Friend? Perhaps it is a sign of friendship for the newspapers to have him tell them whither they are going, so they won't be too much surprised when the undertaker begins to do his stuff.

The reason why our pessimistic Friend feels so sure of the unsafe future of newspapers, particularly dailies; is because as he says, people are now able to get all the news by radio. He says: "Radio reporters with microphones in their coat lapels and portable batteries could walk about as freely as newspaper reporters, and the news could be conveyed instantly to their home stations for re-broadcasting."

How very simple! The only thing a radio set under the hat or in some pocket and wear earphones so that we might hear all the news all the time (both day and night probably), as it happens, and perhaps even earlier in view of the exceptionally lively imagination of some radio announcers.

But L'Ami, still our Friend, is not through. He sheds crocodile tears over the advertising losses of newspapers because of radio competition.

While advertising is vital to the newspaper business, that does not say that newspaper advertising should not have any competition. We have always had handbills, billboards, magazines and direct mail advertising in opposition to newspapers. Radio has now become an additional competitor. Speaking frankly, each type of advertising has some merit. Each will naturally get some of the business. And newspapers do not expect to get any of this business except that which they can do better than any competitor.

L'Ami is, however, no longer our Friend, when he says: "Business considerations have crept in to hamper and destroy the old crusading spirit of the daily newspaper. Today it has become a commercial institution pure and simple, and the man who runs the show, editorially and otherwise, is the business manager."

That gets our goat, and we do not hesitate to say that this unfair and incorrect statement does not apply to newspapers in general and very rarely, if at all, to any one newspaper in particular.

ENCOURAGING TOURISTS.

(Chatham Daily News)

IN Peterborough, a reporter interviewed a number of American tourists, asking them why they had come to Ontario for a holiday. In the vast majority of cases they said that friends had told them of the exceptionally fine holiday advantages in Canada, and the courteous treatment they had received while here.

This is a good point to remember.

Strangers are entering our gates every day. They are on a holiday and are naturally looking for enjoyment and accommodation. It pays to be courteous to tourists, to treat them fairly and considerately. This encourages them to return—and it also leads them to advise their friends to visit Ontario, too.

GIVING THE FACTS.

(Edmonton Journal)

MR. Maynard says the press is "poisoning the minds of the people against stamped scrip." What it has been doing is simply to point out the dangers of such an experiment in the light of experience elsewhere. The mind of the public cannot be "poisoned" by supplying it with facts on which to base its opinion of the scheme that the government is launching.

HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

(The London Spectator, July 9, 1836)

IT will be seen by an announcement in our advertising columns, that the South Australian Commissioners are, in addition to their former arrangements, taking measures to forward to the new colony over six hundred persons of the laboring class, free of expense, and under an obligation to maintain them in the colony until they obtain sufficient wages. The emigrant must not exceed twenty-six years of age, must be married, and with no children over two years old. They must have certificates of good character. Each married couple will have a separate berth, and the provisions and other arrangements will be on the best scale ever adopted for laboring emigrants. It is proposed that the first ship shall sail with one hundred couples on the 10th of next month.

QUIET DIGNITY.

(St. Catharines Standard)

AN American tourist on Georgian Bay: "We like your people. They are courteous, but not subservient or fawning for the dollar. They have a simple, quiet dignity which is charming, and yet we can see they want us to come here and, in fact, need our business but will not grovel for it."

The tribute came from a man who had travelled Europe, where the tipping is well-known as a curse.

CANADIAN DOORS.

(Empire Review, London)

LAST year, all records were broken by buying over a million doors from British Columbia. They were part of the year's purchases of 456,000,000 feet of timber. The Dominion dispatched timber worth some £32,000,000 to all parts of the world. To British countries alone 1,060,000,000 feet were exported. It is a profitable industry in more ways than one, for it kept nearly 100,000 Canadians employed throughout the year.

Garrison Revolts.

GIBRALTAR, July 30. —(AP). — The insurgent radio station at Seville, Spain, announced today the garrison at Valencia had revolted against the Government and gone over to the rebels.

Supplying Rebels Arms.

PARIS, July 30 (C.P.-Havas). — Italy and Germany to-day were charged with supplying armaments to the revolting Fascists of Spain by the Liberal Socialist newspaper L'Oeuvre.

Recalling a report in L'Intransigeant that 20 Junkers planes and 20 Caproni bombers would soon be delivered to the forces in Morocco, L'Oeuvre stated victory for General Francisco Franco and his rebel forces would be a victory for the Italians in the Mediterranean and a trump in the hands of the Germans.

"Our communications with Africa would be directly menaced" L'Oeuvre said.

Battalion of Death.

PARIS, July 30.—(AP).—Spanish rebel fliers, undaunted by explosion and destruction, were reported organized to-day into a "Battalion of Death."

Gen. Quiepo Dellano, Fascist commander at Seville, announced formation of the "volunteers of death" in a broadcast received here.

The pilots are ready to take aloft planes full of explosives, he said, and hurtle the ships into Liberal encampments and strongholds.

Rebels Surrender.

MADRID, July 30.—(CP-Havas). —Rebel forces in Villaneuva de la Serena, Badajoz province, surrendered to the government to-day, it was announced here.

Villaneuva is on the Guadiana river, in Southern Spain, a territory supposed to be firmly held by the rebels.

BARGAIN-SEEKERS BATTLE.

LONDON.—(CP).—Three casualties were reported from the "sales front" after a recent summer sale of gowns at an Ealing store. The sale continued and another one held a few days later for those who missed out.

£75,000, the Irish Free State five per cent, subject to a maximum of £12,000 and Newfoundland a sum which will be agreed upon with the United Kingdom.

The Free State will be entitled to participate in the empire air mail scheme.

7. Each government undertakes to grant landing and transit rights to the joint company and to Pan-American Airways.

Unless otherwise determined by the consent of the four governments, such rights shall be exclusive for 15 years.

9. An intergovernmental committee of trans-Atlantic air services will be established, consisting of four members appointed by the United Kingdom, Canada, the Irish Free State and Newfoundland, to which will be referred all decisions affecting national policy or the relations of governments among themselves or with other governments. All decisions of this committee must be unanimous.

Cheese Quotes, Produce and Livestock

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, July 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on the Toronto Cheese Market to-day were unchanged, with dealers buying large, colored, paraffined and government grades at 13¾.

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices: New —Large 15c; twins, 15¼c; triplets 15½. Old—Large, 18; twins, 18½; triplets, 18½. Medium, 16; twins 16¼; triplets, 16½.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, July 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on poultry supplied at Toronto by the United Farmers' Co-operative Co., were reported unchanged here to-day.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, July 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables supplied by White and Co. were reported unchanged here today with the following exceptions:

Canadian raspberries, pint box, 8 to 9 cents; outdoor Leamington tomatoes, 11 qt. basket, 65 to 75c.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, July 30 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on produce delivered at Toronto and supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co., to-day were: Eggs, Grade A large, doz., 24c; grade A medium, 22c; grade B, 20c; grade C, 19c. Churning Cream—No. 1 lb. 24c; No. 2, lb, 22c. Butter—No. 1 solids, lb., 24½c; No. 2 solids, 24c.

New potatoes.—Ontario, bag, f.o.b at shipping point, $2.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Eggs and potatoes continued upward on Montreal open produce markets yesterday, while butter prices eased. Cheese was quietly steady.

Butter was quoted at 23½ cents for carloots or less of No. 1, while lots to retailers were 24 for solids and 24½ for prints. Receipts 1 box.

Graded egg shipments in carlots or less were quoted at 27½-28 cents for A large, 25½ for A medium, 22-23 for B and 20½-21 for C. Receipts 1,446 cases.

New Quebec potatoes, No. 2 grade, sold at $1.50 per 80-pound bag.

Cheese was quoted at 13-13½ cents per pound for Ontario white and colored. Receipts, 2,185 boxes.

TORONTO HOGS.

The market locally was unchanged with off truck bacons selling, generally, at $9.25. Offerings were heavy at 1,150 head.

MONTREAL HOGS.

The market, here, remained firm with fed and watered bacons bringing $9.85. Selects drew the usual $1 premium while sows ranged from $6.50 to $7. Receipts were light at 145 head.

ONTARIO GRAIN.

Approximate prices track shipping point:—Wheat, 85 to 88c; oats, 37 to 40c; barley, 50 to 53c; corn, 80 to 81c; rye, 55 to 58c; buck-wheat, 50 to 54c; malting barley, 65 to 68c; milling oats, 40 to 42c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Export business placed at approximately 4,000,000 bushels stimulated wheat futures prices to a closing advance of 2¼ to 2⅝ cents on the Winnipeg grain exchange yesterday.

The July position finished at 98⅛c October 97⅞ to 98c and December 97¼ to 97⅝ cents a bushel.

The Dominion Government report predicting the lightest Canadian wheat crop in years and the Searle Grain Co.'s estimate of a total yield of only 215,000,000 bushels were bullish factors in to-day's trading.

Overnight rainfall was entirely lacking over the Prairie provinces and no immediate drought relief was apparent. The market found little difficulty in absorbing offerings credited to the wheat board and in the nature of profit-taking.

ing, and repairs had not arrived. In the meantime the Johnson motor pumper from the fire hall lacked sufficient length of connecting hose to reach the water in the well, so that source of help from the well was not available in the emergency.

Young men with a ladder formed a bucket brigade and went into action on the roof. About the same time Chief Gimblett and his detachment of several firemen carried the hose from the chemical engine up a ladder and checked several of the larger patches of flame. To increase the supply of water from the pumps in the Murray home, Harry Blewett drove his car back and forth from James Young's farm bringing barrels of water on the bumper.

Robert McAdam of Fowler's Corners rushed his truck to Silverwood's creamery in Peterboro, and G. A. Gillespie did a rush job of filling milk cans with water.

Spectators believed that the building was doomed as the flames spread through the shingles on the west side of the roof, but the bucket brigade and firemen finally gained the upper hand over all the separate patches of threatening flames.

First on the Scene.

Among the first to arrive at the creamery were Pat Cullen of The Examiner on his noon delivery route, and Magistrate O. A. Langley. They tossed a few of the first buckets of water, but in a few minutes farmers reached the place and relieved them. Valuable work on the roof was done by Dawson Paul, Don Moore, Harold Black and many others.

At one time there were fifteen men fighting the flames as they broke out here and there. Some were firemen but the most were farmers with buckets, axes, crow bars, hoes, in fact any kind of implement that would rip off shingles. W. E. Faulkner and Eugene Switzer were among the men who came from Emily township, near Omemee.

Field of Grain Endangered

A big field of barley in the stock south of the factory and within thirty feet of the building was regarded as in danger from embers, and Chief Gimblett sent some of the men into the field with cans of water to protect the grain. Chief Gimblett was himself on the roof at times, and when the combination of buckets, cans of all descriptions and sizes reinforced by the chemical engine extinguished the last little flame the crowd of one hundred or more felt that an excellent job of saving the plant had been accomplished.

Most of the roof on the south wing was burned on its shingle surface, but the rafters escaped, and the total loss apparently nothing more than the cost of new shingling.

Mr. Murray told The Examiner that he was beyond Downeyville, at the farest point of his route when he learned of the fire about 12.30.

The squad from Peterborough City Fire Department who rendered valuable aid to the farmers in quelling the blaze at the creamery, consisted of: Firemen Virgil Carr, Stuart Foster, Francis Shearer and Garnett Brown.

EDWARD THRILLS VETERANS WITH VISIT TO PARTY

'Wishes Rain Were In Canada' As 8,000 Canadians Almost Mob Him

ARRIVES UNEXPECTEDLY

LONDON, July 30 (CP Cable)—Thrilled by an unexpected address by the King at the garden party of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester at Buckingham Palace, 2,000 Canadian Vimy pilgrims were in Scotland to-day while others planned to visit scenes in England and France familiar to soldiers in the Great War years.

The King's arrival on the Palace lawns called forth a spontaneous exhibition of personal affection such as has never before been witnessed in the historic grounds.

"None of who were present at the wonderful ceremony at Vimy on Sunday can ever possibly forget it," he told the 8,000 Canadians.

"For me personally my recollections will always be very vivid, because it brought me into contact again with so many Canadians. It brought back memories to me, not only of the Canadian corps during war, but also of my four visits to the Dominion."

His Majesty's presence was not expected at the party, and when he did appear, striding across the lawn, hatless and in a grey lounge suit, it was the signal for a minor stampede.

Almost Mobbed

He almost disappeared amid a mob of green berets and assorted feminine headgear. Attendants had to force a way for him through the cheering crowd of enthusiastic Canadians. He, however, seemed delighted with his reception and was smiling broadly as he joined the Duke and Duchess in the royal enclosure.

A heavy downpour soon after the King's arrival drove everyone into the shelter of the refreshment tents or into the Palace, except a faithful crowd which lingered, notwithstanding the elements, to watch His Majesty having tea with their hosts and their immediate entourage. Among the latter were Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Mrs. Massey, Lieutenant-Colonel G. P. Vanier, secretary of the High Commissioner's office, and Mrs. Vanier.

After the rain, just before the guests dispersed, the King made his little speech.

"I don't take any responsibility for the rain," he said. A sally which was greeted with such merriment as proved beyond a doubt that spirits, at least, were not dampened. "I can only hope you have not got very wet, and when I know how badly the rain is needed in Canada, especially in the West (Alberta-High River, interjected someone), I can say that we certainly have the rain in the wrong place.

"I want to assure you what a very great pleasure it is to welcome you at Buckingham and to see you before you sail for your homes in Canada. I sincerely hope you will enjoy every minute of your stay here, and carry back memories of the great pilgrimage to hearten you in the years to come."

As he finished, 8,000 voices sang "For he's a jolly good fellow."

down the government strength by one.

Mr Bracken's chief opponent is Errick Willis, youthful Conservative leader, who increased his party's strength from 10 in the last legislature to 14 with the chance of a few more from the undecided seats. S. J. Farmer, C. C. F. leader, has three followers so far, giving that party a voting strength of four. The new Social Credit party has four also, two independents are elected and one Communist.

No Minister or Leader Defeated

No cabinet minister or party leader has yet met defeat. Mr. Willis, Mr. Farmer, Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works, Hon. I. B. Griffiths, minister of health, Hon. J. G. McDiarmid, minister of mines and resources and Hon. W. J. Major, attorney-general, are all elected. Hon. R. A. Hoey, minister of education, is in a doubtful seat and Mr. Bracken and Hon. E. MacPherson, provincial treasurer, are candidates in the northern seats of the Pas and Rupert's Land where voting is deferred.

As the outlook for his government grew darker yesterday Mr. Bracken declared he was no quitter and would not retire in the midst of a hard fight. He said he proposed to make whatever contribution he could to stable government and carry on.

The Manitoba election is the second close political contets in Canada within a year and occasioned comment because in recent years sweeping majorities have been the rule. This tendency reached its culmination in Prince Edward Island last year when the Liberal party captured every seat in the Legislature and has no opposition, and in the Dominion general election of last October, when Prime Minister King secured the largest majority on record.

Then came the Quebec contest, when Premier L. A. Taschereau obtained but a bare majority and moved from a stormy campaign into a stormy legislative session retirement and another election.

SEED GROWERS BUY MACHINES

Order Cleaner And Grader For Local Plant At Wednesday Conference

$125 SUBSCRIBED

The committee of the Seed Growers Association ordered, Wednesday, the machinery for the plant which they expect to have in operation for the handling of this season's crop.

John D. McLeod of the seed branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture conferred with the committee, and looked over several proposed sites for the plant. No decision was made Wednesday, but this step is next on the list of developments, and an early announcement is expected.

The machinery includes a cleaner and a carter disc grader which will provide for the farmers of the district adequate accomodation for the cleaning of their grain.

Of the $500 required to finance this undertaking $125 had been subscribed this morning. J. J. Duffus, M.P., headed the list with $25, and four farmers decided to stimulate this new enterprise by signing up for the same amount. They are Howard Quinn, Robert Armstrong, Charles E. Moore and Alex Huston. The association believed they could get one hundred farmers to contribute five dollars each, and the canvass will be carried along on that basis, but at the present rate the funding of the new plant is expected to be completed within a short time.

Representatives of the Association are reported to have received a very encouraging price offer from the Quaker Oats Company, and the efforts of this group of farmers are moving along rapidly and with every promise of success.

Vision 'Fair Like a Woman' Gives Gardener Real Tips

Secret System Involving The Moon Produces Gigantic Crops For Stratfordite

DROUGHT MEANS NOTHING

STRATFORD, Ont., July 30—(CP)—A vision, "fair like a woman," that came to Herman Greve 12 years ago in his sleep showed him such a successful plan of gardening, Greve said, that he kept his knowledge secret, although the plan has "something to do with the conditions and changes of the moon."

Following the directions revealed to him by the spirit "like an angel," Greve has produced some remarkable crops in three garden plots the city let him use.

From little more than half an acre of ground last year, he said he produced 121 bags of potatoes. In addition, from his same plots, he had 40 bushels of carrots, 15 bushels of parsnips, three bushels of turnips and six bushels of beets.

The visionary gardener said he grew giant carrots last year that measured 19 to 23 inches long and four inches in diameter, and that one carrot could serve as a meal for his family of 12.

This year he expects to grow giant beets. He pulled four to show a reporter. One weighed 15 ounces and was about six inches long. Greve said the beets would grow two months more.

He pulled a carrot that was already rooted more than a foot in the ground. It had not begun to widen and was less than an inch thick.

No Lack of Variety

In his plots Greve has Spanish onions, peanuts, lentils and more than 30 varieties of tomatoes, come from Mexican, Cuban and Alabama seed.

Some of the seed for his "vision vegetables," particularly potatoes, tomatoes, Spanish onions and corn, he obtained by watching for imported fruit and vegetables thrown in the garbage dump, Greve said, but others he gets from seed companies in Canada, the United States and England.

Greve, his wife and 12 children are well fed the year round on the "dream gardener's" production. It is only within the past three years he has had much opportunity to follow out his dream, Greve said.

"I received my gardening education in my sleep," he said. "The vision came to me and showed me how to grow plants. It was like an angel, fair like a woman. I remember it yet, holding out its hands and showing me what to do."

Whether the vision or Greve's industry is responsible, his garden shows no effects of the recent drought, although his lots are not near a water supply. Some corn is coming into ear—early for this district. His potatoes are in solid rows with heavy foliage, although the crop about Stratford is approximately half normal. The bean crop in this area is a failure, but Greve's bean vines are dense with foliage and heavily set. There not a handful of weeds in his three plots.

SIXTH VICTORY FOR LONDONERS

Leo Doan's Homer Ruins Coleman's Shutout On Combines' Lot

INTERCOUNTY BALL

(By The Canadian Press)

"Lefty" Coleman, leading pitcher in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League, pitched the league-leading London nine to another victory yesterday, this time over St. Thomas. London leads the entire league by an almost unbeatable margin at this late date.

For St. Thomas-Aylmer Combines it was their sixth loss to London this year. It was a 5-1 count. Manager Leo Doan spoiled Coleman's chance of a shutout with a home run in the ninth inning. Until then, Coleman gave up only four hits.

"Lefty" Gray, on the other hand, was touched for 16 hits. The loss makes it necessary for St. Thomas to defeat Stratford and Galt in its week-end games to get into the playoffs.

Stratford, after dropping two straight games, came through with an 8-3 victory over Brantford. The victory, coupled with St. Thomas' loss, gave the Nationals sole possession of second place in the western section of the Intercounty.

Nearly 11,000 tourists visited Cuba in a recent month.

Dream Gardener Shows Results

Herman Greve of Stratford, Ont., says that a vision "fair like a woman" revealed to him in a dream 12 years ago the secret of growing vegetables. He says it has "something to do with the conditions and changes of the moon." Greve's garden has not suffered from the drought although it is not near water, and has gone in for the production of giant vegetables. He is pictured showing his healthy beans and holding giant beets. One that wasn't fully grown weighed 15 ounces. —(Canadian Press Photo)

HORTON SMITH WINS VICTORIA TOURNEY

Chicago Pro Turns In Perfect Performance For $3,000 Prize

OAK BAY GOLF CLUB, Victoria, July 30 (CP).—A blustery wind from the sea means little to Horton Smith when his mind is set on winning a golfing tournament.

The elongated Chicago professional, one of golf's greatest putters, turned in a perfect performance over the final 18-hole route on this sea-girt course yesterday to win the $3,000 Victoria golf championship, second of the Evergreen Golf Trial four-tournament series.

Despite the stiff breeze that played havoc with most of the field of 42 who competed in the final round, Smith scored a par 68. His total for the 72 holes was 259, three under par, and gave him first-prize money of $700.

Second was Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N.J. His 272 brought him $450.

Falconbridge Draws With United Weston

WINNIPEG, July 30 (CP).—Light limbering-up exercises sufficient to take the kinks out of travel-weary limbs were on the board for Falconbridge Falcons to-day. The Eastern soccer champions will take advantage of a one-day rest to prepare themselves for the second of their best of three game semi-final series with United Weston here Friday for the right to challenge New Westminster Royals in the Dominion final.

Falcons noticeably tired from their long train journey, played a scoreless tie with the Manitoba champions here last night. The game was packed with thrills, however, and only superb net-minding prevented either side from scoring on occasions.

Agreement Reached In Town Lot Problem

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — Mayor Long presided at a special meeting of the Town Council held in the clerk's office on Tuesday afternoon. Other members present were Deputy Reeve Calver, Councillors John O'Sullivan, James Dorie, Alexander MacColl and Peter MacMillan. The object of the meeting was to discuss a communication from the Department of Public Works in which the question was asked as to what the council proposed doing regarding the lot on the east side of the new post office site. After considerable controversy council decided that the town convey to the Dominion Government the road allowance on condition that the latter build a four-foot walk along the eastern extremity of the lot and cause to be removed the telephone poles therefrom without cost to the municipality.

Mayor Long also issued a proclamation declaring Monday, August 3rd at Civic Holiday. Council then adjourned to meet again at the Public Library on the evening of Monday, August 10th at 8 o'clock.

NEW HELICOPTER PLANE INVENTED

New Westminster Inventor Claims Machine Suitable For All Practical Purposes

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., July 30 (CP).—A new type of helicopter flying machine is undergoing final tests by its inventor, John Hess, here. The inventor claims it is the first successful helicopter for all practical purposes; that it can be lifted and lowered vertically in the air.

During the past 15 years Mr. Hess has studied airplanes and done a great deal of building and experimenting. He stated tests of his latest plane had been successful, and that the machine could be kept in the air as long as he wished.

The plane weighs a ton and is powered with a 210 horse-power motor. There are two propellers, one in front and the other at the rear, revolving on vertical shafts.

Each propeller has four blades and is shaped like an umbrella. The forward shaft may be thrown into a horizontal position to drive the plane forward once it is in the air.

The secrets of the machine are well guarded. It is the third helicopter made by Mr. Hess. The first was a model and later he experimented with a 100 horse-power motored machine.

Appeal Right Granted On Reform Validity

LONDON, July 30—(CP Cable)—The Judical Committee of the Privy Council yesterday granted the petition of the Canadian government for leave to appeal to that body concerning the validity of several acts dealing with labor and employment passed by the Bennett government last year.

Their Lordships did not request counsel for the appellants to present arguments, granting leave to appeal on all the petitions brought by the Dominion. Lord Lanesburgh said there was no opposition to allowing the appeal. He said their Lordships thought the whole matter was eminently proper for an appeal.

Thorpe Admits Leaving Daughter With Actress For Influence On Mother

ADMITS ONE "TUSSLE"

LOS ANGELES, July 30—(AP)—Broken wide open by questions about immorality and the story of a bathroom brawl, the battle of red haired Mary Astor, screen beauty, to regain custody of her baby girl, raged furiously.

She is attempting to break the court order giving her divorced husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, guardianship of four year old Marylyn Thorpe.

To prevent certain portions of the evidence from going into the record, opposing lawyers met in an 11th-hour conference. It failed.

"I hoped to protect Mary," Dr. Thorpe said before the night session opened. "I'm sorry for what's going to come out."

The result was that the first hour's testimony left a packed audience, studied with motion picture people, goggle-eyed and gasping.

Dr. Thorpe was the first witness.

Within five minutes he reported sharply—to a question of why he had allowed Marylyn to remain with Miss Astor after the divorce—"Because I thought and hoped she would be a good influence on her mother."

Miss Astor's attorney was cross-examining the doctor. He drew the admission that the movie star paid the bills for her upbringing, although Dr. Thorpe had legal custody of the baby.

Thorpe's Answer

In her complaint Miss Astor charged she was coerced into giving Dr. Thorpe an uncontested divorce when he threatened to "scandalize" her publicly. His answer was that she was guilty of "gross immoral conduct."

The attorney, Roland Rich Woolley, then began digging into the story of Dr. Thorpe's relations with other women, in the months after the divorce last year.

He asked about temporary nurses the father said he employed for the baby when her regular nurse was having her day out, and wanted to know "if, on frequent occasions, they didn't stay in the house overnight?"

"Never," said Dr. Thorpe. "They never did."

"Do you know a woman named Norma Taylor?"

"Yes."

"Didn't she sometimes take care of Marylyn? That is, prepare her dinner and put her to bed?"

"She might have helped me when I did those things," the witness said. "She used to come out and have dinner with me. But she wasn't a nurse and she didn't take care of the baby."

"Sometimes Miss Taylor would stay overnight, wouldn't she?"

"She never did."

"All right then, it's true that she frequently occupied the same bedroom with you, whether she stayed all night or not, isn't it?"

"Norma Taylor never occupied any room or bedroom, in my house."

"A Little Disturbance"

"Now, didn't you have some trouble with Miss Taylor on one occasion," Worley went on, "a little disturbance at the house?"

Dr. Thorpe replied that one night, late last year, he and the girl had "tussled."

Dr. Thorpe said he could not remember the exact details, then he looked up and replied:

"Yes, I do recall that she slipped away from me and ran upstairs. She tried to lock herself in, but I got through and grabbed her. We fell down in the tussle."

"And your baby saw all this, didn't she?"

Absolutely not," the witness answered.

He then was asked about Mrs. Lillian Lawton Miles, who Miss Astor has charged was his wife when she (Mary Astor) married him.

"She sometimes stayed all night with you, didn't she?"

"She never did. Never."

HEADLINES BRING NEWSPAPERS FINE

Caption "Attempt On King's Life" Costs London Firms Over $5,250

LONDON, July 30 (CP) — Two newspapers and a news reel company were fined a total of £1,050 (about $5,250) and about £1,000 in costs for publishing captions on July 16 worded: "An Attempt on the King's Life," or "The King: Assassination Attempt."

That was the day that George Andrew McMahon, a spectator at a military parade headed by the King on Constitution Hill, drew a revolver as the sovereign passed by on his horse. He says he did not intend to harm the King, but threw the weapon into the street as a "protest" against police "persecution"

The defendants were charged with contempt of court or prejudicing the case against McMahon before he was committed to trial accused of producing a weapon with "intent to alarm His Majesty."

An attorney for Gaumont British, the motion picture distributor, tendered "sincere and humble apologies" for a poster exhibited outside a cinema, and said the caption had been changed from "Attempted Assassination" to "Dramatic Return to Buckingham Palace" at 263 motion picture houses in England.

The editor and proprietors of The Evening News and the editor and proprietors of The Daily Express each were fined £500 and two Gaumont British representatives were fined a total of £50.

STABBED BY FORK

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 30.—(CP)—Eric Locke, eight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Locke, South Mountain, was in critical condition in hospital here today. A falling pitchfork stuck between his shoulder blades and pierced a lung as the boy played at his home Tuesday. The fork caused a three-inch wound and had to be pulled out.

Parents Demand Teacher Quit School Because Pupils Not Whipped Enough

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 30—(CP)—Anthony Munley sought a transfer from the little school where he was taught for 40 years years because of parental objection to his philosphy of sparing the rod.

The pupils in the little one-room schoolhouse at Langan Settlement "ain't teached right," one of the witnesses testified at a Pittston Township school board hearing late last night.

Munley, 60 years old, sat through the hearing, apparently dejected by the demand from parents of 11 of his 16 pupils that he be transferred.

Then he told the board if that was the way the parents felt, he would prefer to be transferred.

Leo Urbanski, father of a fourth grade pupil, who said he had "nothing against Munley," added he had to send his wife "to the school with a strap herself when he wouldn't whip my children."

Several of the parents said unless Munley were transferred, they would not send their children to the school next term. The complaint that culminated in the hearing stated that the lack of corporal punishment retarded the educational progress of the children.

OLD MORSE LINE NOW ABANDONED

Strung 36 Years Ago Over Chasms And Forest Of British Columbia

VANCOUVER, July 29.—(CP). — A slender wire of 400 miles long strung 36 years ago over chasms and through forests in British Columbia' northland, will no longer click out morse signals.

The ground line of Canadian Government Telegraphs over the Hazelton to Telegraph Creek link in the Ashcroft, B. C.-Dawson, Y. T. circuit went out last spring in furious floods. Present prospects are it will never be completed. Short-wave radio, which supplemented the service, took over the full task.

The line began with an idea in the '60's—communication with Europe via Siberia—but was not completed till 1901. The notion of a land wire to Europe was doomed by the successful laying of the Atlantic cable, but some wire for it already had been laid in Canada. Portions of this were used in construction of an Indian bridge, which spanned Bulkley Canyon until a swollen flood pucked this familiar landmark into the Skeena River.

When the last message was tapped over th famous line through the wilderness, more than 35 years of hard work became Canadian history. As the staccato echoes of the Morse code faded from log walls of little isolated stations, the old telegraph trail was dead.

In bunks where since 1901 slept in lonely quiet after long vigils, pack rats will find a home.

Chipmunks will make merry on telegraph tables over which have been relayed messages of fortune and failure, hopes and death, prize ring champions and world disaster.

But the job was finished and well done. While willows overgrow the old trail and telegraph poles rot their way into history, messages will flash by radio over unseen waves far overhead.

Fourth Man Nabbed For Wiarton Robbery

OWEN SOUND, Ont., July 30. — (CP).—Fourth man to be arrested in connection with the safe robbery at the Brewery Warehouse in Wiarton last Monday, Adrian Vanderyatt wastaken into custody here early today, Inspector John Miller of the Provincial police reported.

Vanderyatt, about 32 years old, was arrested in a rooming house and was in bed when police arrived. He was believed to have come from a hiding place in the Dornoch swamp and to have reached the house at midnight.

Toronto, Owen Sound police and ture, surrounding the house before the arrest was made.

Others arrested this week were: Melville Campbell, Noel Charon, taken in Toronto and George Maxwell, who surrendered near Dornoch.

Expansion Days!

ZELLERS STORE NEWS

Expansion Days!

EXTRA! EXTRA!

ZELLERS IS GROWING

Shop At ZELLERS It Pays

EXPANSION DAYS Start To-morrow and Will Last for Several Weeks! Every Day a Hubbub of Excitement!

ALREADY CARPENTERS ARE BUSY WITH HAMMERS AND NAILS!

You know how some youngsters seem suddenly to grow out of their skins! We feel we are one of those youngsters. Only a short two years ago, Zellers was a new name and a new store in Peterborough. In two years, thanks to the patronage of thousands of shoppers, we have grown too large for our store.

"Something will have to be done about it," we decided when we saw our rapid growth. And something is being done! To make it easier and even more pleasant for you to shop and for us to serve you, we have embarked on an Expansion program.

A few days ago, workmen became busy on our Main Floor with hammers, nails, saws. The old elevator shaft, which you have probably noticed many times, has been removed —to make our Main Floor more spacious.

And now, those same workmen are busy on the Second Floor, removing partitions between our Housewares, Piece Goods and Dry Goods sections. At this stage of the work, the place is in a bit of a mess . . . but wait till it is finished! Our Second Floor will be a thing of Beauty and a Joy to all comers!

Despite the hubbub and excitement, business will go on as usual. In fact, we predict it will be faster even than usual; for during Expansion Days there will be many an unexpected "plum" for the thrifty to pick.

Rather than shift considerable merchandise about—and have it become soiled in the process—it will be SOLD OUT at "Sell-'em-out-quick" Prices! If you want to be one of those who picks the plums, make up your mind to visit ZELLERS every day!

Shoppers Will Reap Savings

Prices Will Be Reduced to Move Merchandise!

Every indication is that we shall be several weeks enlarging our store. During that time, a great deal of merchandise will have to be MOVED, to make way for busy workmen.

Here is how we propose to move it! Instead of taking goods from counters and putting it into a stockroom, it will be REDUCED IN PRICE, to tempt our customers to buy quickly.

Watch how your buying power will expand during ZELLERS' EXPANSION DAYS! Look for markdowns daily — and reap savings!

Automatic Barrier For Rail Crossings

BOSTON, July 29.—(AP).—An automatic barrier that warns motorists at grade railway crossings, and if the warning is not heeded, stops them, is being tried out in Massachusetts, the State Department of Public Works announced last night.

The barrier is flush with the road, under ordinary conditions, ad when a warning bell rings as a train enters the control area it slowly rises. Flashing red lights and reflectors also warn the motorist.

Set some distance from the tracks the device then rises four inches, pauses 10 seconds, and then rises to 10 inches. Should a hurrying motorist ignore it, a curved surface throws the car upwards and backwards.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL FOR BELLEVILLE

Will Be Used To Heat City Schools Board Decides

BELLEVILLE, July 30—For the third consecutive year, Canadian coal will be used to heat local schools, it was decided at a meeting of the supply committee of the Board of Education. Seven hundred tons of Nova Scotia coal were authorized to be purchased from Harry Smith, Belleville dealer. The price per ton was set at $5.95.

A small quantity of United States coal will also be purchased for Queen Mary Public School because of a furnace condition peculiar to the school. Repeated complaints had been received from West Hill residents regarding the soot from the school chimneys, with the result that smokeless coal is being purchased.

The coal will be shipped via rail, it was specified by the committee. Hitherto the Nova Scotia coal had been brought in by water, but it was felt that increased efficiency could be obtained by having the coal brought in by railway.

LAST TRIBUTE PAID HAROLD KETCHEN

Knox Church Is Crowded At Havelock For Popular Young Man's Funeral

HAVELOCK, July 30.—Fitting tribute to the high esteem in which he was held was paid Harold Kindred Ketchen who was laid to rest in Maple Grove cemetery Wednesday afternoon. His passing on Monday morning after some six months illness was not unexpected yet the whole community felt a real loss and only in his twenty-ninth year, he was beloved by young and old alike with whom he was equally popular.

Headed by T. P. Lancaster, his employer and honorary president of the Albion Club the boys marched fifty strong from the home of Harold's sister, Mrs. Wm. A. Copp, to Knox Presbyterian Church where services were held and the church packed to the doors by sorrowing friends and relatives.

As a member of Havelock's first midget lacrosse team fifteen years ago, he was an all around outstanding player, and played on the senior teams against such outstanding teams as the Oxford and Cambridge University crews making a tour of the Dominion and the St. Simons of Toronto, and although small of stature played brilliantly. He entered the office of the Havelock Standard and after a few years was forced to drop newspaper work on account of his eyes and he went to South Bend Indiana where he sold insurance until five years ago when he returned to help his father in business here. He relieved the staff at the Standard office on various occasions and took over Frank McLaughlin's position when ill health forced him to resign eighteen months ago.

At different times he played box lacrosse and was always a keen follower of both amateur and professional sports.

He was president of the Young Peoples Society of Knox Presbyterian Church and past president of the Albion Club, and helped promote hockey, baseball and lacrosse among the younger boys of the village who will miss his words of encouragement.

Besides his parents Mr. and Mrs. James W. Ketchen he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Wm. A. Copp and Dora, three brothers, Frank, Clinton of South Bend and Ronald at home.

Pall-bearers were six close friends and fellow club workers, Messrs. Clarence L. Spencer, Randall Wood, Everard Chiles, Donald A. Mathison, Lorne (Becky) Jack, and Frederick L. McKenzie.

PRAIRIES PARCHED LANCASTER CLAIMS

Peterborough Member Returns From Trip Through To Pacific Coast

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, July 30. — T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., and Mrs. Lancaster have just returned from a delightful month's vacation in the western provinces, where they visited friends all the way to Vancouver, B.C. and report a most interesting time.

Farmers about this district would not be inclined to grumble if they had the opportunity of seeing the hundreds of miles of parched farm lands in the prairie provinces of the Dominion. But the ever optimistic folk of that section still hope for a "crop" next year and this continues year after year. For as many as eight years certain areas there have been without a harvest.

How they stay on and on, and where they get the funds and exceeding great courage to remain there is still a great wonder to the member for Peterborough county.

BETHANY

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Brampton called on Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Driver on Tuesday.

Havelock To Fill Teaching Vacancies

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, July 30.—A special meeting of the Havelock Public School Board has been called for Friday evening, July 31st, when it wil be necessary to fill two vacancies in the teaching staff, caused by the marriage on Saturday of Miss Marion R. Inkster of the third book room and the serious illness of Miss Emma Massie of the second book room.

Misses Marguerite L. Roche, who passed the Peterborough Normal School's work recently, and Miss Gena M. McNeeley, teacher at Cordova for the past two years, had their applications in at an early regular meeting of the board, before it was known there would be vacancies and it is thought there will be numerous applications for the two vacancies.

him to go west and attend celebrations in connection with Vancouver's jubilee, Mr. King stated. The ministers were coming back soon, when it was proposed to take up several important matters standing over until their return. He was going to Geneva in September for the meeting of the League of Nations, so a visit to the west appeared almost impossible.

Mr. King referred to the fact that Senior Castro, minister for Uruguay to Cuba, is here discussing trade matters with Canadian officials. Discussions were in the preliminary stage, he said.

The Prime Minister will leave tomorrow for Quebec where, as a guest of the governor-general, he will assist in welcoming President Roosevelt to Canada. He will stay with His Excellency at the citadel until Saturday.

King Edward Receives Debs

A smashing breach of royal precedent marked the first court held at the recent garden party by King Edward VIII. For the first time a British King is photographed during the ceremony of receiving the ladies, 11of them Canadians, in what we call a "presentation at court." Note that the King wears an ordinary lounge suit, while the lady being presented wears white, the mourning period for the late King George having expired the day before this presentation.

At Marble Cliff Point new registrations include Mr. and Mrs. William Carson and family, Toronto; Miss Bertha Graham, Toronto; and A. V. Moyer, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Dances are now being held on Friday evenings in the pavilion.

Bass are biting well and a Ohio party got six good specimens on Thursday, three of which weighed over three pounds each.

ARRESTED IN CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP)—The Bureau of Investigation announced to-day the arrest late yesterday near Fowler, Calif., of Tony Roma, 50, wanted by Royal Canadian Mounted Police on charges of conspiracy to traffic in narcotics at Toronto.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the bureau, said Roma denied his identity, but it was definitely established by fingerprints.

WEDDINGS

GREENLEY—INKSTER

TRENT RIVER, July 30.—A quiet but pretty wedding took place Saturday, July 25 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville when Ruby Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Inkster of Trent River was united in marriage to Phillip T. Greenley, son of Mrs. Greenley and the late D. H. Greenley of Havelock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was gowned in a white silk crepe ensemble with small white turban and carried Johanna Hill roses and baby's breath and was attended by Miss Edith Greenley of Toronto and Miss Bessie Inkster of Montreal. Both attendants were dressed in white and carried delphinium and premier roses.

The groom was supported by Mr. Albert Inkster, brother of the bride. After a wedding luncheon at the Queen's hotel the happy couple left for the Adirondacks, New York and Atlantic City. The bride travelled in white with red coat and white accessories, upon their return they will reside at Havelock. Immediate relatives attended the wedding.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1936

New Air Service: LOS ANGELES—A transport plane, constructed to pioneer a new trans-Canada air service, was ready here today for its take-off to British Columbia. Major Donald R. MacLaren, world war ace with 48 enemy planes to his credit, and Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, pilot for Lincoln Ellsworth on his Antarctic trip, arrived today to fly the plane to Vancouver.

CATTLE BREEDERS VOTE OVER 81 P.C. RESTRICTED AREA

2,021 Sign Petition Of 2,486 Owners In Peterborough County

ATTRACTS WIDE INTEREST

Of the 2846 cattle owners in Peterborough county, 2021 signed the petition for the establishment of a restricted area for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. This is 81.29 per cent.

Farmers in the townships of Burleigh and Anstruther headed the list with a percentage of 92, only seven of the cattle owners in that section declining to sign the petition. Belmont-Methuen was second with 91% and Asphodel third with 90 per cent.

These three townships comprise the major section of east Peterboro and it will be of general interest throughout the county that sentiment in that locality strongly supported the movement for the test of herds for the elimination of cattle that are found to be affected with tuberculosis.

According to the policy of the Canadian government two-thirds of the cattle owners in the county were required to declare themselves in favor of the restricted area plan. This is 66 2-3 per cent.

Tabulated Returns.

The result of the canvas as compiled by A. D. Runions, local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, were announced today as follows:—

	Number Cattle	Number Signing	P. C. In Favor
Burleigh and Anstruther	89	32	92
Belmont and Methuen	305	279	91
Asphodel	252	228	90
Dummer	230	192	83

Canvas Begun Feb. 1

The proposal to ask the government to include Peterboro in the restricted areas of the province was first urged by J. B. Nelson as county representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and from that seeding of sentiment opinion of farmers throughout the county gradually swung behind the idea. A. D. Runions gave new impetus to the movement which was assumed by the Peterboro Livestock Improvement Association as a major propect. Their appeal to the county council for approval produced a resolution in June 1935 which in effect authorized the canvass of all cattle owners in the county that was begun on February 1 last.

"I think this is perhaps the greatest forward step the farmers of Peterboro county have taken," Mr. Runions said today. "A great deal of credit should be given to the members of the county council and the Livestock Improvement Association. Particular mention should be made of the actual work of the large number of canvassers who interviewed all cattle owners in the county. Obviously this was a big undertaking. The assistance of township clerks was a big help. The job is completed, and I think the great majority of farmers in the county are well satisfied with the results."

The next step in the restricted area plan is the testing of all herds and this will not be begun until 1937 at the earliest, Mr. Runions said. The work in Northumberland is not yet completed. Durham is also in line, and a petition is being circulated in Victoria county.

Water Pumps Help Fight Bush Fire Near Indian River

More than 500 men and boys fought all night when a bush fire in Douro township threatened to spread. It was checked in time. Fireman Virgil Carr (1), of the Peterborough fire department, manning the motor pump loaned to fight the fire by Hugh Campbell, general manager of Canadian Johnston Motors, Limited. The pump was mounted on a boat in the Indian river and threw 77,000 gallons of water on the flames, which menaced field crops and property in the Indian river district. Pumper, 1,000 feet of city fire hose, and Fireman Carr were transported to the scene of the bush fire by J. J. Duffus, M.P. STUBS OF TICKETS FOR PETERBORO 'EX' CARS ARE SEALED

Duplicate Numbers Of All Tickets For Chevrolet Cars Locked Up

SOME ENQUIRIES

People who have begun to collect tickets which they expect to produce the four Chevrolet automobiles at the Peterborough Exhibition have been asking questions about the method of distributing these tickets and other incidentals.

Who gives out the tickets?—Merchants in the city and district who desire to do so.

How can a person get them?—Any person making a purchase at any of the stores where the tickets are given out may ask for and receive free one ticket with each purchase.

How will people who may have a number of tickets, if they hold the winning number, be able to present them for a car?—

Each person who may have a number of tickets should list them on a piece of paper in rotation. The number will be posted in front of the grand stand and at the secretary's office each night, as well as broadcast through the public address system. Five minutes will be allowed to claim the car before another ticket is drawn. The person holding a winning ticket must be on the grounds and make the claim personally. No merchant or any one distributing tickets may win a car on any of his own tickets. If he makes purchases in other stores he is entitled to tickets from them.

Where are the stubs?—The stubs are already in a sealed receptacle. This is to ensure all stubs being returned. There is no chance of any one holding a ticket and no stub in the box.

EBBING OF THE YEAR.

Main street weather comment today: there's a touch of fall in the air.

ONE FOR TOMMY HOLYMAN.

News from the head of Clear Lake credits Tommy Holyman with one of the biggest muskies caught in that lake this season. The exact weight could not be vouched for, and adherence to truth forbids conjecture. But, it seems to have been a hefty one.

FIND RARE INSECT.

While spending the half-holiday outdoors, Mrs. L. F. Spriggs and Miss M. Morgan found a peculiar insect, closely resembling a twig in appearance, out at Kawartha Park. The insect was identified by F. J. A. Morris, as a rare species of walking stick insect, so named from its resemblance to a tree twig.

TO ADDRESS KIWANIS.

"Language—Good and Bad" is announced as the topic of an address to be delivered by G. B. VanBlaricorn, editor of Canadian Lumber Magazine, who is slated as guest speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon at Empress Hotel Friday. The speaker is a former Peterborough boy, who was at one time associated on the old Peterborough Review with the late Frank Dobbin. He is well-known here.

JUSTICES PRESIDE.

Justice of the Peace S. R. Armstrong and V. Eastwood presided on the bench in magistrate's court this morning, when five local young men entered pleas of "not guilty" to charges of unlawfully consuming liquor. Hearings against the quintette were adjourned for a week. Three transients, who said they had hopped off a freight train here shortly before they were arrested (and whose appearance bore out the truth of their statements) were each fined $10 and 75 cents costs, with option of 7-days in the county gaol. They took the gaol terms. Max Fredenburg charged with aggravated assault against John Cook, 63, of Otonabee Township was remanded to next Tuesday without election or plea. Bail was set in the sum of $1,000.

IMPROVING CONDITIONS.

The present state of business in his own line of professional work is better now than at any time in the past seven years, according to Fred L. Roy, local photographer. He declared, "orders for portrait sittings are good; commercial work particularly good, while our amateur finishing department is finding a great impetus from The Examiner amateur photographer's contest". On Wednesday Mr. Roy was up at Stony Lake, making special orders for J. M. R. Fairbairn, chief engineer Canadian Pacific Railway, who is holidaying at Juniper; and for W. G. Morrow who is in residence at his summer home "Oakdene". Pictures taken for the latter included shots of Mr. Fairburn's new motor boat "Nancy" clipping along at 30 m.p.h.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAMES CULKEEN

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30.—The funeral of Mrs. James Culkeen, whose death occurred on Monday, took place from the family residence, concession 8, Seymour West on Wednesday morning and was largely attended. Mrs. Culkeen whose maiden name was Louisa Hicks, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Hicks of Cramahe township and was in her 75th year.

She is survived by two sons, Joseph of Kilworthy, Ontario, Anthony at home and four daughters, Mrs. Henry Desbarbieux, and Mrs. F. Phillipsof Campbellford and Agatha and Irene at home. Her husband predeceased her some three years ago. There also survive one brother, Thomas Hicks of Seymour and two sisters, Mrs. William Young of Kilworthy and Mrs. A. Lemyre of New York.

Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father J. V. McAuley at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Campbellford. The pallbearers were: Messrs Richard Cooke, John O'Sullivan, Henry McKelvie, James Wilson, Thomas Doyle and Patrick Keenan. The remains were laid to rest in St. Mary's Cemetery.

City Lifting Rails On McDonnel Street

Street railway rails on McDonnel Street were lifted Wednesday by employees of the Board of Works who are engaged in smoothing out the surface. This was one of the last links of the old street railway to end upon the scrap heap. It was extended into the west end by the Peterboro Radial Railway Company to provide a service for residents of that section of the city, and also to eliminate the long walk to Jackson Park. The company used to provide attractions in the park near the main gate, including some of the first motion pictures to be shown in this district. Skating was a winter attraction on the south side of the road. The embankment of the circular rink are the only remnant of that enterprise and the long toboggan slide that was operated in conjunction with it.

For Friday, July 31

Despite certain small anxieties or perplexities this may prove to be an eventful and surprising day, with a rather radical upheaval of affairs involving environs, interests and associates and having a very important and far-reaching effect on future life. There may be much excitement and commotion in connection with this abrupt and alluring program.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of sudden change and upheaval, affecting the future, its affairs, fortunes and destiny. It will be a very inviting, profitable and welcome change, bringing personal gratification and happiness as well as business prestige, probably in strange environs.

A child born on this day may be adventurous, romantic, original, inventive and independent in thought and action. He is apt to be personally popular and may attain prominence in the public eye.

GARDENER AT GALT FINDS DEER PESTS

Herd Of 20 Already Eaten 5,000 Cauliflowers, 3,000 Cabbage In Night Raids

GALT, Ont., July 30. —(CP). — Deer are so plentiful on the farm A. Fletcher, Glenmorris gardener, that they have become a nuisance.

Twice this year Mr. Fletcher has planted his garden only to have the deer on nightly raids clean it out. He estimates they have eaten 5,000 cauliflowers, 3,000 late cabbage, two plantings of chinese jettuce and considerable celery and corn.

He has appllied to the agricultural department for help in protecting his property.

The first time he saw the deer, three years ago, there were eight of them. On Tuesday he saw 20 of them. They live in the bush and swamp on the back of his farm.

Twenty-five war blinded men held an encampmeat at Little Gaddesden, England.

Nursery For Trees Proposed For City

Establishment of a tree nursery has been revived as a project of the city council with the probability that it will be proceeded with this fall. Aldermen have proposed that property at the sewage disposal plant or at the Queen Mary hospital be used for this purpose. Its advantage has been emphasized in the supply of elms, maples, beeches and other trees which would be used for transplanting to city streets and parks. The idea has been suggested from time to time, but it has invariably been shuffled into the background. Aldermen Hamilton and Stocker have been advocating that a beginning be made this year. City Engineer Parsons who has made a rather extensive study of trees believes that a nursery could be started at small cost to the city and it is likely that the subject will receive early consideration by the council as a whole.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

"He'd undertake to prove, by force
Of argument, a man's no horse.
He'd prove a buzzard is no fowl,
And that a Lord may be an owl,
A calf an Alderman, a goose a Justice,
And rooks, Committee-men or Trustees."

—Butler.

Dear Friends:

Have you ever been asked to subscribe to magazines, or to help a poor fellow to work his way through college? Now don't all speak at once.

But the arguments they use are getting more ludicrous every day. And how they can tell you that you don't have to PAY for these magazines. Oh no, all you have to do is this or that, the paper in question is absolutely free.

One of them quoted to me the suggestion of the Hon. Mr. So and So, in very reverent tones, that each of us should spend twenty-five cents, but that was a horse of a different color.

Now I know how hard it is to earn a living these days, but when you have done and are still continuing to do the best you can to aid or prevent unemployment, these things can be very aggravating to say the least of it.

I wonder what sort of a figure I would cut if I were to go out and try to work my way through college? Or you? What do you say that we try it? At least we would know all the arguments to use, we would tell them that they had to pay NOTHING, we were giving them a gift.

But what I really like is to be in the throes of making a pie, or with the contents of a cupboard surrounding me, with me as the island, and have a brush salesman who has just had a lesson in salesmanship come along, and spiel the whole lesson off to me.

No use telling him, (when I get a word in edgewise) that I already have back brushes, tooth brushes, brushes for the walls, or ceiling, for bannister, stairs, floors, for cleaning combs, for everything and anything that brushes are used for.

He has learned his lesson, and by gosh he is going to see that I learn it too, even if he gets purple in the face doing it.

And the one's who sell gadgets to save gas, or to save runs in hose, or to blacken your shoes so that they will never need to be polished again. What do YOU do with them after you have seen that they do not work?

Some people send them to the auction rooms, for some other one to be fooled at a lower price. Mine go in the garbage. What the housewife needs more than anything else, is a course in sales-resistance. When she has got the family with all their early morning grouches off to work, and then given a sigh of relief that now she can get started on the work of the day, she forgets that the salesmen have just started on their rounds, and are slowly but surely headed her way.

So housewives, let us organize, so that we can be prepared for the plague of salesman who are waiting to swoop on us, as soon as the door closes on those who have gone to school or work.

I had a girl who came night after night last winter, trying to sell me a wizened pumpkin, or a wilted bunch of flowers. She was well-dressed, and why she did it, I do not know. In the Spring, she came with about four pussy-willows.

Have I started you laughing? That is why I wrote this.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Dear Pilgrim:

It was nice of you to write so soon, and I fully agree with you that a sense of humour eases the tension immensely. We do seem to take everything so seriously don't we? I shall use part of your letter as a quotation, so that it will be a help to others.

You can take my article as a more complete answer to your letter, and thank you so much for the poetry, some of which I know, and I shall not publish your letter. In fact after I have copied the part I mean, it shall be destroyed. Thank you for all your nice comments and do come again.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Dear "Easter Lily":

What a nice letter you sent me. Yes I do think we might have some very nice talks if we knew each other. I agree with you that we are not thankful enough for the blessings we have had.

Recently our Mayor asked that prayers be said in the churches for rain, and we had rain. Doesn't that show that there is a God, and that He hears us if we have faith? Of course sceptical folks might say that it was just a co-incidence, but why didn't it rain before?

Thank you for all your nice comments, and I hope you continue to find inspiration and interest in my column. Do write again.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Dear Mrs. M. J. C. (from out of town):

Thank you for such a nice letter, and for the poems enclosed. I shall copy them and return them to you at an early date. It was nice of you not to want me to run out of quotations. Why not let me know of something you would like me to write about? No, I shall not print your letter, so you can write in perfect safety, knowing that no one but myself will ever see your letters, and they are destroyed after I answer them.

I am so glad you like my articles so much, and that you are making a scrap book. I often wish I had done so. Thank you, and do write again.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Croll Orders Probe Scarborough Police

TORONTO, July 30—(CP)—Hon. David Croll, acting attorney-general, ordered an inquiry by provincial police into complaints that Scarborough municipal police treated with indifference a reported holdup 10 days ago.

Miss Sybil Croll, Toronto, not related to the minister said she stopped her car between Toronto and Whitby when she saw a man lying on the road apparently injured. He jumped to his feet when she got out of the car, pointed a gun, took her purse and fled. Miss Croll said she reported the affair to a Scarboro constable and was told that that sort of thing happened all the time and there was little could be done about it.

NEW STOMACH TREATMENT GETS QUICK RESULTS

It takes only about 5 minutes for Bisma-Rex, the new delicious-tasting antacid powder, to bring you relief from stomach agonies. And its relief is lasting, too! Thousands are finding a new freedom from the slavery of indigestion and other stomach troubles. ELLIOTT'S DRUG STORE has Bisma-Rex at 75c and $1.50. Get a bottle of it today. 'Phone 15 and have it delivered.

Fashion Service

Here's a flattering model for youthful figures that has a slenderizing effect for the heavier type.

It is simple enough for town wear yet charming enough for your most important luncheons or afternoons at bridge.

The cool cape-like sleeves that cut in one with the shoulders, areeasily handled even by an amateur sewer. The gored skirt, besides giving you elegant height, assures snugness through the hips. Two ample plaits at the front, give width for easy stride.

A pastel tub silk or crush-resistant linen, sheer cotton print or shantung are perfect mediums.

Style No. 2742 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch material.

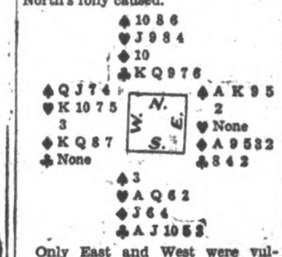
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard

"Teacher to Teachers"

STOP PUSHING

IF OPPONENTS are willing to stop short of a game which they can make, or worse yet, if opponents are willing to stop short of a slam which they can make, it is the worst sort of folly to push them into the contract that a prudent oppent declines to venture. very canny player, prompt to take advantage of any opposing slip, while East was a cautious bidder, inclined to underbid. Note what North's folly caused.



Only East and West were vulnerable when South dealt. Bidding went: South, 1-Club, first showing his longer suit; West, doubled, ready to strongly push partner's response of any one of the three remaining suits; North, 2-Clubs, knowing that East would not respond over the intervening bid unless he was strong; East, 2-Spades; South 3-Hearts, now showing his shorter suit; West, 3-Spades, well knowing North's tendency to push, thus affording West on opportunity to bid game in case East passed; North, 4-Hearts; East, 5-Diamonds, to West's surprise; South was wise enough to pass; West 5-Spades, where bidding would have ended had North passed; North, 6-Clubs; West, 6-Diamonds, which East would only have shifted into 6-Spades, had North passed; North, 6-Hearts; East, 6-Spades; West, 7-Spades, being void of clubs and knowing from opponents bidding that East must be void of hearts. Of course South doubled. He would not have doubled 6-Spades, knowing how canny West was.

The opening lead was the Ace of clubs. Dummy ruffed. Declarer led a low heart from dummy, and ruffed. Dummy ruffed a club. Dummy led a low diamond and declarer won with his Ace. Declarer's last club was led, and ruffed. The Q of spades was led. Declarer used his last low trump to ruff a heart. Two rounds of winning spades pulled all opposing trumps. Two hearts were discarded from dummy. The K and Q of diamonds won the two next tricks, pulling the last opposing card of that suit. Declarer's 9 of diamonds overtook dummy's 8, leaving East's 5 of diamonds to win the thirteenth trick, fulfilling the grand slam contract readily.

An opening trump or heart lead would have made things easier than any other opening lead. An opening lead of South's lowest diamond might have defeated the contract. To make the grand slam declarer would have needed to ruff two hearts and have dummy ruff the second and third leads of clubs with its J and Q, so that declarer could avertake the 7 of spades with his 9, to pull trumps. It is probable that declarer would not have thought of this odd trump play.

CEREMONY FOR BECK.

TORONTO, July 30 (CP).—The memory of Sir Adam Beck, founder of Hydro, will be honored by a ceremony at the Beck monument, Queen Street and University Avenue, on the 11th anniversary of his death, Aug. 15. City Clerk James Somers was instructed today to make necessary arrangements for the memorial service, to be held at noon that day.

Mr. J. M. R. Fairbairn, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, Mrs. Fairbairn and their two daughters are at Juniper Island for their annual vacation in this district.

A number of Peterborough visitors were present at the annual Hiawatha regatta yesterday and enjoyed the aquatic spectacle despite cool breezes and a sprinkling of rain. Some from the city and from cottages in the Hiawatha district took part in the jolly dance in the village which concluded the day.

Travelling in automobiles gaily decorated with streamers, sixty members of the London Life Insurance staff in the Peterborough district, accompanied by their families and friends, journeyed to South Beach for their annual picnic today Many centers in Central Ontario were represented in the gathering.

The Evening Branch of the St. John's Women's Auxiliary sponsored an enjoyable miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Sylvia Vollans at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collis, Water street. Mrs. Collis acted as hostess to the twenty members of the Branch and friends who joined in the shower. A fine selection of useful gifts was tendered Miss Vollans. Games were enjoyed and dainty refreshments were served. Miss Vollans is treasurer of the Branch.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Harvey and their daughter, Marion, were hosts to fifty young people at a jolly treasure hunt and weiner roast at their summer cottage, Chemong Park, last evening. The gathering was divided into groups of ten for the hunt and a devious route, marked by elusive arrows, led through the surrounding countryside to the well hidden treasure. A merry chase was enjoyed before the treasure was revealed. A weiner roast at the cottage concluded the evening.

Miscellaneous Shower Held at Chemong Lake.

Music was provided by Lloyd Boddison.

Fellow Workers Honour Departing Companion.

Fellow employees in the traffic department of the Bell Telephone Company joined in honouring Miss Sylvia Vollans, whose wedding is to take place this Saturday. A beautiful occasional table was presented the bride-elect.

Thirty members of the staff were present. A short address was read and Miss Vollans replied appropriately. Refreshments concluded the pleasant event. Miss Vollans is making her departure after six years' service in the traffic department.

Presentation by A.Y.P.A. To Rev. Walter J. Gilling.

Marking his pending departure from St. John's Parish where he has been assistant to the rector for the past twelve months or more, the Rev. Walter J. Gilling was on Wednesday honored with a presentation by the members of St. John's Branch of the A.Y.P.A. Edward McDonald, president of the organization asked Mr. Gilling's acceptance of a wrist watch at a picnic gathering held by fifty members of the branch at Cedarlee Park. The Rev. W. P. Robertson, rector spoke of his brief association with Mr. Gilling after the presentation had been made, and wished him success in the new sphere of labor to which he is going as curate of St. Simon's Church, Toronto. The function was an unqualified success, largely due to the preliminary work put in by Miss Florence Hutchinson, convenor of the general committee, and The Misses Florence Lemmings and Hilda Phillips, and Messrs. Ed. McDonald and Gordon Clegg. Among guests at the picnic was the Rev. Fred Jackson, a former Peterborough boy who is vacationing at the home of his parents here. The picnic originally planned for last week was postponed until Wednesday evening of this week, owing to the death of Bill Coleman, a member of the branch.

LAD. HEART SEWED LOSES TO DEATH

Victim Of Auto Handle Lives 13 Days With 13 Stitches In Life Pump

CORNWALL, July 30. —Thirteen days after surgeons performed a rare operation in an effort to save his life, Wilfrid Masse, 11, died late yesterday afternoon at Hotel Dieu Hospital. The boy, whose heart was pierced by a sharp pointed door handle of an automobile July 16, was reported to be holding his own at noon today, but grew steadily weaker during the afternoo nand did not respond to desperate measures to keep him alive.

The boy's life had hung in the balance from the time Dr. J. A. Hurteau, Cornwall, inserted seven stitches to close a wound 1¾ inches long and an eighth inch deep on his heart.

The door handle had pierced the chest, breaking four ribs and tearing the pericardium sac surrounding the heart. The pericidarium was mended and the ribs cut away in an attempt to rebuild the thoracic cavity. Before the operation doctors had considered the boy's chance of recovery but one in a thousand, but he showed such signs of improvement after that he was given a 50-50 chance for life.

Thought Improving.

The left lung, which was completely collapsed, inflated almost to normal after the operation, and the boy, possessed of a marvellous constitution, was thought to be getting along nicely, although by no means out of danger.

During past twelve days he had been able to converse a little with his mother, Mrs Cecilia Masse, Alexandria, and hospital attendants, and took a little nourishment each day.

Dr. C. J. Hamilton, Coroner, said tonight that he would not hold an inquest, but maintained that the Coroner at Alexandria might do so.

The boy was playing tag on the street near his home in Alexandria, and accidently ran into the side of an automobile.

No Cookie Eating Job For St. George Stubbs

WINNIPEG, July 30 (CP).—L. St. George Stubbs, Independent, who topped the twenty-one candidates in the Manitoba Provincial election in Winnipeg with an all-time record of 24,805, has no desire to become Mayor of Winnipeg. He was asked if he might contest the Mayoralty in November.

"I wouldn't take the Mayor's job on a platter," he replied.

"I wouldn't take that tea-drinking, cookie-eating job—giving breakfasts to people who have all kinds of money."

Mr. Stubbs was formerly Manitoba Senior County Court Judge, but was removed from the Bench in 1932 on allegations of conduct unbecoming a Judge.

Runaways Arrested Otonabee Boathouse

Reportedly arrested in a boathouse near the C.P.R. Bridge, two young girls spent the night in the police cells and are awaiting an escort from Alexander Industrial School at Toronto, where one of the pair was said to have been committed. They are Grace Frier, 916 Yonge Street, who is said to have run away from domestic service after being placed in a position by the industrial school authorities, and Evelyn Johnston, 127 Prescott Avenue. No charges were preferred against the pair. During their enforced incarceration the two girls maintained their spirit by singing in their cell to while away the time. Neither of them had bad voices at that.

Homesters Score Three Runs In Big 2nd Frame; Add To Count In Third

Scriver And Jamieson Perform On Mound, Latter Holds Edge

DOUBLE PLAYS FEATURE

Petes Muff Chance To Score Runs In Third—A Pitching Contest

KINGSTON, Ont., July 30. — Kingston Ponies nosed into second position in the Central Ontario Baseball League here last evening by shutting out the Peterborough team with a 4 to 0 score.

Kingston collected three of their runs in the second innings aided by one hit, five stolen bases, two walks and a passed ball. The other run was scored in the next innings to finish the scoring for the evening.

Scriver and Jamieson were the opposing hurlers and the Kingston lad had an edge over the Pete's flinger. Jamieson allowed eight hits to seven Scriver allowed and he walked only one while Scriver gave three free tickets to the first sack. Jamieson had three strikeouts while Scriver failed to nestle next to one.

Two double plays marked the game, the first one being made right in the first inning. With one out Compeau hit safely. Elliott grounded out to short and Compeau was thrown out at second and Elliott at first. The Kingston double play was made in the last inning. With one out Kingdon singled. Covert lined to Smith, who threw to first to double Kingdon.

Johnson Escorted Out

A flareup occurred in the third inning, resulting in "Shiner" Johnson being escorted from the field by a policeman after he had told Base Umpire Corrigan what he thought of him, which wasn't very much. It all occurred when Kearns singled, W. Calladine came through with a two-bagger and on the play at third Smith tagged Kearns when his foot went over the bag. "Shiner" Johnson, who was coaching at third protested vehemently. In the course of that argument W. Calladine went to third and was tagged and called out. A lively time occurred for a few seconds, but it was discovered that when Kearns was thrown out at third, a youngster had thrown the ball in. The result was that he was allowed to stay at third. It was later that Shiner kept up his verbal barrage and was chased.

Walks and stolen bases in the second inning paved the way for Kingston's runs. McQuaide, the first man up, drew a walk and stole second. The next man up also walked and McQuaide and Smith worked a double steal. On Corkey's long drive to Couvert, McQuaide scored before the ball could be got in after the catch. Scrutton hit safely and Smith romped over the plate. went to third on a passed ball Scrutton, who had stolen second, and on Joyce's long drive to centre, which Kearns nailed, scored before the ball got back.

Kingston's fourth run was scored in the third inning with the aid of two hits and a sacrifce. Scrutton singled and stole second. Compeau hit safely to put Scrutton over the plate. Elliott laid down a nice bunt to advance Compeau, but the next two men were easy outs at first.

Peterborough had a lovely chance to do something in the third inning and threw it away. Scriver hit safely but was sent down to second and was caught cold. Kearns contributed a single and W. Calladine a double in that inning in succession, but it was all for nought. The hits on both sides were kept well scattered and it needed just such chances as Kingston took, to get into the scoring column.

W. Calladine played nice ball for Peterborough and took five difficult chances in good style. P. Calladine was a busy many at first, with sixteen putouts.

For Kingston, Corkery, rookie catcher, turned in a nice performance, while Ted Scrutton handled six chances in left field safely, had an assist and grabbed off three hits for himself. There were only two extra base hits in the whole game, W. Calladine getting a two sacker and Elliott doing likewise.

STRONG FINISH WINS FOR LEAFS

Toronto Scores Seven Runs In Last Three Innings To Beat Senators

BERLY GETS VICTORY

ALBANY, N.Y., July 30.—(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs returned to their winning ways again last night when they came from behind in the late innings to best out Albany Senators 7 to 3, in the third game of their International Baseball League series to go one up in the series.

Trailing 2 to 0 at the end of the sixth inning, the Leafs went into a tie in the seventh and proceeded to break the deadlock in the eight with two more runs. They added three more in the ninth inning for good measure.

It was "Smead Jolly Night," designated so in honor of the Albany outfielder, and a crowd of 2,500 saw the Leafs record their victory, which went to the credit of John Berley, who entered the contest in the seventh inning after St Johnson retired for a pinch hitter in the first half.

Berly Requires Help.

It was berly's second victory in three nights in a relief role, but he had to have help in the ninth when he allowed two walks and a single before a man was out. Johnny Pomorski went to the box and retired the only three Senators to face him.

Johnson pitched five-hit ball in the six innings he worked and the only two runs off him went over in the third inning when the Senators grouped three of their hits with a walk.

The Leafs could do little with Leon Pettit until the seventh and then they were helped by an error by Strange to tie the score. Another error figured in the scoring of their two runs in the eighth, while still another error aided them to two of their three scores in the ninth.

Tom Oliver led the nine-hit attack of the Leafs against Pettit, Harry Kelly and Orlin Rogers.

Ninth Inning Comeback Wins For G. M. Juniors

OSHAWA DEFEATS LOCAL ROTARIANS FOR 18-17 COUNT

Motorists Run Wild On Bases On O'Toole's Inability To Throw To Sacks

PETES TOP HITS

OSHAWA, Ont., July 30.—(CP).—In one of the weirdest ball games seen here in years, Oshawa juniors overcame a nine run deficit to hand Peterborough an 18-17 defeat in a poorly played junior O.B.A.A. playoff game before a large crowd at Alexandra park last night. The game produced little in the way of classy age limit baseball, with the Oshawa team once they had runners on the bases had a field day, owing to the inability of the Peterborough catcher to throw to the bases. Oshawa used four hurlers during the game as the Lift-Lock squad outhit the locals and only managed to win the game with darkness close at hand by means of a four run rally in the last frame.

Three errors on the part of the Oshawa team gave Peterborough a two run lead in the first frame and in the second stanza Peterborough banged out nine hits for eight runs to send "Tip" Anderson to the showers, besides pounding Kennedy, who relieved him, rather freely. A hit, walk and an error gave Oshawa two runs in their half of the frame, while a homer by Caccavella gave Peterborough a nine run advantage at the end of the third frame. Oshawa kept pounding away and in the fourth frame sent Clarke from the mound with a six-hit barrage that accounted for four runs.

Follow Up Advantage.

They followed it up with a four hit attack in the fifth which, combined with a couple of errors and a walk netted them seven runs to tie the game. Oshawa added another in the sixth only to have Peterborough come back with a four run rally in the eighth on two walks and three hits. The caused looked hopeless when the first batter fanned in the ninth frame, but four hits and a walk secured the four necesary runs in win before the third man could be retired.

The win gives Oshawa a stranglehold on the group title which is best three out of five series, Oshawa having won the first game in Peterborough. Both the players and officials took a severe verbal riding from the fans who crowded the backstop as the game neared its finish, owing to it being too dark to see clearly from the grandstand.

GIANTS THREATEN CARDS' HOLD ON 2ND POSITION

New Yorkers Pound Lee From Box To Earn 7-2 Win From Cubs

BEES-PIRATES SPLIT

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The National League's eastern forces, a collective thorn in the side of Bill Terry and his New York Giants for years, have turned over a new leaf.

Instead of standing in the Giants way—a habit that more than once has cost the New Yorkers the pennant—the eastern contingent has turned its attention toward lending a helping hand in the Terrymen's current climb by making life miserable for the western leaders—the Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates.

In the past, the Phillies, Dodgers and Bees were easy pickings for the westerners, as a rule, and then, up against the Giants, turned on the heat to whip the New Yorkers and their hopes.

Helping Hand to Giants

But things have been different since the last Western trip, when the Giants, after blowing up and sinking out of the first division, found themselves again and began the climb back. Carried over since the return home, the combined eastern assault has shot the Giants securely into third place, dropped the Pirates into fourth and made the New Yorkers a red-hot threat to the Cards in second.

The Giants, themselves have been leading the way. Fresh from a two-out-of-three edge over the Cardinals, and three-out-of-four over the Reds, Terry and his boys came up against the Cubs yesterday, found the highly-rated Chicago pitching easy to solve, and belted out a 7-2 win, to pull up nearer the Gas House gang and the league leaders. Burgess Whitehead had four hits to lead the way as the Giants clubbed Bill Lee, who shut them out in their last two meetings.

Dodgers Swamp Cards

The Dodgers did their bit by handing the Cards their worst beating of the year, 22-7, in the opener of a double-header, and then just falling short with a late-inning rally to lost the nightcap, 5-4, as Ducky Medwick belted two homers to save the St. Louis club from complete humiliation. The Bees also split, losing the nightcap, 10-4, to the Pirates, after Danny MacFayden's nine-hit pitching won the first game, 4-1.

A PAYING PROPOSITION

LONDON (CP) — Gate receipts from the Arsenal football club's games last year totalled $266,780, excluding entertainment tax.

TIGERS TUMBLE TO FIFTH PLACE

Gehrig Leads Yanks' 15-Hit Attack On Detroit—Gets 32nd Homer

INDIANS GET PAIR

The Yankees, who have been handing a laugh to the "calamity jane" cries of "slump," teed off against Detroit pitching for the second straight day, and, with Lou Gehrig poling his 32nd homer of the season, slugged out 13-3 triumph. Although the Yankee victory sank the Tigers out of the first division, it didn't stop the American League lead of "murders' row" from being clipped to 8½ games by the twin win of the second place Indians over Washington Senators, 11-6 and 6-5. The tribe took a commanding lead early in the first game, but had to come from a way behind in the nightcap.

The Red Sox found Elon Hogsett's slants too tough to solve and wound up on the short end of a 9-3 count against the Browns, while the White Sox, with Sugar Cain pitching tight ball in the pinches against his old mates, sent the Athletics into the cellar and climbed back into fourth place, themselves, with a 7-5 edge.

Nerve-Tingling Finish Expected In International Yacht Finish

ROCHESTER, N.Y., July 30 (CP)—Yachtsmen to-day anticipated a nerve-tingling finish to the two-of-three series for the Silas R. George Cup as the International Yacht contest concluded with the final race between Aphrodite, Canadian challenger, and Erne, defending for the United States.

The trim and beautiful little six-metre craft began to-day's final race all square in victories. Bobby Barr of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, sailed his Aphrodite to a 14-minute victory on Tuesday while yesterday Skipper Art Harrison of the Orcott Beach Yacht Club, Rochester, won a second race that was so close and exciting the finishing gun for the second boat sounded like an echo of the shot for the first. Erne won by two seconds.

QUAKER OUTFIT IN THIRD PLACE

Cereals Gain Runs In Late Innings To Beat Mets 11-2

14 HITS IN ALL

Quakers cinched third place in the standing of the men's softball loop last night at Central by handing the Metropolitan Store outfit an 11-2 trimming. The game was close and hard-fought for the most part but in the latter innings the Quakers began to find their batting eyes and then pulled out to a commanding lead which they held till the final out.

Beacock, on the mound for the winners, limited his opposition to three scattered hits. He breezed a third one by six batters and issued four walks to win much as he pleased. Heffernan was the losing hurler but pitched fair ball. It was his control that gave way at crucial points and permitted nine free tickets to first base. This was the main cause for his defeat.

Beacock with a pair of triples led the asault against Heffernan and aided his own cause considerably. Caccavella and Newson had two hits apiece also for the Quakers. Coughlin, Williamson and Clarke secured the three hits for the losers.

Sloppy fielding in the infield of the Chain Store crew was also responsible for a number of unearned runs being scored by the Cereal gang.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

IF W. WENN and his Cobourg rink had not captured third place in our mixed tournament on Wednesday afternoon, our local bowlers would have made a grand slam. To welcoming our visitors the honor fell to Dr. A. A. Allan, one of the most loyal and faithful members of our club. The doctor, in a few well-chosen words, extended to each and all the hospitality of the entire club.

IN PRESENTING the Ovaltine Cup and first prizes to Jimmy Cullen and his rink, W. Goldsmith of Toronto paid glowing tribute to the winners, the bowlers in general and to the competition. The following were the winners:

1st Prize, Ovaltine Cup.—Peterborough: Mrs. J. Cullen, A. Gillis, Mrs. W. Hepburn and J. Cullen (skip). For ladies, silver cake dishes and men, military brush sets.

2nd Prize, Peterborough.—Mrs. A. Heckman, S. Lowe, Mrs. J. Coursey, B. Chesler (skip). Ladies, silver-plated water pitchers, and gents, mantel clocks.

3rd Prize, Cobourg.—Mrs. H. Sproule, E. Hircock, Mrs. F. Corbett, W. Wenn (skip). Ladies, silver-plated well-and-tree platters; gents, silver-plated gravy boats.

4th Prize, Peterborough.—Mrs. H. Beatty, H. Girven, Mrs. H. Staunton, E. Wall (skip).—Ladies, silver-plated flower baskets; gents, silver-plated bread trays.

5th Prize, Peterborough.—Mrs. J. Kingsbury, J. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. J. Arnold, H. Freem (skip).—Ladies, silver-plated centre-pieces; gents, silver-plated sandwich plates.

HIGHLIGHTS.—It is many a day since Hank Rosevear of Port Hope went home empty-handed from one of our tournaments. . . . The bowling of our popular president was worth the price of admission itself. . . . Seldom have we seen such an exhibition; we speak of the last game between Downey and Chesler; we cannot recall of Benny ever rising to such heights as he did yesterday. . . . The weather man threw a scare into us along about 5 o'clock, but everything went over OK. . . . Some of the boys suggested that in our next tournament, if the weather keeps the same, we ask the board of directors to steam heat the verandah. In fact one of our chaps mentioned going home to put on his spats. . . . Charlie Butcher came in for some nice compliments from the visitors. They were amazed at the freshness of the greens. . . . The games were over in good time and as far as we could see and learn everybody went home happy.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C J. P.)

QUAKER OATS defeated Metropolitan Stores, 11 to 2, before a good crowd at Central last evening to clamp onto third place and a playoff berth. The loss eliminates the Mets. Beacock hurled three-hit ball for the Porridge Punchers, fanned six and himself drove in more than enough runs to win. His support was okay, too. It was a tidy tilt and tight enough most of the way but the winners got to Heffernan for five markers in the final frame. The Storemen were weak at bat and a bit wobbly in the field while Heffernan ran into trouble finding the pan. These two teams have put up quite a battle the past several weeks but Quakers lately have had an edge.

PLAYOFFS START next Tuesday between Quakers and Westclox. It is two out of three games, second one being Thursday and third, if necessary, on Saturday. Winner steps into the finals against Swartz in the money serial. Tonight, Metropolitans and Westclox wind up the schedule in a game that has nothing at stake. Omemee defaulted their last tussle to Westclox, and dittoed last night to Swartz. A nifty exhibition benefit men's softball game for injured players is being lined up for this Saturday eve at Central and we hope it draws a huge paying crowd.

• • • • • • •

THE LACROSSERS are back at it again in Auburn Field tomorrow night when Millbrook meet the Auburns at seven bells in a Tri-County Loop fray. The Woollens can go into a top place tie with Millbrook by winning whilst a loss for the local gutsed-stick experts will shunt 'em to the cellar and leave the Nattress lads sittin' on top of the world for the time being. Millbrook has a lacrosse date in Norwood on Monday, too.

NAPANEE GIBBARDS and the Petes clash this Saturday aft in Riverside Park. It's the final appearanceof Napanee this season unless mayhap in playoffs or something. And it will be the Petes' 18th game, which is the three-quarter post in the C.O.B.L. race. The locals, after their loss in Kingston yesterday, are back in third place. We've won 10 and lost seven while the Ponies have won eight and dropped five. Their percentage is .615 to .588 for us. But the Daley clan are likely to meet two or three reverses over this week-end as they tangle three times with Oshawa. So it's up to the Petes to get in there Saturday and trim the Naps to return to second place. There should be a good crowd as the locals will be away Monday (Civic Holiday) in Belleville.

• • • • • • •

SCRIVER AND Jamieson had something of a pitching duel in Ponytown last night but the luckless Spook took the rap. Walks and stolen bases with a few timely bingles gave the homesters their runs while the visiting squad lacked punch and smart base-running—a weakness they've had all season, that is smart work on the paths. Following an old Peterborough custom, the locals' pilot, Shiner Johnston, got himself led off the field by a cop after a hot argument with Umpire Pat Corrigan of Kingston. Whatley and Burton, in the doldrums of a recent hitting slump, went four times each for the collar again yesterday, Scriver being the only real hitter for the losers. As expected, the Petes were once again minus two regulars.

• • • • • • •

THE AMAZING Bellevilles blanked Oshawa, 4-0, on the Quinte diamond yesterday when St. Louis outpitched Ogden. Speedy had swell support while the Motormen booted five and looked very ordinary. This Belleville winning streak puts them within striking distance of Napanee while Oshawa still has a comfortable lead on top, if the Ponies don't trample on them in their heavy weekend schedule. This old C.O. B.L. is seeing some hectic and surprising battles lately as the race waxes warmer.

• • • • • • •

A GHASTLY affair was perpetrated last evening in Oshawa when the local junior baseballers of that town took an 18-17 verdict over the local Rotarians for their second straight nod in the Lakeshore Junior Loop finals. Thank Heaven we didn't see it, but uncensored reports leaking out cause one to shudder. Six pitchers and a total of two dozen players were in action and dished up sloppy, pathetic baseball. Rotary had an 11-run lead at one time but the homesters finally fronted them as the moon lit up the diamond. Heavy hitting, lousy fielding and a million arguments studded the thing. That bewhiskered junior, Jack Hobbs, was the best of the many hurlers used while Connelly led the hitters. We'd better not mention any of the fielders.

• • • • • • •

BY RIGHTS the game should have been forfeited in the eighth—and certainly it should have been called for darkness in the ninth. But in the eighth, the crowd swarmed out around the catcher's screen and in front of the dugouts and they refused to leave the field, remaining there till the end and threatening to mob Umpire LeBarr of Peterborough if he stopped play. They had no police protection. Also, Oshawa stalled all through the eighth, which also calls for the game being forfeited. The third tilt of this bitter series will not be played here till Saturday, August 8th, as the Motor City crew had previously made arrangements for an exhibition game up around Owen Sound somewhere on Civic Holiday.

• • • • • • •

GRAB-BAG: With Jean Hickson hurling neat ball in Omemee last eve, the O's came from behind in the late innings and defeated Westclox gals by a 9-5 score . . . . The Alarm Girls still have a mathematical chance at a playoff berth but it isn't bright; they play C.G.E. here Friday while Keene is at Bailieboro tonight . . . . Dope on the Juniper Island regatta Monday is in this evening . . . . Are the local paddlers going to Subury Sat'day for sure? . . . . Kingston plays in Oshawa this Saturday . . . . Our senior game in Belleville on Monday is a morning affair . . . . Herb Ralph says his Rotarians can still take Oshawa in three straight . . . . The scribe there failed to notify us if the bet was on or not—so we still dunno . . . . MEMORIES: Remember the old Central Loop days, when Belleville dished up many thrills; with Casey and Meagher and Hagerman too, Goyer, the Chief and both Mills.

Petes Need Victory Here On Saturday

Napanee Gibbards play the Petes here this Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Riverside Park in a regular C.O.B.L. fixture. It will be the final league appearance of the Furniture Men in Peterborough this season and will mark the three-quarter way mark in the locals' schedule. As the Petes will be in Belleville on Monday, Civic Holiday, a big crowd is expected to take in Saturday's contest here. While the locals are still in a second-place tie with Kingston, they have dropped their last three games and must snap out of their slump promptly to keep up in the running for a playoff berth.

Tommy Pointer, the Gibbards' star southpaw, is likely to get the call on the Napanee mound this game, while Blazetich and Bishop may be held in reserve. Gunner Whitehill expects to have his sore arm in shape to take over the hurling duties for the Johnston gang. The Petes have shaded Napanee regularly this season but every game has been a tough battle and the Gibbards are liable to extend the locals losing streak Saturday. At any rate, it promises to be another fine ball game and deserves the support of fandom.

Campbellford Club Wins Tennis Games

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. — Members of the Campbellford Tennis Club visited the Stirling Club on Wednesday playing on the Belleville Country Club courts and winning four out of the five events. The representatives were Messrs. Clifford Weston, Wilbert Kingston and Donald Meyers and the Misses Jessie Weston, Eleanor Ferris, Elsie Connor and Gladys Stephen. At the close of the tournament the Stirling Club entertained the visitors and served a delightful luncheon.

Seymour Champions Lose In Exhibition

CAMPBELLFORD, July 30. —In a smart exhibition game of softball the Millionaires defeated Seymour West by 13-8 at the school grounds, Tuesday evening. The game scheduled for Tuesday was the Seymour-Menie playoff in the township league but owing to the absence of Barney Eagleson, Menie's star pitcher, the event was held over for Saturday However, the fans were not disappointed and as Seymour boys were leaders in the country league. Bill Sarginson's nine feel proud of their victory.

The line ups:

Millionaires: — Reddick, ss; D. Flint, p; P. McKay,2b; Bennett, 3b; Holmes, 1b; Upton, c; P. O'Sullivan, cf; Nind, rf; W. Flint, lf.

Seymour West:—McCulloch, 1b; McCook, 2b; M. McKenzie, lf; Wilks c; Anderson, p; Hooper ss; Atkinson, 3b; A. McKenzie, rf; Sherwood, cf.

Umpires at plate; Jim Scanlon, on bases Bun Kerr and Les. Stover.

OSHAWA BEATEN AT BELLEVILLE

St. Louis Hurls Nine-Hit Ball To Blank Central Ontario Leaders

FINAL SCORE 4-0

BELLEVILLE, July 30.—(CP).—The league-leading Oshawa Motors were taken for another loss by Belleville seniors here yesterday when St. Louis outpitched Ogden to win 4-0. Scoring three runs in the first inning, Belleville played air-tight ball behind St. Louis, who was never in danger.

The Belleville twirler set the heavy-hitting Oshawa squad down with nine blows, walked but one man and struck out four. Ogden, for Oshawa, struck out six and walked four, two of the walks resulting in tallies. Belleville had nine hits, two of them coming in the sixth when the winners scored their last run.

In the first frame Gray walked, and after a sacrifice, Weir was safe on Peacock's error and Smith walked to fill the bases. Gray scored on a wild pitch and Latchford was walked, again filling the sacks. St. Louis was hit, forcing in another run and Utronki singled, scoring a third. In the sixth two hits and an error scored another.

Bennett, in left field for the locals, and Matthews, for Oshawa, made fine running catches, Matthews spearing his drive with the gloved hand. Three double plays were clicked off, two by the Belleville club.

BISONS ON THE SKIDS IN INTERNATIONAL RACE

Collapse Of Hitting And Pitching Tumbles Herd Below Bears

ROYAL BEAT CHIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Apparently unable to stand prosperity, the Buffalo Bisons to-day were in third place in the International League pennant race and rapidly skidding toward fourth.

After a winning streak that carried them within striking distance of the pace-setting Rochester Redwings, the Bisons have dropped 10 of their last 11 games, the last five in a row. The collapse of their hitting and pitching has tumbled the Bisons a point below the Newark Bears in the standings.

They dropped their third straight to the Bears yesterday as Newark let loose with a seven-run blast in the second to pave the way for an 8-5 victory. The attack sent Ken Ash to the showers, and although Art Jacobs allowed the Bears only three hits and one run the remainder of the damage, the Bisons could not overcome the handicap against Frank Makosky, ace relief hurler making his first start of the season, and Vito Tamulis.

Wings Vanquish Birds

Meanwhile the Red Wings continued their consistent ball, turning back the Baltimore Orioles, 18 to 4 and 4 to 3 in a doubleheader. Home runs by Scoffic, Weintraub, Cuccinello and Mills played a big part in the first victory. In the nightcap Weintaroub hit another circuit drive to score two runs and furnish the margin of victory as Woody Abernathy cracked out his 22nd homer of the season and Joe Martin added another for the Orioles.

Hal Trosky and Earl Averill, Indians: their homers accounted for five runs in doubleheader victory over Senators.

FIX MINIMUM WAGE FOR RESTAURANTS

Quebec Workers Helped By Women's Commission—Effective August 1

MONTREAL, July 30 (CP)—Material betterment of living conditions for the thousands of women working in restaurants, and in hotels, of the province of Quebec is expected by the Quebec Women's Minimum Wage Commission with the advent of Aug. 1, for on that day the two awards of the Commission come into effect. The Gazette says:

"Not since the advent of the Commission have wage awards in regard to women's occupations been so strenuously, and even bitterly, combatted as the two orders of the Commission in regard to these two classifications. At the outset, it was realized by the Commission the situation was more than ordinarily complicated because of the fact that the matter of 'tips,' of uniforms, of meals, and, in the case of hotels, of sleeping accommodation, play a part.

"The Commission proceeded cautiously, and it was almost two years before awards were made. They were made last fall, and the opposition to the awards became intense, and the Government was appealed to time and again not to publish the awards. Various hotel associations protested this was no time to fix minimum wages, but under the persistence of the Commission the awards were promulgated in the Quebec Official Gazette by Hon. Edgar Rochette, Minister of Labor, Game and Fisheries, and come into effect the first of next month.

"It is expected there will be some difficulty in enforcement, notably around Montreal, and especially as regards open-air luncheon stands catering to motorists, since some of these places are moveable, and the orders do not apply to municipalities of less than 5,000 population.

"There are certain exemptions from the order as to restaurants, since the Commission recognizes that there are some restaurants where only members of the same family are employed. The order will not apply here; restaurants employing not more than three persons (of either or both sexes) not including the cook, shall pay their staff not less than $6 per week of not more than 50 hours. However, extra help, employed a few hours a day, shall be paid not less than 15 cents per hour.

"To obtain the benefits of such exemptions, the establishments entitled to benefit must register with the Commission before the end of this month.

"Warning is given by Gustave Francq, chairman of the Commission, that it is futile for employers to seek to escape the awards by replacing girls with young men, since the law makes provision whereby men replacing girls must be paid at least the wages fixed for female help in that classification."

BRITAIN ALLOWS RUSSIANS CREDIT

New Agreement Permits Purchases Up To $50,000,000 Inside Next Year

LONDON, July 30 (AP).—An Anglo-Russian commercial agreement establishing a £10,000,000 ($50,000,000) credit for Soviet orders for British exports was announced to the House of Commons to-day by Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade.

The agreement was entered into Tuesday between the export credits department and the Soviet trade representative. The department gave guarantees in connection with orders which the Soviet government organizations are to place in Great Britain.

Russian orders are to be placed by Sept. 30, 1937. Runciman said the Soviet trade representative had given formal assurance that Russia intends to place orders up to the full limit of the credit. They will not, however, include munitions.

Runciman also announced suspension of Anglo-Italian negotiations for the resumption of trade. Italy, he said, was unwilling to accept any arrangement in regard to trade debts which could be considered "adequate."

At the same time Italy is imposing severe restrictions on imports from the United Kingdom, he stated.

Runciman declared the British position, announced July 18, of refusing to admit exports from Italy to Britain with the exception of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Anglo-Italian trade was cut off by sanctions, since lifted.

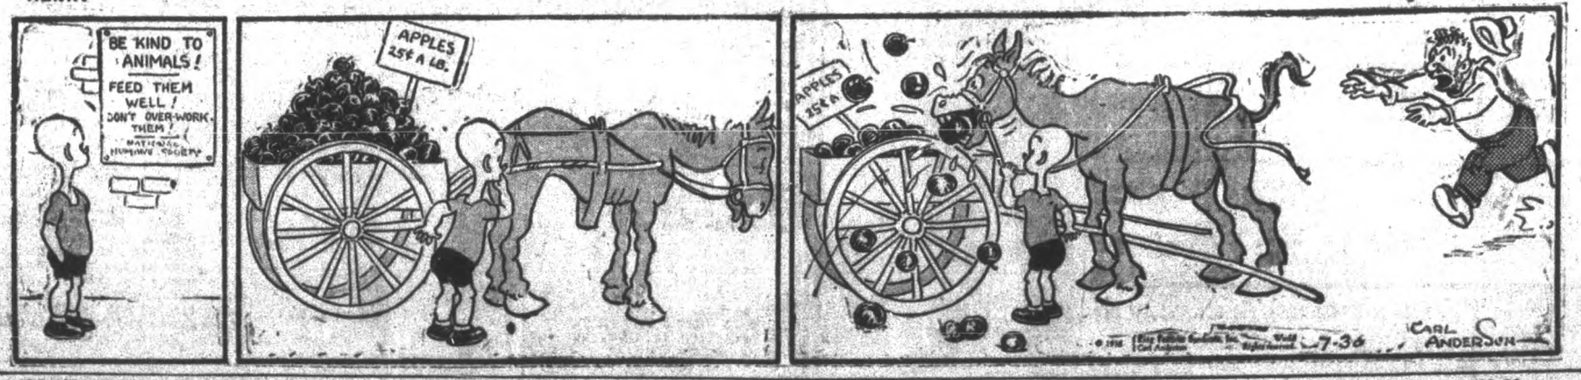
HENRY —By Carl Anderson



BRINGING UP FATHER —By George McManus

Love isn't Important

By Louise Jerrold

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell check girl in a prominent Detroit club, longs for excitement. Dr. Wilson, attracted by Gay's appearance as she is leaving the club, induces her to fill in at a private party upstairs, so that there will be more than 13 at the table.

NAW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 3

A VERY few times in her life, Gay Elwell had been to the theater. Even better than the play, she had loved that breathless moment before the curtain goes up, when a sigh of expectation moves through the audience, and then, swiftly, inevitably, the curtain rises on the opening scene.

The same thrill of anticipation made her draw a sharp breath as she stood, pausing for an instant at Doctor Wilson's side, in the doorway of the private dining room.

Brilliance. Color. A blur of dazzling light and movement. The glitter of silver and crystal on the long table. Women, glowing and sparkling with jewels. Men in the somber black and white of conventional dinner clothes.

There were only 12 people in the room, but it seemed many more to Gay. Several couples were dancing to the music of the orchestra which could be heard from the main dining room across the hall. Waiters were pouring drinks from frosted cocktail shakers, into tiny glasses. A tall woman in red gold lame was adjusting flowers along the table.

For an instant it was all a haze. Gay felt her knees shaking beneath her with nervous excitement. Then, like a flash, the fear passed. She was ready for whatever might happen.

"There you are!"

The tall, dark woman in the gold gown was the first to observe them. She came forward, smiling.

"Hello, darling. So you found someone at last! I don't believe I've met—"

Gay managed a shy smile, while Doctor Wilson made the necessary introductions. "This is little Miss Smith, Marian. From Syracuse. I ran into her downstairs, when I'd about given up hope of finding anyone. Miss Smith, this is my wife."

Mrs. Wilson said graciously, "Too sweet of you to help us out, Miss Smith. I hope you won't be bored. Take her things, Johnny!" She swung about. "Look, everybody. Johnny's succeeded in his errand!"

Gay stood her ground, secretly amazed and excited, but outwardly serene, while a storm of greetings surged noisily about her.

"Are you a picker, Johnny Wilson! And how!"

"Come on, somebody. Help open the champagne, and give the young lady a drink. We're way ahead of her!"

Then, from among all the banter of the men, and the shrill chatter of the women, came one voice she knew.

"I didn't expect to see you again—so soon."

Gay turned. It was the bronzed young man who had offered her a tip, earlier in the evening.

"I didn't expect to be here," she whispered hastily. "Please don't tell anyone who I am!"

Doctor Wilson, meanwhile, was trying to make himself heard above the confusion.

"Silence!" he shouted. "For Pete's sake, be quiet, everybody. I want to introduce little Miss Smith, from Syracuse, who has kindly consented to join this rowdy party. Miss Smith, this is the gang. Gang, meet Miss Smith."

He added to Gay, "My dear, I'm in extreme need of another highball, so I'll leave you in the capable hands of my wife. She'll tell you who everbody is."

But before Mrs. Wilson could speak, a drawling voice interrupted: "Why all this formality? Let's dance, first."

With cool insolence, an incredibly good-looking, fair-haired young man slid his arm around Gay's waist.

"You had no right to wear black," he murmured, as they moved smoothly down the room together. "June Fillies in black are my especial passion."

Gay had had enough French in high school to realize that he was deliberately mispronouncing "Jeunes filles", and she smiled a little.

"Whatever happens from now on, you'll have to take the blame," the young man continued, lazily. "A blonde honey in black—and me just up from the south where men are men, and all the girls are suntanned. Are there many more like you in Syracuse?"

Gay made no answer. When you weren't sure what to say, silence was golden. She knew that much. And this self-assured, handsome boy was a new type in her limited experience. Even his way of dancing was strange; the trick he had of holding her off every few steps and looking at her from head to feet with unconcealed admiration. Gay concentrated on keeping in step—her eyes remote, her face unchanging in its grave expression.

She was aware, too, that they were being looked at by the other guests. For the moment, they were the center of attention. The knowledge made her stiffen with self-consciousness.

"Am I being too familiar? Pray pardon me!"

The young man's eyes glinted with indolent mockery. He held her off again, then deftly brought her body close to his. "Honey, you're a dancer. I've tried three times to get you out of step, just to ruffle that Junior league air of yours, and it can't be done. Not a bad orchestra, is it?"

Gay lifted her eyes, briefly, to his. "Not bad at all."

"Like dancing with me?"

"Yes."

"Know who I am?"

"No."

The young man quirked his eyebrows in exaggerated amazement.

"Honey, wherever you went to school, your education's been neglected. I thought every deb in the east had heard of me. I'm Breck Carted, the flyer, from Memphis. Breckinridge Carter III to the people I owe money to." His voice was very low. "Breck to you, Beautiful! And what's your name?"

"Run along, Breck. You're just a nuisance!"

Another man, a rather elderly, jolly, red-faced chap, was cutting in on them. Gay slipped as gracefully into his arms and into step as though she' been accustomed to the practice for years. As a matter of fact, she'd never been cut in on before.

"I'm Charlie Pennell," her new partner informed her. "I was telling my daughter, Peggy, I think you're a mighty sweet little girl, to help us out of our hoodoo like this. I have a squeamish feeling myself, about the number 13."

Gay smiled. I'm glad to be here. I adore parties."

"Met our young friend Mr. Carter, before?"

She shook her head. "I don't know anyone, except Doctor Wilson."

Over Mr. Pennell's shoulder, she suddenly met the intent gaze of the young man who had smiled at her downstairs in the coat room. He was standing with the doctor and another man; Gay noticed that his eyes followed her for several moments before he finally looked away.

"He's interested in me," she thought elatedly. "He likes me."

She asked, "Who is that man, talking to Doctor Wilson?"

Charlie Pennell half turned. "The tall chap with gray hair? That's Christian Scott. Head of Cosmopolitan Motors."

Gay shook her head impatiently. "No, no. The other man!"

"Oh—you mean Mr. Adams. He's Mrs. Larrimore's friend, from New York. The party's being given in his honor. Fine young chap, apparently. Said to be one of the most brilliant inventors in the country, but he's so unassuming you'd never guess it. He and young Carter—"

Before Mr. Pennell could finish, the music stopped and Mrs. Wilson was insisting that they all take their places at the table.

"That's enough dancing for a while, everybody. Charlie Pennell, you flirt, come over here where you belong. Grace is getting jealous.

Miss Smith, you're to sit here, please." Gay envied the smooth assurance with which Mrs. Wilson marshalled her guests to the various places.

"Peggy, you're beside Breck, of course. Eleanor. I've put you between Tim and Johnny up at the head of the table. Charlotte, stop making love to that husband of yours, and come sit by Johnny. Mr. Scott, you're beside me, please—"

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CHIRPING SPARROW.

There was no session of the Summer school to-day, for Uncle Wiggily wanted to make it as little like a real school as possible, that is, he would only hold class when the animal children asked him to. And to-day most of them were off to a picnic given by Susie and Sammie Littletail.

So Uncle Wiggily wandered out toward the back yard. There he saw Spot, the fire dog.

"Why aren't you at the picnic, too, Spot?" the gentleman rabbit asked. "I know you were invited. Did you forget?"

"No, I didn't exactly forget," Spot replied, with sort of an ashamed look on his face. "The fact is, Uncle Wiggily, I fell asleep, and when I awoke everybody had gone. So I thought I might as well finish my nap."

"And a very good idea that was," the bunny agreed, laughing. "It is a very lazy day. I almost think, ho, hum, that I'll take a nap myself. I know where there's an extra special fine bit of moss in the shade of a tree a little way in the woods. Yes, that's just what I'll do."

"Have a nice sleep," Spot called, as Uncle Wiggily hopped off. "And pleasant dreams."

"Thank you," the rabbit replied. "I seldom dream, though. But perhaps this time I will. Ho, hum."

Cool and Quiet.

The more he thought about that nice bit of moss the sleepier he got. He hopped slowly along, yawning, and soon he found the place he was looking for. It was cool there, and quiet, and taking off his hat, Uncle Wiggily lay down on the moss.

"My, but this is delightful," he murmured. "Nothing to bother me. Everything is perfect. Now for a fine nap."

He put his paws under his head and stretched out. And in a very short time he was asleep. In fact, he was asleep before he knew it. Has that ever happened to you?

And he began to dream. I can't tell you just what the dream was about, for only Uncle Wiggily knows that. But it must have been a pleasant one, for the kind rabbit gentleman was smiling and sort of chuckling in his sleep. Perhaps he was dreaming about eating a great big dish of carrot ice-cream. Or that he was at a circus, with all the animal children, watching the acrobats perform. Whatever it was, Uncle Wiggily enjoyed it.

And then, the dream stopped. How do I know? Because Uncle Wiggily stopped smiling and wiggled his ears. And then he opened his eyes, half way, and muttered: "What is that noise? I hear something. Ho, hum."

Bunny Sits Up.

He was still partly asleep, you see. He didn't want to wake up entirely. He wanted to dream the nice dream again. But he couldn't, for the noise kept up, and finally the bunny sat up.

"What is that disturbing me?" he said in a rather fretful voice. "A chirping sound in my ear. I can't sleep with that going on."

"Excuse me," spoke a little voice. "I didn't mean to disturb you, that is, not really, only right where you are lying is a ——"

"Ho," Uncle Wiggily exclaimed. "Mr. Sparrow. Was it you chirping in my ear?"

"Yes, it was," the sparrow admitted. "Under that moss, Uncle Wiggily, are some very fine worms. And I'd like to take them home to my nest for my children's dinner. I'm awfully sory, but the children are hungry, and——"

"Say no more about it," the rabbit gentleman laughed, now all awake. "My goodness. I wouldn't keep your dinner from you for the world. Dig out the worms, Mr. Sparrow. I will say you're a splendid chirper. You woke me up quite softly and easily. Only I do wish I could remember what I was dreaming about. I've forgotten it completely. Oh, well, it was just a dream after all. And I'm hungry. I guess I'll go home to my dinner."

He did, too. What do you think he had been dreaming of? Perhaps when you go to sleep, you'll find out what it was. And to-morrow night, if the chewing gum doesn't get stuck on the pencil sharpener so that it wants to sharpen pens instead of pencils, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the puzzle.

TORONTO, July 30 (C.P.)—First unit of a new Toronto-Niagara Falls highway route will be commenced immediately with the awarding of a contract for grading of six miles of the new 90-foot road east of St. Catharines.

This section of the new highway will provide a direct route from the Burlington cut-off to Niagara Falls. The new road to be constructed over two or three years will be routed on an almost straight line from St. Catharines to Niagara Falls. It will provide a 20-foot traffic lane, and 10-foot shoulders on either side of a 30-foot boulevard.

TENDERS TOO HIGH

CORNWALL, Ont., July 29 (CP)—Mayor Aaron Horowitz, president of the Cornwall Community Arena, Limited, announced to-day the company had opened tenders for construction of an artificial ice rink, and found them too high.

He said the company nad $60.000 to spend and that it would have plans revised to bring new tenders down to that figure.

'CAREER FILMS' AID YOUNGSTERS

Illustrations Cover 50 Kinds Of Work At Willesden, London

LONDON, July 30 (C.P.)—Career films are teaching boys and girls of Willesden how to find jobs and how to make a success of them.

To signalize remarkable results obtained, and exhibition of these films was given at Harlesden Library before the Education and Juvenile Employment Committees. Three were chosen, one from each of the stages of the work.

The first showed printing and bookbinding. The second film showed how the young workers could make use of continued education to get higher wages and make new openings for themselves. The third just completed, went a step further, rounding out the work of preparing the children for life by illustrating personal care, cleanliness and healthy recreation.

One episode in this film was the tale of the lazy boy and the careless girl who neglected their personal appearance. More than 6,000 Willesden children have chosen their careers with the help of films since they were introduced in 1933.

It is the first borough in Britain to use films for vocational guidance. The films now illustrate more than 50 kinds of work, from milk bottling and dressmaking to engineering, and cover all the diversified industries at Willesden.

Poland now has less than 400,000 unemployed.

VETERANS SECURE MAJORITY POINTS HIAWATHA SPORTS

Herb Cardwell And Bill Taylor Lead Winners in Aquatic Events

KEEN COMPETITION

HIAWATHA, July 30. — Herb. Cardwell, of Wallace Point, and Bill Taylor, of Peterborough, were up to their old tricks yesterday afternoon and took home with them a generous portion of the silverware at stake in the annual Hiawatha regatta. They figured prominently in the money in practically all the men's events.

The Indian contingent did not miss a fair share of the spotlight, however. Clayborn Taylor, Hiram Taylor, the Knott brothers of Curve Lake, R. Loukes, George Paudash and Madden Howard were among the headliners. Female talent was not plentiful at the meet, but Pat Perrin of Bewdley, Mrs. Flossie Selby and Mrs. Madden Howard ensured a high standard of proficiency.

Sons Leads Father.

The men's single professional, always one of the feature events in view of the cash at stake, turned out to be a father and son race when Clayborn Taylor and his father, Hiram Taylor, proved to be the only entrants. The younger man won the grueling grind by a narrow lead and took the $6 offered as first prize, The father won $3.

The men's double resulted in a hard-fought competition with Bill Taylor and Herb. Cardwell nosing out a win. The Knott brothers finished in second place after hard paddling. The men's single was a race which developed into a duel between Herb. Cardwell and Bill Taylor. Cardwell nosed over the line with little more than a half length to spare.

Close Finishes.

Bill Taylor evened things, however, when the crab race was run out. The other contestants soon dropped out of the running and left the battle to Taylor and Cardwell. Taylor snatched a surprise victory from Cardwell, who has earned a reputation as the crab race champ of the region. Mrs. Selby managed a close victory from Mrs. Madden Howard in the ladies' singles. Teamed with Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Selby repeated in the double canoe event, triumphing over Pat Parrin and Miss Barnes.

Cool breezes marred the regatta somewhat as a couple of the swimming events were postponed, but a fair crowd was attracted to the natural grandstand afforded by the shore and remained throughout the card. The regatta was sponsored by the Hiawatha Hockey Club. Bill Muskrat, president, and Ralph Loukes, secretary-treasurer, had the major part in making the arrangements. Hanlan Howard handled the megaphone efficiently and Bert Adams was the starter. Judges were George Robertson and J. S. Hancock.

BREAD PRICE CUTS RESENTED BY TRADE

Meeting In Belleville Objects To Six Cents a Loaf Rate

BELLEVILLE, July 30—Investigating the causes for the continued low prices of certain bread being sold in Belleville, members of Zone 14, of the Ontario Cake and Bread Makers' Association, held a representative meeting. W. H. Linn president of the local zone which includes the area from Brighton to Deseronto, was in charge of the meeting.

Bringing the dissension which has been brewing in this district for many weeks to a head, Mr. Linn explained, was the sale of bread in Belleville last week for 6 cents per loaf. "Bread was sold here last week for 6 cents," Mr. Linn declared, "and that figure is almost identically the cost price of the bread. Local bakers have been selling their bread for 7 cents a loaf wholesale, and 8 cents per loaf retail. With the price of flour rising steadily, it has become utterly impossible for us to compete against the price-cutting," he declared.

Bakers in the Belleville district have not controlled their business for the past few years, the president continued. "We haven't had control of our business since this price-cutting began," he declared. "We have been selling our bread for extremely low prices to hold our own, rather than at a fair profit. I believe very few local bakers have been keeping an accurate account of the actual cost of producing their bread, and so do not fully realize the fact that they are now selling their produce almost at cost."

It was pointed out at the meeting that recent Supreme Court decisions regarding unfair trading practices had made it clear that it was a criminal offence to sell produce at or below cost price.

No likelihood of a "bread war" was seen by Mr. Linn following the meeting of the bakers.

Representatives of the zone from Brighton, Deseronto, Madoc, Picton, Tweed, Stirling, Marmora, Frankford, Consecon, Wellington and Bloomfield were present at the meeting.

World's Tallest Human 8 Feet, 5 Inches High

ALTON, Ill., July 22.—(CP).—Eighteen year old Robert Wadlow, the tallest human of which the world has authoritative record, lolled in front of an electric fan yesterday and complained of the heat. He refuses to budge from in front of the fan except for an occasional swim. For further comfort he kicks off his 58S shoes—size 39.

The Wadlow family yardstick says Robert is eight feet five inches tall. He weighs 425 pounds.

Wadlow has an overactive pituitary gland, pea-sized organ at the base of the brain which controls growth.

HITLER OPENS 11TH OLYMPIAD IN RAIN STORM

Four Thousand Of World's Greatest Athletes Parade In Berlin's Stadium

CROWD OF 105,000

Conflicting Political Sentiments Reflected In Salutes Of National Contingents

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(AP).—An overflow crowd of 105,000 spectators packed the main stadium to-day as Chancellor Hitler arrived at the Reich sports field to declare the 11th Olympic games formally opened.

Hitler arrived promptly at the scheduled hour, 4 p.m., as the huge crowd, unmindful of a heavy downpour, roared a greeting and gave the Nazi salute.

The vast throng stood while the band played "Deutschland Uber Alles."

The rain let up and umbrellas were folded. Bells tolled and the flags of all nations were raised on the staffs.

Parade of Nations.

Then at 4.12 began the parade of nations with Greece leading the colorful procession. S. Louas, Grecian winner of the 1896 Olmpic Marathon title, marched at the head of the Greek delegation which evoked tremendous cheers as it dipped its flag and gave the Nazi salute.

The Egyptians dipped their flags, but refrained from saluting aside from "eyes right" as they passed the reviewing stand. The Argentines similarly only turned their heads after the Afghans had given an outstretched hand salute.

The Australians, first delegation from the British Empire, gave "eyes right" as they marched by, clad in natty green coats, and white trousers or skirts.

Ovation to Canadians.

The Canadians, more than 100 strong, were given a riotous ovation as they marched past the official box saluting in Nazi fashion. "Long Jim" Worral, Toronto hurdler who stands six feet four inches, carried the flag at the head

700 CONVICTS FAIL IN RIOT TO ESCAPE

One Is Killed, Two Wounded By Guards' Fire—Starts Over Release Refusal

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 1 (AP).—Shattered windows, piles of knives and clubs and a cluttered prison yard gave evidence to-day of a riot in which 700 convicts unsuccessfully broke for freedom from the Oregon State penitentiary.

One prisoner was killed and two were wounded as guards fired to quell the mob, maddened by word that the Circuit Court had upheld an Attorney General's opinion barring releases from prison at the expiration of minimum sentences except after formal action of the Parole Board and Governor.

The convicts quieted and a moment later marched back to their cells. Then bedlam broke loose. Prisoners shouted, threw clubs and knives through windows and between the bars at whomever appeared in the cell block. The weapons were taken from the butcher shop and commissary.

PLANE DISAPPEARS WITH EIGHT AT SEA

Aircraft And Lifeguards Comb Area Off Jersey Islands

ST. HELIER, Jersey, England, Aug. 1 (A.P.)—Airplanes and life-boats searched the sea today for a plane carrying eight passengers and a crew of two which has been missing since last night. Five women were among the passengers. Jersey Airways officials asked French authorities to aid in the search. Royal Air Force planes joined in the hunt, while vessels in the territory were warned to keep a sharp lookout. The amphibian plane took off at 7 p.m. for a short hop from Guernsey to Jersey Island.

Where They Get 'Em.

TWEED, Aug. 1.—Stoco Lake has yielded up several fine catches during the past week, one of which was a 20-pound lunge caught by Mr. Rogers, of Belmont Hotel of Havelock on Thursday.

Another of 12 pounds was hooked on Friday night by Jack Tummon of the village.

Although all visitors to date have not been lucky enough to hook a lunge, many of them have caught their share of pike and pickerel.

Conservatives Call For Bracken To Quit

Government Defeated Says Willis; No Party Gives Sign of Support

Social Credit Group Already Show Signs Of Split Views

BRACKEN BACK ON JOB

Tories With Only Sixteen Members Undecided On Future Moves

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1. —(CP). — Premier John Bracken returned from a trip to his northern constituency at the Pass today to learn of a demand for his resignation from Errick Willis, youthful Conservative leader who ran second to Mr. Bracken in Monday's indecisive Provincial election.

Although he has only 16 followers in the new legislature to Mr. Bracken's 21 Liberal-Progressives Mr. Willis said: "I am certain the Bracken Government is defeated and that Mr. Bracken must also resign."

Mr. Willis gave no indication of whether he has hopes of forming and carrying on a Government himself.

Earlier Mr Bracken announced his intention of carrying on with his depleted following and no public assurance of support for the Government has yet come from Co-operative Commonwealth Federationists, Social Crediters or Independents.

A difference of opinion was evident among the Social Credit group as William Sanders, President of the Social Credit League was challenged in his statement the Bracken Government would get no support from the Social Crediters.

Cecile Spence, at a meeting of the group in Winnipeg said Mr. Sanders spoke only for himself and indicated the party would support any government which could give effect to Social Credit principles.

Smoke Clouds Send Hens to Bed 5 p.m.

OKOTOKS, Alberta, Aug. 1 (CP)—Forest fire smoke clouds, rolling over Southern Alberta districts, are fooling the birds and animals. With day turned into night by the black pall, chickens are going to roost as early as 5 p.m. Children, too, are accepting the unnatural blackness as an early curfew.

ROOSEVELT HEADS BACK HOME—POWER TALKS KEPT QUIET

Guns Boom Royal Salute Across St. Lawrence For President's Visit

NEW BONDS OF AMITY

QUEBEC, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Canadians welcomed a new conception of peace with their neighbor republic to the south today as President Franklin D. Roosevelt travelled homeward at the end of the first visit a United States president ever paid a Canadian governor-general.

The bonds of century-old peace uniting the two nations were given new strength yesterday when the president visited Lord Tweedsmuir in this historic city.

Both called for continued amity and, in speeches that carried through both nations, they held up the peace between the United States and Canada as an example and inspiration for the world.

When the day of welcoming was over the president and his party embarked by special train for New England and Mr. Roosevelt's vacation, most of it spent cruising through Canadian Atlantic coastal waters, was over.

He was to stop off in Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts for flood control conferences before going on to Hyde Park, N.Y.

All Honors Of A Ruler.

In Quebec, an official presidential visitors for the first time since Warren G. Harding touched Canadian soil on the trail that ended in death, the visiting chief executive had been accorded all the honors due a foreign ruler.

Guns from the old citadel, Quebec's bulwark against invasion in years gone by, boomed a royal salute across the St. Lawrence river. The United States flag flew from the citadel for the first time in history. Full-dress militiamen formed a guard of honor and top-hatted statesmen were on hand.

No Power Hints

No disclosure was made as to what the president and Canada's representatives had said to each other about Passamaquoddy tidal power project and the St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty. Earlier in the week the president had announced he meant to take up the affairs when he conferred with the Canadian heads at Quebec.

Closest to his heart, perhaps, is the vast Quoddy development, a plan for harnessing the unleashed power in the life and fall of the tides in Passamaquoddy Bay between New Brunswick and Maine. More than $1,000,000 had been spent on its beginning when Congress shut off further appropriations. President Roosevelt has announced he would like Canadian co-operation on the project.

What aspects of the seaway he wanted to talk about were not divulged.

FARM LAD NABBED IN EXTORTION PLOT

Threatened Shirley Temple — Asked $25,000—Traced By Stationery

GRANT, Neb., Aug. 1 (AP).—The accurate tracing of a sheet of stationery landed Sterling Powell, 16-year-old farm boy, in jail to-day, charged with threatening the life of tiny screen star Shirley Temple in a $25,000 extortion plot.

The detective operations of federal agents led late yesterday to the arrest of the youth at his farm home here by Sheriff H. Bechtel.

The sheriff said young Powell told him he conceived the fantastic scheme after seeing a movie based on a kidnapping theme, but "never meant to go through with it."

Bechtel reported the prisoner readily admitted he had sent a letter to George F. Temple, father of the little actress, setting forth in part:

"Unless $25,000 is dropped from an airplane near Grant, Neb., on May 15, the life of Sharley Temple will be endangered."

The missive was mailed May 9, but it was not opened until May 18 —three days after the specified deadline—in the fan mail department of studios in Hollywood.

Dr. R. T. Caluza, the first Zulu to hold the diploma of Doctor of Music, having taken degrees in America and elsewhere, has just been appointed head of the new school of music at Adams' College, Amanzimtiti, South Africa.

U.S. Alpinists Conquer Old Waddy the Killer

Canadian Everest Towering Up 13,250 Feet Has Defied 16 Previous Attempts

THRILLING CLIMB

KNIGHT INLET, B.C., Aug. 1 (CP)—An intrepid band of mountaineers flung back a challenge to Mount Waddington to-day. The Canadian Everest, known as "Old Waddy the Killer," was taken from the lists of unscaleable slopes by two skilled rockmen from the United States.

Fritz H. Weissner of New York and William P. House of Pittsburg ascended to the rocky pinnacle that has defied sixteen previous attempts to scale its perilous slopes. Word of the achievement, made on July 21, was made known yesterday.

Other parties had climbed to within 500 feet of "Waddy's" summit that reaches 13,250 feet into the sky. But all attempts to go beyond this barrier had failed until Weissner and House combined in a two-man expedition.

Weissner set out July 20 with

CAPTURES EAGLES

Goderich Men Surprise Young Birds While Picking Berries

GODERICH, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP)—A rare capture—two young eagles —was made yesterday by Dave Cantwell and George Rutledge near Goderich. The men were picking berries when they saw two eagles perched on a tree stump. The female was easily captured but the male showed fight and was caught only after being stunned with a club. The male bird had a wing spread of five feet and the female, four and a half feet. Permission of the department of games and fisheries to keep the birds has been sought.

Business Conditions Warrant Wage Boost

Gordon S. Matthews Proposes Restoration Of 1932 Wages To Utilities Employees

ACTION DEFERRED

Installation of an electric boiler at the filtration plant for heating purposes and as a substitute for coal was authorized by the Utilities Commission Friday afternoon on the recommendation of Ross L. Dobbin, general manger.

The estimated cost of this change from black to "white" coal is $1800. Off peak electric power will be used, and as it virtually does not cost the Commission anything in this projected plant service, the obvious economy appealed to the members. The cost of putting in an electric boiler $1800, will be paid for in six years, the net saving being around $300 a year.

New lights on Water Street from King to Sherbrooke Stret, and a substitution of lamps on Albert Street, were also authorized.

Wage Restoration.

Industry's recovery from its low ebb in 1932 was mentioned by Mr. Matthews as a substantial reason for restoring to the Commission employees who are paid on an hourly rate basis the reductions which were made four years ago.

"When the wages were cut we promised the men that they would be paid at the full rate again when conditions warranted it," Mr. Matthews said. "I distinctly remember making that promise myself, and I believe the time has come to restore the wages to the former scale for the men especially in the water and electric departments. As for heads of departments and some other we might go over the list individually."

The restoring of wages would cost the Commission $765 a year in the electric department and $462 in the water department.

Roland Denne enquired whether the men had asked for payment of the former wages, and Mr. Dobbin replied that some of them had done so.

Demand For Linemen.

Mr. Dobbin also said that there was a strong demand for electric linemen, and jobs were being offered throughout the country.

"I think we should wait until the end of the year and see how we come out," Roland Denne said. "I don't think these men are hurt very bad. If a change is made it should all come at the first of the year, and all at once because others are going to want it if we make the start."

E. R. Shirley said he was inclined to agree with Mr. Denne that the restoration of wages might be deferred until the new year.

"The teachers were turned down by the Board of Education," Mr. Denne said: "A lot of men are working, but they are not getting much wages. I know because I have cashed some of their cheques."

Mr. Matthews said wages had been restored to Canada Packers' employees, and the general improvement in business seemed to warrant an improvement in wages. Somebody had to make a start, and why not the Utilities Commission, even if there was objection in some quarters.

It was finally decided to defer the wage question until January.

"I brought it up because I made the promise to the men back in 1932 when the cuts went into effect," Mr. Matthews remarked.

Sister Meets Brother Doesn't Know Him

LINDSAY, Aug. 1 (CP)—A reunion, after a separation of 24 years, was held by a brother and sister in Toronto through the efforts of a Lindsay woman. Arthur Teeling told her had had not heard from his relatives for nearly a quarter of a century. The Lindsay woman wrote authorities with the result that a sister, Mrs. Herman Segee, Torrens avenue, Toronto, was located.

Mr. Teeling went to Toronto where he knocked at his sister's door and posed as a salesman. She was about to refuse him when he made known his identity.

FOUR CARS CRASH IN OSHAWA TANGLE

Police Arrest One Man On Charge Of Driving While Intoxicated

OSHAWA, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP). — Several persons narrowly escaped injury in two accidents in which four cars were involved, in Oshawa to-day. Police arrested James Glover and charged him with driving while intoxicated.

Officers were investigating a collision between cars driven by Noel Gamble and Ivan Parrott when they say Glover's car collided with another automobile parked near the scene of the accident. No one was in the car, the occupants being interested onlookers while the first crash was being investigated. After the collision the moving car leaped the curb and landed partly on the boulevard, badly damaged.

AUGUST BRINGS A GOLDEN GIFT —CORN ON COB

A long farewell to another July and its African heat and raiment, its gear and yellow fields that mock the industry of the husbandmen grieving over their blighted crops along the tenth concession.

And a murain on the relentless flight of time that snatches off a whole page of days, vanished in the nights of the calendar, turning up another August with disturbing intimations that summer is on the wing.

Golden barley in the stook and a fledgling brood of swallows on the wires! Evening flights of gregarious blackbirds! Elderberries filling with wine along the country roadsides, apples beginning to bend the boughs!

The record of the days tells us it is still summer, but the forerunners of autumn are on the outskirts! Summer at its zenith with corn on the cob bearing unmistakable and conclusive witness!

Though it be the first day of August, and granaries show vacant spaces where grain should bulge the rafters, there is still temporary oblition of the passing days that nibble away the year in the ruminant rewards of corn on the cob.

LONDON AND PARIS BECOME ANXIOUS OVER SPANISH WAR

Hesitate To Interfere Because Germany And Italy Will Not Co-operate

MIGHT SPLIT EUROPE

By Thomas Thompson.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

LONDON, Aug. 1 (CP Cable). — Serious anxiety exists in London and Paris concerning the civil war in Spain. The anxiety was intensified to-day with official confirmation of news that Italian planes had landed in Spanish Morocco held by the rebels.

It was reliably reported the planes were piloted by officers in Italian uniforms, conveying arms to the rebel leader, Gen. Francisco Franco.

Fourteen of them were reported to have reached Franco near Melilla. (Reports in Paris said 11 other foreign airplanes, three of them German, landed at Tetuan).

It was learned reliably that there is as yet no possibility of interference by Great Britain or France in Spain. This idea has been canvassed lately only to be dropped, because Germany and Italy would not co-operate in such intervention.

Without their co-operation, it was noted, Europe would be divided into two camps over Spain. This is a situation which above all the British government wants to avoid, for it would end any chances of a European settlement by a five-power Locarno conference which lies to the forefront of British policy.

Not only has Premier Mussolini been in closest co-operation with

"Quiet" Borrowed Horse Gives Milkmen Eyeopener

Kicks, Bites And Bolts Putting Two Drivers Out Of Commission In Short Order

PLAYFUL SAYS OWNER

INGERSOLL, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP). —To speed up its morning milk deliveries, an Ingersoll dairy borrowed a "quiet" horse from a farmer. Alex Weeks and Graham Buchanan set out with the animal and a nice, shiny milk wagon.

At the first stop the horse kicked Weeks. A few minutes later it bit him and he retired into the wagon, out of the fray. Buchanan took his place outside.

About this time the horse decided a life on the farm was preferable to milk delivering. In one of the scuffles to hold the horse from running away, Buchanan was knocked down and the wagon passed over him. With Scottish determination he continued. Then the animal took a corner, shot and dumped three cases of milk out—also on Buchanan. The doughty milkman didn't give up until the horse bit him and then he quit the job.

The "quiet" horse is 20 years old the owner says. Sometimes, he admits, it gets "playful" but never anything more serious.

"Squadron Of Death" Start Flight For Valencia To Destroy 3 Government Warships

By Alexander H. Uhl,

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Spain's Fascist rebels, moving on Madrid, declared Friday three of the four advancing columns were only fifteen miles from the Capital—within artillery range.

Defences Bolstered

MADRID, Aug. 1.—Spanish Liberals, fearful of renewed rebel advances on Madrid, ordered domestic defences strengthened to-day to meet "present urgent needs."

On land, on sea, and in the air the Leftist government massed its forces against possible spread of the Fascist rebellion.

Spaniards who served in the army during 1934 and 1935 were ordered to re-enlist under a plan to "reorganize the military forces."

Strict discipline inside the capital was decreed by the ministry of the interior with drastic power placed in the hands of the regular police force. Activities of the civilian armed militia were reduced sharply.

Rebels Reinforced

Streams of Fascist reinforcements were reported flowing into rebel camps north of the Guadarrama Mountains for the start of a fresh assault on the capital gateways manned by Loyalists.

The last detachment of British refugees from the capital left for Valencia last night by train.

Death Squadron Offg

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 1 (AP)—Rebel "Volunteers of Death," pledged to give their lives in hurtling explosive-laden planes into loyal Spanish strongholds, flew toward Valencia from Seville to-day, an insurgent broadcast said.

The announced objective of the "Death Squadron" was three government warships at Valencia.

With Gen. Emilio Mola's Rebel Army at Roblegordo, Spain, Aug. 1 —Reinforcements of troops and Fascist Militia poured into Roblegordo today to speed up the Rebel advance on Madrid.

The popular-lined highway to Madrid through the Sommo Sierra Pass was cluttered with wrecked trucks and buses—shattered evidence of the good aim of machine-gunning Loyal Aviators.

Thick smoke hung over the mountain villages as huge piles of dead artillery horses were burned. Gallons of lubricating oil were poured over the carcasses to speed their destruction.

Tattooing for Dogs Looms in Regina

REGINA, Aug. 1.—(CP). —Regina's dogs may soon sport tattooed ears or stomachs. This method of identifying pedigreed animals is advocated by Col. J. N. MacRae, Galt, national president of the Canadian Kennel Club, who said that, along with Hereford cattle, dogs were the only type of live stock not carrying a definite identification as proof against trickery.

DAUGHTER IS HELD AFTER HER MOTHER IS SLAIN IN FIGHT

Claimed To Have Swung Hatchet While Lover Pinioned Victim's Arms

MURDER CHARGES LAID

BAYONE, N.J., Aug. 1 (CP) — Smiling affectionately at each other during the arraignment, Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her young sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 18, were formally charged with murder to-day for the hatchet slaying of the girl's mother.

So unconcerned that she giggled lightheartedly in an ante room before she was led into court, the girl stood close to Wightman as police recorder Raymond J. Cuddy ordered both held without bail for the action of the grand jury after they had waived any pleas.

Police Chief Cornelius O'Neill meanwhile disclosed new details of the joint confession, which he said both had signed, setting forth how the girl, a recent high school graduate, killed her mother with a hatchet while Wightman, chorister on a radio religious hour, pinioned the woman's arms.

O'Neill quoted the girl as confessing she had quarreled with her mother, Mrs. Helen Mar Knight, 47, that Wightman seized the mother who had a knife in her hand, and she hit the mother on the head with a hatchet.

The girl told him O'Neill said, that she asked her mother to prepare an early dinner last evening because she had an appointment to play tennis with Wightman.

"Get it ready yourself if you want it early," the mother was quoted as replying.

Threatened With Knife

This led to a bitter quarrel between the two O'Neill said the girl stated, and the mother brandished a butcher knife at the girl.

Wightman seized the mother by the arms and the girl grabbed the hatchet from the top of an icebox and struck her mother on the head "once or twice," O'Neill said she confessed.

As the mother fell moaning Wightman said, "Hit her again," O'Neill quoted the girl as saying.

O'Neill said the girl confessed she and Wightman had discussed her mother, who was said to have disliked Wightman, in a bitter and threatening manner several times in recent weeks.

Convict Gives Up After 13 Years' Freedom—Would Reform Family.

AUBURN, N.Y., Aug. 1 (CP). — Rosolino Panara, 54-year-old escaped convict, was back in Auburn Prison today after 13 years of freedom. He surrendered to the prison warden yesterday and announced he wanted to serve out his term so he could "go back to his family."

The prison records disclosed that Panara escaped from a prison camp in the town of Miles on September 25, 1922, in company with another convict.

PIVOTAL ISSUES SHOW DECLINES

But Weakness In Leaders Offset By Strength In Utilities And Foods

O'BRIEN IN DEMAND

TORONTO, Aug. 1 (CP).—Aside from the flashy performance of one of the secondary golds, the revival of interest in the industrial share list was the most engrossing development in the Toronto share market this week. The section had a turnover of 180,000 shares in the five full sessions, the best since the last week of April and 60,000 shares greater than in week ending July 24.

A majority of the pivotal industrials were inclined to move with New York and these, including International Nickel, Bazilian Traction, C.P.R. and the leading oils registered sizeable declines but strength in several groups, notably the utilities, steels and foods, more than offset the show of weakness. Bell Telephone, Power Corporation and Montreal Power advanced $2 each, Shawinigan 75 nects, Pressed Metals $2.50, Dominion Bridge $1, Dominion Stores 90 cents and Lobiaw 'A' 35 cents.

Distillery stocks advanced on good volume and in the brewery group an improved tone was in evidence with Canada Bud and Canada Malting doing better.

Weakness in the oils became definite in International Petroleum, while Imperial and British American limited their losses to 25 to 35 cents each.

O'Brien played the stellar role in the mining section, climbing $2.60 to close yesterday at $7. It sold as low as 50 cents in May. Reports, official and unofficial, have told of spectacular finds at the mine, but more gossip is heard in the board-rooms about the size of the short interest in the stock than about new ore discoveries.

When Death Greeted Queen Mary Near New York

These remarkable and exclusive action pictures show the crash of the largest single-motored aeroplane in the U.S., a Bellanca airbus, into the sea off Nantucket. The aeroplane, nine aboard, left Boston to welcome the Queen Mary. As she circled the steamer a sudden wind current hurled her into the sea. Edwin T. Ramsdell, Boston newspaper photographer, was fatally injured. At TOP, the aeroplane is shown as she greeted the liner, with the freighter, Exermont, which rescued the air passengers after the crash, in the RIGHT BACKGROUND. In the CIRCLE (LEFT) the aeroplane is shown as she struck the water with terrific force. At LOWER LEFT the tail surface of the ship reappears after the impact. At the LOWER RIGHT the passengers of the Queen Mary are shown, crowded aft, to witness the rescue by the Exermont. Note the liner's wake as she came about to offer assistance.

C.P.R. SIGNAL MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Gordon C. Hamilton, Oshawa, Struck At Whitby Lifting Gas Car

WHITBY, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Gordon C. Hamilton, 30, of 207 Gibb street, Oshawa, was killed in front of the Canadian Pacific Railway Station here late today when a fast freight struck a railway motor car he was trying to clear from the track. Vernon Sanders, signal maintainer of the C.P.R., in charge of the rail car, was badly shaken.

Hamilton, employed as a signal helper, leaves a young widow and two small girls. His parents live in Toronto. He had been employed in this section for three and a half years.

Sanders said they were travelling east and the fast freight was going west. They tried to clear the rail car, but the train was "on them" before they knew it.

"I really couldn't say how it happened," he said. "It was all over so quickly."

The freight was described as an extra westbound in charge of Engineer T. Jewell and Conductor T. Burke. It was hauled by a big passenger locomotive with a light string of cars. Trainmen said the train slowed down when the rail car was sighted. Coroner Dr. R. F. McLaren has ordered an inquest.

MILLBRIDGE MAN IS FOUND DROWNED

Body Of Breen Hogan Located In Moira Lake By Boys Fishing

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC, Aug. 1.—About 8.15 Friday evening boys fishing at Moira Lake found the lifeless body of Breen Hogan of Millbridge in a cove near Kellar's Camp.

It is believed that the deceased left home Thursday morning as his car was noticed standing near the lake since yesterday, but little notice was taken, as the campers' cars are often left for some time.

The remains were brought to Tufts and Kelly's Funeral Parlor, where an inquest will be held.

Mr. Hogan was about 55 years of age and was unmarried. He has been in ill health for some time. He lived with his sisters at Hogan's Hotel, Millbridge.

Beaverton Hits Snag Beer Vote Petition

LINDSAY, Aug. 1.—Owing to some hitch in the petitions which have been presented on behalf of a vote for beer and wine sale Beaverton, in which it was found there were not enough signatures of qualified voters, the setting of a date for the vote has been held up by the Liquor Control Board.

The petition has been circulated three times now, to secure enough signatures, and apparently at last it has been accepted by the board and the date for the vote is set for Friday, Sept. 25.

SHOP LIFTER GETS OFF

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)—Mrs. Carmelita Dionati, caught shoplifting with her 14 year old daughter as company, was placed on suspended sentence for one year in court to-day.

Mrs. Dionati, dark eyed and husky voiced mother of five children, put up a $100 bond to be held by the court for the 12-month period. She also was forbidden to enter five-and-10-cent stores.

LAKEFIELD

Miss Ora Dunford, Miss Mina Young, Miss Elsie Kidd, Mrs. Oscar Reid and Miss Jean Erskine of Sask. took in the Lindsay boat trip this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Addison and little daughter, Melva Jean, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Kingdon.

Mr. Daniel Shearer has returned to his home in Toronto after spending a three week's vacation with his aunt and cousin, Mrs. Irene Shearer and Virginia.

Mrs. Frank McCarty of Trenton, Ont., spent last weekend in Lakefield the guest of old friends, Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Shearer.

Miss Helen English, who is spending the summer with her aunt and cousin, Mrs. Shearer and Virginia, opened a class for children in tap and highland dancing, which is proving very popular and satisfactory to pupils and parents.

The opening day a number of ladies and children were present by special invitation to witness the dancing of the young teacher, which received well merited applause and each child who registered as a pupil, received their first lesson free.

Two little fishermen from Mud Lake, Winnifred Murphy, aged 11 and Mary Alice Renwick, aged 10, caught, landed, killed and brought home a 10¼ pound musky.

No Property Damage Campbellford Fire

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 1.—The Campbellford Fire Brigade did good work in battling a grass fire which broke out in Ogilvie's Hill, Ward 3, shortly after eleven o'clock Friday morning. Fanned by a stiff breeze the flames were creeping up the hill in the direction of Ernest Collard's residence. The chemical squad, assisted by a hastily-formed bucket brigade soon had the blaze under control with no loss to adjoining property.

Sabbath Message For the Shut-Ins

Sick Bodies and Sick Persons

By REV. W. P. ROBERTSON
Rector of St. John's Church

(St. Mark chapter 2, verse 9: "Is it easier to say Thy sins be forgiven—or to say Rise up and walk?)

I understand that these weekly messages are intended specially for the sick and shut-in. So I write for you who have personal experience of sickness or infirmity. Constantly you are wondering "Why?" I cannot answer that question but we can think together about the mystery of sickness and health.

I. It is easier to heal sick bodies than to heal sick persons. It is easier for the skilled surgeon to remove a diseased organ from the body than for the clergyman, or psychiatrist, to "cleanse the stuffed bosom of that perilous stuff that weighs upon the soul." Put in another way: It is a simpler matter to deal with physical conditions than with mental and spiritual conditions; to treat men and women as valuable animals rather than as sons and daughters of God. And the majority of people seem to regard most sicknesses and their treatment as entirely problems of the body, material disorders to be remedied, if possible, by material means. It does not seem to occur to them that human personality, character, God and the Soul, are necessarily involved in every case of human sickness and suffering.

II. Now think for a few minutes of the difference between car trouble and human trouble. Your car is making queer noises; it is not running smoothly, it stalls. You take it to a garage. You may be inquisitive enough to ask the mechanic what is wrong. Or you may be one of the many drivers who pride themselves on knowing nothing of the gadgets under the hood. So long as the car is all right when you get it back, that is all that matters. The car has no feelings about the trouble or the remedy. You supply any feeling that may enter into the case.

How many people seem to think no differently of sickness—so long as it is somebody else who is sick! Turn him over to the doctor for a check-up; put him into the human garage, the hospital, where physicians and surgeons will lubricate and repair the human machine and discharge him when in running order again.

But one day the man of rude health who has always taken this prosaic view of sickness falls sick himself. He makes the surprising discovery that there is a difference between car trouble and human trouble. He says: "I am not myself; I feel queer; I wonder what is wrong with me?" That man is standing on the threshold of a much misunderstood subject and a very wonderful experience: Spiritual Healing. He may never cross that threshold. A definite physical trouble may be speedily diagnosed and dealt with promptly and successfully. He may be satisfied to return to his job with his body functioning properly once more. But he was on the verge of discovering that the whole personality is involved in sickness and its healing; that spiritual and mental states make for health and sickness; that much sickness is in no way physical in its cause but really spiritual, those conditions that we dismiss by giving a name to our ignorance when we say "Just nerves!"

III. What is Spiritual Healing? First be clear as to what it is not. It is not a form of magic that dispenses with doctors and claims power to banish all ills by a waive of the hand or repeating a mystic formula. Spiritual Healing takes account of the whole man; body, mind and spirit. It sees all scientific methods of treating sickness as from God. Doctor and surgeon are the ministers of God conveying His blessing of health to sick bodies and, in certain types of case, to sick minds to. But Spiritual Healing holds that the question of the text, and all that it implies, ever remains with its challenge: Is it easier to say Thy sins be forgiven or to say rise up and walk? Which is of primary importance: physical or spiritual, body or soul? Are the sick "made whole," are they really "well" as soon as they can rise up and walk? Does healing mean no more than repair and adjustment of our body-mechanism? Someone has said that when we are laid on our backs, God wants us to use it as an opportunity to gaze up into Heaven. The primary aim of Spiritual Healing is to deepen our sense of fellowship with God through Christ Jesus. A secondary result in many cases is the healing the sick body.

But it is essential that in our sickness we are earnestly desiring to be brought thus nearer to God and to enjoy the peace of realizing that we are His sons and daughters. It is the duty of the clergy in visiting the sick to awaken and foster that desire. This is the faith that has saving and healing power. The healing ministry of Christ is a declaration that God's will for us is health, not sickness. One serious obstacle to experiencing spiritual healing is the traditional attitude of resignation saying "Thy will be done," as a Mahometan says "Kismet." God's will for us in our holiness, our health, our happiness. We are seeking the doing of God's will when we call the doctor to fight the sickness that is thwarting God's will. We are doing God's will when we commit ourselves in absolute faith to His love, that He may be glorified in us, whether by an undeniable healing of our sick bodies or by the manifestation in our characters of a new love, joy and peace that can glory in our infirmities.

Madoc Tourist Camp Is Opened To Public

MADOC, August 1—The citizens of Madoc and vicinity enjoyed a great musical treat on Thursday evening, July 30th, on the occasion of the opening of the Madoc Tourist Camp, which has been newly completed by Frank Smith, and recently opened to the public.

The Belleville Band of thirty pieces furnished a delightful and varied program, under the capable leadership of Mr. Jobson, which was much enjoyed.

Short addresses were given by Frank Smith, Rev. W. G. Hope Swayne, C. F. Aylesworth, E. G. Tufts (who presided at chairmen) D. J. Barry, Rev Father Meagher and others who one and all gave much praise to the executive ability of Mr Smith, as shown by the much needed addition to tourist requirements and comfort.

Movies were shown under the courtesy of the Shell Motor Oil Company, with several special pictures for the children including the always beloved Mickey Mouse.

Philip's Missionary Labors

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 2 is Acts 8:5-40, the Golden Text being Acts 8:4, "They therefore that were scattered abroad went about preaching the word").

STEPHEN and Philip with the others of the seven deacons of the early church were appointed to "serve tables" in the care of the poor so that the apostles might "give themselves continually to prayer and the ministry of the word." And yet it seems that these two laymen for a time outshone even the apostles in the preaching of the word, Stephen in Jerusalem and Philip in Samaria. The gospel gives free course to individual initiative and ability and enforces no dead levels of uniformity that would "keep a good man down.'

Race Prejudice Yields.

Ignoring the ancient prejudice which demanded that "Jews have no dealings with Samaritans," Philip, like his Master, "must needs go through Samaria." He knew also the message Samaria needed, for, he "went down to the city of Samaria and preached Christ unto them. And the people with one scoord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did . . . and there was great joy in that city." The sincere acceptance of the gospel always brings joy, for the gospel came from heaven to earth as "good tidings of great joy." Christ's program included Samaria, and consequently his promised power attended this godly layman in carrying out the Lord's great commission there.

First Conflict With Superstition.

The gospel met its first conflict with superstition and sorcery here at Samaria in one "Simon by name, who beforetime in the city used sorcery, and amazed the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one." This man even professed faith and accepted baptism. But he was by no means sincere in his profession. For when Peter and John came down from Jerusalem, bringing added spiritual blessings to the new believers of Samaria, bestowing upon them special powers of the Holy Spirit by the laying on of their hands, Simon conceived the idea of commercializing this power.

Simony Enters the Church.

Holding the devilish idea that "every man has his price," Simon sought to bribe Peter and John: "He offered them money, saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay my hands, he may receive the Holy Spirit." We call this purchasing of ecclesiastical preferment "simony" from Simon of Samaria with whom it began, but with whom, unfortunately, it did not end. "But Peter said unto him, Thy silver perish with thee, because thou hast thought to obtain the gift of God with money. Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter: for thy heart is not right before God." This is a rebuke deserved by all who would commercialize spiritual gifts.

"Ethiopia Stretches Hands to God."

"Ethiopia shall haste to stretch out her hands unto God," the psalmist sang. God heeded and called Philip away from his successful work in a great city to go down into a desert and help one hungering soul, and that an Ethiopian. Thus God values one human soul and ignores all lines of race and color to bring his blessing. To this Ethiopian, reading the great Man of Sorrows chapter of Isaiah, and wondering who this was who "was led as a sheep to the slaughter," Philip, beginning from this scripture, preached Jesus, and upon his confession of repentance and faith in Christ baptized him and admitted him into the Church of Jesus Christ. Thus in one layman named Philip the witness of Christ went out from Jerusalem and Samaria unto the uttermost part of the earth.

National Message

By REV. W. PASCOE GOARD, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.

Let us learn by the contrast that prior to the last war we refused to make preparation. Therefore our people were not employed; the then existing gold currency was not circulated among them; they lived on a lower standard of living than would have been the case. That was the first effect of the refusal to do these things. The next effect was this: the condition arose in which it was essential that all equipment for the war should be obtained. Our own people were engaged directly with the war. We, therefore, had to go to neutral countries, set their population at work in the mines and the forests which supplied the raw material, and in the factories which produced the goods and we had to pay the producers and middlemen of other lands for the products with British money at a very much higher price than we should have paid our own home people. In order to do this, we had to borrow at a high rate of interest. We refused to work this thing out before the war; we have been obliged to work it out since the war, first in order to pay the principal. But the principal is not sufficient. The interest accumulates from year to year and we have had to enslave ourselves by solemn commitments to continue working ourselves to the end of our days, and, further, that our sons should continue to work through all their lifetime in order to repay the borrowings. It was madness; it was not religion; it was not anything that was good. We are following the same line of false reasoning still, and are facing the aggravation of social conditions by our blind action. In all matters of industry, trade and commerce, let us cut adrift from the idol of gold, and in the freedom which we have found, take our place in the new order as the constitutional leader of the nations into the freedom of the Kingdom of God. Instead of assuming the evil things which the dictators have inaugurated let us establish the good things of the kingdom and show that the law of the kingdom, economically, and in every other way, is indeed "the perfect law of liberty." The question will arise: "How are we to function if we jettison our god—the idol of gold?" The answer is, by restoring the Israel system furnished to us in the law of the Lord. The system is in our own hands, perfect, tried, proven and God Himself is behind it and will be wholly behind us if and when we restore it in its perfectness.

The true rule of life is to do one's best and leave all else to take care of itself.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

WE spoke last week of thinking in terms of eternity rather than in terms of time. This is one of the first steps to take in the practice of the art of living. There is an art of living, although perhaps many may not think so; the majority being like chips floating upon the surface of a turbulent river hurried to and fro, the sport and plaything of every chance eddy. Such people are the victims of life, for as yet they have no comprehension of aught else but the surface currents and know nothing of the peaceful mighty flow of the deeps. But there are some whose understanding seeks the deeper meaning; to these we speak.

The next step to take is that of detachment, or as Jesus put it, to be in the world, doing one's share of the world's work, and yet be not of it. Detachment clears our spiritual vision so that we can view things objectively to ourselves, unbiased by self, and so form cleared judgments. It is like the bystanders at a game of chess or checkers who can see the moves ahead far easier than the actual players, simply because they are not blinded by self-interest. "The onlooker sees most of the game," is a proverb based on a great truth. So that taking the detached attitude of the onlooker we come to a better understanding of circumstance, and if, to go a step further, we can look at ourselves in this manner, we can dispassionately assess our capabilities, our strengths and our weaknesses. Then we indeed make a great stride in wisdom, for we have taken the first step toward self-knowledge. For after all, we really know very little about ourselves. We say, "I, myself," but what is that "I" or "self"? Consider a case of dual or multiple personality where several distinct and separate selves take command of the individual, each one claiming to be the true self, and each one knowing nothing of the others, which is the real one, or is the most permanent one just as much an illusion of the mentality as the others are? "I think, therefore I am," but what or who thinks, how, and why? All these are questions that have to be determined before we can begin to know ourselves. And how can we even dimly comprehend the spiritual world when our ignorance of things near to hand is so vast. It is no wonder that the first step on the mystic path is to "take knowledge" for without knowledge we literally sit in darkness and in the shadow of death.—Lactantius III., Rosicrucian Order, San Jose, Calif.

God's eye upon us is not that of an inquisitor but of a Father.

Let us try to work for God each day and trust Him for to-morrow.

We come to know best what men are in their worst jeopardies.

VIMY VETERANS PLACE WREATH ON HAIG'S TOMB

Canada Pays Tribute To Memory Of Her War-Time Commander-In-Chief

SPECIAL SERVICE

By CAPT. W. W. MURRAY M.C.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DRYBURGH, Scotland, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Canada yesterday paid tribute to the memory of the soldier under whose leadership the Canadian Corps fought and 60,000 of its members died. Rev. John Kelman, Toronto, chairman of the Tuberculous Veterans Section of the Canadian Legion, deposited a wreath, on behalf of the government and people of Canada, on the tomb of Earl Haig of Bemersyde, war-time commander-in-chief of the British Armies in France.

Within the ruins of Dryburgh Abbey, close to the sepulchre of Scotland's most famous romancer, Sir Walter Scott, and within a mile of his ancestral home at Bemersyde, a plain Soldier's Cross marks the tomb of Haig. A peaceful spot, surrounded by innumerable vestiges of hoary antiquity, Dryburgh Abbey is instinct with restfulness that repels recollections of the turbulent years which witnessed his rise to world fame and of the storms that raged around his memory since he died.

Almost encircled by the River Tweed as it meanders its placid way to the North Sea, Dryburgh Abbey lies within the triple-peaked shadow of the Eildon Hills, famous in the song and legend of the Scottish Border. Five miles away is another ruined sanctuary, Melrose Abbey, enough of whose chaste structure remains to attest its whilom beauty. There lies the stout heart of Robert Bruce, the national hero of Scotland, brought to his homeland when the Black Douglas died in his attempt to carry it for sepulchre to the Holy Land.

From the flanks of the Eildons one surveys a section of Scotland fascinating in its romance, for this is the gateway to that ruggedly-beautiful border country which for centuries was known as "the Debateable Land." The surrounding hills, mounting higher and higher to the south until they culminate in the lofty Cheviots which fret the sky over England, were the eyries of the robber barons in the olden days. The Scots, the Elliots, the Kerrs, Armstrongs, Telfers and Irvines were troublesome, impoverished and haughty princelings in those ancient times, and the ruins of their castles litter the hills and valleys of the countryside.

Earl Haig died in January, 1928, just a little more than nine years after the close of the Great War. In 1925 he visited Canada, his object being to weld into one harmonious whole the multitude antagonistic factions of ex-soldiers who had segregated themselves into innumerable small groups, not in this country only, but throughtout the Empire.

In Canada he was partly successful, and at Winnipeg in the fall of 1925 the Canadian Legion came into being. The central body created by Haig was the British Empire Service League of which the late King George became Patron-in-Chief, while the Canadian Legion became the national representative association in the League.

When Haig died, his place was taken by the late Earl Jellicoe victor of Jutland.

In the past few years Earl Haig's leadership of the British Armies, and particularly his operations in 1917 at Ypres, have been under fire from the war-time Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, David Lloyd George. In an effort to combat those attacks, Rt. Hon. Alfred Duff-Cooper, British Minister of War, published the famous "Haig Diaries." The controversy continues to rage.

Today no whisper of that conflict percolated into the serenity of Dryburgh Abbey. At the unembellished Cross, surrounded by Flanders' poppies, no different from the hundreds of thousands which adorn the Gardens of the Dead in France, a Canadian serviceman, in the name of the government and people of his country, deposited a wreath in memory of a great commander and a great soldier.

VETERANS TROD CANADIAN SOIL TO HONOR SCOTS

Vimy Pilgrims Deposit Wreath On Scotland's National Shrine

HONOR 100,000 DEAD

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Aug. 1 (CP)—A little group of Canadian war veterans yesterday trod Canadian soil to deposit in the National Shrine of Scotland a wreath in memory of that nation's 100,000 dead in the Great War.

On the site of St. Mary's Chapel, founded by the pious David the First eight centuries ago, Rev. John Kelman of Toronto, chairman of the Tuberculous Veterans Section of the Canadian Legion, performed that ceremony within the Scottish National Memorial which crowns the frowning Castle of Edinburgh Rock.

Entering the Esplande of the Castle from the Lawnmarket, the party traversed an area which, by one of those capricious turns of Scottish history, remains forever Canada. It is the oldest of the few parcels of land outside the Dominion to which Canada has right and title. Canada, by virtue of ownership vested in the province of Nova Scotia, has had possession of some few square yards of the Castle Esplands for more than 300 years.

King Charles the First was the monarch who, early in his reign, created the "Baronets of Nova Scotia." The order was founded to enable Sir William Alexander, later Earl of Stirling, to finance the settlement of Acadia. For a monetary consideration, the baronets were granted lands in Nova Scotia. The grants were governed by other provisions relating to emigration and settlement.

By a fiction of Scottish law, the baronets were required to "tak' seizin'" of their lands; but Nova Scotia was far away. Consequently King Charles set aside an area on what is now the Esplanade of Edinburgh Castle and transferred it to the ownership of Nova Scotia so that all legal obligations might be fulfilled by the members of the new order. When Nova Scotia surrendered all extra-territorial rights to the Dominion at Confederation, the transfer of this small area in the heart of Edinburgh passed to Canada.

The history of the past few days thus rpeeated itself. On Sunday, Canadian war veterans stood within the territory of their own country on Vimy Ridge and participated in the unveiling of the most magnificent and inspiring memorial on the Western Front: today, they approached this shrine of unparalleled beauty across land which also was theirs.

To Memory of Scotsmen

In the Hall of Honor is an inscription dedicated to the memory of all Scotsmen who fell while in the Overseae Military Forces of the Dominions. More specific in relation to Canada, however, is the inclusion of three battalions of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. These are the 13th, the 42nd and the 73rd—all of them recruited from the Royal Highlanders of Montreal, a regiment affiliated with the Black Watch and now known as the Royal Highlanders of Canada.

The best symbolism of the shrine, conceived by Sir Robert Lorimer, vests it with a sanctity to which the deepest emotions instinctively react. Within the casket are the names of all Scotsmen who gave their lives in the war. In the Hall of Honor are panels consecrated to the memory of Scottish regiments and other units and services in which Scotsmen served. Beneath is a record of personnel relating to the panel.

Features of this heart-moving sanctuary have been reverently adapted by Canada and incorporated in the Memorial Chamber of the Parliament Buildings.

Later today Mr. Kelman and his party will motor to Dryburgh Abbey, 30 miles south of here, to lay a wreath on the tomb of Earl Haig, who was commander-in-chief of the British Armies in France.

Wolf And Dog Form Hunting Alliance

KEDWICK,N. B., August 1—(CP)—A huge gray wolf, accompanied by a half-wolf dog, is roaming the wilds of northeast New Brunswick and Quebec, woodsmen claim.

Edmond Pinault, a registered guide, declared he saw the animals near the Restigouche river. David Ogilvy, sportsman, guide and veteran trapper, expressed an opinion the wolf had become separated from the pack north of the St. Lawrence by the early break-up of ice last spring and had sought seclusion in the New Brunswick game reserve north of the Restigouche. Doubtless the wolf had formed a hunting comradeship with the wild dog, he thought.

That human beings have missed the pathway of God's highest purpose is evident in all the chaos and disorder of human experience. All have gone astray and have turned to their own way. This is sin, and sin brings destruction and death. Jesus said, "Except Ye Convert," ye cannot realize God's best purpose in His Kingdom. Turn about! Submit your will to God's will. Turn to Calvary. Accept the offer of God's Love, Rest in the peace it brings. You will find when you turn to God, that God has already turned to you.

Philip's Missionary Labors — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

— Scripture—Acts 8:5-40 —

Stephen and Philip were appointed as laymen to distribute relief to the poor. But both of them became great preachers. Philip went to the city of Samaria, where many were converted and great joy filled the city.

Here a sorcerer or magician named Simon professed to become a Christian. When Peter and John came giving special spiritual gifts Simon tried to buy this power to use for his own selfish purpose.

"Peter said unto him, Thy silver perish with thee, because thou hast thought to obtain the gift of God with money . . . thy heart is not right before God." Simon repented and asked them to pray for him.

God called Philip from Samaria to meet an Ethiopian in a desert as he rode in his chariot reading the scriptures. Philip preached Jesus to him and at his request baptized him.

The Courtesy Idea

"Try Courtesy" is an idea which the Minister of Highways is trying to teach to motor drivers in Ontario. His idea is sound as a new dollar, and we hope he can make drivers think as he does about it.

If there were some definite way of pumping courtesy into motor drivers it would be easy enough. We inoculate our children now against diphtheria, and the thing works so well that we know the children are safe. If we could possibly apply courtesy in the same way on adults who drive cars we would have pleasant days and nights, nor would we shudder before we started to read the papers on Monday or following a holiday week-end.

Courtesy, we take it, means just plain good manners, a willingness to give to other drivers the same sort of treatment we would like to receive from them. It is a cure for a good deal of our traffic trouble, but it is so simple that many may hesitate to apply it. They do not have to get a new gadget for the car nor do they have to have any patent stuff injected with the gas or oil. A driver can start at it any day in the week and he can keep on using courtesy secure in the knowledge that the supply will not run out.

Welcoming the President

President Roosevelt is visiting at Quebec, where he meets with Lord Tweedsmuir and Premier King. Probably much of the time will be taken up discussing international affairs, but we are glad the President of United States is on this side of the line. It would be well if he had opportunity and time to see more of this land. We believe he would be well received and we can assure him he could travely in safety.

Likewise we wish rulers in Europe could or would do more visiting one with another. If they saw more of other countries they would find out what the people were doing, and we believe they would learn that most of them desired to make a living, take care of their families and attend to their own business.

We know of nothing better than a bit of visiting to make people know and understand other people. We are glad President Roosevelt is in Canada.

Star Man Craves Speed

The Toronto Star man wants the trains to run faster. Twenty years ago says he a person could take the boat from a number of summer resorts on Georgian Bay and land in Midland. He could get on a train and be at the Union Station, Toronto at 4.30. Today the boat arrives at the same time, but it takes three hours longer to reach Toronto. He spends nearly two hours in Midland before the train leaves, half an hour in Orillia and quarter of an hour in Allandale. The Star man does not like waiting two hours between boat and train, nor does he like stopping at Orillia, nor is he taken with waiting fifteen minutes at Allandale where he can look out the window at the splendid view across the bay. Even in vacation time he wants to be whisked about in a hurry.

On a Saturday it is worth looking at the size of the excursion train which pulls into Huntsville and other Muskoka points, and on Sunday afternoon away it goes again and the coaches are filled. And that train seems to get along at a good rate. Perhaps it is the way people look at things now that makes it different, but we always found it hard to see where there was much of a change or a rest in hopping about like that over a week-end.

But that is what the Star man wants. He cannot content himself with doing a bit of sitting around or having a bit of conversation with other folk. He is all in a dither or some such thing to get back to Toronto in a hurry. Just why he cannot understand. The Star man is caught up in the spirit of rush even when on vacation. When he gets off the boat at Midland he wants a man right there saying "Step lively mister, train is just leaving." He would be pleased if Orillia were but a moment's pause and if the train did not stop at Allandale at all but went swishing right through. How does the man ever expect to soak up the needed degree of rest with such a feeling stirring him all the time? Possibly when he is at his summer cottage he is content to carry water from a pump, dig a hole in the ground to bury the garbage, sit on the front porch and wait for the milkman before he can eat his breakfast, and crack up a few sticks before the tea kettle can be brought to a boil. But when he deals with trains he wants things different. The urge is upon him to have them scooting about; the spirit of rest and vacation must not invade them at all. People are strange that way.

Canada Packers' Report

The annual report of Canada Packers is interesting because it has been referred to as one of the concerns which has been making it hard going for the farmers of the Dominion. It is what is called part of "big business." So it is at least worth mentioning that the profit per pound of all the Canadian live stock handled amounted to 1-10 cents per pound; that is one-tenth of a cent per pound, and we know of no wholesaler or retailer who is doing business on that margin of profit.

The report goes into detail regarding the price of wheat, beef cattle and hogs since 1930. Sept. 1932 to March 1933 is named as the time when prices for farm products were dragging on the bottom. That period and the improvement since then are set forth this way:

	Sept. 1932 to March 1933	Sept. 1935 to March 1936
Wheat No. 1 Northern..	46.9	85.6
Bacon hogs, Ontario...	3.81	8.03
Lambs, (Toronto)	5.50	8.12
Steers, 1,050 lbs. down..	4.27	5.35
Butter	21.99	24.17
Cheese, (Toronto)	9.69	12.43

Commenting on the situation as disclosed in the figures, the report says there had been in those years a surplus of wheat and cattle. Wheat sales had been stopped by the frenzied desire of European nations to make themselves self-sufficient by growing wheat themselves, and the chief cattle market had been closed by the Hawley-Smoot tariff of 1930 which put on 3 cents per pound entering United States. The case of hogs was different because the Ottawa agreement made it possible to ship to Britain 1,250,000 more hogs (in the way of bacon) than were actually shipped. Wheat can be turned into bacon, and a bacon hog can be produced from approximately 16 bushels of wheat. If wheat had been turned to feeding an extra 1,250,000 hogs it would have consumed 20,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat, and Canada Packers contend it would have been a profitable undertaking.

There is another interesting point made. This: The surplus produce actually determines the price in the home market. The price which the Canadian farmer receives for all his wheat is determined by the price received for his surplus (or export) at Liverpool, and the price of all his hogs is determined by the price received for his surplus (export bacon) in London. Admittedly the day of simplicity in marketing is a thing of the past. It is no longer a case of a farmer taking his grain to town and dealing with an individual buyer, nor yet of killing a pig in season and disposing of it to some person who might want it. It is world-wide business in which the farmer is engaged whether he realizes it or not.

We read that one of the chief troubles is that a known condition is hard to meet because there are 700,000 farmers in Canada and each one is largely making his own decisions as to what he produces without reference to the decision of any other farmer. Canada Packers expresses the hope that hog production might be increased in order that Canada might establish her place in the British market by filling her full quota, but unfortunately oats and barley, from which most hogs are produced, are a short crop. The report is worth reading and studying, and it would serve a good purpose if Canada Packers would place their annual report in the hands of as many farmers as possible.

There Were Seven Skunks

The skunk, it seems, stands a fairly good chance even in traffic, that is in the daytime. Now and then they get hit by cars at night, but we do not believe any driver would hit one even at night if he could avoid doing so.

Our Marmora correspondent says seven skunks were on Highway No. 7 just at the limits of the village about 7 in the evening, and they halted traffic for about 7 minutes. That is an easy story to remember. Highway 7, skunks 7, times lost 7 minutes. The skunks had found something to eat on the road, and not a car driver would approach to disturb them. Would not even toot a horn at them. Just stood still until the skunks were good and ready to depart. And that by the way is the proper way to deal with one skunk or seven of them. Don't deal with them at all. It's much safer for the skunks and all others concerned.

This Is Rather Surprising

The Department of Education has correspondence courses for pupils who are remote from schools, for crippled children or for those who for various reasons are unable to attend regular places of learning. The courses have now been extended to include fifth form class work with the exception of French and Latin.

Neil McDougall, who directs this work, reports that pupils taking the courses are making just as good progress as those who are attending school in the regular way. Some of the entrance pupils passed with honors.

That's interesting, encouraging, and also provocative of a few questions. These pupils must have worked things out for themselves, or else father and mother helped them. The average teacher likes to have father and mother keep out of the picture. Then who said if there was to be any home work done? Perhaps the scholars set their own hours and did things their own way. And there would be no one to tell the pupil to stay in after four and no one to call the pupil up to the front and order him to hold out his hand. And all the time we have been thinking it necessary to have all this visible and adequate equipment in order to educate a child. Surprising!

NOTE AND COMMENT

Alberta's funny money will soon be ready for circulation. But they'd better not try to pay any fines or provincial taxes with it.

A man named Sherry was bitten by a race horse at Regina. With a cognomen like that the horse just naturally had to have a nip.

They probably call them boiler rooms because the high pressure men are always letting off steam and the customer is usually in hot water.

A bit of screen will keep the mosquitoes out of summer cottages, but nothing has been found yet which will deal effectively with the week-end visitors.

Transients in Saskatchewan coming from outside the province are to be cut off from relief. With no camps open the wanderers look to be in for a thin time.

The news that Col. George H. Drew is to be Conservative campaign manager in Ontario is enough to make Attorney-General Roebuck take the first steamer home.

Two of Uncle Sam's boxers have been sent back to the United States because they were homesick. A fighter with nostalgia is something new in the history of the fistic art.

A Toronto man lit a match to see if there was any gasoline in the tank of the car. There was and he's resolved that next time he'll find out in a different way.

The Roosevelt smile had such an effect in Quebec, according to reports, that all the political leaders are trying to copy it for use in the provincial campaign.

Britain's quads are on view once a week to the public at a charge of 25 cents. Here the Dionnes have to give a daily show—but they, of course, are under government management.

The C.C.F. organization consistently refuses to jell. Now the leader of the party in the British Columbia Legislature has refused to accept the official program which he calls fantastic.

A Kansas woman complained that her husband forced her to stuff skunks and the court has given her a divorce. It sounds like reasonable ground for a separation at least.

Controller Robbins says that 10 per cent. of the people in that city are on relief, while in 1933 the number was almost 20 per cent. But we dare say the cost to the city has not come down to the same extent.

Employment is on the upgrade, according to the latest figures, but unfortunately relief costs are not dropping in the same proportion as the municipalities know even if the governments seem sometimes to forget.

Canadian poultry is making a hit in Leipzig, Germany, where it is being shown at the World Poultry Conference. Visitors like the Canadian birds' vitality and liveliness and those, let us tell them, are characteristics that are typically Canadian.

Things seem to chase each other in fast order in this country. Today we saw a notice calling for energetic agents to start handling Christmas cards, and it was just last evening we were knocking a few bugs off the potato tops.

PERHAPS HE HAD

(By A.B.K.)

¶ Jim Swab lived mostly in his car, he drove the thing both fast and far, he boasted of his speed; he travelled on the road each day, that's how he earned his oats and hay, made all a man could need.

¶ He knew the rules of driving too, knew everything a man should do, he travelled far each day; one thing he would insist upon, 'twould never put him in the wrong, that was the right-of-way.

¶ Jim Swab drove off from home one day, insisting on the right-of-way, he met a ten-ton truck; and it was bearing down on Jim, that made no odds at all to him, right to his path he stuck.

¶ The ten-ton truck struck Jim real hard, he landed in a near-by yard, his little car a wreck; they called an ambulance for Jim, to see what they could do for him, he wiggled at the neck.

¶ The doctors spent ten hours on him, they bandaged up his neck and shin, nailed up a busted knee; they straightened out an arm and wrist, and from his nose took out a twist, he was a sight to see.

¶ Jim Swab come to next day or so, they feared that he might slip and go, he was a battered jay; he weakly tried to move his head, the nurse reported that he said—"I had the right-of-way."

Old Time Athletes Were Pretty Good

(From The Ottawa Journal)

ON Monday Mr. William ("Billy") Foran went to the Rotary Club, gave the members a talk on sports. In a day when every second man has a blue-print for our economic salvation, Mr. Forbes to begin with, was happy in his subject. He was happy for another reason. Mr. Foran is a link, and a sturdy one, with the bravedays of sports in Ottawa; days which go back to titan struggles between the Capitals and the Shamrocks, to mighty combats between Rough Riders and Ottawa College, to the fadeless exploits of the old "Silver Seven."

They were the peak days of Ottawa's athletic glory. We may have more people playing games now, which is good, and more women playing them, which is better, yet to those whose memories go back twenty-five or perhaps forty years, there was something about Ottawa's sporting atmosphere then that cannot be recaptured.

And not only in Ottawa. We hear now of sporting records being broken every day, of golfers mercilessly drubbing par, of tournaments being won with scores unknown in the old days, of seconds being clipped off track records. The hearing of them makes youngsters think their ancestors were pretty slow.

But were they? Or were the conditions different?

Well, there is golf. Are the Sarazens and Maneros and the others better than Ray and Vardon were, or even old Abe Mitchell? Or do they work with better clubs? The answer, one thinks, is easy. To begin with, the modern golf ball has from ten to twenty yards more to carry than the old gutta percha sphere used thirty or forty years ago. Fairways are better and greens are smoother, and, what is more important, sand hazards are easier. When Ray or Vardon got buried in a sandtrap, they were without the modern No. 9 to blast themselves out. Nor did they have the flexible steel shafts and the skilfully weighted clubs which, in the hands of a good golfer, add so much to distance and accuracy. Yet RAY and VARDON, we imagine, and many another of their day, could have given some of the modern golf stars quite a battle.

Take hammer throwing. Some years ago United States athletes began smashing records with the light hammer. The y had begun to use a ball with a flexible wire handle. The British and Canadians stuck to the wooden handle for a long time, but couldn't hold the records. It called from David Duncan, famous British sports writer, the withering comment: "A hammer is a hammer, and if you can't use it as a hammer then it isn't a hammer. If in doubt, ask a blacksmith." But the flexible handle went on breaking the records.

There is track running. Is it the runner or the track that is breaking records? One answer is that the old records were made by men who ran on soft cinders. Today they have lightning-fast tracks, and, by the same token, better shoes. One wonders what a runner like Bradley, the Yorkshireman, would have done under the new conditions. He once did a hundred yards in less than ten seconds.

There is football, and hockey. They teach football now with a blackboard, and they line up in military formations, and they have the shift, and the Lord only knows how many signals, and practise what they call "deception." It is all very interesting, but we wonder how many of these modern and well-padded young men could have gone through sixty full minutes of gruelling play against our Rough Riders? How many of them could kick a ball as accurately as, say, Eddie Gleeson?

And so with hockey. They play hockey stars three minutes at a time, now, or perhaps five. In the old days when our "Silver Seven" were in their glory, they kept them in at top speed for sixty minutes. And they didn't call them "iron men." They were just hockey players.

We're not arguing that the athletes of today are inferior, that all the great athletes are dead. We think simply it is a good thing to remind some youngsters that new records aren't everything, and that, made under changed and more favorable conditions, they aren't at all wonderful. The old-timers, certainly, were pretty good. Some of them were extraordinarily tough.

THOSE SUN SPOTS.

(Kitchener Record)

If there's anything to the sunspots theory, we are almost certain to have a business boom during the next three years.

According to this theory a rise in activity of sunspots on the sun means a rise in prosperity on earth.

Dr. Loring B. Andrews, Harvard university astronomer, reports that the sun's spots are dancing faster, and will reach a climax in 1939.

He reminds people that recent years of maximum sunspots were 1928, 1917 and 1906 with minimum spottedness in 1933, 1923, 1913. The cycle is about 11 years.

Most of us can recall the prosperity of 1928, the war prosperity of 1917 and the booming 1906. Probably you still remember the depression in 1933 and the lean years of 1921-22. The depression due about 1913 was averted by the outbreak of the war.

So if your destiny is determined by sunspots, you have every reason to rejoice.

LIKE A FRIEND.

(Niagara Falls Review)

DIFFICULT to know how some husbands should be treated by their wives. One local man is quoted as saying his doesn't treat him like a husband. There is the classic story of the woman whose husband never beat her as did most of her friend's husbands. In a burst of enthusiasm she said "he treats me more like a friend than a husband."

Cradles and Votes

(From The Ottawa Journal).

IN the United States not long ago a Columbia University professor, running for office, decided to enrich what he called "the organized corpus of knowledge about political psychology." To achieve this he divided his electoral district into "emotional," "rational" and "control" wards. A sentimental open letter was the emotional weapon; the attack on reason was a simple argument that all of us are Socialists.

The emotional appeal won. Whereupon the professor (his story is told in The Journal of Abnormal and Social Psychology) concludes that politicians are wasting money and going unscientifically about the business of getting votes. "He who lacks control over the required stimuli cannot obtain the desired responses."

The professor, we submit, shouldn't be so sure. Not so sure that politicians are unscientific.

What, for example, would he say of this week's news from Quebec? Of how the Godbout Government, with a flash of inspiration, and by a curious coincidence on the eve of an election, has announced a 100-acres of land bonus for every family of twelve children?

If that doesn't obtain the "required stimuli" in Quebec, then we don't know our ballots. Indeed, if we were a politician and made that promise in Quebec, our sole worry would be where all the land suitable for farming would come from. Almost we'd be raising an army to annex part of New Brunswick and Ontario.

Not that the proposal is new. Away back in the '80's, if we remember rightly, the late great Honore Mercier had a similar plan for Quebec, though just what came of it we aren't sure. In Australia about 20 years ago they bonused the birthrate—so many pounds for each child—but, curiously enough, the birthrate, laughing at bonuses, went and declined.

In Europe, of course, it's the thing. We mean bonused babies. Hitler does it, and Mussolini. Dictators, however, view the thing from a different angle—from the war angle. They have plenty of population, so much population that they want new lands for them (it is this they mean when they talk "expansion"), but that isn't the point. The real point is that Hitler and Mussolini want more babies because they want more troops. More fodder for cannons. They have said so in effect.

Quebec's Mr. Godbout, he is different. His concern with cradles is merely the good man's concern for votes. He is just showing that he knows something about "the organized corpus of political psychology."

Encouraging Tourists.

(From The Chatham Daily News).

PARTICULAR attention is being given in many districts of Ontario to the encouragement of the tourist trade. People are being urged to show every courtesy to visitors, to encourage them to return, and to tell their friends of the hospitality which awaits them in this wonderful province of Ontario. Most Tourists are here today because their friends have told them about Canada. They have heard of the consideration given visitors, and they have come to see and experience for themselves.

There may be some people, quite willing to be hospitable, who are at a loss to know how to go about it. We recall an incident which happened a few years ago when a citizen of Chatham walking up town saw a party of tourists parked near an intersection. Most men would have continued about their own business, but this man sensed that something was wrong. He approached the car, learned that the party had lost their way, gave the necessary directions, received a smile of friendliness and a cheery word of thanks, and the incident was over. But there are bound to be many "repercussions" from such an incident. Those tourists will talk to their friends when they return home. People like to spend their vacations among hospitable, considerate people.

The Toronto Star gives a few pointers upon how to "try courtesy" with tourists. Canadian motorists can do a lot by stopping their cars and offering assistance to tourists in trouble on the highway. To drive a visiting motorist to the nearest service station for gas or to the nearest telephone to summon a repair car, is a simple courtesy not soon forgotten, says the Star.

Moreover the overlooking of minor and unintentional errors natural to travel in an unfamiliar province, is another way in which tourists may be extended courtesy. Deliberate misconduct and reckless driving is not to be tolerated, but an offense which is clearly the result of unfamiliarity with the country might often be pardoned with benefit to the tourist trade in general. Moreover the attendant at the service station who puts himself out to be obliging and the proprietor of the hotel and tourist home who sees that full value is returned for the money the visitors spend, have an excellent opportunity to perform a service to the whole province in building up a reputation for service and hospitality which will mean much to the tourist trade of the future.

FLAP-JACKS.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

"WHAT are flap-jacks?" asked Mr. Justice Bennett in a recent case in the London court of justice.

"A flap-jack," replied counsel, "is really a pancake which is tossed over while cooking. I am sure Your Lordship must have seen them so used in public places."

"I have," answered His Lordship, "and one ought never to see them so used."

There seems to be nothing Justice Bennett can do about this except establish a League for the Prevention of Flapping Flap-Jacks. We have often admired the dexterity of the gents who make 'em flap, although we have had our misgivings sometimes as to what happens to the jack that he may miss and drop on the floor. Still we must admit we have never seen a flapper miss his flap. The true flap-jacker must acquire skill as a juggler as well as that of a chef to be a worthy member of his craft. We would be sorry if Mr Lud'n dictum were carried into effect and flapping were forbidden. What would a lot of people do with their spare time if they couldn't watch the flap-jack flapper?

A NECESSARY REGULATION

(Guelph Mercury)

In passing the by-law providing for a full stop before entering a designated through street, the City Council's object was to ensure a maximum of safety to the citizens—its intention that the regulation be strictly observed. It is the duty of every motorist to conform with this regulation, and of the police to see that the purpose of the by-law is not defeated.

Hard to Believe How Time Flies

AUGUST 1

1906 British bowlers are given a warm welcome to Peterborough. The reception committee is headed by John Crane.

B. S. Cutler of Pitsburg, Pa., is here investigating the possibilities of the gold mines in Peterborough and Hastings counties.

ALL FOR NOTHING.

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

NEXT time your wife asks for a new white dress just jump up and say she can't have one. That's all there is to it, tell her. Make it sound as though you mean business, and then if she makes a move to grab the nearest available object to hurl at your head, tell her the reason: there isn't any such a thing as white—not pure white, that is. So how can she get a white dress?

David L. Macadam, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has just completed a three-year study to determine what whiteness really is, and he has concluded that the color of perfect white does not exist on earth. The closest you can get to it, Mr. Macadam says, are new fallen snow and purest chalk.

Chances are your wife will not insist on a pure white dress, though. Just a plain, ordinary white one will do her, so what good has all Mr. Macadam's study done for us husbands?

QUIET SUNDAYS.

(St. Mary's Journal-Argus)

SUNDAY observance has changed mightily to the past few years, due largely to the motor car. The first day of the week, as a day of worship and rest, appears to have lost ground. We sometimes wonder whether the average person today realizes what a valuable asset a quiet Sunday is to that portion of the human race which retains some vestige of it.

If we allow our Sunday to be lost, and to drift into an open Sunday such as they have in many lands, with open theatres and business as usual, we will handicap the coming generation in the age-old search for "fullnes of life."

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP). — Stocks, off balance during the greater part of to-day's session, rallied quietly in the final half-hour.

The majority, however, failed to gain any momentum on the comeback and the close was irregular. Transfers were around 550,000 shares.

A steady to slightly higher price trend was shown by such Canadian stocks as International Nickel, Dome, McIntyre, Hiram Walker and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams. Dominion government bonds were quiet. Canadian dollars eased 1/32 of a cent at 99 31/32 cents.

Produce Plentiful On Farmers' Market

There was again a busy farmers' market this (Saturday) morning, and a large and particularly good offering of market garden produce, considering the adverse weather conditions. Potatoes were down 25 cents at $2.25 a bag. In peck lots they were fetching 40 cents. As was the case last week, there was a regular glut of raspberries, which were offered at 20 cents a quart. There were choice cherries at 50 cents for a 6-quart basket; red currants, 50 cents a 6-quart basket; and Duchess cooking appes, 25 cents a 6-quart basket, and greengages 15 cents a quart.

Onions were 5 cents a bunch; cabbage, 2 heads 15 cents; beets and carrots, 5 cents a bunch; string beans, 25 cents a 6-quart basket; corn, 25 cents a dozen; rhubarb, 3 bunches for 10 cents; kohlrabi, 5 cents a head; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; tomatoes, 10 cents a pound; cauliflower, 5 cents a head (small), 2 for 15 cents (large).

Eggs were in demand at 25 cents a dozen, with butter at 28 cents a pound; chickens, 25 cents a pound; hens, 17 and 18 cents a pound; and ducklings, 22 cents a pound.

New Seasonal Highs In Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, July 31 (CP).—Dollar wheat extended its stay into a second session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-da yas bullish influences unied to push wheat futures prices past the $1 mark in all three positions and on to the third successive recording of new seasonal highs.

After reaching a three-cent advance at top levels, prices near midsession ruled ¼ to 2¼ cents higher, with July at 102¾, October 102 and December 100⅝ cents a bushel.

Heavy export purchases placed at 3,000,000 bushels were a major factor in the advance and large investment purchases strengthed the support against flurries of profittaking and sales credited to the Wheat Board.

MARMORA

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mumby of Toronto are visiting relatives in this district.

Mr. E. Phillips of Buffalo renewed acquaintances at Deloro on Friday.

Marmora Women's Institute held a picnic on Thursday afternoon at the cottage of Mrs. F. R. Wells at Crowe Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brady were tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hewitt on Wednesday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing cards and dancing, after which the gifts were opened and admired. In neat speeches the recipients expressed their thanks. A delicious lunch was served.

Twenty-one American doctors recently visited Dublin, Irish Free State, while touring Europe.

The Revolution Is Over—For Them

Here is the grim harvest of the Spanish revolution—dead men, dead horses, smashed motor cars, in the streets of Barcelona. This picture, one of the first actual photographs to reach America, shows havoc wrought by bitter street fighting in Plaza Cataluna, Barcelona. It was typical of scenes through the unhappy, war-torn country. But the loyal Government troops succeeded in stemming the tide of the Fascist advance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Wheat futures prices touched the highest point in three years at top levels on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday as values forged past the dollar mark to new seasonal highs in all three futures for the third successive session.

Slipping somewhat toward the close, prices finished ¼ lower to 1⅞ higher, with July at $1.01⅞, October, $1.01⅝ and December $1.00¼ to $1.00½ a bushel.

Bullish weather reports, unexpected large gains at Liverpool and heavy export and investment purchasers influenced advances.

Export business was placed at 3,500,000 bushels and it was estimated that, inclusive of this figure, approximately 6,000,000 bushels were absorbed in the pit.

Liverpool led in the advance in world markets, scoring new seasonal highs for the fifth consecutive day and closing 4¼ to 4 pence higher, the widest advance in months. Broomhall reported generally unsettled weather in Europe and fear of a wet harvest.

Considerable profit-taking appeared at Winnipeg and sales were also credited to the wheat board. Offerings, however were generally well absorbed on support coming mainly from export, southern and investment interests.

LONDON AND PARIS BECOME ANXIOUS

France, according to well-informed sources here, but reliable evidence that the German Nazi organization in Spain also is co-operating with the rebels now exists.

See Rebels Winning

The possibility of military successes by the rebels grows daily greater, informed quarters here believe. On the other hand, whatever the rebel successes, certain factors should not be lost sight of, it is pointed out.

Firstly, now that the proletariat is armed, the mass of the Spanish people will fight to the end against a Fascist government. In other words, although the Fascists may take power, they probably will not be equal to the task of restoring order and Spain probably will remain in a state of anarchy for a long time to come.

Secondly, if the Fascists gain control of Madrid, the Barcelona and the whole province of Catalonia will almost certainly cut adrift from the rest of Spain, and establish an independent government.

A Fascist government in Spain would affect French military strength in Europe. France is believed to have counted on a friendly Spain, in the event of a crisis, to rush French black troops from French Morocco to France via Spanish Morocco, then from Ceuta across the Gibraltar Straits to Algeciras in Spain proper, and from there by rail.

Not only would this be quicker than the long sea journey from French Morocco to Marseille, but it would be easier conveying troops on the short sea-crossing. Also it would enable France to have a stronger naval force in the North Sea, where the German navy is growing in size.

FIND SECTIONHAND VICTIM OF FREIGHT

Shannonville Man Struck Following Meeting At Indian Council House

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP) —The body of Samuel Corby, 48, a sectionhand, was found early to-day on the railroad tracks at Shannonville, eight miles east of Belleville. It was believed Corby was struck by a fast Canadian National Railways freight that passed at four o'clock.

Corby and his wife had attended a meeting in the council house of the Tyenindaga Indian Reserve. They came home about three o'clock and Corby went for a walk up the track.

A freight crew saw the body some time later and notified the dispatch in Belleville. J. Davidson, section foreman, went out and found the mangled remains.

Corby, a war veteran, is survived by his widow and two children.

Coroner Dr. F. G. Wallbridge opened an inquest to-day, which was adjourned for a week.

HICCUP SPECIALIST

Actor Capitalizes On Idea Social Disaster s Good For a Laugh.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 (CP), — That sometimes inevitable social disaster—the hiccup—is making money for Marshall Ruth. Ruth is a movie veteran. Eight months ago he decided acting wasn't paying too well and decided to give it up. Then he discovered something, tested it and sold it to directors. "I found out that folks, no matter how serious the situation, will laugh at a hiccup," Ruth said to-day. "So I made myself a hiccup specialist."

Nazis Offer Czechs 10-Year Peace Pact

LONDON, Aug. 1 (CP)—Chancellor Hitler will offer Czechoslovakia a 10-year non-aggression pact if the country breaks its alliance with Soviet Russia and makes concessions to its German minority, the Morning Post declared.

The Morning Post said, "We learn that a new German move may be expected shortly. It will probably take the form of an offer to Czechoslovakia of a 10-year non-aggression pact. In return for this the Czechs will be asked to accept the following conditions:

"1—Adjustment of the grievances of the German minority.

"2—Creation of a federal system which would give the German minority autonomy.

"3—Rupture by Czechoslovakia of her alliance with Russia."

FIVE ARE DROWNED IN TROPICAL GALE

Two Other Vessels Missing As Storm Roars Down Florida Coast

VALPARAISO, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—A tropical storm charged with at least five deaths blew itself out in southern Alabama to-day.

The coast guard reported last night the tug Minnie Lee sank in Choctowhatchee Bay and that the crew of five was missing. Lack of reports from two other vessels gave rise to fears the death toll might be even larger.

Coast guardsmen searched still tumbling gulf waters for the fishing schooner Sea Gull, unreported since she left Tampa July 25 for the dry Torugas. The Sea Gull also had five aboard.

The auxiliary schooner Ketchum of St. Petersburg, with an undetermined number on board, was off the northwest Florida coast when the hurricane hit yesterday and was unreported to-day.

A number of Florida communities found the damage relatively light in view of the hurricane's force. The state road department estimated road damage at $10,000 to $15,000. Some frame dwellings were levelled, but their occupants had sought safe places.

Wm. James Concludes Duties At Cemetery

William James terminated today his twenty years of service as superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery, and has moved to his new home Bethune Street north. Under his management the cemetery attained a new standard of beauty, extended its boundaries almost to the limits of the natural park and resting place for those who are gone, and in many ways improved the service which sooner or later is required by every family. Mr. James is succeeded by C. Frank Kitney whose long experience in directing the management of land as a successful gardener should well equip him for his new responsibilities. The Kitney gardens will be supervised by Ernest and Fred Kitney.

Ontario C.C.F. Will Attempt To Patch Up Rift In Ranks

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP)— At a special session tomorrow, warring factions within the ranks of the Ontario Cooperative Commonwealth Federation will attempt to patch up their quarrel of May 1 in time for the national convention which opens here Monday.

Sunday the executive officials of the Ontario section of the C.C.F. will meet members who were expelled for participation in the May Day rally in defiance of party orders in effort to reach a conciliation.

One Pound of Coal in Locomotive Will Carry Freight Tons Freight One Mile

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (CP) — One pound of coal, blazing under a modern locomotive, will turn loose enough energy to haul more than eight tons of freight over a mile of track.

That estimate was made to-day by J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, who said that the carriers had increased their efficiency in the use of fuel 42 per cent since 1920.

Smoke in the atmosphere cost London $400,000,000 in loss of light and bad effect on health in the last year.

SLAG PUMP TURNED OUT TO BE USEFUL

Old Iron Ore Cast Away For Years—Now Used For Building Material

LONDONDERRY, N. S., August 1 —(CP)—A new industry has sprung out of the Londonderry slag dump.

It has been discovered that the slag waste from smelted iron ore, cast aside as worthless for many years is valuable in the manufacture of a fine durable material for the inside furnishing of buildings, replacing plaster on walls and ceilings.

The finished material is both fireproof and frost-proof, qualities highly desirable in this class of building material.

Considerable ore has been taken from the old slag dumps and many carloads have been shipped to Central Canadian and other markets.

U.S. ALPINISTS

House, leaving Allan Wilcox and Elizabeth Woolsey, New Haven, Conn., and two other members of the party in the high camp. They attempted by the main coulior or steep gully which gashes the south face for 1,600 feet between the main spire and the slightly lower sister peak previously climbed by Don Munday of Vancouver in 1926.

Try New Route.

Near the head of the Coulior they were hemmed in by sheer ice and volcanic-like rock forced up from the inside of the earth ages ago. They decided the route was impracticable and turned back. The next day, July 21, they were up before dawn and crossed the Bergshrund separating the Dais from the grey granitoid mass of Weddington and made their way to the shorter middle coulior. Cramptons were strapped to their feet and they made good time up the gulley of frozen ice.

They entered the left-hand fork 1,000 feet below the peak and began the highly-difficult technical climb with the grotesquely fanged southeast peak on their right. They followed this fork to a snowbank connecting with the plainly-visible triangular snow patch high up on the middle south face.

Here the hazards increased, as it was necessary to traverse across and up a triangle over slopping rock lightly covered with snow they reached the top left-hand corner of this patch of snow and found themselves peering down the main coulior which they had attempted to scale the previous day.

They were three-quarters of the way up the mountain, clinging to the rock in the centre of the uniclimbable" south face. Weissner changed to rope-soled shoes for there was almost vertical rock above him. He now faced the most ticklish part of the ascent. Inch by inch he climbed, calling on all his caution and skill, hours passing while he still moved slowly upward.

Steadily Upward.

Occasionally he drove in a ringed piton which permitted him to rest and help his companion, House, with a rucksack and both axes, to follow him. A fouled rope or a slipping foot meant certain death 2,000 feet below.

The next stretch was a shallow chimney flanked by a 250-foot rock wall. Weissner hunched his way up and by acrobatics calling for iron nerve and considerable strength, swung himself over a slight overhang at the top.

There remained only the narrow summit ridge to the pointed peak. This ridge was covered with two feet of wind-packed, crystal-clear gleaming snow. Along this Wiessner worked his way and reached the peak. There was room for only one man at a time. A cairn was built at the only possible spot, seven yards from the summit.

Transient's Wedding Proves But a Myth

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)— Wedding bells failed to ring out for Percy Elliott, no given address, when he was released from Guelph jail yesterday. Elliott and Patrick Noonan, also a transient, were arrested on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. Elliott told the magistrate he would like a 10 day term as he was getting married the last of July and after all, a wedding wouldn't be complete without the groom. Noonan also requested a 10-day term because he was going to be minister's best man. But either the bride-to-be changed her mind or it may have been that Percy and Patrick were only fooling. In any case there was no wedding when they were released. Instead they were driven to the Guelph limits and started on their way.

HITLER OPENS 11TH OLYMPIAD

of the smartly-attired contingent. The Canucks presented a snappy picture in their red blazers and white flannel trousers or skirts.

Sensational enthusiasm was evoked by the French squad, which not only dipped its colors but gave the Nazi salute during the entire circuit of the track. Hitler stood, returning the salute, while the tremendous crowd rocked the stadium with its cheers.

The team from the British Isles, following the French, evoked only mild cheers as they marched past, giving only 'eyes right." The Italians, smartly garbed in white trousers or skirts, and leaders black-shirted and the others, blue-shirted, lifted their hands in the Fascist salute.

No Indian Salute

The team from India gave no salute whatever. It was alone in this respect.

Closing out the parade so far as the visiting nations were concerned, was the huge United States delegation. The Americans gave a revised salute with hats held over their hearts and "eyes right."

It required nearly a solid hour before the Germans brought up the procession's rear and completed a vivid picture of more than 4,000 athletes and officials assembled in midfield for completion of the formal program.

The rain held off during the marching.

The voice of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, former president of the International Olympic committee and author of the modern Olympics was heard in a brief greeting via a recording.

Spectacle of Peace.

Dr. Theodor Lewald, as president of the organizing committee, paid tribute to Hitler "in gratitude and veneration for the wonderful stadium built according to your will."

"My eye, as it surveys the vast oval," Dr. Ewald said, "is taken captive by this exalted spectacle of a peaceful reunion of the earth's peoples."

Lewald paid tribute to Baron Pierre de Coubertin of France, at whose suggestion the modern revivals of the international games began in 1896, as well as to Richard Strauss, the composer, whose hymn, "Consecration," according to decision by the Olympic committee, has been declared the official hymn for all future Olympics.

Under Dripping Skies.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(AP).— Under cloudy, slightly dripping skies, all of Berlin seemed to have turned out to-day to give the Olympic games a rousing send-off, with the eyes of the athletic world focused on the vast Reich's sport field and representatives of 53 nations gathered for the opening ceremonies.

From gray dawn until the climax hour at four p.m. (11 a.m. E.D.T.) when Chancellor Adolf Hitler proclaims the games of the 11th Olympiad formally opened, thousands upon thousands jammed the main thoroughfares.

Snarled traffic swarmed in the general direction of the stadium, where workmen applied finishing touches to the 400 meter track and uniformed contingents prepared to handle a capacity throng of 100,000.

Despite another bad turn in the weather, a downpour threatening to deluge the most elaborate set-up in Olympic history, every indication was that the mass demonstration would reach their anticipated heights at least in numbers.

Spectators Line Curbs.

People lined the curbs three deep all along the main routes to the stadium where Chancellor Hitler was due to lead a motorcade of Olympic officials to the inaugural setting.

A background of flags, columns of uniformed black and brown shirts and seemingly millions of multicolored badges combined to give a carnival atmosphere to the proceedings.

The stadium presented a striking scene for early arrivals. Workmen brushed and combed the track, all with the tender care of trainers handling thoroughbred race horses.

The 400-metre oval, around a vividly green and velvety-looking infield, was brick-red and smooth as a billiard table top. At either end a half circle of the same composition and texture was marked out for jumping and vaulting pits.

At the entrances from either end of the Stadium, also at official stands, thick green carpets were laid to protect the grass and the track from the ill effects of marching feet of 4,800 athletes who will participate in the parade of the nations.

Shortly after one p.m. the first spectators were admitted to the ends of the upper deck of the huge concrete enclosure and they filled quickly.

Artillery Salute

A dozen pieces of artillery were drawn up on the adjoining polo field to give a salute.

Busloads of athletes began arriving three hours before the ceremonies were scheduled to start, spending the interval rehearsing marching orders or remaining under cover nearby.

Marching feet resounded early. The International Olympic committee marched to the memorial for the war dead, and Count Henri Baillet-Latour and Dr. Theodor Lewald laid a wreath there.

First to arrive at the memorial, on Berlin's main thoroughfare, Unter Den Linden, were the various Youth organizations, colorfully uniformed and each carrying its national flag.

Some of these laid wreaths at the memorial, after which companies of soldiers and sailors and members of the air force, preceded by a band, came down the avenue and goose-stepped past the memorial.

LARGE ENTRIES IN LIVESTOCK AT EXHIBITION

Early Listing Of Livestock Shows Many Breeders Coming

NEW JERSEY HERD

District Herds Will Be Largely Represented In The Show Ring

Livestock entries that have been listed this week by D. A. Dorrance who has been engaged to assist V. S. Milburn, managing director, for this important detail of the Peterborough Exhibition, indicate already that this essential phase of the Exhibition will attain in numbers and quality a record that should repay the directors for their efforts during the year.

Cattle breeders are represented in beef and dairy classes with some of the best herds that have ever been shown here. One of the first entries was from a breeder of Jersey cattle who is coming to Peterborough for the first time.

This is just an example of the extending interest which the Peterborough Exhibition is creating throughout a large area of the province. It is also reported that district breeders are coming into the local ring with some of their best stock.

Similar reports are to the effect that the sheep and swine entries will be up to the best marks of the Exhibition, and directors intimate that they are confident the livestock classes will again demonstrate the importance of Peterborough's Fair to the breeders themselves. In this respect it is becoming recognized, and actually has been for years, that first prize ribbons bearing the stamp of the Peterborough Exhibition are proofs of merit and distinction.

Competition has become keen in all these classes, especially in beef and dairy cattle, and winning animals are awarded prizes only after keen opposition. The directors have adhered to this policy, and their efforts have been recognized by the Department of Agriculture at both Toronto and Ottawa.

REAL FAMILY HOOKUP

Five Alabama Brothers Wed Five Sisters

ETTRESBURG, Ala., Aug. 1 (CP) —Perhaps it was just a big family habit, but five Averett brothers married five Bryd sisters. They paired like this the last few years: H. O. and Evie; D. S. and Nerrie; L. R. and Nora Bell; E. L. and Tera; and Fred and Una.

Now there are 20 double first cousins, children of the five couples. All live in a rural community near here.

WATCH TRANSIENT SUICIDE

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP) —Crowd of pedestrians held up at the Elm street crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway to-day watched an unidentified transient throw himself under a westbound freight train as it sped over the crossing.

The man, according to Lorne Bennett, appeared from along the railway track, and waiting until about 10 cars of the double-headed freight had gone by leaped headlong under the train.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP). — Stocks, off balance during the greater part of to-day's session, rallied quietly in the final half-hour.

The majority, however, failed to gain any momentum on the comeback and the close was irregular. Transfers were around 550,000 shares.

A steady to slightly higher price trend was shown by such Canadian stocks as International Nickel, Dome, McIntyre, Hiram Walker and Distillers Corp.-Seagrams. Dominion government bonds were quiet. Canadian dollars eased 1/32 of a cent at 99 31/32 cents.

The Revolution Is Over—For Them

Here is the grim harvest of the Spanish revolution—dead men, dead horses, smashed motor cars, in the streets of Barcelona. This picture, one of the first actual photographs to reach America, shows havoc wrought by bitter street fighting in Plaza Cataluna, Barcelona. It was typical of scenes through the unhappy, war-torn country. But the loyal Government troops succeeded in stemming the tide of the Fascist advance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Wheat futures price touched the highest point in three years at top levels on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday as values forged past the dollar mark to new seasonal highs in all three futures for the third successive session.

Slipping somewhat toward the close, prices finished ¼ lower to 1⅞ higher, with July at $1.01⅝, October, $1.01¾ and December $1.00¼ to $1.00½ a bushel.

Bullish weather reports, unexpected large gains at Liverpool and heavy export and investment purchasers influenced advances.

Export business was placed at 3,500,000 bushels and it was estimated that, inclusive of this figure, approximately 6,000,000 bushels were absorbed in the pit.

Liverpool led in the advance in world markets, scoring new seasonal highs for the fifth consecutive day and closing 4¾ to 4 pence higher, the widest advance in months. Broomhall reported generally unsettled weather in Europe and fear of a wet harvest.

Considerable profit-taking appeared at Winnipeg and sales were also credited to the "wheat board." Offerings, however were generally well absorbed on support coming mainly from export, southern and investment interests.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Butter prices were about even on Montreal open produce markets yesterday, but potatoes declined sharply. Eggs again advanced, while cheese remained quietly steady.

Butter was quoted at 23¾ cents for cartons or less, of No. 1, while lots to retailers were 24c for solids and 24¼c for prints. Receipts, 29 boxes.

Graded egg shipments were quoted at 29½ to 30 cents for "A" large; 27½ to 28c for "A" medium; 22 to 23c for "B" and 20 to 21c for "C." Receipts, 760 cases.

Cheese averaged 13 to 13⅜ cents to Ontario white and colored, and 12⅝ to 13⅛c for Quebecs. Receipts, 4,559 boxes.

New Quebec No. 2 potatoes sold at $1.15 to $1.20 per 80-pound bag.

TORONTO HOGS.

The local market closed about 15 cents higher in the current week with f.o.b. bacons selling at $8.75, off cars $9.50 and off truck $9.25. A few off-trucks sold 10 cents higher. Receipts for the week were 3,943 head, compared to 4,373 the previous week and 3,718 head the same week last year.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP).—Bacon hog prices [illegible] at five market centres [illegible] day with London, Hull, Stratford, Peterborough and Chatham indicating no change in live and dressed weight grades. Prices:

Live weights: London, $8.75; Hull, $8.25; Peterborough, $8.75; Stratford, [illegible]; Chatham, $8.75.

Dressed weights: London, $11.65; Hull, $12.65; Stratford, $11.65; Peterborough, $11.75; Chatham, $12.50.

Produce Plentiful On Farmers' Market

There was again a busy farmers' market this (Saturday) morning, and a large and particularly good offering of market garden produce, considering the adverse weather conditions. Potatoes were down 25 cents at $2.25 a bag. In peck lots they were fetching 40 cents. As was the case last week, there was a regular glut of raspberries, which were offered at 20 cents a quart. There were choice cherries at 50 cents for a 6-quart basket; red currants, 50 cents a 6-quart basket; and Duchess cooking apples, 25 cents a 6-quart basket, and greengages 15 cents a quart.

Onions were 5 cents a bunch; cabbage, 2 heads 15 cents; beets and carrots, 5 cents a bunch; string beans, 25 cents a 6-quart basket; corn, 25 cents a dozen; rhubarb, 3 bunches for 10 cents; kohlrabi, 5 cents a head; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; tomatoes, 10 cents a pound; cauliflower, 5 cents a head (small), 2 for 15 cents (large).

Eggs were in demand at 25 cents a dozen, with butter at 28 cents a pound; chickens, 25 cents a pound; hens, 17 and 18 cents a pound; and ducklings, 22 cents a pound.

New Seasonal Highs In Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, July 31 (CP).—Dollar wheat extended its stay into a second session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-da yas bullish influences united to push wheat futures prices past the $1 mark in all three positions and on to the third successive recording of new seasonal highs.

After reaching a three-cent advance at top levels, prices near midsession ruled ¼ to 2⅛ cents higher, with July at 102¾, October 103 and December 100⅝ cents a bushel.

Heavy export purchases placed at 3,000,000 bushels were a major factor in the advance and large investment purchases strengthed the support against flurries of profittaking and sales credited to the Wheat Board.

LONDON AND PARIS BECOME ANXIOUS

France, according to well-informed sources here, but reliable evidence that the German Nazi organization in Spain also is co-operating with the rebels now exists.

See Rebels Winning

The possibility of military successes by the rebels grows daily greater, informed quarters here believe. On the other hand, whatever the rebel successes, certain factors should not be lost sight of, it is pointed out.

Firstly, now that the proletariat is armed, the mass of the Spanish people will fight to the end against a Fascist government. In other words, although the Fascists may take power, they probably will not be equal to the task of restoring order and Spain probably will remain in a state of anarchy for a long time to come.

Secondly, if the Fascists gain control of Madrid, the Barcelona and the whole province of Catalonia will almost certainly cut adrift from the rest of Spain, and establish an independent government.

A Fascist government in Spain would affect French military strength in Europe. France is believed to have counted on a friendly Spain, in the event of a crisis, to rush French black troops from French Morocco to France via Spanish Morocco, then from Ceuta across the Gibraltar Straits to Algeciras in Spain proper, and from there by rail.

Not only would this be quicker than the long sea journey from French Morocco to Marseille, but it would be easier conveying troops on the short sea-crossing. Also it would enable France to have a stronger naval force in the North Sea, where the German navy is growing in size.

FIND SECTIONHAND VICTIM OF FREIGHT

Shannonville Man Struck Following Meeting At Indian Council House

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP) —The body of Samuel Corby, 46, a sectionhand, was found early to-day on the railroad tracks at Shannonville, eight miles east of Belleville. It was believed Corby was struck by a fast Canadian National Railways freight that passed at four o'clock.

Corby and his wife had attended a meeting in the council house of the Tyenindaga Indian Reserve. They came home about three o'clock and Corby went for a walk up the track.

A freight crew saw the body some time later and notified the dispatch in Belleville. J. Davidson, section foreman, went out and found the mangled remains.

Corby, a war veteran, is survived by his widow and two children.

Coroner Dr. F. O. Wallbridge opened an inquest to-day, which was adjourned for a week.

HICCUP SPECIALIST

Actor Capitalizes On Idea Social Disaster s Good For a Laugh.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1 (CP). — That sometimes inevitable social disaster—the hiccup—is making money for Marshall Ruth. Ruth is a movie veteran. Eight months ago he decided acting wasn't paying too well and decided to give it up. Then he discovered something, tested it and sold it to directors. "I found out that folks, no matter how serious the situation, will laugh at a hiccup," Ruth said to-day. "So I made myself a hiccup specialist."

Nazis Offer Czechs 10-Year Peace Pact

LONDON, Aug. 1 (CP)—Chancellor Hitler will offer Czechoslovakia a 10-year non-aggression pact if the country breaks its alliance with Soviet Russia and makes concessions to its German minority, the Morning Post declared.

The Morning Post said, "We learn that a new German move may be expected shortly. It will probably take the form of an offer to Czechoslovakia of a 10-year non-aggression pact. In return for this the Czechs will be asked to accept the following conditions:

"1—Adjustment of the grievances of the German minority.

"2—Creation of a federal system which would give the German minority autonomy.

"3—Rupture by Czechoslovakia of her alliance with Russia."

FIVE ARE DROWNED IN TROPICAL GALE

Two Other Vessels Missing As Storm Roars Down Florida Coast

VALPARAISO, Fla., Aug. 1 (AP)—A tropical storm charged with at least five deaths blew itself out in southern Alabama to-day.

The coast guard reported last night the tug Minnie Lee sank in Choctowhatchee Bay and that the crew of five was missing. Lack of reports from two other vessels gave rise to fears the death toll might be even larger.

Coast guardsmen searched still tumbling gulf waters for the fishing schooner Sea Gull, unreported since she left Tampa July 25 for the dry Tortugas. The Sea Gull also had five aboard.

The auxiliary schooner Ketchum of St. Petersburg, with an undetermined number on board, was off the northwest Florida coast when the hurricane hit yesterday and was unreported to-day.

A number of Florida communities found the damage relatively light in view of the hurricane's force. The state road department estimated road damage at $10,000 to $15,000. Some frame dwellings were levelled, but their occupants had sought safe places.

Wm. James Concludes Duties At Cemetery

William James terminated today his twenty years of service as superintendent of the Little Lake Cemetery, and has moved to his new home Bethune Street north. Under his management the cemetery attained a new standard of beauty, extended its boundaries almost to the limits of the natural park and resting place for those who are gone, and in many ways improved the service which sooner or later is required by every family. Mr. James is succeeded by C. Frank Kitney whose long experience in directing the management of land as a successful gardener should well equip him for his new responsibilities. The Kitney gardens will be supervised by Ernest and Fred Kitney.

Ontario C.C.F. Will Attempt To Patch Up Rift in Ranks

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP)— At a special session tomorrow, warring factions within the ranks of the Ontario Cooperative Commonwealth Federation will attempt to patch up their quarrel of May 1 in time for the national convention which opens here Monday.

Sunday the executive officials of the Ontario section of the C.C.F. will meet members who were expelled for participation in the May Day rally in defiance of party orders in effort to reach a conciliation.

One Pound of Coal in Locomotive Will Carry Freight Tons Freight One Mile

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (CP) — One pound of coal, blazing under a modern locomotive, will turn loose enough energy to haul more than eight tons of freight over a mile of track.

That estimate was made to-day by J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, who said that the carriers had increased their efficiency in the use of fuel 66 per cent since 1920.

Smoke in the atmosphere cost London $400,000,000 in loss of light and had effect on health in the last year.

SLAG PUMP TURNED OUT TO BE USEFUL

Old Iron Ore Cast Away For Years—Now Used For Building Material

LONDONDERRY, N. S., August 1 —(CP)—A new industry has sprung out of the Londonderry slag dump.

It has been discovered that the slag waste from smelted iron ore, cast aside as worthless for many years is valuable in the manufacture of a fine durable material for the inside furnishing of buildings, replacing plaster on walls and ceilings.

The finished material is both fireproof and frost-proof, qualities highly desirable in this class of building material.

Considerable ore has been taken from the old slag dumps and many carloads have been shipped to Central Canadian and other markets.

U.S. ALPINISTS

House, leaving Allan Wilcox and Elizabeth Woolsey, New Haven, Conn., and two other members of the party in the high camp. They attempted by the main couller or steep gully which gashes the south face for 1,600 feet between the main spire and the slightly lower sister peak previously climbed by Don Munday of Vancouver in 1928.

Try New Route.

Near the head of the Coulior they were hemmed in by sheer ice and volcanic-like rock forced up from the inside of the earth ages ago. They decided the route was impracticable and turned back. The next day, July 21, they were up before dawn and crossed the Bergshrund reparating the Dais from the grey granitoid mass of Weddington and made their way to the shorter middle couller. Cramptons were strapped to their feet and they made good time up the gulley of frozen ice.

They entered the left-hand fork 1,000 feet below the peak and began the highly-difficult technical climb with the grotesquely fanged southeast peak on their right. They followed this fork to a snowbank connecting with the plainly-visible triangular snow patch high up on the middle south face.

Here the hazards increased, as it was necessary to traverse across and up a triangle over slopping rock lightly covered with snow they reached the top left-hand corner of this patch of snow and found themselves peering down the main coulior which they had attempted to scale the previous day.

They were three-quarters of the way up the mountain, clinging to the rock in the centre of the unclimbable" south face. Weissner changed to rope-soled shoes for there was almost vertical rock above him. He now faced the most ticklish part of the ascent. Inch by inch he climbed, calling on all his caution and skill, hours passing while he still moved slowly upward.

Steadily Upward.

Occasionally he drove in a ringed piton which permitted him to rest and help his companion, House, with a rucksack and both axes, to follow him. A fouled rope or a slipping foot meant certain death 2,000 feet below.

The next stretch was a shallow chimney flanked by a 250-foot rock wall. Weissner hunched his way up and by acrobatics calling for iron nerve and considerable strength, swung himself over a slight overhang at the top.

There remained only the narrow summit ridge to the pointed peak. This ridge was covered with two feet of wind-packed, crystal-clear gleaming snow. Along this Wiessner worked his way and reached the peak. There was room for only one man at a time. A cairn was built at the only possible spot, seven yards from the summit.

Transient's Wedding Proves But a Myth

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP)— Wedding bells failed to ring out for Percy Elliott, no given address, when he was released from Guelph jail yesterday. Elliott and Patrick Noonan, also a transient, were arrested on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. When [illegible] the magistrate he would like a 10 day term as he was getting married the last of July and after all, a wedding wouldn't be complete without the groom. Noonan also requested a 10-day term because [illegible] was going to be Elliott's best man. But either the bride-to-be changed her mind or it may have been that Percy and Patrick were only fooling. In any case there was no wedding when they were released. Instead they were driven to the Guelph limits and started on their way.

HITLER OPENS 11TH OLYMPIAD

of the smartly-attired contingent. The Canucks presented a snappy picture in their red blazers and white flannel trousers or skirts.

Sensational enthusiasm was evoked by the French squad, which not only dipped its colors but gave the Nazi salute during the entire circuit of the track. Hitler stood, returning the salute, while the tremendous crowd rocked the stadium with its cheers.

The team from the British Isles, following the French, evoked only mild cheers as they marched past, giving only 'eyes right." The Italians, smartly garbed in white trousers or skirts, and leaders black-shirted and the others, blue-shirted, lifted their hands in the Fascist salute.

No Indian Salute

The team from India gave no salute whatever. It was alone in this respect.

Closing out the parade so far as the visiting nations were concerned, was the huge United States delegation. The Americans gave a revised salute with hats held over their hearts and "eyes right."

It required nearly a solid hour before the Germans brought up the procession's rear and completed a vivid picture of more than 4,000 athletes and officials assembled in midfield for completion of the formal program.

The rain held off during the marching.

The voice of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, former president of the International Olympic committee and author of the modern Olympics was heard in a brief greeting via a recording.

Spectacle of Peace.

Dr. Theodor Lewald, as president of the organizing committee, paid tribute to Hitler "in gratitude and veneration for the wonderful stadium built according to your will."

"My eye, as it surveys the vast oval," Dr. Ewald said, "is taken captive by this exalted spectacle of a peaceful reunion of the earth's peoples."

Lewald paid tribute to Baron Pierre de Coubertin of France, at whose suggestion the modern revivals of the international games began in 1896, as well as to Richard Strauss, the composer, whose hymn, "Consecration," according to decision by the Olympic committee, has been declared the official hymn for all future Olympics.

Under Dripping Skies.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(AP).— Under cloudy, slightly dripping skies, all of Berlin seemed to have turned out to-day to give the Olympic games a rousing send-off, with the eyes of the athletic world focused on the vast Reich's sport field and representatives of 53 nations gathered for the opening ceremonies.

From gray dawn until the climax hour at four p.m. (11 a.m. E.D.T.) when Chancellor Adolf Hitler proclaims the games of the 11th Olympiad formally opened, thousands upon thousands jammed the main thoroughfares.

Snarled traffic swarmed in the general direction of the stadium, where workmen applied finishing touches to the 400 meter track and uniformed contingents prepared to handle a capacity throng of 100,000.

Despite another bad turn in the weather, a downpour threatening to deluge the most elaborate set-up in Olympic history, every indication was that the mass demonstration would reach their anticipated heights at least in numbers.

Spectators Line Curbs.

People lined the curbs three deep all along the main routes to the stadium where Chancellor Hitler was due to lead a motorcade of Olympic officials to the inaugural setting.

A background of flags, columns of uniformed black and brown shirts and seemingly millions of multitcolored badges combined to give a carnival atmosphere to the proceedings.

The stadium presented a striking scene for early arrivals. Workmen brushed and combed the track, all with the tender care of trainers handling thoroughbred race horses.

The 400-metre oval, around a vividly green and velvety-looking infield, was brick-red and smooth as a billiard table top. At either end a half circle of the same composition and texture was marked out for jumping and vaulting pits.

At the entrances from either end of the Stadium, also at official stands, thick green carpets were laid to protect the grass and the track from the ill effects of marching feet of 4,800 athletes who will participate in the parade of the nations.

Shortly after one p.m. the first spectators were admitted to the ends of the upper deck of the huge concrete enclosure and they filled quickly.

Artillery Salute

A dozen pieces of artillery were drawn up on the adjoining polo field to give a salute.

Busloads of athletes began arriving three hours before the ceremonies were scheduled to start, spending the interval rehearsing marching orders or remaining under cover nearby.

Marching feet resounded early. The International Olympic committee marched to the memorial for the war dead, and Count Henri Baillet-Latour and Dr. Theodor Lewald laid a wreath there.

First to arrive at the memorial on Berlin's main thoroughfare Unter Den Linden, were the various Youth organizations, colorfully uniformed and each carrying its national flag.

Some of these laid wreaths at the memorial, after which companies of soldiers and sailors and members of the air force, preceded by a band, came down the avenue and goose-stepped past the memorial.

District Herds Will Be Largely Represented In The Show Ring

Livestock entries that have been listed this week by D. A. Dorrance who has been engaged to assist V. S. Milburn, managing director, for this important detail of the Peterborough Exhibition, indicate already that this essential phase of the Exhibition will attain in numbers and quality a record that should repay the directors for their efforts during the year.

Cattle breeders are represented in beef and dairy classes with some of the best herds that have ever been shown here. One of the first entries was from a breeder of Jersey cattle who is coming to Peterborough for the first time.

This is just an example of the extending interest which the Peterborough Exhibition is creating throughout a large area of the province. It is also reported that district breeders are coming into the local ring with some of their best stock.

Similar reports are to the effect that the sheep and swine entries will be up to the best marks of the Exhibition, and directors intimate that they are confident the livestock classes will again demonstrate the importance of Peterborough's Fair to the breeders themselves. In this respect it is becoming recognized, and actually has been for years, that first prize ribbons bearing the stamp of the Peterborough Exhibition are proofs of merit and distinction.

Competition has become keen in all these classes, especially in beef and dairy cattle, and winning animals are awarded prizes only after keen opposition. The directors have adhered to this policy, and their efforts have been recognized by the Department of Agriculture at both Toronto and Ottawa.

VICTIM OF BURNS

Tot Playing With Matches Sets Clothes Afire And Dies.

HULL, Que., Aug. 1 (CP). — Aurore Sommier, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sommier, died in hospital here last night as a result of burns suffered earlier in the day. Left in charge of an older sister while the mother was shopping, the child obtained some matches with which she was playing in the yard. While in the house minding an infant, the older sister heard screams and saw the child's clothing in flames. Help was obtained and the child rushed to hospital, where she succumber nine hours later.

Bar Breaks, Sending Nine Cars Into Heap Near Chatham

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP).— Canadian National and Wabash Railway traffic moved slowly today over a detour line around the main track just east of the depot torn up last night when nine loaded cars of an eastbound freight piled up as a frame bar of one snapped and derailed the trucks.

Expectations were that all the debris would be removed and the east and westbound lines repaired to permit normal service this afternoon.

REAL FAMILY HOOKUP

Five Alabama Brothers Wed Five Sisters

ENTERPRISE, Ala., Aug. 1 (CP) —Perhaps it was just a big family habit, but five Averett brothers married five Bryd sisters. They paired like this the last few years: H. G. and Evie; D. S. and Narrie; L. R. and Nora Bell; E. L. and Tera; and Fred and Una.

Now there are 20 double first cousins, children of the five couples. All live in a rural community near here.

WATCH TRANSIENT SUICIDE

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP) —Crowd of pedestrians held up at the Elm street crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway to-day watched an unidentified transient [illegible] almost under a westbound freight train as it sped over the crossing.

The man, according to Lorne Bennett, appeared from along the railway track, and waiting until about 10 cars of the double-headed freight had gone by leaped headlong under the train.

FOUR CHEVROLETS FREE AT PETERBORO EXHIBITION

Tickets For Drawing Obtainable With Every Purchase Of Merchandise At Stores Throughout District—One Car To Be Given Away Each Night — Holder Of Lucky Numbers Must Be On The Grounds When They Are Announced—Most Extensive Advertising Feature Attempted By Board

As an advertising feature which is being extensively circulated throughout central Ontario, the Peterborough Exhibition is offering four Chevrolet automobiles in the most valuable drawing that has ever been held in this district.

The plan is simplicity itself. Merchants in all the cities, towns and villages in an area from Tweed to Bowmanville and from Belleville to Beaverton, have been supplied with numbered tickets which are given free to purchasers of merchandise at these stores, one ticket with every purchase.

Corresponding numbers are under seal in the possession of the secretary of the Exhibition Board. The drawing will take place from these numbers on the four nights of the Exhibition:

Wednesday, August 29.
Thursday, August 20.
Friday, August 21.
Saturday, August 22.

One Chevrolet automobile will be sold for the price of one dollar to the person who is present on the grounds holding the ticket whose number is drawn by the President of the Exhibition.

Four Cars Free

There are no strings to this advertising feature. All you have to do is to ask your merchants for Exhibition coupons when buying goods at the stores, and have them in your possession at the Exhibition Park at the evening performance.

You don't have to be in the grandstand area. The lucky numbers will be posted in front of the grandstand, and announced in all sections of the park by an electric broadcasting system. Five minutes are allowed for the holder of the ticket to announce himself, hand over his dollar and take away a brand new Chevrolet car.

Information in Questions

Throughout the district many questions have been asked by people who have already begun to save Peterborough Exhibition coupons, and as these points may arise with other persons the replies which are here set forth provide all the information pertaining to the draw for the four Chevrolets.

Who gives out the tickets?

Merchants in the city and district who desire to do so.

How can a person get them?

Any person making a purchase at any of the stores where the tickets are given out can ask for and receive FREE one ticket for each purchase.

How will people who may have a number of tickets, if they hold the winning number, be able to present them for the car?

Each person who may have a number of tickets should list them on a piece of paper in rotation. The number will be posted in front of the grandstand and at the secretary's office each night, as well as broadcast through the Public Address System. 5 minutes is allowed to claim the car before another ticket is drawn. The person holding the winning ticket must be on the grounds and claim the car personally. No merchant or anyone distributing tickets may win the car on any of his own tickets. If he makes purchase in other stores, he is entitled to tickets from them.

Ticket With Each Purchase

Can a person receive more than one ticket from any store?

Yes. Any person is entitled to a ticket with every purchase they make at any store where tickets are given out from now to Exhibition time.

Where are the stubs?

The stubs are already in a sealed receptacle. This is to ensure all stubs being returned. There is no chance of any one holding a ticket and no stub in the box.

Directors Are Excluded

Can the Directors of the Fair win the car?

No. A resolution was passed at the last meeting of the Board to the effect that no Director or any member of his immediate household is eligible to win a car.

Some one has said the car drawing was all for the benefit of the midway.

This is not the case. The Fair Board has bought the cars and will pay for them and hope to make the money out of the extra crowds the free draw will bring to the Fair as it has done elsewhere. The only way to wi nthe car is to be present and claim the car. The winning tickets must be on the grounds and presented within five minutes of the draw or further tickets will be drawn.

EXHIBITION'S SUCCESS RESTS WITH THE PUBLIC

Farmers And Business Men Of The Board Of Directors Contribute Time And Effort And Even Assume Personal Liability For Deficit—Purpose Of The Exhibition To Promote Agriculture In Peterborough District—Deserves Support And Co-operation Of The People

The Peterborough Exhibition has earned by years of unfaltering service to the agricultural interests of this district the warm goodwill and substantial support of farmers and city people alike.

The directors of the Exhibition are farmers and business men who have not only contributed their time and effort and concern year after year to the success of the Fair, but they have made themselves personally liable for a deficit which was incurred by the construction of buildings followed by a period of industrial depression which temporarily halted the rate of progress up to that turn of events.

These directors have nothing to gain personally from the Exhibition except the satisfaction of establishing the success of this big community enterprise which is designed primarily for the advancement of agriculture in this section of Ontario. As a matter of fact it is conceivable that they would be faced with personal financial loss if by any untoward chance Peterborough's Exhibition should enter upon a decline.

Broader Phases

So much for the directors, those farmers and city men who have been "carrying the load," and meanwhile have elevated the Exhibition to a class on par with Ottawa and London by proving to the agricultural authorities of the province and the Dominion that the Peterborough district is capable of producing a Fair of that standard.

Even when the depression's backwash was felt in attendance and in doubts that settled upon every undertaking, the directors refused to retreat from obstacles which have now largely disappeared.

Developing Young Farmers

The people of this district are fully aware of the interest the Exhibition has aroused among junior farmers by providing for them a fair within a fair, beginning with one day and now being allotted to two days for judging competitions and other branches of the work of the Ontario Department of Agriculture among the young people of these counties.

If the Peterborough Exhibition had done nothing else in recent years, that accomplishment would be sufficient recommendation to the whole community. Young farmers who in a few years will be assuming the responsibilities of their fathers have gained knowledge, experience and confidence through the operation of the junior department of the Exhibition. Their recent success at Ottawa, Torronto and Gueiph have fully repaid the directors of the Exhibition and have surely won staunch supporters in this numerous group of young men who know what it has done for them.

Worthy of Support

The record of the Exhibition should appeal to the citizens of the district for their co-operation to make this community undertaking a genuine success this year. That is all it needs. The directors have done their part once more. They have enlarged their field of publicity by sending throughout the district four Chevrolet cars which are to be given away at the evening performances.

By this means it is expected that thousands of people will be attracted to Peterborough during the week of the Fair from farther points than usual. If the increase in attendance and in sympathetic support by every other practical means that should be received from the city and county is forthcoming, the 1936 Peterborough Exhibition will be the complete success which it deserves.

Sparkling Program Vaudeville Features

Amusements Committee Of Peterborough Exhibition Engage Talented Performers In Attractive Array Of Talent For Grandstand Performance — Wholesome Acts Display High Degree Of Skill And Ability In Acrobats, Juggling And Comedy

The amusements committee of the Peterborough Exhibition has booked a sparkling program of vaudeville for the afternoon and evening performances.

As a matter of variety the directors after their big success of 1935, a splendid musical revue, have returned to vaudeville with these headline acts:

FIVE JUGGLING JEWELS
ELAINE DOWLING AND HER FOUR CO-ETTES
LADDIE LAMONT
THE CASTING CAMPBELLS
CORTELLO'S HOLLYWOOD DOGS
THE FOUR ARLEYS.

In expectation of record crowds this year the directors are assured that they have engaged excellent talent for the grandstand attractions.

The Five Juggling Jewels: British young ladies who are famed throughout Europe for their dexterity in juggling Indian Clubs, hoops, rackets and other objects. The costuming and staging of this act will make a strong appeal to everybody.

Elaine Dowling and her Four Co-ettes comprise a quintette of beauty and amazing ability in acrobatics and contortion work. They also perform acrobatic dance duos, tap solos, tumbling cart-wheeling and so on. There is plenty of charm to these girls.

Laddie Lamont dressed in Scottish kilts walks along on a rolling globe juggling battle axes and things like that. In another act he appears on top of a single ladder in balancing, juggling and other stunts replete with humor. There is a lot more to this act.

The Casting Campbells present a high class aerial act. These four men in lofty rigging will astonish you with their daring including a full twisting double somersault in mid-air. They have another act called The Bounders. It has a big trampolin landing net and prizes are offered to amateur candidates who are able to do any of the simple tricks demonstrated by members of the troupe.

Cortello's Hollywood Dogs have already made their mark in the movies, and here they are with all their canine smartness and intelligence. The act will leave a pleasant memory, and will especially appeal to the children. Cortello and Company also offer an acrobatic act of hand balancing and other difficult work with a clever dog that seems to mimic them and has a part in the set.

The Four Arleys, two men and two women, offer breath-taking acrobatics, and altogether a sensational high perch act.

She Was Hungry: WOODSLEE. — Ewald Ebbinghaus, 84 years old, was dead today because a cow thought there was food in a pail he was carrying. Mr. Ebbinghaus was crossing a small meadow to get some water. The cow went after him, trying to get her head in his pail. Mr. Ebbinghaus was knocked against a pile of lumber and fell under the cow's knees. He was cut, bruised, and died a few hours later.

It was found today on a side road with hinges jimmied off and nearly $40 in cash missing.

DR. A. M. ROYDEN DEPLORES RACE FOR ARMAMENTS

Is Heard By Capacity Audience Under Auspices Of Ministerial Association

A GIFTED ORATOR

Believes Trouble Due To Indifference And Neglect Of Spiritual Laws

A congregation, mainly composed of women, that taxed the capacity of the large auditorium, thronged to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Friday evening to hear Miss Maud Royden, D. D., LL.D., woman minister, who spoke under the auspices of Peterborough Ministerial Association on the subject, "Can We Set the World in Order"

The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Church presided. Other ministers on the platform were the Rev. W. P. Robertson, rector of St. John's Church, who read the Scripture lesson; the Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church, who led the large gathering in prayer; and the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Eloquent And Forceful.

Dr. Royden, wearing the scarlet hood emblematic of her degree of Doctor of Divinity—the only woman who holds that degree, as well as the Companion of Honor decoration bestowed on her in 1930—together with the customary black gown of United Church and Presbyterian ministers, seemed quite at home in the pulpit and proved to be an eloquent and forceful speaker.

While not an ordained minister, Dr. Royden preaches to large congregations in London, England, where she is widely known as a lecturer, preacher and author, and while a member of the Church of England, ministers most of the time in non-Anglican churches. She is at present summer supply preacher until the end of this month at Deer Park United Church, Toronto. A woman of boundless energy, she was the Easter preacher at The Hague.

Her degree of Doctor of Divinity came from the University of Glasgow in 1932, and only once previously has a woman been thus honored. The other holder of such a degree has passed away. Her degree of Doctor of Laws is from the University of Liverpool.

Staunch Pacifist.

A staunch advocate of world peace even during the time of the World War when pacifists were not looked upon with undue favor, Dr. Roydon last evening deeply deplored the insane race for armaments that is going on in Europe and in other parts of the old world at the present time and entreated her audience to play their individual parts in setting the world in order, because it needs to be set in order."

She declared that what had most struck her about Canada was the sense of distance between Canada and th old world, "where things have got into such a frightful mess."

Referring to the recent unveiling by His Majesty King Edward VIII of the Vimy Memorial to Canada's 60,000 War dead and having in mind the "sense of distance" which had so impressed her, Dr. Roydon marvelled that such a splendid sacrifice was made voluntarily.

Added Responsibility.

She spoke of the tremendous problems confronting Canada as a new country, but said she would remind Canadians of the fact that while they had their own national problems to cope with, and while so far removed from the brunt of war that they perhaps could not realise its menace, it only gave them added responsibility.

"You might say these are far away matters that do not concern us, and that point of view might be difficult for you Canadians to overcome, but you must remember that economic or political difficulties at the other end of the world are not matters that you can ignore," she said.

The speaker declared that "this dreadful economic dissipation and unemployment are examples of quarrels on the other side of the world, and what they mean to every nation. I entreat you to play your individual part in setting the world in order, because it needs to be set in order." Dr. Royden went on to speak of parts of the old world that are absolutely panic stricken, and realised it must be hard for people on a continent such as this where Canada and the United States exist side-by-side in peace and harmony, to grasp the full significance of the situation as it appears to dwellers in Europe.

A Rare Example

She contended that "the great unguarded frontier between Canada and United States is one of the most wonderful things in the world, which stands out as a rare example in an age of suspicion and distrust."

Asking by what means Canada had come to the forefront as one of the greatest wheat producing nations in the world, and by what method her engineers had harnessed the mighty power of Niagara to provide electrical energy, Dr. Roydon said that these and similar accomplishents had been brought about through the exercise of man's God-given gifts, and by his growing understanding of the laws of nature and physical science.

Immutable Laws

Stressing the immutability of these laws, Dr. Royden urged, "But there are spiritual laws, that are just as important as the laws of nature. You can no easier break the laws of God than you can break the laws of nature. When you break the laws of God you have in reality broken yourself against them."

By understanding the laws of nature, the speaker explained, one may for example, throw their voice around the world in the space of a second of time, or might listen-in to a broadcast such as that heard from France at the unveiling of the Vimy memorial last Sunday, and so it was with obedience to spiritual laws. Their observance provided unlimited power and uplift.

Dr. Royden believed that the root of all the trouble in a troubled world is man's indifference and neglect of spiritual laws. As one example she related, there is a research laboratory in England where scientists are engaged in experimenting with a new gas for the purpose of killing people in the event of another outbreak of war, while on the other hand medical research is at a virtual standstill, and lives are being shattered by the ravages of cancer and other diseases for which no cure has yet been discovered.

Absolutely Expenditure

"We spend our money in this abominable way," the speaker denounced passionately, "and yet, when people die from diseases not yet conquered by medical science we call it the inscrutible will of God. How un-Christian that is."

Touching on the armaments question; she said the race was caused by distrust and suspicion of one nation for the other. "Just as Germany's armaments frighten us, so do our armaments frighten them."

Dr. Royden concluded by declaring that it was because she believed in the inherent goodness of the human race and the ability of man to recognise the importance of obedience to spiritual laws that, "I am full of hope for the future."

"War is insane. But our digression against the spiritual laws is the direct cause of our insanity."

The speaker invited questions at the close of her address, and during the period reserved for this purpose she entered into a discussion of the armaments question, which was raised by one of the woman members of the audience.

Dr. J. E. Middleton Buys Staples Jersey

Dr. J. E. Middletotn has purchased the junior yearly Jersey heifer "Domino's Spot Sunbeam" from Sam S. Staples of Cavan township. This well-bred female is a granddaughter of the grand champion sire owned by E. W. Nesbitt of Woodstock. She was exhibited as a calf at the C.N.E., and was entered in the Staples herd in the competitions at Toronto, Ottawa and Peterborough in 1935. Dr. Middleton operates a modern dairy on a small scale at his home near Jackson Park. He has taken possession of the Staples heifer and is withdrawing it from exhibition.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

CANNINGTON WOMAN 90.

Cannington's oldest resident, Mrs. James Maybee, celebrated her ninetieth birthday yesterday. Despite her advanced years, Mrs. Maybee retains the use of all her faculties and is keenly interested in the affairs of the day. She came to Cannington as a bride of 24.

A BIG BASS.

Frank Heafield of Los Angeles, California, who is vacationing in this district, has the distinction of recently catching a large-mouthed green bass that tipped the scales at 7 pounds, 13 ounces, for what is believed to be a local record. He hooked the scaly prize while angling in the Otonabee River below the locks near Rye's.

BIG RICE LAKE BASS.

Alfred Sheppard of Ohio and John Sparrow of Peterborough caught two large mouth bass weighing five and six pounds respectively this morning in Hatrick's Bay, Rice Lake. Their party hauled in eleven. Mr. Sheppard is staying at Madden Howard's, Hiawatha.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The regular meeting of Peterborough Police Commission scheduled for Friday afternoon was postponed owing to lack of a quorum. Although recovering from a recent illness, Chief Constable Samuel J. Newhall was present, but His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke, chairman, and Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., were prevented from attendance owing to pressure of other official business.

TOURIST LOSES CLOTHING.

Fred W. Kendine, Lancaster, N.Y., who recently spent a holiday in the northern part of the county, has written Provincial Constable D. Silvester that he lost a bag of personal effects, including bath robes and clothing, presumably between Apsley and Loon Lake. They were in a bag of the Florence Steam Laundry, Missoula, Mont. The finder is requested to notify Mr. Silvester.

TRIAL ADJOURNED.

William Hawkins went on trial before His Honor Judge Sheldon L. Smoke in County Judge's Criminal Court here on Friday on a serious charge alleging an unnatural offence in Asphodel Township on June 12 last. Acting Crown Attorney F. D. Kerr, K.C., conducted the prosecution. The crown completed its case in the afternoon, after which the hearing was adjourned by His Honor until Wednesday afternoon next. The accused was remanded in custody.

WESTCLOX PICNIC.

Specially chartered for the occasion the Steamer "Stoney Lake," with a full complement of passengers, pulled out from George street wharf this (Saturday) afternoon with an enthusiastic and happy throng of picnickers, bound for Gore's Landing. It was the Western Clock's first annual picnic and the management, employees and their friends, which promised to be a most successful event. Splendid weather conditions favored the outing. On their return from Gore's Landing, the picnickers proposed to stop off at Wallace's Point for a shore dinner and social get-together and program of sports and other entertainment.

51 CUSTOMERS GAIN FOR GAS

But Extremely Hot Weather Reduced Domestic Use, Harry Beal Reports

POWER DEMAND HIGHER

The city's gas department made a gain of 51 customers during the period from April 1 to the end of June, Harry Beal, department manager, informed the Utilities Commission Friday afternoon.

"This is the first gain since 1932," Mr. Beal said, in his report of June operations.

The heat wave reacted against the consumption of gas by "knocking the bottom" out of the demand, Mr. Beal stated. Cooking was evidently reduced to a minimum, and some house-keepers even avoided burning gas.

Added to the gain in the number of new customers were sales of 18 gas stoves, one heater and three of sundries. The total number of customers in June was 3,064.

Electric Department

The electric power peak for June was 7,264.4 horse-power, an increase of 564 h.p. over June, 1935, R. L. Dobbin, general manager for the Commission, reported. The average monthly peak to the end of June was 7,139.5 h.p., and for the same period in 1935 the average monthly peak was 6,635.1 h.p. The average monthly increase this year was 504.4 h.p.

Thirty flat-rate water heaters were installed in June. There are now 946 water heaters in use with a total capacity of 437 k.w or 586.42 h.p. Rebuilding of power lines was carried on during June on McDonnel street, including transformer station for the Bonner-Worth mill of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Ltd.; Crescent street; George and McDonnel streets; Water street, north of Anson street.

Mr. Dobbin's report continued: "We constructed rural power lines to serve customers in Kawartha Park, Lakefield rural power district, and commenced construction of approximately three miles of line to serve Shanty Shore, south of Keene. This work will be paid for by the Hydro-Electric Commission."

Water Report

The pumpage at the filtration plant for June was 91,747,000 gallons as compared with 76,285,000 gallons during June, 1935. The maximum day's pumpage occurred on June 10, reaching 4,070,000 gallons. The maximum rate was 7.25 million gallons. Three small flood lamps were added to the fountain in the Filter Plant park. Seven new water services were laid and six repaired.

Peterboro Products For Empire Show

Peterborough is to have good representation at the British Empire Exhibition being held at Johannesburg, South Africa, from September 15 to January 15. Following recent announcement that Quaker Oats Limited are planning to have a large exhibit there, it is learned that the Peterborough Canoe Company is to feature a display of skils and toboggans. Further announcement is made that Fred Cripps' portrait photograph, "Character Study," has been accepted for showing at the exhibition. Selection of Mr. Cripps' photograph was made by a committee of Toronto Camera Club, of which Stanley Harrod, F.R.P.S., is head.

SEEDLINGS HARD HIT

90 Per Cent. Planted in 1935 Fail to Survive Drought

GALT, Ont., Aug. 1 (CP).—C. T. Grob, well known farmer of this years in reforestation projects in district, has been active for some this area, reports the recent drought killed fully 90 per cent of the seedlings he had planted in the spring of 1935. The seedlings had become well rooted, and showed a growth varying from four to six inches, but practically all of them were virtually burned up by the protracted dry spell and blistering heat. Trees planted prior to last year appear to have survived the ordeal.

Mechanics' tools shipped from Germany in the first four months of this year were valued at $6,850,000.

TOURISTS RETURN AS REGULARS TO KAWARTHA LAKES

Decline To Regard Themselves As Strangers In Familiar Summer Playgrounds

MANY FROM TORONTO

The Examiner took a second Cook's tour among the tourists yesterday and found another collection of very well-satisfied visitors, delighted with this district as a summer playground and giving every evidence of enjoying themselves.

The majority of the American tourists noted yesterday were from Ohio, with New York also strong in the running, but the bulk of Peterborough's holiday guests on this occasion were not from across the line, but from the capital of our own province, Toronto folk as a matter of fact were here in numbers, and with Monday a holiday, the influx to-day will make Friday's look very ordinary. The people from the Queen City have invaded the Kawartha-Trent district in ever-increasing force during recent years as the popularity of the older resorts and the fame of the newer places, coupled with good roads and motor transport, have combined to make this the recreation area of a large number of Toronto people who are to be found in every summer resort colony in the whole district.

There were scores of Toronto folk here Friday, and those whom the reporter questioned said they were having a great time. This was especially true of the couple with the trim trailer seen on George street at noon. This house-on-wheels contained everything needed for a home on the road and the driver admitted that this was the real way to travel.

The Examiner's tourist edition was shown to several of the American visitors and their opinion sought. "That should be the kind of stuff to make a man want to hit the trail," said one Ohio visitor, and his companion in the front seat added that the illustrations were a fair representation of some of the charming features of this district.

Traffic Cops on Holiday.

Two members of Pennsylvania's state highway patrol were encountered on George street. They were C. R. McFarlane and J. W. Stokes, of Franklin, Pa., and they are holidaying at Pearson's place at Buckhorn Lake. "We are not strangers to the district," said Mr. McFarlane. "We have been coming over for some years and like it very much."

Fishing during the last few days, the Franklin visitors said, had not been too good. High winds had made it difficult to get around, but they were hopeful of better results before they leave for home.

Mr. McFarlane has been on traffic patrol in Pennsylvania for ten years.

"How do you find the driving over here? Any better or any worse than at home?" he was asked.

"Well, it's not any worse anyway," was the officer's smiling reply. "No, I have not noticed anything very wrong with the driving. They take chances everywhere, but if they saw as much blood and as many people knocked about as we do, I think they'd be more careful."

Ohio Folk Are Satisfied.

The wandering reporter spotted the Ohio license number on the automobile of C. L. Baxter, of Canton, and an inquiry produced the information that Mr. Baxter and the members of his party were visiting at Buckhorn Lake, and that they were delighted with the holiday they have been having.

"How about the fishing?"

"Well, we have been at it every day and getting good results, too," was the reply of the Ohio man.

He added that he himself and the others in the party who were doing a little shopping while he sat in the parked car were very much pleased with their surroundings at Buckhorn and liked the friendly way they have been treated since they came into Ontario.

Here From Mansfield.

Another Ohio man who was enthusiastic in his statements as to the enjoyment of a holiday at Buckhorn Lake was H. C. Oberlin, of Mansfield, O., whom The Examiner found peering over a road map as he waited for other members of his party to finish their shopping visit.

"Is this your first visit?" he was asked.

"Yes, this is my initiation to the Kawartha district, and I like it very much. A friend of ours from Pittsburg has had a summer home at Buckhorn Lake for several years, and this year we came over to see what the place was like. And we are glad we did."

Mr. Oberlin said he was going to visit the Thousand Islands before terminating his vacation in Canada.

Not Exactly Tourists.

The sight of American license markers is not always a sign that tourists have arrived; at least that is the reporter's conclusion after he had stalked a big car with New York markers and addressed himself to the gentleman in the front seat, who listened very courteously to the newspaperman's preamble, and then remarked politely, "I am afraid I cannot help you out very much. You see, you can hardly term us tourists, We are summer residents of Cobourg, and as a matter of fact, my family has been coming over there for over forty years and we regard ourselves almost as Canadians."

And that was that, especially as the man on the wheel could see no reason under the circumstances why his name should be [illegible], so we won't mention it. In fact, we don't know it.

The reporter had another almost similar experience a little latter when he spied a set of Massachusetts markers and interviewed one of the occupants, only to discover that the owner and his friends had been coming over to Stoney Lake so long that they refused to be considered in the tourist group at all. They regarded themselves as regulars.

LOCAL WATER SYSTEM BEST

Finest In The Province, E. R. Shirley Tells Utilities Commission

RECENTLY "LIBELLED"

"We have the finest water system in the province," E. R. Shirley declared at the meeting of the Utilities Commission, Friday afternoon. And he added: "Bar none."

Mr. Shirley called the attention of the commissioners to a recent news report in a Toronto evening newspaper, reflecting on the purity of the city's water supply.

"That is a libel on Peterborough and this department," Mr. Shirley said, "and I think we should ask for a correction."

It was suggested that the news item be passed on to Dr. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., with the expectation that he would say a word to the reporter. Mr. Dobbin said the water in the river was contaminated, but supply from the filtration plant was pure.

With an abundance of water in Peterborough, Mr. Shirley said it was a great satisfaction that the citizens were not required generally to stop watering their laws during the two weeks of peak heat. Lawns were green, and the pumpage capacity had come through a severe test with ample proof of efficiency for the city's need.

In regard to the decline in pressure at Mount St. Joseph during the recent period of excessive heat, it was decided that the Mother Superior be advised to install a tank for any future emergency that might occur, as the Commission did not wish to curtail the use of water by the citizens.

ROYALTY STARTS ANNUAL VACATION

King Will Cruise, Duke, Duchess York Go to Scotland—Kents On Continent

LONDON, Aug. 1. —(P). — The Royal family made ready for vacation today as thousands of their subjects hurried to the seaside and country at the start of the year's busiest holiday month.

King Edward, leaving next week for a holiday cruise on the Adriatic sea, paid a surprise visit yesterday to the yacht Nahlin at Southampton to supervise arrangements of accommodations for his party.

Throughout the trip London will be informed of King's movements by wireless to the admiralty. Two destroyers will convoy the yacht.

Queen Mary intends to divide her holiday between Sandringham House, Norfolk, and Harewood House, Yorkshire, where she will spend a fortnight with her daughter, The Princess Royal.

The Duke and Duchess of York plan to spend part of their holiday in the Duchess' native Scotland. They may stay at Balmoral during the latter part of the month after the Duke has visited friends at their hunting lodges.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will accompany their parents.

The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester are to spend most of August at their home, the royal pavilion, Aldershot, as the Duke will be engaged with his military duties. Later they will visit friends.

The Duke and Duchess of Kent are already abroad having flown to Paris and later visited at Brussels, Cologne and Munich. They are now en route to Yugoslavia.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE STANDING.

BRILLIANT CAREER FOR CANADIAN STAR

Norma Shearer Enters Third Phase Of Screen Life in Shakespeare Drama

By FLO MARSHALL
Central Press Canadian Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 1.—Norma Shearer, one of Canada's first ladies of the screen, has been re-born for the third time in her film career. Your correspondent has just seen her latest film, Romeo and Juliet, hence the above statement.

Miss Shearer is an amazing person. She is that rare combination of beauty, brains and talent. At the very beginning of her career in pictures Norma overcame more handicaps than any dozen actresses usually have to face. And she succeeded.

Following a series of films in which she portrayed the usual beauty and love interest, not much acting required, she decided to become more of the actress. About this time her marriage to Irving Thalberg, brilliant young producer at MGM studios, took place. With his interest and enthusiasm to encourage her, Norma became the sparkling gay sophisticate of the films in such pictures as Let Us Be Gay. In that phase the beauty and acting were about equal. Her second re-birth.

Her Finest Performance

But with her third change of pace Miss Shearer in the role of Juliet has proved her talent, realized her ambition and given the finest performance of her long screen career.

As a matter of fact the whole production of Romeo and Juliet is so skilfully and beautifully made that one has to restrain a most proper desire to "rave" about it.

The screen version of Shakespeare's "woeful tale" has been kept as close as possible to the original. It is not slow or weighty as some persons feel his work might be on the screen. The costumes, the settings are magnificent, but kept to a wonderful simplicity in spite of their splendor. The powers that be did not make the error of ornate movie ostentation. The work of the splendid cast without a single exception is fine. Leslie Howard as Romeo gives a fine restraint to the character of the fiery youth. It is a most believable performance. Miss Shearer makes one feel she really is Juliet, living and breathing. The beauty of the dialogue is clear and understandable when spoken by such a group of artists as this cast boasts—John Barrymore, Basil Rathbone, Reginald Denny, Edna Mae Oliver, C. Aubrey Smith, Conway Tearle, Violet Kemble Cooper, Ralph Forbes, Henry Kolker and others.

In spite of all this perfection the film is a personal triumph for Norma Shearer. She has come a long way from the little Canadian photographers model—all the way to Shakespeare's Juliet. She is an actress as well as a beauty. It is her third re-birth in films.

British Malaya reports that prosperity there is increasing.

GOVERN YOUR SPEED

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBER

For Sunday, August 2

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds promise of a sudden visitation of a disruptive, disturbing or devastating nature, which calls for discreet and calm manipulation, lest there be pitfalls or perils. An unexpected change or journey is in sight and fresh interests and contacts loom. But beware of strangers and safeguard funds against loss and reckless expenditure.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a sudden change, which may take them into new environs and interests. But in all such strange contacts they should be prudent, vigilant and cautious. Be conservative with funds, shunning extravagance, speculation and unnecessary expenditures.

A child born on this day may be talented, with fine cultural leanings and social graces, but is apt to be erratic, changeable and rather unstable and irresponsible, unless well groomed in youth.

Notable nativity: F. Marion Crawford, novelist.

For Monday, August 3

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is a conflicting one. While there are some signs of gain, progress and stability in possession through labor, with increase in finances, yet there are omens of difficulties in employment and a sudden event of a disintegrating nature. Things seem to work at cross-purposes. It may be due to a personal inclination to neglect sordid and practical affairs for romance, social indulgences or gaiety. Use prudence and discretion.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which success and progress depends upon a sagacious grasp of favorable opportunities and the sidestepping of pitfalls and dangers by prudence and good management.

A child born on this day may be clever, artistic, gracious and popular, but unsettled and adventurous.

Notable navity: Christine Nilson, prima donna.

For Tuesday, August 4

ACCORDING TO the lunar forecast its bearing on the affairs of this day, things should be very lively and interesting, with all pertaining to writings, publication, advertising or promotion under a particularly high stimulus for progress, although there may be certain elements of suspicion, perplexity or vexation in connection with them. Sudden news may prove startling and new contracts are favored.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of liveliness and progress, particularly in lines devoted to writings, publishing, publicity of promotion. Also new contracts may be intriguing, but be alert to avoid pecuniary doubts or anxieties. An elderly person may give some measure of anxiety or distress.

A child born on this day may be versatile, capable, lively, a good conversationalist and sought for pleasant companionship. He may have

Sees Canada's Traffic Toll Equalling Worst

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP)—Unless something is done to increase applied for highway traffic regulations among motorists, Canada will be faced with a yearly motor accident problem as great as the United States, said Lt. Col. C. S. Woodrow, Sarnia police magistrate, speaking at the Kiwanis Club luncheon in Hotel London.

"It is doubtful," said Col. Woodrow, "if many who hold driver's permits could pass 100 per cent an examination based on section 35 which governs rules of the road in Ontario. There couldn't be an accident if if those rules were observed all the time.

The speaker advocated some check up on the present holders of driving permits. He said he confiscated many permits of an old man over 80, who was both hard of hearing and short-sighted; there were other equally unsafe drivers.

GIRL IS JEERED BY WOMEN AT INQUEST ON THREE MEN

"Doesn't Care About Men" Who Drowned Trying to Save Her

SHE SOBS BITTERLY

Torpoint, Cornwall.—Jeers and catcalls from a crowd of waiting women greeted Eileen West, 22, of Hebden Rd., Upper Tooting, S.W., as with head bowed she drove off in her motor-car after the inquest here on three men who were drowned when they went to her rescue while she was bathing.

"She doesn't care about the men who died for her," one woman shouted.

At the inquest Miss West had collapsed in her chair and sobbed bitterly while she listened to a heated protest by Isaac Edwards, who, as father of one of the dead men, had given evidence of identification.

"I saw a man bring the girl ashore," said Mr. Edwards. "A few minutes after she said: 'I am all right,' got up, and walked away. Three lives were lost for one girl, and she never said thank you' to anybody and never apologized for losing their lives."

Very Distressed

The deputy coroner, Colonel F. S. Togwood: "She must have been very upset at the time."

Mr. Edwards: "I cannot see how she could have been very bad when she got up and walked away."

D. F. Nash, for Miss West, pointed out that when she was brought ashore she was very distressed.

"She had no idea that anyone had been drowned," he said. "If she had behaved so callously as Mr. Edwards thinks she would have been deserving of his strictures, but that is not the case.

"She is very appreciative of the efforts which resulted in her life being saved. Nothing is hurting Miss West more than the suggestion that she was callous or indifferent about the tragedy. It is causing her the most acute distress.

"When she was led away from the beach after artificial respiration had been applied to her she was in a very sad state and it was quite impossible for her to see anybody. She did not know until some hours later that anyone had been drowned.

"She is more grateful than she can express to the men who went to her rescue, and she intends at the earliest possible moment to express personally to the relatives of the men who lost their lives her gratitude and her appreciation of their heroism."

A verdict of accidental death was returned on Isaac Henry Edwards, 21, of Herbert Pl., Devonport; Leslie James Williams, married, 31, of Torpoint, and Private William Henry Lowe, 22, of the King's regiment, stationed at Devenport, Lowe's home is in London.

The jury added a rider advocating that warning notices and life-saving apparatus should be provided at the scene of the tragedy, Whitsand Bay, near Tregantle.

Shouted for Help

In a voice broken with sobs and barely audible, Miss West described how she was 30 yards out, and was slightly out of her depth, when she found she was unable to make progress and shouted for help.

Her companion, Mr. Heaton, went into the water, but he could not swim. He called for assistance and two men entered the sea.

"They got hold of me, but got into difficulties themselves," she said. "One swam away. The other one turned on his back. I shouted to him, 'Don't leave me.'

"He said: 'I cannot help you, but keep swimming.' I swam after him. It seemed ages until another man came out. They flung me forward, and then someone else got hold of me, and I was dragged to the beach."

Corporal John Ball, of the 2nd King's regiment, said a human rescue chain was formed with Private Lowe as leader. Lowe broke away and reached the girl, and four men swam out to help him.

Had to Let Him Go

Private C. D. Moreton said he swam out to Lowe, who seemed to be getting along all right.

"Then I went to Williams, who was in a very bad way. I kept him afloat for five minutes, but he went under. As I thought I could do nothing more for him, I swam back to Lowe.

"I held him up, but a huge wave struck him in the face. He seemed to lose his head and began to struggle. I was getting very tired and had to let him go or I should have been drowned."

LORD HUGH CECIL PROVOST OF ETON

Office Dates Back to Days of Henry VI

London—It was announced from No. 10 Downing St. that the King had approved the appointment of Lord Hugh Cecil, M.P., as provost of Eton in succession to the late Dr. Montague Rhodes James, O.M.

In appointing Lord Cecil, precedent had been followed in selecting an old Etonian. Only once during the last 300 years has the office been held by a man who was not educated at Eton.

The office of provost dates back to the reign of Henry VI, the founder of the college, who laid it down that the sovereign must make this appointment. This has been followed ever since.

WILL TORN IN SIX HELD TO BE VALID

Wife Rescued Pieces From Kitchen Fire

London.—A will that in 1932 was torn into six pieces and thrown on the kitchen fire by the man who had made it was admitted to probate by Mr. Justice Bucknill in the probate court.

It was made by Albert Bulmer, a company director, formerly living at Stoke-on-Trent, and was retrieved from the fire by his wife. Mr. Bulmer left £8,000 ($40,000).

Mr. Justice Bucknill, giving judgment, said the widow and Mr. Bulmer's nine children all wanted the will admitted.

He thought that what Mr. Bulmer did was done in a temper, and that Mrs. Bulmer took the pieces out of the fire with his consent.

MYSTERIOUS MALADY SPREADS IN SURREY

12 Girls in One Store Suddenly Stricken—Illness Brief

Sutton, Surrey—The cause of the mystery illness which is causing growing alarm in this part of Surrey remains unsolved.

Sutton and Carshalton people have apparently suffered most, but a number of cases have been reported from Wimbledon, Raynes Park, Merton and Wallington. The malady has also spread from Surrey into Kent.

The manager of the largest store in the town declared that since the epidemic was first noticed 38 of his girl assistants and two men had been victims.

"I have 12 girls off ill," he said. "Girls who are apparently quite well suddenly go ashen white and collapse behind the counter. I have heard it described as gastric flu, but doctors say it is nothing of the sort.

"Fortunately, the results do not appear to be serious. The illness rarely lasts longer than 48 hours, but the girls tell me it is very exhausting."

Biliousness and sickness usually accompany the attacks.

BOY DIVES 35 FEET AND DOG IS SAVED

RESTORE ANCIENT CHAMBER

Coventry.—After undergoing various vicissitudes, the 14th century council chamber at Coventry has been carefully restored and is again one of the sights of the city. A tapestry frieze, replacing the original that had been lost, was woven at Merton Abbey. In the second storey of the building, known as "Caesar's Tower," the ancient oak "City Chest" is to be seen. It is believed to be 500 years old.

NEW GAS MASKS TO BE PROVIDED FOR FORTY MILLION CIVILIANS

A view during the demonstration in London, England, of the new "almost perfect" gas masks by the air raid precautions dept. of the home office. The masks were tested in mobile chambers into which tear gas was introduced. The government will store 40,000,000 of the gas masks at depots to be demonstrated and stored for free distribution to all civilians in case of an air gas raid.

RESCUE GREAT DANE DOWN 200-FOOT CLIFF

Two Attempts Necessary—Ropes Used to Raise Huge Dog

Ilfracombe—A double climb down a precipitous and slippery cliff to rescue a dog was undertaken here by two visitors from Leeds, G. Milnes of Haymount St. and W. Conyere of Brander St.

They were walking on Torrs Cliffs when they heard a dog barking and saw a Harlequin Great Dane on a narrow ledge 200 feet down. The visitors, at great risk, reached the dog, but because of its weight they were unable to carry it to safety.

Returning, they obtained ropes and other help, climbed down the cliff again and fastened the ropes to the dog, which was rescued unhurt but terrified.

It barked for joy when returned to its owner, a Miss Symons, at one of the hotels.

Mr. Milnes said he slightly injured his arm in the rescue. They were in certain danger of falling over the cliff had the dog struggled.

CRIPPLE TOURS ENGLAND

Leaves in Wheel Chair on 2,000-Mile Journey

London.—William Blackburn, who has paralyzed legs but a great love for travel, has left London on a 2,000-mile tour of England in his home-made wheel chair. He made it from two bicycle wheels and a box. In it he can cover 60 miles a day.

KING STARTS TO MODERNIZE PALACE GOLF LINKS, AIRPORT

Windsor Also to See More Delphiniums, Lupins, Lilies, Roses

REDECORATE ROOMS

Windsor.—The King is planning extensive alterations at Windsor Castle.

Both King Edward VII and King George spent comparatively little time at Windsor, but the present King likes the castle, the district, and its convenience for London, and intends to do much of his entertaining there.

Most of the private apartments are to be modernized and redecorated. Lighting is to be improved and more bathrooms are to be added.

Trees are to be cut down and further ground is to be levelled to improve the King's private aeroplane landing ground in Windsor Great Park.

The King intends to get his golf handicap down on the private course below the East Terrace, and more difficult hazards are to be made to compensate for the short holes.

Already the King, who is an enthusiastic a gardener as the Queen, has approved the new bedding plan for the castle gardens. Delphiniums, lupins, lilies and standard roses are to be cultivated on a bigger scale than before.

These alterations will take time, however, and the King is not likely to forsake his present bachelor quarters at Fort Belvedere.

For the first time since the sad day in January when King George was buried in St. George's chapel the Queen recently attended morning service in the private chapel of the castle.

The King and the Duke and Duchess of York, all in deep mourning, and the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, in gray, made up the family congregation.

During the afternoon hundreds made a pilgrimage to St. George's chapel to see the brass-rimmed but still uninscribed marble slab beneath which rest the remains of the late king.

People stood packed shoulder to shoulder in the confined space beneath the banners of the Knights of the Garter, and between the choir stalls — girl cyclists in shorts, ramblers in tweeds and flannels, women carrying babies, and visitors from overseas.

VATICAN REPLACES MEDIEVAL DUNGEONS

Vatican City.—Medieval dungeons of the Vatican have been replaced by the smallest and most modern prison in the world.

The prison consists of only two cells, to be used for the detention of Vatican prisoners. It looks on to a courtyard, and is fitted with shower baths, hospital, and even a covered walk, suggested by the Pope, so that prisoners could take exercise in the rain without getting wet.

There are no inmates for the prison yet. No one has been incarcerated in the Vatican prison for a year.

TOO BUSY FOR REFORM

Deputation Talks to Baldwin About House of Lords

London.—Premier Stanley Baldwin and his cabinet have too many "grave problems" in hand to find time for reform of the House of Lords. The prime minister said this to a deputation of peers and M.P.s, 150 strong, who went to him asking for a reform by 1940 at the latest.

TRIED TO TAKE LIFE OF SELF AND CHILD

Feared Mother's Creeping Paralysis Was Hereditary—Note to Husband

Kingston, Eng.—A woman's fear of creeping paralysis from which her mother had died was mentioned at Kingston when Gwenyth Enid Dryland, 36, of Wyndicot, Sugden Rd., Long Ditton, was committed to Old Bailey on a charge of murdering her daughter, Patricia Mary, aged three, by gassing her.

Mrs. Dryland, who pleaded not guilty, wept while her husband, Alan George Dryland, an electrical engineer, gave evidence.

Vincent Evans, for the public prosecutor, said that when Mr. Dryland returned home he found his wife lying on the floor of the kitchen and the child in a perambulator. Gas was escaping from a stove. The child was dead, and Mrs. Dryland was taken to hospital.

A doctor found three notes on a bedroom door. One of these read:

"Little love, I can't go on. I feel sure that there must be something wrong, for I ought not to feel as I do. I'd give anything to be able to hold out until after you are better, but I daren't in case I might not be able to.

"I cannot leave Mollie, for how am I to know she won't go through the same?

"Your splendid life shall not be ruined by an always invalid wife and a haunting fear that, if I left her, Mollie might be the same.

"You have been the most wonderful little sweetheart and husband that this life could have. I thank you for every minute of it and pray that, as time goes on, you may be able to forgive. I leave anything I have to you . . . I can't write to auntie, uncle, and Kit. I love them so and feel so cruel, and they all love you so."

Mr. Dryland, giving evidence, said that he married in January, 1926, and there was one child. No man could have had a better wife or a better mother to his child, he said.

TURN SCOTTISH AREA INTO NATIONAL PARK

Glasgow. — About a hundred square miles of one of the most beautiful, yet least known, regions of Scotland is now a national forest park. The land is divided into two parts by Loch Goil, an arm of the sea which, branching off from Loch Long and the Firth of Clyde, penetrates far inland amongst the mountains.

It is a mountainous and sparsely populated region with scarcely any roads or paths and most attractive for the climber. Its peaks include Ben Ime (3,318 feet), Beinn Narnain (3,035 feet) and the Cobbler (2,891 feet), and there is also that magnificent stretch of hilly country known ironically as "Argyll's Bowling Green." Lovely Loch Elk lie in the southern portion, and also Glen Masson, Glen Finart and the lesser known Glen Shellach.

BUS CRASHES BRIDGE ELEVEN ARE INJURED

Thirty-two Persons Thrown Into Lincolnshire Dyke

Eleven women were admitted to Louth and Alford hospital, Lincolnshire, suffering from cuts, after a bus carrying a party of 32 women and children had crashed into a bridge on the way to Mablethorpe and turned broadside into a dyke.

The party was from Stapleford, Nottinghamshire, Methodist Sunday school. No children were injured and there was no panic. Those who were not hurt dried their clothes and waited for a relief bus.

SPEEDING "SO NICE"

Cape Town.—Andries Bryuns, charged with driving a motor car 38 miles an hour, was fined $20. He said, "I was speeding because the road was so nice."

BURNING 'PLANE OVER TOWN PILOT REFUSES TO 'BAIL' OUT

Waits Until Ship Clear of Village—Arms and Face Burned

SHOWED COURAGE

Chatham—The courage of a young R.A.F. pilot probably averted a serious disaster at Snodland, near Rochester, Kent. He stuck to the controls of his blazing aeroplane and did not make a parachute jump until it was clear of the village.

During the afternoon, while children in the village were leaving school, a small R.A.F. scout machine appeared from behind a cloud. Flames and smoke were pouring from its under-carriage.

As it cleared the outskirts of the village Pilot-Sergeant H. E. Davis, 26, of North Weald R.A.F. aerodrome, leaped out at a few hundred feet, and landed in a market garden.

Enveloped in flames, his aeroplane crashed in a marsh near the River Medway. It exploded as it hit the ground, and buried itself 12 feet in the earth. In a few minutes it was burned into a mass of charred and twisted wreckage.

T. Ashby, of Snodland, who was working with a gang on the railway 100 yards from the spot where the aeroplane fell, told me that the machine nose dived as soon as the pilot jumped.

"There was a terrific crash as it struck the ground. The fire was so intense that we could not get near to it," he said.

Hundreds of people watched fascinated as the flaming machine passed over the village. W. G. Pike, on whose allotment the pilot landed, said, "I was working there when I heard the noise of an engine. I looked up and saw the aeroplane overhead in flames. The pilot leaped out and came down a few yards away from me.

"I noticed that his arms and face were burned, but he was able to walk towards me. I assisted him to a doctor."

The doctor found that Pilot-Sergt. Davis was suffering from severe burns to the face and arms, and shock. He was taken to St. Bartholomew's hospital, Rochester, and later to the Royal Naval hospital, Chatham.

Pilot-Sergt. Davis lives at St. Albans Rd., Coopersale, Epping, Essex.

SWINDLE IS ALLEGED OVER PARIS FOLIES

Three Frenchmen Awarded Damages By London Court

London.—Three Frenchman who alleged that they had been swindled of about £5000 ($25,000) during negotiations in London for the sale of the Folies Bergeres music hall, Paris, were awarded damages in the high court. Three consolidated actions came before the Lord Chief Justice (Lord Hewart) and a special jury.

The plaintiffs were: M. Maurice Hermite, musical director of the Folies Bergeres; M. Paul Lefebvre, and M. Andre Denis, all of Paris; and the defendants were Christopher Allingham, Lewis Krumm and the Anglo-French Enterprises, Ltd., of Piccadilly, W.

M. Hermite was awarded £4570 ($22,850) and the other plaintiffs were awarded £99 ($475) each, with costs.

START RACING CATS ON ENGLISH COURTS

Fifty Feline Pets in Training for Chasing Electrical Mouse

London.—Cat racing may never displace the "sport of kings" in England, but at the little village of Portesham, in Dorset, a cat racing course is being built. The course, which will have four "traps," will be 440 yards long, and the encouragement for the chase will be an electric mouse.

Fifty out of the 150 pets in the village already are in strict training.

There are no listed age limits nor classes. But careful observation has proved that the best age is between two and three years.

One experiment meeting has been held in which there were six races. At this meet, a dummy mouse which was run on an endless rope worked by a winch proved too slow for the "puss in seven league boots."

Identification is made by red, white, blue and yellow ribbons tied about the racer's necks.

Nothing has yet been done about seeking scientifically bred runners, but one man, on leaving the new race-course, expressed himself as interested in training a breed of mice to chase an electric cheese.

DENIES CALLOUSNESS SUGGESTED BY JURY

Scenario Writer Claims He Helped Parents Who Took Own Lives

Ferring-On-Sea. — "The jury branded me as callous because it was said I had not supported my father. But I have supported him. I have given him several sums of money during the past year, when I was also making my own way."

James Francis Bunting, a scenario writer, made this statement following a Haslemere, Surrey, inquest on his father, the Rev. William Henry Boyne Bunting, aged 70, curate in charge of Camelsdale, and Mrs. Hilda Mary Bunting, aged 56, who gassed themselves.

Asked if he could say what was the cause of his parents' worry, Mr. Bunting replied that he thought it was "an accumulation of a lot of things."

Until the early part of this year, he said, they had been helping him and his wife and let him have a considerable amount of money, which he was endeavoring to pay back. He gave them some money in January and some more at Easter.

SAY THREE MYSTIC WORDS CLUE TO NEW DALAI LAMA

Tibetans Believe Spirit Enters Child Born at Time of Death

THINK BABY FOUND

Darjeeling. — "Ah Ka Ma"—the been revealed to the regent of mystic three-word clue said to have Tibet while he sat by the Holy Lake of Kali—may quickly end the nation-wide search for the reincarnation of the Dalai Lama.

Tibetans believe that the spirit of the Dalai Lama, supreme ruler of the country and head of the all-powerful priesthood, enters, at the moment of death, the body of a baby born at precisely the same time.

The Tashi Lama, the second spiritual leader of Tibet, who is living in exile in China, has sent a remarkable letter to Lhassa, stating that he held a ceremony at "the Carnival of Purification," attended by thousands of Buddhists from China and Tibet.

During the ceremony, he says, a woman, holding in her arms a two-year-old child, approached the Tashi Lama and caught hold of his body. After the ceremony the Tashi Lama ascertained that the woman is "Kamatso," wife of a man in the region of Amdo. It is believed in Lhassa that this child may be the reincarnation of the Dalai Lama, who died two years ago.

The regent's vision revealed the words "Ah Ka Ma." It is supposed that "Ah" indicates the Amdo region and the "Ka" and the "Ma" indicate "Kama", the name of the child's mother. This new "revelation" is now being considered by the Great Lama's government in Tibet.

BURNING OIL HURTS 18

New Delhi.—When oil caught fire in a confectioner's shop, the proprietor threw water on the flames. The burning oil flew on to the street, seriously injuring 18 persons, including women and children.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN BUSY BUT HEALTHY

Tokio.—Japan's young emperor is enjoying excellent health despite increasing occupation with administrative and military affairs, according to a report from the imperial household.

"Two years and a half have passed since the birth of the crown prince of Japan," said the household minister. "Since the birth he has been enjoying excellent health and is growing in a most satisfactory way.

"Princess Teru, the eldest daughter, who finished the first period of the Peeress' school this spring, has entered the middle period of the same school, while Princess Taka entered the Peeress' school this year."

The emperor is 33; the empress 33.

FIND COCKTAIL BAR IN ROMAN RUINS

Is of Marble, Height of Soda Fountain Counter

Rome.—Archaeologists have given the tourist agencies a real "talking point" in the effort to attract visitors from Ostien Antica, the ancient imperial seaport of Rome.

Years of propaganda had failed to bring visitors to see Ostia's interesting ruins and art treasures, but now — a bar has been unearthed! It is of marble, the same height as the usual soda fountain or cocktail bar, and with a little plumbing could be used to-day.

Besides numerous shelves and boxes for the amphorae of liquor, the bar has two spacious cavities — one of which is presumed to have been for ice and the other for a boiler.

Near the bar was found a statue of Hygeia, goddess of health — to whom, no doubt, patrons of 2,000 years ago raised many a beaker.

NAZI SEASIDE RESORT FOR WORKERS ALONE

300,000 Per Season To Be Accommodated—Five-Mile Beach

Berlin.—A "colossal" seaside resort exclusively for the working class is being conjured up by the Nazis from a lonely strip of beach between Binz and Sassnitz, on the island of Ruegen, in the Baltic Sea. Twenty thousand factory girls, miners, workmen, kitchen maids, farm-hands, painters, cobblers, plumbers, engine drivers, train conductors and postmen, with their wives and children, will live in 3,350 rooms all facing the sea. Each day, about 3,000 workers will arrive and 3,000 depart, each group staying 10 days. Thus in five months 300,000 are to be accommodated.

They will eat 80,000 rolls and 25,000 pounds of bread a day which will be baked in their own bakery. A private laundry will wash 16,000 pounds of laundry daily. Meals will be served in 10 gigantic "food houses."

The beach has a length of five miles of which more than three miles will be equipped with promenades, cafes, resting places, etc. A pier 2,250 feet long will be built.

AUSTRALIA TRIES OUT RUBBER ROADS

But Has Proved Too Costly for General Use

Sydney, Australia.—Rubber roads may succeed the necessity of rubber tires as the result of experiments now being carried out in Queensland.

The rubber being used is sent from Papua, New Guinea.

To date, it has proven too costly for general road use, but new experiments are now being made. If they prove successful, rubber roads will be extended to other parts of Australia.

MADE BALD BY DYE GIRL AWARDED $6,500

Faces Six Months of Mental Torture, Says French Judge

Paris.—A girl who is suddenly deprived of her hair, even though it will grow again, is faced with at least six months of mental torture."

With these words the judge in a civil court here ordered a woman hairdresser, proprietress of one of the most fashionable salons in Paris, to pay $6,500 to Mlle. Yvonne Leroy, 23, the lyric writer and authoress of many songs sung by Tino Rossi, the film and radio star.

Mlle. Leroy appeared in court wearing a wig consisting of a mass of blonde curls.

"This case is of vital importance to all women," exclaimed her counsel, Maitre Jean Louis Aujol.

"This hairdresser was asked to change the color of my client's hair —normally brown.

"The 'metal salts' and the other preparation used proved to be chemical opposites, and overnight Mlle. Leroy became bald," counsel declared.

AUSTRALIA EXPORTS ELM LEAF TOBACCO

Is Converted Into Plugs in Germany

Melbourne.—When large quantities of fallen elm leaves were bought in the Australian town of Bacchus Marsh for shipment to Germany a rumor spread of a mysterious new explosive extracted from leaves.

Then came the explanation. Two customs officers saw the leaves being put through a hydraulic press and converted into plugs like tobacco. They tested this new "smoke" and found it quite palatable and smooth, though somewhat damp.

So it seems that German smokers, in these days of currency difficulties, are to be converted to the new elm leaf "tobacco".

NATIVE'S 'SATANIC' RACKET COMES UNDER LEAGUE'S EYE

New Guinea Fellow Named Marafi Starts Strange Mandate Case

WAS ARRESTED

Canberra.—The League of Nations, which failed completely in its application of sanctions against Italy, soon will be called upon to pass on the application of sanctions against Satan.

The case has been submitted to the league council and the league's mandate commission by the commonwealth government, which exercises a league mandate over New Guinea.

According to the report, Australia was obliged to send an official investigator to look into a strange case of satanism that created a difficult situation on the mandated territory. At the village of Bunki, New Guinea, about a year ago, a native named Marafi spread the rumor among the villagers and the surrounding population that Satan had visited him and given him supernatural powers.

He insisted that Satan had taken him into the earth, where the dead told him that Satan would not allow them to return to earth until he, Marafi, had induced the villagers to believe that Satan was the supreme being.

Marafi, according to the official report to the league, put his alleged supernatural satanic powers to profit, by insisting that natives of all the surrounding villages make presents to him. He held seances on dark nights, and boasted he could fly like a bird. He collected tributes in many villages.

As a result of Marafi's evil influence on the villagers, food gardens were neglected and communities suffered. Then Australia, as the mandatory power under the control of the league, was obliged to send district officers, who applied local sanctions by placing Marafi and other offenders who had helped him, under arrest, and then by taking the case into court, which finally permitted re-establishment of order and prosperity in Bunki and surrounding villages.

Under the procedure of the league, which was charged under the Versailles treaty with administration of mandates over uncivilized territories in such a manner that the inhabitants eventually might become civilized and capable of self-government, the report first will be passed upon by the league's mandate commission.

If the latter decides that the sanctions employed by Australia as the mandatory power, to put an end to the satanic disorders of New Guinea were justified, the report then will be passed on to the council of the league, which, as a rule, invariably approves whatever recommendations the mandate commission make.

In event the report is approved, the league will be considered as having demonstrated its ability to apply sanctions against satan.

1,017 VISITORS SEE SEWERS OF PARIS

Underground Tour Is Taken in Small Boats

Paris.—The famous sewers of Paris, which are open to the public—but seldom prove a drawing card — attracted 1,107 visitors in 1935. The underground tour from the Place de la Concorde to the Madeleine church is taken in small boats in the underground passages, made famous by Victor Hugo's "Les Miserable".

The sewers are open to the public only in summer months, one day a week, and the eerie boat trip can be made for 3 francs per person. Last year's traffic brought about $285 into the coffers of the French government.

To-day Parisian sewers extend from 600 to 700 miles in length, but only a quarter of a mile is available to curious tourists.

MONUMENT TO KING OF MASSIVE DIGNITY

Tender For Work on Memorial at Windsor Has Been Accepted

Windsor, Eng. — Plans for the monument to King George at Windsor—the town from which he selected the royal family's present surname—have received approval from King Edward and Queen Mary.

A tender for execution of the work has been accepted, and the memorial should be ready for unveiling next spring, when King Edward is expected to preside at the ceremony.

Sir Edward Lutyens has designed the memorial so that the central feature is a stone cenotaph of massive dignity, yet simple in ornament. On the top is a carved representation of the royal emblems resting on a cushion.

Upon the steps leading up to the cenotaph will be carved the inscription:

George V
House of Windsor

Below and in front of the monument will be a rectangular basin of water, with two raised fountains, one on each side. The site of the memorial is directly below the walls of Windsor Castle and in the centre of the town.

HIT FATHER, JAILED

Johannesburg—Charged with hitting his father with his fist, Christian Botha of Fordsburg was sentenced to a month's hard labor. "You have not a spark of manhood in you," said the judge.

Neighborly Notes

Mrs. C. O'Boyle and daughter, Grace, of New York are visiting the former's brother, Patrick Byrne, who is employed at the home of Frank Lynch, Otonabee. The meetting is in the nature of a re-union for the brother and sister as they had not seen each other since leaving their home in Ireland in 1921.

Dr. E. M. Crough left today for Saskatoon to serve as a delegate of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club to the national Kinsman Convention there on the August 5, 6 and 7. He will extend his stay in the west through the greater part of the month, visiting his brothers, Mr. Leo Crough at Craik, Saskatchewan, and E. T. Crough at Rosthern, Saskatchewan.

Burial services for Mrs. W. W. Herrington formerly of Milwaukee, Wis., who died on May 12 at Hollywood, Cal., were held on Monday morning last at Forest Hill Cemetery Madison, Wis. The remains were taken to Madison by Mr. Herrington and his sister, Mrs. Ella Dinner, of Peterborough. Mr. W. W. Herrington and Mrs. Ella Dinner are at the home of Mr. C. W. Herrington, Madison, and will return to the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Charles G. English, Rogers street, Peterborough.

Mrs. MacPhail Tendered Going-away Party.

Twenty friends met at the home of Mrs. Douglas MacPhail, Braidwood avenue, last evening and tendered a jolly "going away" party, wishing Mrs. MacPhail and her three children bon voyage in view of their departure for England next Wednesday. They will visit in England during the next three months.

A handsome grey leather purse was presented by Mrs. Doleman and Miss E. J. Morgan read an address of well chosen words. A dainty supper concluded the happy occasion.

Bride-elect Honored At Miscellaneous Shower.

The Misses Grace McCannan and May Pollock were joint hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of the former, 612 Walkerfield avenue, in honour of Miss Kay Benson, bride-elect of next week, last evening. An unusually pretty effect was achieved by suspension of an inverted umbrella in pink and white from an archway. Attached streamers bore verses which directed the bride-elect to the hidden gifts. Many lovely gifts were tendered her.

More than twenty friends of the guest of honour and the hostesses were present. The number included: Marion Ralston, Jean Ralston, Beatrice Wallace, Marguerite Kidd, Muriel Benson, Margaret Wedlock, B. Morrison, Mrs. A. Malby, Mrs. Mongraw, Annabel Herd, Louise Letellier, Eva Letellier, Mrs. William Wedlock, Mrs. A. Huffman, Helen Trotter, Mrs. N. Hughes, Mrs. Jesse Kerr, Mrs. R. MacNab, Alice Davis, Unice Barnes, Mary Morton, Irma Darling and Eloise Darling. A dainty lunch was served at the conclusion of the evening.

Dr. Crough Attending Saskatoon Convention.

Members of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club and several other friends of Dr. E. M. Crough honored him on Friday evening on the eve of his departure to Saskatoon, where he will attend the National Convention of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs. The party was held at the beautiful cottage of Art Costello on the shore of Pigeon lake. A sumptuous repast was provided after which followed an impromptu programme of several addresses, musical numbers and a presentation to the guest of honor.

Dr. Crough is a charter member of the Peterborough Club and has been one of its best workers during the past six years. He has been keenly interested in the eye clinic work and taken a very prominent part as after dinner speaker, having been called upon to address many Kinsmen clubs throughout Ontario.

Dr. Crough will be away several weeks as he plans to visit other parts of Western Canada.

Club Ladies Enjoy Picnic.

The ladies of the All Saints' Bowling Club held an enjoyable picnic at Nicholls Oval Thursday afternoon. After a pleasant program of races and sports, thirty-five sat down to supper served under the convenorship of Mrs. E. Smith. Mrs. F. Parson and Mrs. J. Wiley acted as the sports committee.

Sports winners were as follows: Three-legged race, Mrs. E. Blaby and Mrs. E. Ellis; potato race, Mrs. J. Coombes; target game, Mrs. E. Babbs; and age prize, Mrs. T. Hetherington. Winners of other contests were Mrs. G. Harris, Mrs. E. Fisher, Mrs. J. Wiley and Mrs. E. Blaby.

Mr. W. Armstrong of Patterson street, who was called to Chicago owing to the death of his sister, the late Mrs. W. J. Barrett, has returned home.

The Misses Madeline Allen, Marion Wood and Zoe McDonald are spending the week-end at Cobourg.

Friends here have received a letter from Rev. Father P. J. Galvin of St. Mary's Church, Grafton, reporting his safe arrival in Palestine. He embarked on his long journey on July 3. In his letter, Father Galvin states conditions in Palestine are not at all alarming despite the sensational news of trouble between the Arabs and Jews. Most of the trouble is centered in the country districts and is well under the control of the British soldiers. Large numbers of British "Tommies" are to be seen in all population centres. Christians are not being disturbed by the rioters, he states.

Informal Dinner Given Distinguished Visitor.

More than ninety men and women including representatives of the City Council, the Ministerial Association and a number of other local bodies gathered at the Kawartha Club as guests of the Local Council of Women at an informal dinner tendered Dr. Maude Royden last evening. The guests were presented to the distinguished peace crusader and preacher by Mrs. C. M. Scott, president of the Council, at a reception which preceded the dinner.

The tables had been prettily decorated under the direction of Mrs. C. S. Thompson, a varied scheme of colouring being achieved through artistic arrangement of summer flowers. The effect was heightened through the use of a number of rare Indian brass bowls and vases provided by Mrs. Scott from a collection she has at her home.

Mrs. Scott presided and called the gathering to order for several short and informal speeches at the conclusion of dinner. Mayor George A. Macdonald extended Dr. Royden a welcome to the city on behalf of himself, the Council and citizens in general. "We are exceedingly pleased to have Dr. Royden with us because she represents a calling which we regard very highly in Peterborough. It is good in these times of doubt and distress to have a woman such as Dr. Royden willing to devote her life to the task of bringing the world closer to Christ."

Senator Iva Campbell Fallis expressed pleasure at the opportunity of meeting Dr. Royden and extended the wish that Dr. Royden should have an enjoyable and successful visit in Canada in addressing a few words to the gathering. "Over here there seems to be such a sense of safety," Dr. Royden said in offering a short, informal greeting. "In Europe we are living under a constant shadow of fear." She said the rest of the world could look to Canada with its peaceful, tolerant freedom to point the way out of the present era of darkness.

The dinner was organized under the direction of Mrs. Scott and a committee. Among those present at the head table in addition to the chairman and Dr. Royden were J. J. Duffus, M.P., Mayor Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald, Miss E. M. Gunter who attended Dr. Royden, Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr and Mrs. Barr, Mr. Howard Fallis and Senator Fallis, Rev. Dr. W. P. Robertson and Mrs. Robertson, Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe, Rev. and Mrs. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Perry J. Giffen and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stocker.

Among others noted were: Mrs. W. W. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. J. Porter and Mrs. J. McKercher, all from the Lakefield branch of the Council; Mrs. H. Tremaine, Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. W. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd, Mrs. B. F. McNeely, Mrs. E. Wand, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Sommerville, Mrs. R. J. Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. James Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pomeroy, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale, Mrs. Joseph Mills, Mrs. N. Stanger, Mrs. H. Jocelyn, Mrs. F. Irons, Mrs. F. E. Hooper, Mrs. E. E. Harvey, Mrs. G. A. Helson, Mrs. H. E. Paterson, Mrs. Bugg, Mrs. C. R. Banks, Mrs. B. McLean, Mrs. E. A. Borland, Mrs. Karl Simpson, Mrs. F. C. Neal, Mrs. L. Nelson, Mrs. J. H. O'Keefe, Mrs. B. Deyell, Miss M. Denne, Miss P. Dixon, Miss T. Pearson, Miss H. Lytle, Miss A. Dobbin, Miss E. Bennett, Miss M. Edwards, Miss L. B. Thompson, Miss E. Morrow, Miss L. Brownscombe and Miss Laura Belleghem.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

"Order is Heaven's first law; and this confest,
Some are, and must be, greater than the rest,
More rich, more wise; but who infers from hence
That such are happier, shocks all common sense."
—Pope's Essay on Man.

Dear Friends:

I have been studying a lot about prisons recently, and whereas I used to think when I was a girl, that surely there was some other way to cure people of crimes and criminality besides shutting them away from the restof us, I can clearly see now, that unless they WERE shut away, we would either be in a constant state of seige from them, or we would all becomie criminals in self-defence.

There has to be order. We must have it in our lives, in our homes, offices, factories, ships, anywhere and everywhere that human beings live together, the biggest factor for unhappiness, is lack of order.

When there is order, everyone gets his or her share of the little happiness there is in the world. Where a child will not obey or conform to the order of the home, there is disorder in the mind of the Mother, for she is the one who is blamed for an unruly child. Where the child is made to obey, then is the seed sown for it to be able to live an orderly life with the rest of humanity, but when it is allowed to be disorderly in the manner of forever causing trouble, then is the beginning of a criminal.

None of us are born orderly, we have to be trained. When a person refuses to Be trained, then he is an out-law, and should be treated accordingly. The biggest cause of disorder is selfishness pure and simple.

The criminal wants something the other fellow has, so he sets out to get it, and if he maims or kills in the getting of it, so much the worse and the law gets after him.

The selfish ones in the home want some thin, and if they main and kill the heart and spirit of someone there, there is no law that can overtake them, unless the justice of God, and that does not always prevent bitter tears and sorrow.

"As ye sow so shall ye reap," can be of some comfort in a way, but it does not stop the heart from aching that has been hurt past telling about, it does not fill up the lonely hours, nor does it stop the sense of injustice from being there, nor heal the wound that ingratitude has caused.

Nature has a way of making the oning, because if you cause another selfish outlaw get his or her reck-tears, you will eventually shed bitter ones yourself. How many tears must be shed night after night inside of prison cells, with no one to hear, and no one to care.

How many tears are shed inside many homes with no one to see or hear or care, and in both cases it was all caused by someone's selfishness. How many hours of loneliness could be prevented with a little thought.

What to do about it. It should have started early in life to do the most good, but it is never too late. If they are bound to be a selfish outlaw, KEEP THEM ONE IN EVERYTHING. Exclude them from your conversation, from your thoughts, from your plea..ures. Let them stay in the prison cells of their own self, and they will soon be beating at the bars to get out. Don't be afraid that you are not acting like a christian in not turning the other cheek.

God does not expect you to be a complete fool altogether. Let them do some of this turning the other cheek. You were not told that you were the only one who had to do it. There are many criminals who are not behind bars, and the biggest ones to my way of thinking, are the one, who rob another of their peace of mind, and leave disorder behind, when a little kindness would leave beautiful serene order.

Your friend.
ROBERTA.

Fashion Service

Here are four ways to hat chic. They take the minimum of material.

The cool Dutch cap has already established itself as the most important hat for town as well as for the beach and the country. Pique is especially nice to fashion it and all you need as ⅝ yard of 39-inch material. It ties at back with ¾ yard of 1-inch grosgrain ribbon.

For spectator sports, make the brimmed hat of linen.

"A" and "C" favor crowns and adapt themselves to bengaline or crepe silk, besides linen or pique.

Even if you are lounging on the shore, what's to prevent you from occupying some of the pleasant moments with a little sewing.

Especially will you be tempted when after such a short while these cool hats will be yours.

Style No. 2888 includes the four hat models in one size only.

AMERICANS WILL ERECT MONUMENT AT OLD FORTRESS

American Society Of Colonial Warfare Honor Fallen—Offer School Prizes

SYDNEY, N. S., August1—(CP)—In memory of the British, French and American soldiers who fell in the several battles at Louisburg, a monument is to be erected at the historic fortress site by the American Society of Colonial Wars.

The suggestion came from Albert Almon, well-known Cape Breton historian and in a letter received last week he was informed by Major Howland Pell, Honorary Governor General of the Society, that funds are now being collected for the undertaking.

The monument will be constructed of rugged granite of simple design and its erection will be handled by the North Sydney firm of John D. Steele and Sons, who have notified Mr. Almon that work will begin shortly.

The inscription will contain the following tribute:

"In memory of the American, French and English soldiers who gave up their lives for their country, 1745-58. Erected by General Society of Colonial Wars, 1936."

The Society is stimulating further interest in the project having awarded substantial cash prizes for the best essay written on the history of Louisburg, and competition will be open to school districts particularly within the Louisburg area.

Prizes will be $25, $10 and $5 all donated by the Society, and separate prizes given by Major Pell, who was responsible for the erection of the present shaft at Louisburg commemorating the deeds of the American soldiers.

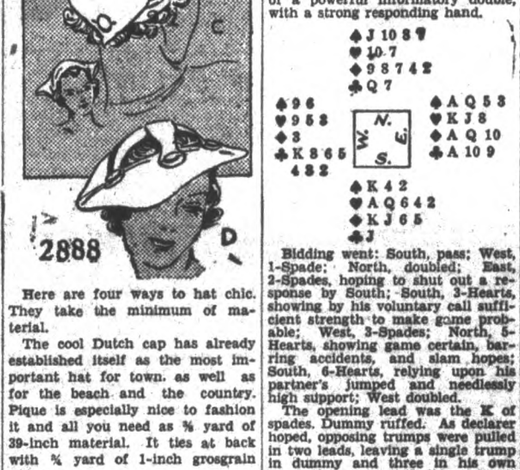
FINE STRATEGY

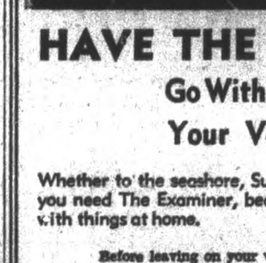
WHEN USED properly, and provided a player holds suffient high cards and lengths of suits, a hand well divided among three suits is much better adopted to an informatory double than to an attempt to show all three suits. Provided partner has not bid, and provided a double is made at the first opportunity, the double is informatory, demanding that doubler's partner either bid his best suit, no trumps on several stops to the adverse suit,or defeat the doubled call for more than reasonably may be expected from any bid open to him. A double is on its face informatory when the call is for less than game (3-Spades, 3-Hearts, or even 4 of either minor suit had better be considered as affording informatory doubles). Today we have an excellent example of a powerful informatory double, with a strong responding hand.



Bidding went: South, pass; West, 1-Spade; North, doubled; East, 2-Spades, hoping to shut out a response by South; South, 3-Hearts, showing by his voluntary call sufficient strength to make game probable; West, 3-Spades; North, 5-Hearts, showing game certain, barring accidents, and slam hopes; South, 6-Hearts, relying upon his partner's jumped and needlessly high support; West doubled.

The opening lead was the K of spades. Dummy ruffed. As declarer hoped, opposing trumps were pulled in two leads, leaving a single trump in dummy and three in his own hand. The truncated diamond suit in dummy was led, giving defenders their first and last defensive trick. West dared not refuse to take his Ace of diamonds.

West ruffed dummy with a high spade honor, taking the last trump from dummy. Then declarer spread his hand for the balance of tricks. The three established diamonds on the table allowed declarer to discard his last spade and his only loser in clubs, giving him the doubled small slam bid. It was fine strategy.



East is declarer. The call is 3-No Trumps. The opening lead is the 4 of hearts. Before tomorrow see if game can be made against any subsequent defense.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1 (CP) Baby Charles Bert Cowden can drink his gasoline or leave it alone—but he'll probably leave it alone hereafter.

The 13-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cowden tipped up a tin cup of gasoline and drained it before his surprised parents could stop him yesterday.

He lapsed into unconsciousness and they rushed him to a hospital. En route, he opened his eyes, hiccoughed a couple of times, and smiled.

Soon he was happily drinking milk.

Weddings

TESKEY—STEELE.

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized in this city at 11 o'clock Friday when Jane Henrietta Faith Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Steele, 335 Woodbine Avenue, became the bride of Benjamin James Enslow Teskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Teskey of Orillia. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church carried out the ceremony.

A reception for relatives and immediate friends followed at the home of the bride, the young couple later leaving for Lake Vernon, Ontario. They will reside at Moonstone, Ontario.

WOODALL—VOLLANS

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Anglican Church this afternoon at 1.30 o'clock when Sylvia Vollans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vollans, Bolivar street was given in marriage to Russell Woodall, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodall of Wasaga, Ontario. Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, former rector of St. John's, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a toe-length gown of white silk lace with a jacket of white satin with a Queen Anne collar and short puff sleeves. The ensemble was completed with mesh mittens, white satin sandals and white crepe de chine turban. She carried supreme roses.

Mrs. Cecil Edgar of Detroit attended the bride and Mr. Edgar was best man. Miss Lily Bacon presided at the organ. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed and the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Western Ontario, the bride travelling in white. They will reside at Larder Lake in Northern Ontario.

DIXON-FORBES.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the manse of Knox United church at noon today when Bertha M. Forbes, elder daughter of Mrs. R. Forbes and the late J. H. Forbes became the bride of George L. Dixon, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dixon of Sheffield, England. Rev McCormick, pastor of Knox Church performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of turquoise blue triple cheer chiffon, toe length. The dress had long full sleves and a double Peter Pan collar with scalloped edges. A belt caught by a covered buckle of matching material was also worn. Her hat was a small close fitting model of white crepe, with tiny veil and she wore a corsage of Madame Butterfly Roses. Her sandals were of white crepe and she wore white silk gloves.

The bridesmaid, Margaret Forbes, sister of the bride wore a lovely creation of yellow chiffon with full skirt, ankle length. The shoulder yoke had pronounced shirring and the collar was plain with square front. She wore white kid slippers and white mesh gloves. Her corsage was made up of Talisman roses. A wide hat of white crepe completed the groom. A wedding dinner was served at the bride's home to immediate relatives and friends and the young couple departed by train for Toronto. They will make their home at 417 Downie Street here on their return.

Homers Feature Bears' 7-3 Win Over Wings

BEARS CLOUT BOB WEILAND OFF THE BOX

Royals And Senators Divide Night Doubleheader, Latter Wins First

TORONTO LEAFS IDLE

The Newark Bears, who lost the International League lead while losing games at a rapid clip on the road, seem intent on regaining their place at home by the most direct method—that is belting over the leading contenders.

After taking three out of five from the Buffalo Bisons, the Bears teed off against the league-leading Rochester Red Wings last night and came up with all the honors available in the form of a 7-3 victory.

Not only did Vito Tamulis check the league leaders with nine blows, but the Bears knocked Bob Weiland, a 20-game winner, off the slab and collected three home runs among their eleven blows. Merrill May and Dick Porter touched Weiland for boundary belts and Jack McCarthy smashed his 18th of the year after George Murray took the hill. The victory left the Bears with 8½ games to go to catch the Red Birds.

Toronto Leafs Idle

With Toronto and Syracuse taking a day off, the Montreal Royals and Albany Senators belted each other around and divided a night double-header, while Buffalo and Baltimore engaged in another pair of prolonged slugfests.

Bob Loane's homer with the bases filled in the six-run third inning enabled the Senators to take the opener 8 to 2. But Henry Johnson limited them to five blows in the full-length game and Mickey Heath paced Montreal's 17-hit attack by smacking out five for five and scoring five times. The Royals won, 13 to 1.

Two and a half hours, three pitchers apiece and a total of 29 hits, including a pair of circuit swats by George Savino and one by Ab Wright told the tale of Baltimore's 12-10 victory over Buffalo in the first clash.

Cricket Results

LONDON, Aug. 1 (CP Cable).—Inability of Kent to take maximum points from Nottinghamshire allowed Hampshire to jump into the third position in the English County Cricket championship yesterday. Hampshire won an eight-wickets decision from Lancashire Thursday. Kent slid to the fourth rung in the standing.

Although idle, Derbyshire maintained a comfortable lead over Nottinghamshire, runner-up.

Only three games were down for action yesterday, but only two started. Glamorgan won on the first innings from Worcestershire, and Kent and Nottinghamshire met at Nottingham. The Northamptonshire-Sussex contest was rained out. Yesterday's scores:—

Kent 415 and 143 (Woolley 57, Voce 4 for 70, Larwood 6 for 64); Nottinghamshire 283 and 181 runs for nine wickets (Wright 6 for 72).

Northamptonshire, 169 and 105 for 5; Sussex, 231 (Cook 50, Partridge 7 for 78; at Hove.

Reason For Dispute On Braddock-Schmeling Fight

Perhaps the most serious drawback to a bout between world champion James J. Braddock and leading contender, Max Schmeling of Germany, was the business rivalry of New York's two main promoting outfits, the 20th Century Fight club, and the Madison Square Garden corporation. The Garden had Braddock tied up, and 20th Century had Der Mavie under its wing. All that isover now. This picture shows the great compromise. Both clubs will promote the fight. They are signing the joint contract. (Left to right) are seen, Jimmy Johnston and Staunton Griffis, representing the Garden, and Mike Jacobs, representing the 20th Century club.

MILLER TAKES TWIN VICTORY SINGLE SCULLS

Young Argo Oarsman First In Junior And Association Races

BLUES HEAD SWEEPSTAKE

PORT DALHOUSIE, Aug. 1.—(CP) — Following in the footsteps of Charlie Campbell, young Toronto sculler who rose to aquatic heights in 1934, and now carries the Maple Leaf in the Olympic games, Herb Miller yesterday brought honors to the same Toronto club, Argonauts.

Miller, former University of Toronto student, paced his club mates to retention of their 1935 sweepstake honors during the second day of the 54th Royal Canadian Henley Regatta here.

Thursday Miller placed second in his heat of the open quarter-mile dash and was nosed out by only six feet by Ervin Konrad of Buffalo, United States national sprint champion. He then stepped out and won the junior singles heat by four open lengths and placed in the finals of the open sprint event, against ranking opponents.

Today he won the junior singles by an open length, defeating his strongest rival, Floyd Garrard of St. Catharines, who won by 16 lengths Thursday, thus qualifying for the association singles. Less than three hours later he breezed through in this event, ending two lengths ahead of his clubmate Jim Russell. Konrad was third.

Miller Singles Leader.

Argonaut rooters went wild as Miller scored his second victory and automatically became a candidate for the senior singles championships today. After his performances today, Miller was rated by experts as "the man to beat" for the championship. His display spurred on other Argos to maintain the prestige they established last year when they nearly doubled the point totals on their nearest rowing rivals.

Don Paul's men collected 35 points today, winning three firsts, three seconds and two thirds against the strongest American challenge that has come forward so far, from Detroit scullers.

Detroit won three firsts and two seconds for 30 points. Buffalo Westsides came along with two firsts, a second and two thirds, and captured at least one victory from Detroit that would have deadlocked the Detroiters with Argos.

Wyandotte, neighbors of Detroit, ended the day with a first, second and a third.

At the end of the day Argos had a grand total of 66 and a lead of 23 over Buffalo, who scored 22 Thursday and 21 today.

150-Pound Eights Close

What races the United States did win, however, they won convincingly, with one exception, in the junior 150-pound eights, when Argonauts chased Buffalo Westsides to the wire, with Buffalo only a third length ahead.

Wyandottes won the junior 140-pound eights by a length from St. Catharines, but Detroit opened four lengths on Argos in the intermediate 140-pound fours and three lengths on Toronto Dons in the junior 140-pound doubles.

The Detroiters widened the gap on Buffalo in the intermediate 150-pound fours, with Buffalo an open length ahead of Argonauts. In junior doubles both Westsides and Detroit put Dons and Argos out of the running, with Westsides eight open lengths ahead, and Detroit 10 open lengths ahead in second place.

In the junior singles today Miller and Garrard fought it out alone for one length of water, with the rest of the field 20 or 30 lengths behind a reverse of the situation in the junior doubles when Dons and Argos trailed the two leading United States pairs.

Indians Fall Under Sixteen-Hit Barrage For 11-7 Setback

CUBS KEEP ON TOP

By SID FEDER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

One big reason those pennant-bound Yankees are making a runaway of the current American League race lies in their simple method of knocking off their closest rivals, just when the particular second-place club of the moment begins to get tough.

They learned that little trick early this season, and by applying it at the proper moments, and with their customary amount of slugging pressure, have gone as far out in front of the rest of the pack as the rabbit in a greyhound race.

For instance, the gold-plated Red Sox became troublesome about a month ago. So Murderers' Row, meeting them just at that time, ended the threat in a hurry by taking four straight. The Sox haven't been the same since. The crippled Detroit Tigers stepped into second-place, then, and began creeping up. Gehrig and Company stopped them cold by winding up on top three-out-of-four in their "crucial series."

Indians Take Walloping

Now it's the Indians' turn. Travelling at as hot a pace as any collection of Indians in years—a pace that had cut the league lead of Gehrig and company from 10½ games to a mere 7½—the tribe ran up against the homicide squad yesterday, and received the customary punishment.

The Yanks pounded out 16 hits, including number 33 homer for Lou Gehrig, and piled up an 11 to 7 winning margin in the first of a three-game series, to boost their pace-setting edge to 8½ games. Bump Hadley, the leagues leading pitcher, chalked up his ninth win of the year, against one setback, as his mates landed on four Tribe hurlers.

Indians Edge Out

By the defeat, the Indians' edge over the third-place Red Sox belting his 30th homer, trounced the White Sox 7 to 3, behind Lefty Grove's seven-hit pitching. The Tigers returned to fourth place, dropping the White Sox into the second division, by walloping the Senators 8 to 2, as Tommy Bridges' limited the opposition to eight hits.

The St. Louis Browns, pulling farther out of the cellar almost daily, belted the Athletics 12-4, with the aging and ailing "Sunny" Jim Bottomley collecting a pair of home runs.

The Chicago Cubs saved something from the record of their series with the rushing Giants by winning the finale of the three-game affair 3-1, with Larry French, the first Cub hurler able to stop the New Yorkers in the series, turning in a four-hit job.

The Cardinals, remaining just one game off the National League pace made it three straight over the Dodgers, with Dizzy Dean winning his own ball game by singling in the winnings runs in the tenth. For the second straight day the Phillies and Reds split a double-header, Peaches Davis pitching a six-hit 12-2 win for the westerners in the opener, and Dolph Camilli's homer leading the way to a 7-2 Phil triumph in the nightcap. Wally Berger hit two homers for the Boston Bees, but the effort didn't do much good as the Pirates pecked away at a pair of pitchers for a 10-5 decision.

Schmeling-Braddock May Meet On Sept. 24

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(AP). — Madison Square Garden announced yesterday it would ask the New York Athletic Commission for permission to hold the Max Schmeling-Jimmy Braddock heavyweight championship bout on the night of Sept. 24 instead of the afternoon of the 26th.

Garden officials said they decided on the change because the afternoon date falls during the Hebrew holy days.

The Garden announced it had been offered $60,000 for the moving picture rights. The offer marks an all-time high for fight pictures, the previous high having been $50,000 paid for pictures of the Gene Tunney-Tom Heeney fight in 1928.

Percy Rylott Breaks His Back In Fall

MADOC, Aug. 1.—Word was received here by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rylott, of Toronto, who have been camping at Moira Lake, of a serious accident to Percy Rylott at Hamilton, early on Wednesday morning.

Mr. Percy Rylott, who has been employed on the C. N. R. fell while oiling his engine, breaking his back. He was removed to the hospital and placed in a cast, but at latest news still unconscious. His mother, Mrs. Rylott of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. John Rylott left at once for Hamilton.

A CAUTIOUS COW.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 31 (CP). —Struck by an approaching car and carried 30 feet, three years ago, a well-behaved cow owned by Charles B. Meyer, Sidney Township, has learned her lesson. Fears of cars passing is well implanted in bossie's mind, and today as she leads the herd to the pasture field, she stops, looks and listens before crossing the main highway.

Olympic Torch On Way To Germany

In a setting of Hellenic pageantry the Olympic flame, solemnly kindled atop Mount Olympus by the sun's rays, is being started on its way to the scene of the Olympic games in Germany. Hundreds of runners in relays will carry the torchover hill and dale from one country to another. On August 1 it is scheduled to arrive in Berlin to signal the start of the games. This picture shows the start of the flame from the scene of the first Olympiad. Notice the men in peasant costume in the background. The flame, incidentally, went out near Belgrade, Jugoslavia, until a man with an ordinary match came to the rescue.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wisecracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well Mac, I been busy all week playing that game with Oshawa last Sat. over and over again, but although I can think of a 1-0 dozways she could of been won, I can't seem to change the final results from the 4 to 3 for Oshawa what was registered at the end of the 12th frame.

That game, Mac, was 1 what should of been tucked in the old bag for the Johnstonites what with the Motors being shy 2 of their infield and with Mister Matty Matthews doing the heaving. However the hard-hitting right-fielder stopped the Petes attack like he was using 4-wheel breaks and outside of our Mister W. Calladine and Mister Starr our lads clubswinging was feeble, I mean to infer. Mister Whitehill pitched the 1st 9 frames for our talent and he was not hit very hard neither. Mister Scriver who arrived on the scene in the 10th and added the defeat to his record was the victim of a bad toss by himself in the 12th followed by a tainted double which a little spryer right-fielding oughta turned into the last out of the frame but which drove in the winning run instead.

A Tough Finish.

That was tough and it was tougher still in the Petes' end of the frame when the home crowd got the tieing and winning runs on the hassocks with only 1 hand down and then couldn't do a thing to squeeze even 1 marker home. It looked like the boys mighta done better up there without their bats for Mister Matthews was fast losing control and might have walked in a counter or 2 if the lads had of given him a chance.

Wed. Mac, we drop another game, this time in Kingston and that's 3 in a row. The diminutive Mister Jamieson spilled the whitewash over the Johnston troupe, holding them to 7 hits and meanwhile the Ponies was cashing in 4 runs, although their batting off the delivery of our Mister Scriver was not much more healthy than the Petes willow effort. Neither Mister Foley nor Mister Starr was with the losers and it begins to get more painfully clear every time out that we can't hope to spot the opposition a man or 2 and go on winning ball games. We gotta annex the odd fixture from now until the end to make sure of a playoff berth and it's getting to be a tough job, particularly with some of the regulars in a batting slump that robs the team of much of its punch. With a full lineup they aint no reason why we can't finish at least in 2nd place in the loop race but with the lineup minus a player or 2 every game, well we are asking for trouble and mebbe we'll get some.

The Tigers Slump

The big league race this week aint been very spectacular except for the fact them Detroit Tigers is plunging for the depths. Even the most rabid Detroit rooter has about give up hope and the only folks what is disputing New York's claim to the pennant is the birds what say Cleveland will eventually drive the Yanks to cover. Well they might but unless the Indians has got out of their habit of folding up like a concertina when they find theirselfs near the top, they don't seem much chance of anybody toppling the McCarthites outa the top berth. They're steam-rollering along and would have to go into a terrific slump to be overhauled from now in.

Well old timer, that covers about everything at the present moment so let's get the cover on the old type-writer and knock off for the day.

Sportfully Yours,
A. WISECRACKER.

ONTARIO SEEKING SIXTH GOLF TEAM TITLE THIS YEAR

Keener Competition From Other Provinces Expected This Year

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1 (CP).—Ontario, led by the redoubtable Ross "Sandy" Somerville, will parade its golf wares on the trickly-planned course of St. Charles Country club here Aug. 3, seeking its sixth interprovincial team championship.

Ontario has held no monopoly on the inter-provincial title—far from it, for competition has been of the keenest—but shotsmiths from the eastern province have won the Willingdon trophy and the team event five times since it was inaugurated in 1921.

Quebec has won the championship twice and British Columbia twice. Manitoba has been a dangerous challenger on several occasions but quartets from other provinces have never threatened seriously.

This year, however, sterner opposition may be expected from the three prairie provinces where youngsters have uncovered a variety and accuracy in their shots rarely seen there until the past couple of seasons. Alberta and Saskatchewan particularly have developed golf remarkably.

Youth predominates, particularly on the prairie teams, although some of the youngsters slated for team play have had wide experience in the competition.

With much rivalry facing Ontario in its attempt to defend the Willingdon Cup won last year at Hamilton, Somerville becomes a central figure in the current classic. Never has Ontario won the championship without the assistance of the silent Scot from the London Hunt Club.

Only in the event's first year, when Quebec won, and in 1934, when British Columbia triumphed with a record low total of 596, has Ontario been defeated with Somerville a member of the team. In 1930 at Toronto, Ontario competed without "Sandy" and lost by a stroke to Quebec. In 1933 at Vancouver, Somerville was absent in England and Ontario bowed to British Columbia by four strokes.

With "Sandy" plying his dangerous clubs for Ontario this year, therefore, that province must be regarded as favored to defend its crown successfully when the teams meet on the day preceding the opening round of the Canadian amateur championships.

WESTCLOX COPS 11-8 LEAGUE WIN

Electrics Give Winners a Close Call By Rally In Final Frame

A TIGHT BATTLE

Westclox climbed into a third-place tie with C.G.E. in the Girls' Softball League standing before a good crowd at the Bowl last night when the Alarm Lasses took an 11-8 verdict over the Electrics. Piling up an early lead and adding to it be in front 11-1 in the ninth, the Westclox crew saw the scrappy C. G.E. gang rally for seven runs in the last half inning and have the place in an uproar.

The winners turned in a fine game all through with good hurling, except in the ninth, excellent fielding and timely clouting. They had two double plays to cut off rival threats. C.G.E. were wobbly defensively the first inning but settled away to play good ball afterward and almost catch their opponents in the hectic ninth. Marg Snowden pitched well most of the way for Westclox, allowing 13 hits —seven in the last stanza—fan two and walk two. Helen Newson hurled fair ball for C.G.E. to limit the other side to 12 hits, strike out five and walk one.

M. Snowden and H. Mann had a homer and single each for Westclox, while M. Hawthorne hit a triple and single, B. Blade a double and single, and I. Sturgeon two safeties. For C.G.E., M. McCarthy led with a triple and two singles, with G. McCarthy and D. Millar having two singles each. M. English hit a two-bagger, G. Mortimer had an unassisted double play, and the other was a M. Ferguson-to-B. Blade-to-G. Mortimer double killing. Barb Blade shone at second. The teams:

Westclox —G. Mortimer 1b, M. Hawthoren 3b, I. Sturgeon rf, G. Mann c, A. Sturgeon cf, B. Blade 2b, H. Mann lf, M. Ferguson ss, M. Snowden p, A. Clarke rf.

C.G.E.—A. DeCarlo 1b, M. English lf, G. McCarthy cf, M. McCarthy rf, D. Miller c, M. White 3b, H. Newson p, E. Graham ss, M. Hallahan 2b.

MARKSMEN GATHER FOR ONTARIO SHOOT

Bright, Clear Weather Forecasted For Opening At Long Branch Ranges

LONG BRANCH RIFLE RANGES

LONG BRANCH, Aug. 1. — (CP).—More than 300 crack marksmen, schooled in all shooting angles, converged here today for the annual meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association next week.

The riflemen, veterans and youngsters making their first start in big time competition, sharpened their aim in spare moments today for an attack on rows of targets and scores they hoped would bring major money awards, medals and trophies. Forecasts for the start of the five-day meeting opening Monday call for clear, bright weather.

Most of the snipers are from Ontario, but about 30 or 40 Westerners, travelling toward Ottawa for the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meeting at Connaught Ranges, will compete.

They are eligible for most matches but may not win the Lieut-Governor's Gold Medal, reserved for Ontario competitors.

Among the west's representatives will be Sergt. T. A. Jensen, King" of Alberta shots, corp. M. M. Millar, Winnipeg, and Lieut. G. A. Molecy of Vancouver.

PACIFIC COAST THREE FAVORED

Canada Looks To McPhee, Orr And Humber To Annex Track Honors

ANNOUNCE PRELIMINARY

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(CP Cable)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation changed its mind today in the matter of revealing in advance the draw for track events of the Olympic games and announced the preliminary draw for the 100 and 800 metre runs.

Sixty-eight sprinters were drawn in the 12 heats, with all the favorites well seeded. The first two in each heat Sunday morning will qualify for the quarter-finals in the afternoon.

A lightning-limbed trio from the Pacific Coast—Howie McPhee and Lee Orr, Vancouver, and Bruce Humber, Victoria—formed one of the strongest sprint challenges ever made by Canada in the Olympics. Many point to the 20-year-old McPhee as a natural successor to Percy Williams, the Vancouver meteor who won the 100 and 200 metre runs at the Amsterdam Olympics in 1928.

Land Soft Berths.

All of the favorites in the metric century, Jesse Owens and Ralph Metcalfe of the United States; Tinus Osendarp and Christian Berger of Holland, Ryutoku Yoshioka, Japan and Canada's PcPhee appeared to have landed rather soft berths in the first trials.

Six heats of nine men each were drawn in the 800 metres Sunday afternoon, with the first four to qualify for the semi-finals Monday afternoon.

Carrying the Canadian Challenge will be Dr. Phil Edwards of Hamilton, point winner in the event four years ago at Los Angeles, Abbott Conway, Toronto's Ontario champion, and Jack Liddiecf Winnipeg, protege of Jimmy Ball, Manitoba's former quarter-mile flash.

On paper, the fourth 800 heat promised the stiffest fight. It sparkled with such names as Gerald Backhouse, Australian "dark horse"; Erik Ny of Sweden; Dr. Paul Martin Swiss veteran; Johnny Woodruff of the United States and the Hungarian Szabo.

CHICAGO PLAYER GAINS NET FINAL

Will Oppose Manitoba's Number Two Star In Winnipeg Series

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1 (CP). — An all-court sharpshooter from Chicago, young Russell Ball, will match strokes with Manitoba's Number 2 seeded star, Eddie McKush, in the final for the men's singles crown at the Western Canada hard courts tennis tournament here to-day.

Ball, a top-notcher for less than two season with Northwestern University, stroked out a three-straight set victory over Gordon Robinson of Toronto yesterday in the semi-final round. McKush, playing the best tennis of his career, eliminated the favored Dick Rugg, in semi-final. The match went four sets. Rugg won the first set, 6-2, before the Winnipegger, slow to start, gained a win. The Manitoban ran out the next three sets, 8-6, 6-2, 6-4.

In a junior final, Bruce Hall of Toronto took the measure of little Tommy Davis of Prince Albert. The Saskatchewan champion, unable to cope with the experienced Hall, went down to defeat, 6-1, 6-0.

In the men's doubles, Ball and Rugg won their way into the final round with an 8-6, 10-8, 6-4 victory over Walter Gyles and Jack Adams. They will meet the McKush brothers, who defeated Cuthbert Hopper and Jack Smith, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2, in an All-Manitoba semi-final.

LARGE ENTRY LIST BEWDLEY REGATTA

35-Piece Band Booked For Rice Lake Event On August 5th

The big annual Bewdley regatta is being held this summer on August 5th—next Wednesday. With a 35-piece band booked, a large entry list, many and varied events, and fine prizes offered, it is expected to be a huge success. Last year's attendance was cut down owing to inclement weather but the regatta committee is hoping for better luck this time. They anticipate a crowd of about 3,000 with perhaps 150 entries in the paddling and swimming races. Being on the highway and centrally located, the biggest yearly regatta on Rice Lake draws water enthusiasts from all over Central Ontario.

The business men of Bewdley are endeavoring to raise some money to improve the waterfront there and thus attract more tourists to this ideal summer resort. The regatta is considered an excellent means to collect a good sum and also to acquaint many strangers with the attractions of Rice Lake in general and Bewdley in particular. Judging from its success in past seasons, the Bewdley regatta next Wednesday will be the mecca of motorists from all directions.

Tri-County Lacrosse

Tri-County Lacrosse League standing to date (2nd section):

Team	P	W	L	TP
Millbrook	3	2	1	1
Auburns	4	2	2	0
Norwood	3	1	2	1

Millbrook is scheduled to play in Norwood on Monday, Civic Holiday, to wind up the second section. A third section will commence likely next week, schedule to be released shortly. The two teams finishing first and second at the end of the three-part schedule meet in play-offs, two games out of three.

Last night (Friday) Millbrook defaulted to Auburns. They notified the local team at 6 p.m. that they could only get five players together. Auburns advised them to come along and play an exhibition game, anyway, to satisfy a fair-sized crowd. Millbrook forfeited the contest but brought an abbreviated squad along. It was bolstered by several local players and a fair exhibition match staged with Auburns winning by a 14-2 score.

TORONTO, Aug. 1—(CP)—Employees of five more automobile repair shops were on strike today to bring the total of striking shops to seven, it was stated by labor heads. It was claimed 130 mechanics were now striking and effort was being made to get 14 more shops to join the strike.

FAVOR SOMERVILLE IN WILLINGDON CUP

Twenty-Four Canadians Pick Of Shotsmiths In Six Provinces Busy Practising

Winnipeg, Aug. 1 (CP).—Twenty-four golfers, the pick of shotsmiths in six provinces, practiced here today for the Willingdon Cup team matches, to be played Monday in the opening act of Canadian "Amateur Week."

In teams of four, the selected golfers represented Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Ontario, led by the ever-dangerous Ross Somerville of London, is favored to win her sixth championship, but the recognized power of four challenging teams is proof of the rapid development of Canadian golf.

Saskatchewan, returning to cup play with a team of youngsters for the first time since 1933, is the dark horse. The mid-Prairie province never has been a dangerous threat. The team may be the surprise of the competition.

The Willingdon Cup matches precede by a day the Canadian amateur tournament opening, for which 84 entries have been received. The field may be increased to 90 for the opening round, but the entry will be far below the 121 who teed off at Hamilton last year.

Somerville, regarded as one of the finest amateurs in the world, will encounter stiff opposition in his attempted defence of the national title. Ken Black, Vancouver; Bobby Reith, Winnipeg; Stew Vickers, Calgary, and Phil Farley, Montreal are among the leading Canadian challengers.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

The men's schedule for rinks is just about over, that is unless there should be some postponed games to play and the interest of the bowlers is turned towards other activities. Already several of the boys have played their singles and the committee is now working on the draw for the club doubles. Last year this competition was straight elimination but this season it will be a three-game series. We will have more details later.

We understand that Ray Bacon and Dr. Lawrence motored over to Lindsay Friday night to play in the twilight doubles. Our local pair won their three games all right, but we guess we had better not go any further on the subject. We will have to refer you to the genial Doc or to Ray himself.

It is more than likely that some of our bowlers will be going out of town over the week-end, but we believe we will have a good crowd out to our green. The games start 1.30 p.m. A nice crowd turned out Friday night at our week-end tourney and some mighty fine bowling and also some lucky bowling was witnessed. Walter Oke was the most consistent with three wins and 10 points. The winners W. Oke, H. Northrop, G. Soulby, and J. Kingsbury.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C J. P.)

QUITE A crowd is expected to take in that benefit softball game for injured men players this eve at seven in Central. Swartz Clothiers play an all-star crew and some of the players expected in action are: Starr, Ellis, Stanger, F. Parsons, Newson, Williamson, Jones, Coughlin, Shine, T. Parsons, Simmons, Giardino, Caccavella, Smith, Covert, Gainey, W. Calladine, Dormer, Weir, Playford, Kearns, P. Calladine, Walsh, Naish, Butcher, Abbott and Montgomery. Fans are asked to be generous in their contributions this game as the dough is needed for doctor bills. Should be a nifty tilt, too.

THE PAPERS yesterday carried three different sports stories of pitchers with no-hit games. And each hurler was named Harris! In Newark, Bill Harris of the Buffalo Bisons threw his second no-hitter of the season to cop a 4-0 win over the Bears. In Niagara Falls, Bill Harris, 16-year-old softballer, tossed a no-hit affair to win 10-0 for the Falls Service club over Lincoln-Welland. And in Tampa, Florida, 17-year-old Rita Harris, pitching for a boys' baseball team, showed the lads how a gal does it by pitching a no-hit 6-0 win for the Lee Intermediates over West Tampa. A great day for the Clan Harris. No paper noticed this oddity and, in fact, we wouldn't have either but Alex Kay pointed it out to us.

KINGSTON SPEAKS up. Quote: "No longer need the C.O.B.L. teams look for a soft spot in the Belleville team. The boys from Quinte have turned over like the worm in the proverb and have smacked down the Petes and the league-leading Oshawa entry in turn. From now on, it's a caseof beware for the rest of the loop. Napanee is also playing heads-up ball right now and what threatened to be a runaway at the start of the season now promises to settle down and be a death struggle." Unquote and quite true, M'sieu.

* * * * * *

WESTCLOX GIRLS staved off a desperate 7-run ninth-inning rally by the scrappy C.G.E. softballers at the Bowl last night to take an 11-8 win. A good game with the up-and-down Westclox crew being very uppish last p.m. to turn in a swell performance. So did C.G.E. after a shaky start. These teams are now tied in third place with a chance yet at a playoff berth—if Keene should lose twice. Westclox and Keene clash Tuesday at the Bowl, while that much-postponed Bailleboro-Keene game will be played in Keene next Wednesday.

* * * * * *

THAT CROWD that swarmed around the diamond at the junior ball game in Oshawa last Wednesday must have been pretty tough. They were there to see that the GM-kids won willy-nilly and were ready to mob the umps if he either forfeited the tilt because they refused to leave the field or called it because of darkness. There was no police protection. Well, they won out but when they got home, it strikes us, some of those hotheaded fans must have thought it over and realised how tainted the victory was. They must have seen how empty such a win is and how unsporting on the part of the fans. We like fans to be rabid and noisy, but not violent—not the southern lynching type where reason is absent.

* * * * * *

WE ARE not squawking at the Oshawa team or anyone in particular —though the club should certainly have supplied police protection— except that type of fan who gets violent when his team is losing. We didn't see the game but have it from the local manager and players. And this, from the Motor City sports column, bears us out: "The fans swarmed behind the screen in the ninth inning and they were plenty ugly. There never has been an official given a rough ride in Oshawa for years and years, but last night might have been the night had not the locals pulled the game out in the ninth." But one thing, at least, it shows the fans are with their juniors.

* * * * * *

THREE MEMBERS of the Peterborough Sailing and Equatic Club are in Sudbury today for the Canadian Canoe Association's annual championship regatta. The local paddlers are Drake Jopling, Bill Hogan and Bill Taylor. With some 200 of the best paddlers in the Dominion competing in 15 events, it should be a big day for the northern town. The chances of the Peterborough blade-wielders are not too bright as they qualified last week in Toronto but took no firsts—and they'll meet stiffer opposition up north. However, they will hustle their rivals plenty and maybe cop a second or a third.

* * * * * *

RUSTY RINGLAND is pulling his stakes in Lindsay and heading jobward in Northern Ontario. The big redhead will be missed by the Scugog O.R.F.U. team just like a two-fisted eater misses his right hand. Ringland was a husky, hard-hitting and starry rugby player and our Orfuns, Oshawa, Belleville and Cobourg rated him nearly half that team last autumn. He was a pretty fair hockeyist, softballer and lacrosser, but it was on the gridiron where Rusty really went to town. We recall him last fall in a game there battling our squad single-handed almost to a standstill in a torrid final quarter which ended up with Rusty and about three Orfuns slugging it out in a free-for-all. Yeah, he was quite a scrapper and a real football player.

Chancellor Hitler Declares 11th Olympiad Formally Open

COMPETITION SUNDAY

BERLIN, Aug. 1.—(CP Cable).—A million Germans from Chancellor Hitler down to the humblest sports lover turned out gaily to-day for the opening of the great sports show, the 11th Olympiad.

Climax of two years of preparations, the Chancellor was to pronounce the Olympiad opened before a great throng in the stadium. By coincidence, the date of the opening came just 22 years after Europe was plunged into the Great War.

To-day's dedicatory ceremonies, including divine service, a ceremony at the grave of the unknown soldier and the Olympic parade will be followed to-morrow by start of the two weeks competition among youth of 53 nations.

An army of athletes, 4,844 strong, had gathered to compete in track and field sports, rowing, boxing, wrestling, yachting and many other events. The army was swelled by countless unofficial visitors, sports writers, team officials and others.

Arrival of Flame.

After divine services at the Protestant Cathedral and Hedwig's Catholic Cathedral and the ceremony at the grave of the unknown soldier the arrival of the torchbearers from Greece with the Olympic flame was to precede Hitler's declaration and the taking of the solemn Olympic oath by Rudolph Ismayr, of Germany, 1932 Olympic middleweight weight lifting champion, on behalf of the men and girl athletes.

The Canadian flag in the parade will be obrn by Jim Worrall, Toronto hurdler and tallest man in the team. He towers six feet four inches. The Dominion's athletes—wearers of the Maple Leaf on their official uniforms—were to march 10th in the parade behind Greece.

To-morrow the games plunge quickly into their stride with Canada learning immediately how great are its chances of victory by two of its most highly regarded athletes—Howie McPhee of Victoria and Dr. Phil Edwards of Hamilton.

McPhee will compete in the 100-metres heats and Dr. Edwards in the 800-metre run heats. The high jump, 10,000 metre run, shot put and women's javelin throw will be concluded during the day while the pentathlon, fencing, wrestling, field hockey and weight lifting will start.

Decision to award the 1940 games to Japan over a determined bid by Finland was reached yesterday but the 1940 winter games will not be awarded until next year. Canada hopes to stage them in Montreal and the nearby Laurentian mountains.

Falconbridge Ties United Weston 1-1

WINNIPEG, Aug. 1 (CP)—Still confident of winning a place in the final round for the soccer championship of Canada, Falconbridge Falcons take on Manitoba United Weston again to-day for the crucial third game in their best of three Dominion semi-final series.

The two sides played draw games in their first two encounters. In Wednesday's initial match neither team was able to cross the goal-line. Friday's game ended in a 1-1 draw. In the event of another draw a fourth match will be played Monday. The winner meeting New Westminster Royals in the final at Vancouver.

Next Week's Games

Tues.—Nations v. Orioles; Wed.—Cogs v. Maple Leafs; Thurs—Orioles v. Nationals; Fri.—Maple Leafs v. Cogs.

With but two weeks more to play, the Cogs look to have top place clinched again this half, while the other three teams all have a chance for second place, although the Leafs have a firm hold of that position.

Y.W.C.A. Sports Hour

The Y.W.C.A. sports hour was well attended and enjoyed by those taking part.

Speed: Senior—M. Barnes and L. Barnes tied for 1st place, I. Young 2nd place. Intermediate—L. Long 1st, G. Barnes 2nd. Junior—J. Hobbins 1st, L. Bradley 2nd. Babies—J. Foster 1st, H. Currie 2nd. Diving: Senior—I. Young, M. Barnes. Intermediate—L. Long; J. McLeod and G. Barnes tied. Junior— L. Bradley. Babies—J. Foster, June Wellwood.

Miss Littlefield warned the girls of safety rules in the water. Life savers must help all swimmers in distress. She also announced that sports hour will be resumed on Sept. 4, but during August there will be swimming all day.

Births Marriages In Memoriam Cards of Thanks Deaths

BIRTH

TURNBULL—Born at Nicholls hospital, Saturday, Aug. 1, to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Turnbull, a son, Clifford Raymore.

ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd, 462 Hunter Street, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Marguerite Kent, to Robert James Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen, Reid Street. The marriage to take place the latter part of August.

IN MEMORIAM.

LEESON.—In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. J. F. Leeson, who departed this life July 30, 1929.

"Gone but not forgotten."
—The Family.

MILLAR.—In fond and loving memory of our dear daughter-in-law and sister-in-law, Lenore Eleanor Millar, who gave up her bright young life one year ago, Aug. 2nd, 1935:

Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
Of a loved one gone to rest,
In our memorie's frame we will keep it
Because she was one of the best.

Sweet are the memories that never fade,
Of one we loved but could not save,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
What a beautiful memory she left behind.
—Sadly, But Fondly Remembered by the Millar Family.

MILLAR.—In loving memory of my beloved wife, Lenore Millar, who passed away one year ago, August 2nd, 1935.

"I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss her more,
As I walk through life alone."
—Always remembered, Dusty Millar.

AVERY.—In loving memory of our dear father, who passed away Aug. 1st, 1935.

"And while he lies in peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep."
—Ever remembered by Son and Daughter, Emmett and Jenny.

FAULKNER.— In fond and loving memory of Mrs. S. H. Faulkner, who passed away August 3, 1935:

Memory's hand is reaching back one year ago to-day,
When one we loved so dearly, so quickly passed away.
It was hard to part, but it was God's will.
To vacate the chair that we never can fill.
—Sadly Missed by Husband and Family.

DIED

CAMERON, David Allen.—In Toronto, on July 31, 1936 (after a lengthy illness), Allan David, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan H. Cameron, 15 Liverpool street, Guelph (formerly of Peterborough), aged 8 years. Funeral private from the Funeral Home of A. Comstock and Sons, on Saturday, August 1, 1936, at 2 o'clock p.m., the Rev. HENRY —By Carl Anderson

BRINGING UP FATHER —By George McManus

Love isn't Important

By Louise Jerrold

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club longs for excitement. Dr. Wilson, attracted by Gay's appearance, as she is leaving the club, induces her to fill in at a private party upstairs, so that there will be more than 13 at the table. At the dinner party where Gay is filling in as "Miss Smith of Syracuse," she finds Breck Carter unusually attentive. Gay meets Wayne Adams, guest of honor at the party, and, recognizing her as the check girl, he accuses her of being a "gate crasher".

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 5

BRECK EYED Gay gloomily. He was ignoring Peggy Pennell, sitting at his right. Peggy had not talked much during the party for Wayne Adams, but remained in her place, refusing to dance with anyone, constantly twisting a square-cut emerald ring about her finger.

"Are you, sure enough?" Breck went on.

Gay mimicked his southern drawl. "Sure enough, what?"

"Sure enough, you going home tomorrow, honey?"

"Tonight!" Gay informed him. "Doesn't that make you sad? Just think—after this party's over, you'll never see Miss Smith any more!"

Breck rose to his feet, somewhat unsteadily. "We dance every dance from now on. If I'm not going to see you again, reckon I'll take what I can get. Come on, baby."

Gay hesitated. Perversely, she had flirted with Breck all evening. But now—Wayne Adams had returned to his place after finishing a dance with Mrs. Larrimore. Gay felt an impulse to stay where she was; to talk with Wayne and explain that she wasn't quite the bold imposter he thought. That at least she had not deliberately crashed the party, but had come at Doctor Wilson's invitation, with the full knowledge that she was only the check girl.

Wayne's contempt had cut deeper than she'd realized at first. It would be nice to have him smiling at her again, as he had downstairs. "We can't dance, Breck," she said quickly. "The music's stopped."

But he refused to be put off.

"There's another orchestra down in the Grill. Let's ditch this party and go down there, by ourselves. I'm bored with everybody up here, anyhow."

"But I want to finish my coffee—"

Breck's hand was hot on her bare shoulder. "Let's go!"

Gay saw that everyone was looking toward them. There was a hush in the conversation; Breck's voice had struck them all quiet. She felt strangely helpless, unwilling to make a scene, yet hating to yield.

She murmured, "I'd rather not. Really, Breck."

Things happened so fast it was all a blur. Wayne Adams, who had been listening, rose to his feet.

"It seems fairly clear," he remarked quietly, "that Miss Smith would like to finish her dinner. Pipe down, Breck, and be yourself."

"I'll dance with Breck!" Peggy Pennell pushed back her chair and stood up beside the young man from Memphis. As she slipped her arm through his, she threw a venomous glance toward Gay. And Gay's heart missed a beat, as she recognised Peggy for the first time as the girl in green, whose gold brocade coat she'd checked earlier that night.

Breck leaned against Gay's chair, his handsome face sullen.

"I didn't ask you, Peggy! I asked Miss Smith. I'm going to dance with her, down in the Grill."

Wayne was doing his best to avert an ugly scene. He said, apparently, the first thing that occured to him.

"Oh, Peggy," he interrupted. "I don't believe you've met Miss Smith, yet. She—"

"I know Miss Smith." Peggy's voice was icy. "We met, a few hours ago. But not socially."

Gay made a quick decision. Before this other girl, angry and jealous, exposed her identity—

She rose, calmly though she felt like a person in some horrible nightmare.

"Yet, we have met," she agreed, looking straight at Peggy. "It's nice of you to remember me, Miss Pennell."

She turned to face the table of upraised eyes; the shocked astonishment on the women's faces; the undisguised admiration of the men.

"Doctor Wilson brought me up here as a sort of a joke," she explained, breathlessly. "To take the jinx off 13 at dinner. But now dinner is over, I think I'd better go."

No one spoke.

A smile of real amusement brought the dimples to Gay's cheeks. They all looked so perfectly taken aback; so painfully embarrassed.

"You see," she added, I'm not Miss Smith, from Syracuse, at all. That was just part of the joke. I'm Gay Elwell, the check girl.

The help's dressing room in the basement of the Pontchartrain club was decidedly chilly on that April evening, a week or so after the Wilson dinner party. Gay shivered as she took off her uniform and cheap rayon undergarments, and slipped hurriedly into a new black lace scanty.

Of course, the heat would be turned off, down here. It didn't matter if the check girls froze to death, she was telling herself wrathfully, when she was startled by Jean's voice in the doorway.

"You don't fool, when you go stepping! Where'd you get the new black undies?"

Gay ignored the question. "I thought you were supposed to be on duty, flipping out checks!"

"Oh, yeah?" Quiet determination marked Jean's manner as she stood watching Gay, who went on dressing. "I got one of the elevator girls to take my place for a sec. I wanted to talk to you, before you got away. Listen, Silly!"

"I know exactly what you're going to say, Jean, and it's a waste of time." Gay flexed a beautifully modeled leg to straighten the seam of her chiffon stocking. "I'm going out tonight with Breck. That's set, so why argue any more about it? You've already told me that I'll be a broken butterfly—or words to that effect—if I don't watch my step. And I've told you just as plainly, that I'm perfectly capable of taking care of myself."

Jean flung herself down on the dilapidated couch.

"You think you're hard-boiled, don't you? Well, if you were really smart, you'd give Breck Carter the air."

"Do you think so?"

"Yes. And you'd pick out some nice young shoe clerk, or salesman—somebody your own kind — and marry him, and settle down to a home and kids, and be happy."

Gay only laughed. She had slipped her black satin dinner dress over her head, and was smoothing it to a glove-fitting sleekness.

"That's wonderful advice, Jean. But shoe clerks don't appeal to me; and Breck does."

You've got everything right now that a man wants," the older girl went on with unconscious bitterness. "You're young, easy on the eyes, and not really a Dumb Dora—"

"Thanks," Gay interrupted, but Jean hurried on.

"But sure as the Lord made sour apples, you'll get hurt playing round with high-steppers like Breck Carter. You've got to earn your passage when men take you on for a party girl, and you earn it in just one way."

"Listen, Jean." Gay's eyes, gentian blue, had congealed into ice. "Get me straight. I've told you I've never had anything but plain bread and butter all my life. I want cake too; and I'm going to get it. But only on the square. Give me credit for a little common sense!"

"I'm telling you, Jean, I've thought it all out. I don't want love-and-babies. I do want to marry someone with money, and be rich and fashionable and envied. I want smart clothes and jewels—an apartment in New York, and a villa in Palm Beach. I want my own car to drive, and a limousine and chauffeur, besides—" She broke into amused laughter, and wrapped herself in a black chiffon-velvet evening coat. "Stop being such an old grouch, and tell me how you like my new wrap? I hate to think how many lunches I'll have to go without, to pay for it. But I couldn't disgrace Breck—"

"Blah! He'll never even notice that cheap little rag. He's running round with that Pennell girl, who's got ermine and sables. I've heard plenty right here in the club about your swell friend Mr. Carter. He's out to marry money, too."

"Perhaps I'll make him change his mind." Gay suggested brightly, and blowing Jean a kiss, danced on black satin slippered feet out to the rakish gray sports car in which, according to prearrangement, Breck awaited her a square away from the Pontchartrain.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

.. UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE POCKET MOUSE

There was quite a noise outside Uncle Wiggily's window one day. Seven or eight of the animal children were gathered there, and they were calling: "Uncle Wiggily! Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Come on out!"

"My goodness!" Mr. Longears exclaimed, sticking his head out. "What's the matter? Is there a fire? I don't hear Spot, the fire dog, barking!"

"No, there's no fire," Billie No-Tail, the frog boy, laughed. "But we were wondering if it wasn't time for another class of your Summer school. Will you have one for us, Uncle Wiggily— a class, I mean?"

"I certainly will—gladly!" Uncle Wiggily cried. "And I have something very interesting to show you. Get the animal children together in the front yard, and I'll be right there!"

You may be sure the little animals waited for him eagerly. And when Uncle Wiggily came out he had a little box with him. He put it down on the ground, and then said:

"Now we're ready! Instead of you asking me a question this time, I'll ask you one. Peetie Bow Wow, tell me—what is the thing, which, if it were taken away from you, you'd miss most?"

"My supper," Peetie answered promptly.

"Now think," Uncle Wiggily said. "When you're out walking in the woods, on a warm day, or if you're playing games, what is it you usually want, after a while?"

Answer Is Correct

"I know—a drink of water!" Jiggie Flatpaw shouted. "Isn't that right, Uncle Wiggily? And that's what we'd miss most of all if we didn't have it—water!"

"Right!" Mr. Longears laughed. "That's the right answer. And now I'll show you something." He opened the box. And what do you think? In it was a tiny mouse!

"Hello," the mouse squeaked. "How are you all?"

Well, you should have heard all the animal children yell with excitement! It was such a cute little mouse. Uncle Wiggily said:

"The reason I spoke to you about water, is because this mouse is one of the few animals that doesn't need water—at least, hardly any. He's what they call a pocket mouse, and he comes from out West, in the desert, where it is always dry. He came up here by accident—he fell asleep in a freight car, and the train carried him North. Tell them about yourself, Mr. Pocket Mouse!"

How It Is Done

"Certainly," the mouse squeaked proudly. "I can go without water for months! It doesn't bother me a bit. You see, my family had lived for so long in dry countries that we've gotten used to sort of changing the things we eat into water—seeds, mostly. Once I went for two whole months without drinking any water at all!"

"Isn't that wonderful!" Baby Bunty exclaimed. "And why do they call you a pocket mouse?"

"Oh, I lost my penny!" Susie Littletail called suddenly, before the mouse could answer. "Mother gave me a penny, and I dropped it, and I can't find it anywhere!"

"I know where it is," the mouse laughed. "I have it in a pouch in my mouth. I saw it on the ground and picked it up. Look!" And he opened his mouth and took out the penny. "That's how we carry food," he explained. "In these tiny pockets on either side of our mouths. And that's why they call us pocket mice! We have pouch pockets in our mouths."

"My gracious," Susie gasped. "That's the strangest thing I ever heard of! You certainly are a wonderful little animal, Mr. Pocket Mouse!"

I think he was too, don't you? Later he told them some stories of the place where he lived. It was very interesting. And when he finished all the animal children said they could hardly wait for the next session of the Simmer school. Later I'll tell you when this will be. And in the next story, if the pumpkin doesn't go to the well and try to pump water, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the squirrel's tail.

Tokyo, Japan, will spend over $10,000,000 for its new reservoir.

SUPPER SPONSORED BY EMILY CHURCH

Enjoyable Program Of Solos, Quartets, Musicals Follows— Rev. Simpson Chairman

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ORANGE CORNERS, Aug. 1. — The results of the "cold meat" supper held by the ladies of St. John's church, Emily, on Wednesday evening, July 29, were very gratifying. Two long tables were temptingly arranged in the spacious shed and a large number partook of the good things to eat.

At the conclusion of supper an enjoyable program was given, with Rev. Mr. Simpson of Millbrook, making an excellent chairman. During his remarks he congratulated the members of the church for their efforts at a time when their rector had resigned and another not yet appointed.

The program included the following numbers: Instrumental selection, Mrs. Harry McCarrell, auto harp; Miss Mildred Mages, piano; Vernon Nelson, violin; accordion selection, Mr. Lovatt; vocal solo, Mrs. H. McCarrell; monologue, with piano accompaniment, Vernon Nelson; magic, Mr. Thomas of Peterborough; Silly Silver Symphony Sextet, Vernon Nelson, John Casey, Nelson McConnell, Vic McConnell, Norman McBain, Stanley McCall; male quartet, Bruce Sargent, Alfred Marshall, Clarence Morris and Eddie O'Brien; vocal solo, Hubert Lowes, Mrs. Lowes playing the piano accompaniment; accordion selection, Mr. Lovatt; vocal solo, Miss Juan Shield, accompanied by Mrs. Garnet Shield; male quartet, Messrs. Sargent, Marshall, O'Brien and Morris; magic, Mr. Thomas. Miss Mildred Magee was the efficient accompanist for the various numbers. Messrs. Fred and Walter Magee acted as treasurer.

Before singing the National Anthem, Rev. Mr. Simpson, on behalf of the church wardens and congregation, moved a vote of thanks to those who had contributed toward making the entertainment the success it was. Announcement was also made of the play which the young people of the church will present on Aug. 12, entitled, "Here Come Three Knights."

COURT IN TWEED SEES THREE FINED

Belleville Man Pays Fine Of $83.50 For Ditching Car, Injuring Companion

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Aug. 1.—At the local police court held before Magistrate Lloyd in the township hall on Friday afternoon, three cases were disposed of before a crowded courtroom.

R. C. Valliant, of Toronto, appeared charged with reckless driving, as a result of an accident on July 23, in which his automobile smashed into a car driven by Mrs. Ed. Varty of Bancroft, one half mile off the No. 7 Highway on the old Flinton road near Boudreau's Hill. On pleading guilty, Valliant was fined $10 and costs of $7, and had his driving permit suspended for seven days.

George White, Ottawa salesman, appeared before the cadi charged with obtaining lodging through fraud. He was arrested later in the week at Peterborough, and after appearing before Magistrate Butler in Belleville, appeared on Friday afternoon before Magistrate Lloyd. He was given two weeks in which to pay the board bill incurred while in the village.

The heaviest driving fine of the season was handed out by the magistrate to Mr. Satchell of Belleville, who paid the stiff fine and costs of $83.50. Satchell was involved in a charge of reckless driving on Highway No. 7 a few weeks ago, when his car went into the ditch and turned over, injuring another companion.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Brown and daughter, Eleanor of Bethlehem, Pa. left on Thursday morning for their home after spending a few days with Mrs. T. Nickle and family in Madoc.

HURRICANE LASHES COAST OF FLORIDA

Communications Are Cut Off East Of Pensacola In 75-Mile Wind

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 1. — (A. P.)—Communication facilities east of Pensacola failed today with passage of a tropical hurricane across the coastline near New Valparaiso about 45 miles from here on the Gulf shore.

Last report direct from New Valparaiso told of wind velocities between 65 and 75 miles an hour, torrential rain, unusually high tides and a rapidly falling barometer.

The wind blew more than 50 miles an hour here at times this morning. Heavy rain fell. There were no reports of casualties and of serious property damage although the gale ripped at roofs, blew down signs, felled trees and made traffic difficult and dangerous.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief.

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an internal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID.

GOING BACK TO SEA AGAIN WITH POWERED CRAFT

Sixty-Year-Old Retired Master Mariner Has Faith In N.S. Fisheries

PLANS $25,000 BOAT

HALIFAX, August 1—(CP)—Captain Dave Bachman doesn't care for the life of a retired master mariner —so he is going to the sea with his own spike-sparred auxiliary vessel to be built at a cost of $25,000.

"Brighter days are in store for Nova Scotia fresh fishermen," says the veteran of 44 years of sailing, who as a gangling boy of nine hoisted himself over the rail of a Lunenburg banker for the first time.

He is now 60 with the reputation of having been one of the biggest fish killers ever to sail from a Nova Scotia port.

Prospects right now are better than for 10 years," he maintains and to back his assertion by action he has given orders for the construction of an 85-ton vessel on which he will take the helm.

The weather-beaten fisherman recalled the highlights of his adventurous days aboard the Lunenburg schooners. His big record, however, was not chalked up when he was master of a sailing craft during those 35 years, but when he skippered the Halifax beam trawler Louisburne.

One trip he brought the big trawler back to port weighed down with 117,000 pounds of halibut and in two months he had stocked 265,000 pounds of the sea delicacy.

His new craft will be up-to-date in every detail. A 200 horse-power diesel engine will do away with dependency on the wind on her scheduled trips to the off-shore fisheries.

PEDESTRIANS ARE CARELESS AS WELL AS THE DRIVERS

Jay Walk In The Middle Of Block And Disregard Lights At Intersections

A safety campaign that did not say anything about the errors of pedestrians would be certainly be incomplete. As amatter of fact there are probaly as many careless pedestrians as there are careless drivers and they are taking far more chances than the man at the wheel.

Peterborough unfortunately has perhaps more than its share of these folk who are careless on foot; in fact American tourists tell us our people are notoriously neglectful in this regard.

The chief complaint seems to be the habit of jay walking and this our visitors tell us is not confined to intersections but is to be noticed frequently in the middle of a block. Pedestrians stroll out between two parked cars into the roadway, often without bothering to look either to the right or to the left and the next second finds them bobbing up in the path of a harassed driver who has to be right on his toes to avert an accident. Crossing in the middle of a block is a dangerous operation especially when it starts out behind a parked car which masks the walker from the vision of a motorist until the pedestrian is in front of the car when it is often too late to avoid a collision.

Disregarding Light.

Another careless practice is to disregard the lights at protected intersections. Peterborough people are particularly prone to commit that error in judgment. They pay no attention to the warning but walk into the stream of traffic and trust to the alertness of the drivers to prevent trouble. There are some pedestrians who seem to have difficulty in grasping the significance of the lights. They wait at a corner until the signals change and then start to make their crossing at the wrong moment and for these bewildered folk there will be a certain amount of sympathy. The main body of jay walkers however are not in that category. They are just careless, ready to take a chance and disregard the lights, no matter how much worry they cause the conscientious motorist.

Our citizens who go about on foot have their part to play in the reduction of accidents and they can contribute most materially to safer conditions by being careful in their habits.

Give the driver a chance; cross at intersections and when these are protected by lights govern your movements by the signals. In this way a major cause of accidents will be virtually eliminated.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug 1 — Playing one man short De Carrol's Electrics continued their winning streak on Friday evening at the school ground, defeating Stover's St. John's by 15-6. Don Barnum hurled real ball for the winners and was given excellent support by his team mates. Alex Little's two man job in the field was featured by spectacular catches. Eddie Bush was the heavy hitter of the evening having four runs to his credit, one of them a homer. Buster Whitton also registered a circuit. Bun Kerr turned in a nice effort, his three runs helping to furnish the margin of victory.

Jack Smith who went the route for the losers was jumped on in the second innings when the wiremen took everything he offered scoring eight runs. Jack got mighty poor support from most of his colleagues, although young MacAtkinson's nice running catch in the sixth is deserving of special mention.

On Friday, August 7th, the Mill and Millionaires will clash. On Monday the 10th St. John's will try their luck with the Mill. The final game will be seen on Friday, the 14th when Electrics meet the Millionaires and wind up the town league series. The play-off will start on the following Monday in a two out of three series to decide cup winners.

The line up:

MARITIME FISH CATCH SMALLER

Landed Value Down $83,003 Divisional Report Shows

HALIFAX, August 1—(CP)—Fishermen of the Maritime provinces caught 11,050,000 pounds less fish during June of this year than during the same month of 1935, and the landed value dropped $93,003, according to the Eastern Fisheries Division report.

The total catch was 51,911,700 pounds, with a landed value of $1,388,741, compared with 62,961,700 pounds with a landed value of $1,482,744 taken in June, 1935.

A heavy decrease of 2,912,500 pounds was noted in the lobster catch as Nova Scotia and the Magdalen Islands both recorded decreases in landed value and total catch. While New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had decreases in the catches, there were favorable increases in the landed values in these two provinces.

Cod fishermen landed 3,233,700 pounds less than during the same period of last year and the mackerel landings decreased 1,706,100 pounds.

Sword Of Revolution Presented To Museum

SAINT JOHN, N. B., August 1—(CP)—A sword once worn by Christopher Billopp, commanding officer of the Staten Island militia, later a Tory officer during the American Revolution and for many years prominent in the early history of New Brunswick, has been presented to the New Brunswick Museum by his great-grandson, John Black, of Fredericton.

Dying at Saint John in 1827, aged 90, Colonel Billopp was buried in the Old Loyalist Burying Ground. He was a member of the assembly of the province of New York and subsequently of the assembly and council of New Brunswick.

In 1776 the Billopp mansion on Staten Island was the scene of an unsuccessful "peace" conference between Lord Howe, representing the British government, and Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Edward Rutledge, representing the Americans. It was from this residence that Colonel Billopp was taken later, thrown into jail and chained to the floor. The order to the jailer read in part:

"You are hereby commanded to receive into your custody the body of Colonel Christopher Billopp, prisoner of war, herewith delivered to you, and having put irons on his hands and feet, you are to chain him down to the floor in a close orom in the said jail, and there to retain him giving him bread and water only for his food until you receive further orders from me or the Commissary of prisoners for the State of New Jersey, for the time being."

Billopp was one of the 55 petitioners for land in Nova Scotia, then including the present province of New Brunswick. The following inscription is still legible on an old tombstone:

"Sacred to the memory of the Honourable Christopher Billopp, member of His Majesty's Council in this Province, whose uncompromising loyalty and distinguished exertions as a lieutenant-colonel in the Royal cause during the American rebellion obliged him at the termination of that contest to abandon without compensation his hereditary property on Staten Island and retire with his family to this colony, wherein he has since resided, universally respected. He died on the 28th day of March, 1827, in the ninetieth year of his age."

BRIDGE FINANCING PLAN IS UPHELD

Preliminary Work On Span Pt. Huron To Point Edward To Start Inside 60 Days

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP).—Michigan supreme court upheld today the legality of the state bridge commission's plan for financing construction of an international bridge between Port Huron, Mich., and Point Edward, Ont.

Vernun B. Stenbaugh, Deputy State Highway Commissioner and Bridge Commission chairman, said subsequently that preliminary work on the bridge would begin within 60 days.

The court's decision, Jay Mertz, clerk of the cout, said, would validate the issue of $1,900,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance construction of the centre span of the bridge. The state highway department would contribute $100,000 to purchase the right-of-way for the American approach and $529,000 in federal funds would be used to build the approach.

Ontario to Improve Road

Steinbaugh said the Ontario Minister of Highways has promised to improve the Sarnia and London highway to care for the bridge traffic.

The state highway department estimates it will require two years to build the bridge. Approximately 200 unemployed men and laborers on relief rolls would be given employment.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, State Highway Commissioner, pointed out the bridge would be a link in the Chicago-Montreal diagonal and would care for increased commercial traffic between Canada and the United States following the reciprocal trade agreement.

A friendly suit brought by William C. Eaves, a taxpayer, was first decided in St. Clair County circuit court.

That court held the financing plan legal in an opinion written by Judge Fred W. George. An appeal was taken by the Attorney-General and Eaves' attorneys to obtain a further judgment on the plan.

GOING BACK TO SEA AGAIN WITH OWERED CRAFT

ixty-Year-Old Retired Master Mariner Has Faith In N.S. Fisheries

PLANS $25,000 BOAT

HALIFAX, August 1—(CP)—Captain Dave Bachman doesn't care for the life of a retired master mariner —so he is going to the sea with his own spike-sparred auxiliary vessel to be built at a cost of $25,000.

"Brighter days are in store for Nova Scotia fresh fishermen," says the veteran of 44 years of sailing, who as a gangling boy of nine hoisted himself over the rail of a Lunenburg banker for the first time.

He is now 60 with the reputation of having been one of the biggest fish killers ever to sail from a Nova Scotia port.

Prospects right now are better than for 10 years," he maintains and to back his assertion by action he has given orders for the construction of an 85-ton vessel on which he will take the helm.

The weather-beaten fisherman recalled the highlights of his adventurous days aboard the Lunenburg schooners. His big record, however, was not chalked up when he was master of a sailing craft during those 35 years, but when he skippered the Halifax beam trawler Louisburne.

One trip he brought the big trawler back to port weighed down with 117,000 pounds of halibut and in two months he had stocked 265,000 pounds of the sea delicacy.

His new craft will be up-to-date in every detail. A 300 horse-power diesel engine will do away with dependency on the wind on her scheduled trips to the off-shore fisheries.

PEDESTRIANS ARE CARELESS AS WELL AS THE DRIVERS

Jay Walk In The Middle Of Block And Disregard Lights At Intersections

A safety campaign that did not say anything about the errors of pedestrians would be certainly be incomplete. As amatter of fact there are probaly as many careless pedestrians as there are careless drivers and they are taking far more chances than the man at the wheel.

Peterborough unfortunately has perhaps more than its share of these folk who are careless on foot; in fact American tourists tell us our people are notoriously neglectful in this regard.

The chief complaint seems to be the habit of jay walking and this our visitors tell us is not confined to intersections but is to be noticed frequently in the middle of a block. Pedestrians stroll out between two parked cars into the roadway, often without bothering to look either to the right or to the left and the next second finds them bobbing up in the path of a harassed driver who has to be right on his toes to avert an accident. Crossing in the middle of a block is a dangerous operation especially when it starts out behind a parked car which masks the walker from the vision of a motorist until the pedestrian is in front of the car when it is often too late to avoid a collision.

Disregarding Light.

Another careless practice is to disregard the lights at protected intersections. Peterborough people are particularly prone to commit that error in judgment. They pay no attention to the warning but walk into the stream of traffic and trust to the alertness of the drivers to prevent trouble. There are some pedestrians who seem to have difficulty in grasping the significance of the lights. They wait at a corner until the signals change and then start to make their crossing at the wrong moment and for these bewildered folk there will be a certain amount of sympathy. The main body of jay walkers however are not in that category. They are just careless, ready to take a chance and disregard the lights, no matter how much worry they cause the conscientious motorist.

Our citizens who go about on foot have their part to play in the reduction of accidents and they can contribute most materially to safer condtions by being careful in their habits.

Give the driver a chance: cross at intersections and when these are protected by lights govern your movements by the signals. In this way a major cause of accidents will be virtually eliminated.

Electrics Win From Stover Saints 15-6

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug 1 — Playing one man short De Carrol's Electrics continued their winning streak on Friday evening at the school ground, defeating Stover's St. John's by 15-6. Don Barnum hurled real ball for the winners and was given excellent support by his team mates. Alex Little's two man job in the field was featured by spectacular catches. Eddie Bush was the heavy hitter of the evening having four runs to his credit, one of them a homer. Buster Whitton also registered a circuit. Bun Kerr turned in a nice effort, his three runs helping to furnish the margin of victory.

Jack Smith who went the route for the losers was jumped on in the second innings when the wiremen took everything he offered scoring eight runs. Jack got mighty poor support from most of his colleagues, although young MacAtkinson's nice running catch in the sixth is deserving of special mention.

On Friday, August 7th, the Mill and Millionaires will clash. On Monday the 10th, St. John's will try their luck with the Mill. The final game will be seen on Friday, the 14th when Electrics meet the Millionaires and wind up the town league series. The play-off will start on the following Monday in a two out of three series to decide cup winners.

The line up:

Electrics:— Don Couch, c; Bun Kerr, rf.; Eddie Bush, ss; Buster Whitton, 2b; DeCarrol, 3b; Don Barnum, p.; A. Little, rf; Doug Maybee, 1b.

MARITIME FISH CATCH SMALLER

Landed Value Down $83,003 Divisional Report Shows

HALIFAX, August 1—(CP)—Fishermen of the Maritime provinces caught 11,050,000 pounds less fish during June of this year than during the same month of 1935, and the landed value dropped $93,003, according to the Eastern Fisheries Division report.

The total catch was 51,911,700 pounds, with a landed value of $1,-388,741, compared with 62,961,700 pounds with a landed value of $1,-482,744 taken in June, 1935.

A heavy decrease of 2,912,500 pounds was noted in the lobster catch as Nova Scotia and the Magdalen Islands both recorded decreases in landed value and total catch. While New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had decreases in the catches, there were favorable increases in the landed values in these two provinces.

Cod fishermen landed 3,233,700 pounds less than during the same period of last year and the mackerel landings decreased 1,706,100 pounds.

Sword Of Revolution Presented To Museum

SAINT JOHN, N. B., August1—(CP)—A sword once worn by Christopher Billopp, commanding officer of the Staten Island militia, later a Tory officer during the American Revolution and for many years prominent in the early history of New Brunswick, has been presented to the New Brunswick Museum by his great-grandson, John Black, of Fredericton.

Dying at Saint John in 1827, aged 90, Colonel Billopp was buried in the Old Loyalist Burying Ground. He was a member of the assembly of the province of New York and subsequently of the assembly and council of New Brunswick.

In 1776 the Billopp mansion on Staten Island was the scene of an unsuccessful "peace" conference between Lord Howe, representing the British government, and Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Edward Rutledge, representing the Americans. It was from this residence that Colonel Billopp was taken later, thrown into jail and chained to the floor. The order to the jailer read in part:

"You are hereby commanded to receive into your custody the body of Colonel Christopher Billopp, prisoner of war, herewith delivered to you, and having put irons on his hands and feet, you are to chain him down to the floor in a close orom in the said jail, and there to retain him giving him bread and water only for his food until you receive further orders from me or the Commissary of prisoners for the State of New Jersey, for the time being."

Billopp was one of the 55 petitioners for land in Nova Scotia, then including the present province of New Brunswick. The following inscription is still legible on an old tombstone:

"Sacred to the memory of the Honourable Christopher Billopp, member of His Majesty's Council in this Province, whose uncompromising loyalty and distinguished exertions as a lieutenant-colonel in the Royal cause during the American rebellion obliged him at the termination of that contest to abandon without compensation his hereditary property on Staten Island and retire with his family to this colony, wherein he has since resided, universally respected. He died on the 28th day of March, 1827, in the ninetieth year of his age."

BRIDGE FINANCING PLAN IS UPHELD

Preliminary Work On Span Pt. Huron To Point Edward To Start Inside 60 Days

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 1 (AP).—Michigan supreme court upheld today the legality of the state bridge commission's plan for financing construction of an international bridge between Port Huron, Mich., and Point Edward, Ont.

Vernun B. Stenbaugh, Deputy State Highway Commissioner and Bridge Commission chairman, said subsequently that preliminary work on the bridge would begin within 60 days.

The court's decision, Jay Mertz, clerk of the cout, said, would validate the issue of $1,900,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance construction of the centre span of the bridge. The state highway department would contribute $100,000 to purchase the right-of-way for the American approach and $529,000 in federal funds would be used to build the approach.

Ontario to Improve Road

Steinbaugh said the Ontario Minister of Highways has promised to improve the Sarnia and London highway to care for the bridge traffic.

The state highway department estimates it will require two years to build the bridge. Approximately 200 unemployed men and laborers on relief rolls would be given employment.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, State Highway Commissioner, pointed out the bridge would be a link in the Chicago-Montreal diagonal and would care for increased commercial traffic between Canada and the United States following the reciprocal trade agreement.

A friendly suit brought by William C. Eaves, a taxpayer, was first decided in St. Clair County circuit court.

That court held the financing plan legal in an opinion written by Judge Fred W. George. An appeal was taken by the Attorney-General and Eaves' attorneys to obtain a further judgment on the plan.

THREE FATALITIES MAR CIVIC HOLIDAY WEEK-END

CLEVELAND BOY IS DROWNED AT GILCHRIST BAY

Family's Vacation Turns To Mourning Few Hours After Arrival Saturday

SLIPPED ON ROCK

Rope Around Boy's Body Became Unfastened—Was Soon Missed

Donald Nichol, 6-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Nichol of Cleveland, Ohio, was drowned at Gilchrist Bay, Stoney Lake Saturday afternoon. He sank in front of the summer residence of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis of Plainville, Ohio, who have been coming to this district annually for twenty-eight years, only half an hour after his arrival on a vacation.

Acting Coroner Dr. J. M. O'Brien investigated the fatality, and concluded the child met his death by drowning after slipping on some rocks in front of the cottage and sustaining an injury to his left temple which stunned him before being carried out into deep water, where the body was discovered.

Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young has decided no inquest will be held, and remains of the little victim have been returned to Cleveland for burial there.

The boy and his mother, together with his grandparents and an aunt, arrived at the cottage early Saturday afternoon, and the child restless from the long journey and unwilling to go to bed as was his usual custom, was placed outside to play following luncheon.

Secured By Rope

As a precaution, the boy's mother fastened a rope around his waist and secured it to an immovable object. Shortly afterwards she called to him from the cottage and receiving no reply sent Mr. Davis to see what had become of the child.

Mr. Davis discovered that his little grandson had slipped free of the rope which had been used for his safety, and was in the water. The limp little form was carried ashore, and nearby picnickers applied artificial respiration, but with no avail. Dr. D. Munroe was immediately summoned but on his arrival found that the child was dead.

The boy who was said to have been of a particularly bright and intelligent nature, had taken some swimming instruction, but had never been permitted to enter the water without supervision. Mrs. Nichol was prostrated with grief on learning of the child's death.

Dr. Nichol was in Cleveland at the time of the fatality, but had intended joining his family here later with his small daughter, who is the only remaining child.

FOUR SQUARE MILES BURNS AT GLENORA

Forty Sheep, Timber, Crops, Fences Destroyed But Homes Are Saved

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP)—An area of more than four square miles was burned over near Glenora, four miles east of Picton, in a bush fire that has raged since Monday, which was brought under control today. Forty sheep have been reported as burned, while timber, crops and fences have been destroyed.

The fire-fighters worked under the disadvantage of having no equipment but under the direction of County Constable James Lovelace, of Bloomfield, wet blankets were brought into play and the fire controlled.

House furniture was moved out of the area by trucks and taken to the fish hatchery, while fighters protected the several homes, many of which caught fire at different times, but no loss was estimated from this threat.

Claim Firebug Set 15 Fires, At Thessalon

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP).—Check by Forestry Department officials today indicated 15 incendiary fires were set near Kirkwood plantation, north of Thessalon, where the Ontario Government has about 40,000 acres of growing young trees. While 10 acres burned over not more than half a dozen trees were destroyed before the blazes were checked. Officials believed the fires were all the work of one man.

All fires in the Sault Ste. Marie, Blind River and Mississauga districts were reported under control today, but eight fires were still burning in the Franz area, the worst at Oiseau Bay.

Oshawa Man Sought In Three Cities Is Remanded in London.

LONDON, Ont., August 4 (CP).—Said by police to be wanted in three Canadain cities and also in the United States on charges of fraud and forgery, Morris R. Crouse, 35, of Oshawa, was remanded to jail until Wednesday when he appeared before Magistrate Donald Menzies to-day on a charge of [illegible] ing $20.00.

Accused is alleged to have passed a cheque on the Cowan Hardware Company.

U.S. Hurdler Retains 400-Metre Championship

Johnny Loaring Runs Second In Title Race Phil Edwards Weakens

Glenn Harding Of United States Wins 400-Metre Hurdle Medal

CANADA HAS NINE POINTS

Phil Edwards Led Field In 800-Metre Final Until Home Stretch

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

BERLIN, August 4 (C.P. Cable).—Glenn Hardin of the United States to-day won the Olympic 400-meter hurdle medal, retaining the championship he captured at the Los Angeles Olympiad in 1932.

Johnny Loaring, University of Western Ontario freshman from Windsor, ran second to the title-holder, and put Canada into the track and field column for the first time in the track and field games.

Hardin, holder of the world and Olympic records of 50.6 and 52 seconds, respectively, won the gold medal with a performance of 52.4 seconds.

Won 800-Meter Run.

Johnny Woodruff, American negro, took the 800-meter final run.

Canada's "old faithful," Dr. Phil Edwards, led the field to the head of the final stretch, where the long-striding 21-year-old American negro caught him. Woodruff captured the gold medal by fighting off a determined closing challenge by Mario Lanzi of Italy, while Edwards was fading badly in the last 20 meters, and took third place. Woodruff led the Italian by two meters at the tape in the time of 1.50.2.

Edwards, who with Woodruff dominated the sensational race from the start, was also third in this event at the Los Angeles Olympics in 1932. He was fourth in the 1928 Olympiad in Amsterdam.

Canada Has Nine Points.

The placings of Loaring and the 28-year-old colored Montreal physician, running for the Hamilton Olympic Club, gave Canada nine points in the unofficial team standing.

Earlier the three Maple Leaf sprinters—Howie McPhee and Lee Orr, Vancouver, and Bruce Humber of Victoria—had raced successfully through two 200-meter dash trials.

Jesse Owens, mocha-hued meteor of the United States, remained the favorite to add the 200 dash to the 100-meter championship he won yesterday. Owens twice shaved 1-10 second from the Olympic record of 21.1 this morning before coming out this afternoon before a jam-packed stadium to win the broad jump final with another record-smashing performance.

The stream-lined Owens won his second gold medal with a leap of 8.06 meters (26 feet 5 21-64 inches). The record of 25 feet 4¼ inches he threw into the discard was set by Ed. Amn in the 1928 Games.

Equals Tolan's Mark.

Canada figured in the epidemic of record-bettered and equalling performances that marked the third day of competition. Orr, slender university student of 21, equalled Eddie Tolan's mark of 21.2 seconds in winning his quarter-final in the 200-meters.

Helen Stephens, United States farm girl, captured the women's 100-meter title by screeching over the brick red track in 11.5 seconds, clipping 4-10ths seconds from the Olympic standard.

Gisela Mauermayer of Germany won the women's discus-throw championship with a heave of 47.63 meters (156 feet 3⅝ inches) that surpassed the previous record for the Games of 133 feet 2 inches.

WESLEY JEWELL IS DROWNED CHEMONG LAKE

Swimming To Shore Young Lindsay Man Suddenly Disappeared

NOT STRONG SWIMMER

Drowned before the horrified eyes of his fiancee and other companions on Sunday evening, the body of Wesley Jewell, 26, of Lindsay, was recovered at dusk on Monday from Chemong Lake at Long Point, midway between Bridgenorth and Selwyn. The remains were conveyed to Lindsay for interment. No inquest will be held, Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young decided.

Jewell had been temporarily employed by Arcadian Nurseries at Dixie, Ontario. He was holidaying for the week-end with his fiancee, Eileen Newsom, and her sister, Carol Newsom of 109½ Waverley Avenue, Toronto. Others on the week-end party included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, 571 Elm Street, and Burwell McConkey, 289½ George Street, according to police.

Interviewed shortly after the tragedy had occurred Eileen Newsom told a reporter, Jewell, who was not considered to be a strong swimmer, was out in a skiff close to the shore with herself, her sister, and Mrs. Miller. Clad in his bathing costume, the young man dived from the boat with the intention of swimming. Shortly afterwards he shouted to his companions, who thought he was trying to tell them about a motor boat that had started up some distance away.

Too late they realized he was in trouble. The body disappeared and the alarm was immediately raised. McConkey was said to have been swimming about 50 yards distant from the point where Jewell entered the water.

According to Provincial Constable David Silvester there is an old pier below the surface of the water at the point where Jewell dived from the boat, in addition to a patch of weeds. The water is fifteen feet deep.

The rescue squad from Peterborough Fire Department responded to a call, and by the light of a full moon and a large fire that was built on shore, dragged for the greater part of the night in an effort to recover the body.

On Monday morning efforts to recover the body were hampered by rough water, but the task was resumed in the afternoon. The body was recovered at 10 p.m. (D.S.T.) on Monday, just a little over 24 hours after the tragedy occurred. Donald McConkey, James McConkey, and Dennis Trainor of Smith Township were in the boat that brought the body ashore.

Use Blocks of Ice Help Hatch Chicks

KINGMAN, Kas., Aug. 4.—(CP).—The July heat wave here was so bad, a baby chick hatchery used ice to help out a brood. Hatching was not considered successful at temperatures above 100 degrees, and when the mercury rose far above that level the hatchery turned off the heat and placed several large blocks of ice near the incubators. It worked.

Europe Mined Arsenal Waiting Maniac's Touch

Situation, On 22nd Anniversary Of Britain's Declaration Of War, Looms Worse Than 1914

SURVEY GLOOMY PICTURE

(By the Canadian Press.)

Twenty-two years ago to-day Great Britain declared war on Germany.

After France's declaration of July 31, 1914, which followed on the heels of that of Russia, there had been much anxious speculation as to whether Britain would be involved. Dominions rushed to promise full support to the Mother Country, while an armada of British warships concentrated in the channel by a far-seeing admiralty stood ready for any emergency.

The 22-year-old memory of the first days of the war is pinioned to-day on the bayonets of European rearmament. An armaments race, mutual suspicion and failure of nations for collective security and peace, have brought about a situation which most statesmen declare is worse than that which

Double Job Gives Yeggman Headache

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—There are three safes in the building occupied by the Levis Waste Paper Company at 72 Don Esplanade. Some time Sunday, yeggmen crowled in a back window and found that one of the three was open, and contained a small amount of silver used by the company for change. So they laboriously hammered the combinations off the other two—only to find that they were empty.

CANADA'S FOREIGN POLICY CONDEMNED BY C.C.F. COUNCIL

Deplore Secretive Practice Of Both King And Bennett Regimes

URGE NEUTRALITY IN WAR

TORONTO, Aug. 4. J— (CP). — Canada's foreign policy as conducted by the Liberal and Conservative governments alike was condemned as "secretive" and neutrality in case of war was advocated under present condition of world politics by the National Council of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in a statement issued to the National Convention and its session to-day.

The National Council deplored that under "Mr. King and Mr. Bennett it had been the practice to delay and avoid discussion of what our department of external affairs has been doing and what commitments it may have undertaken."

Such conduct was declared a denial of democratic principle of responsible government.

Central Lacking.

The National Council contended Canada has not achieved complete control over her foreign policy because she is technically at war when Great Britain is at war and stated the C.C.F. favored legislation similar to that passed in South Africa which will remove constitutional obstacles to independent action on part of the Canadian government in regard to matters of peace and war.

"Such legislation will make it clear to the world that Canada is free to be neutral in any war, even if one of the other members of the British Commonwealth is engaged," the statement said.

"The Canadian government should avoid all commitments in any scheme of Imperial defence and should confine its defence policy to local Canadian needs," the statement read.

Bulletin

A pall of heavy smoke from a grass fire just north of the city was drifting over the city this afternoon. No serious danger to nearby property was apparent at 3 p.m., but volunteer fire-fighters were keeping a close watch on the spread of the flames. The City Fire Department did not respond to calls for aid.

A grass fire on vacant farm owned by Mrs. James Buckley, on 6th Line of Douro is spreading fast at 3.30 to-day. Buildings of Joseph T. Leahy are in great danger and there seems small chance to check progress of fire.

FARMERS FIGHT DUMMER-DOURO BOUNDARY FIRE

Sixty Acres Of Woods And Swamp Land Swept By Stubborn Blaze

ANXIOUS FOR RAIN

Two Hundred Men Engaged Night And Day From Saturday Afternoon

Scores of farmers along the Douro-Dummer boundary were weary last night from the heat and labor of fighting a bush fire which had burned through sixty acres of swamp and woods since Saturday afternoon.

As the sun set on the third day of their toil these men of the Warsaw-Bethel countryside were hoping for rain from clouds that hovered about the sky north and east of their district.

The fire broke out on Saturday about 2 p.m. on the west side of the boundary road, and although farmers could not definitely determine the cause it was believed to have been started by berry-pickers who may carelessly have thrown aside a match or cigarette butt.

Dry Grounds Burned

The woods were as dry as cedar shavings, and the fire spread rapidly with the breeze of Saturday afternoon and night. Even the ground and peaty turf provided combustible fuel that smouldered in many shallow places to the rick base within a few feet off the surface.

Flames at times shot up to the tops of the highest trees, their seared leaves indicating part of the fire's course. Many tall maples and hemlocks crashed to the deep bed of ashes as their roots were burned through.

Occasional hollow trees burned like torches, smoke shooting fantastically out of knot holes.

200 Farmers Respond

Nearly two hundred farmers were engaged Saturday and Sunday and again Monday, scattered in groups of twenty-five or fifty on various fronts, some of them separated by distances of nearly a mile. The fire burned first along Long Lake and spread to the neighboring woods and swamps on the farms of Vincent Dunsford, Sidney Whatley, Hilliard Edwards and Frank Harding.

Detachments of the Lakefield and Peterborough fire brigades reinforced the farmers Saturday night, and on several occasions it seemed to have been brought under control. It broke out again Sunday morning and also on Monday.

Three trucks driven by Roy Moore, John Andrew Crowe and Wilbert Wright carried water from Warsaw in milk cans and barrels. They travelled about three miles on these trips. Trenches were dug across the property of Frank Harding as a means of halting the fire in that direction. Monday night smoke hung over the Harding-Edwards woods about half a mile west of the Warsaw-Bethel road.

Half a million peasants have been fighting a plague of cotton worms in Egypt which destroyed crops on 25,000 acres.

Bracken Likely to Hook Up With Willis In Coalition

Conservatives And Progressive-Liberals Hold Caucuses Today And Wednesday

OPEN TO SUGGESTIONS

WINNIPEG, August 4 (C.P.).—Slackening of political lines to permit of support through coalition for Premier John Bracken and his Liberal-Progressive administration was perceptible to-day. Plans for a union between Conservatives who returned 16 members last week in Manitoba's general elections and the Government, strongest party with 22 members but lacking a working majority that would assure House control, were believed to be taking definite shape.

Errick F. Willis, Conservative Leader, called a meeting to-day for members-elect of his party. Any suggestions for alignment with the Government, he said, would be fully discussed.

"Suggestions" from Premier Bracken would be placed squarely before the members and any decision would rest with the party as a while, he declared. He had not committed himself to any proposal.

Liberal - Progressive members-elect were summoned to meet in caucus on Wednesday when it is believed any decisions arrived at would be disclosed. Continuance in office of Premier Bracken with a division of portfolios and representation in the two deferred seats of The Pas and Rupert's Land, the Winnipeg Tribune intimated, was the tentative plan to be discussed at the Conservative caucus.

Mrs. W. D. Sargent Suffered Broken Neck In Accident On Burleigh Falls Road

Three fatalities—two drownings and an automobile accident, marred the holiday week-end in the Kawartha district.

The victims were: Donald Nichol, 6-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Nichol of Cleveland drowned at Gilchrist Bay, a few hours after arrival of the family on vacation; Wesley Jewell, 26, of Lindsay drowned at Long Point, Chemong Lake, 29 hours after the first tragedy; and Mrs. W. D. Sargent of 73 Lansdowne street, Peterborough whose neck was broken when the car in which she was riding jolted over a culvert between Young's Point and Burleigh Falls Monday evening.

Motoring From Apsley.

Motoring home to the city from Apsley with her husband and two lady friends Monday evening, Mrs. William D. Sargent, 55, of 73 Lansdowne street, was killed when the car in which she was riding jolted over a culvert on a bad stretch of road three miles north of Young's Point.

The supposition is that Mrs. Sargent, who was riding in the rear seat of the automobile, struck the roof of the car as a result of the jolt, and died from a fractured neck. Assistant Coroner Dr. H. N. Young ordered a post mortem examination and an inquest.

The autopsy was performed this afternoon by Dr. T. W. H. Young and Dr. J. M. O'Brien, after which a jury was empanelled and driven out to view the scene of the fatality.

Miss A. E. Howlett, 359 McGill street, a personal friend of the late Mrs. Sargent, was at the wheel of the car when the accident occurred. Besides the dead woman and her husband, the remaining passenger was Miss Berenice Cain, of Toronto.

A daughter of Andrew Kent and the late Mrs. Kent, the late Mrs. Sargent was born in Otonabee Township and had resided in this district all her life. She was a member of St. James' United Church.

Besides her husband and father, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. E. A. Rowe and Miss Zetta Wood, both of this city, and a brother, Enos Kent, of Otonabee Township.

The funeral is to be held from the family residence on Thursday at 2.30 o'clock p.m., with the Rev. Mr. Craik officiating. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

Bags Golden Eagle After Tame Ducks

INGERSOLL, Aug. 4.—While it was endeavoring to attack a flock of ducks on his pond, a golden eagle with a wing spread of 6½ feet was shot by John Nichols on his farm east of here. When the huge bird was first observed by Nichols he frightened it away, rather than use his gun. However when it quickly returned to prey upon the ducks he brought the gun into play and brought the bird down with the first shot.

MADRID AT STAKE

European Tension Increases As Nations Watch Each Other For Interference

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(CP Cable.)—Great Britain's reply to the French note appealing for agreement on non-interference in Spain was reported handed to the French Ambassador this afternoon. The British view is understood to be entirely sympathetic with the spirit of the French appeal.

Meanwhile a desperate battle has opened for Madrid. On the barren heights of Guadarramas the insurgents are attacking and attacking again in an endeavor to force their way through the government lines to the plateau below.

This morning the Madrid government claim a victory. The Red militia bore the brunt of the insurgent attack but managed to hold out till the government reinforcements arrived. But it was only after long, stiff fighting the insurgents were forced back.

To-morrow or Thursday heavy fighting is expected in the Leon Pass, another of the passes through the northern heights guarding Madrid. Government reinforcements are moving up.

The Deciding Battle.

This may well be the deciding battle in the struggle for Madrid.

Other insurgent forces are meanwhile pressing on to Madrid. Marquis Calvacanti is organizing a column in Northeast Spain. Another started from Camora, north of Salamanca. Insurgents claim victories north west and south of Madrid.

Forty thousand government militia are reported moving up for an attack on the insurgent stronghold of Saragoza. Saragoza is a key position. It is one of the most strongly fortified military positions in Spain with a garrison of 12 regiments and armament factories.

Government forces from Barcelona, Madrid and other points are

England Challenges New York Yacht Club

COWES, Eng., Aug. 4.—(AP)—The Royal Yacht squadron today sent a challenge to the New York Yacht Club for the America's Cup, proposing the first race of the series be sailed July 24, 1937. The challenger will be Tom Sopwith's new Endeavour 2nd.

The challenge is Britain's 16th for the cup which the schooner, America, first won 1919 it was issued on behalf of Sopwith, who recently completed his new yacht.

Sopwith challenged for the coveted yachting trophy two years ago with his first Endeavour but after winning two straight races, the British boat was beaten in three successive races by Harold Vanderbilt's Rainbow.

CLOUDLESS SKY MOCKS ONTARIO FIRE FIGHTERS

Flames Rage Out Of Control Within Mile Of Glenora, Prince Edward County

BLAZE AT OAKVILLE

New Breaks Reported On Dozen Fronts In North—Crews Weary

(By the Canadian Press.)

Hundreds of forest rangers and volunteers battled forest fires on half a dozen fronts throughout Ontario to-day as cloudless skies mocked their hope of relief by rain.

Eight new fires were added to the worries of weary rangers in the Sault Ste. Marie district. Five blazes burned in the Algoma district, and three new ones raged in the vicinity of Blind River. Fires of incendiary origin were checked but not stamped completely out along the Bridgeland Road, near Thessalon, and in the vicinity of Pointe Aux Pines, a Sault Ste Marie summer resort.

Driven by brisk winds, a score of fires raged in scattered areas around Port Arthur and the Thunder Bay district. Schreiber appeared to be the chief centre of anxiety with a fire burning steadily north-west of the town.

Glenora Threatened.

Flames raged out of control within a mile of the Prince Edward County town of Glenora, near Picton. Fire covered an area two miles long and one-half mile wide, with many acres of valuable timber destroyed. Flames were burned away from Glenora itself, however, and seemed headed over the hill back of the settlement.

Delegates to the Volunteer Firemen's Convention at Oakville got some first-hand information when fire broke out on the estates of the Hon. W. D. Ross, former Ontario Lieutenant-Governor, and the Hon. Manning Doherty, former Ontario Minister of Agriculture. Several were overcome by smoke as flames roared over 100 acres of underbush and forest lands.

A bush fire near Hamilton was brought under control after it had swept over 30 acres of grass and shrubland in the King's Forest.

SIX CARS CRASH IN HASTINGS AREA

Two Drivers Wind Up In Wrestling Bout On Main Street Several Hurt

HASTINGS, Aug. 4.— Car accidents over the week-end kept local and provincial police busy. On Saturday night L. Brownel of Hastings, and a Mr. Deacon of Toronto, touched cars on the Cobourg road. The Toronto car followed the local car into the village, and after an argument the drivers staged a wrestling bout on the main corners before a crowd of two hundred or so. Chief Wellman and Provincial Officer Gordon Campbel investigated and the accident will be aired in Cobourg court on Tuesday.

Gravel Ditches Two.

Mr. G. Klingbeck and Miss A. Murphy had a miraculous escape on Sunday night when their car hit some fresh gravel on the Campbellford road and turned over twice. The two occupants escaped unhurt, but the car was a wreck. Shortly after the Hastings car turned over, a light truck with three Peterborough residents, hit the gravel and went upside down on the road. Two of the occupants were badly shaken up and were taken to Campbellford for medical treatment. Provincial Officer Campbell and Constable Wellman investigated both accidents.

Seabrooke's dairy truck and a car driven by Mr. Gunn, of Toronto, met on Cuffe's hill. The truck was badly smashed up, milk being scattered all over the road. The steering wheel and front of the Toronto car was damaged. None of the occupants were injured.

Mexican Farmers Harvest Hoppers, To be Dried, Mixed With Bran.

ALDRICH, Mo., Aug. 4.—(CP).—The grasshopper plague does not daunt farmers hereabouts. They are harvesting the pests for winter poultry feed.

Chickens and turkeys are thriving on live hoppers, but those for winter feeding will be dried and mixed with bran at the local mill.

Bullet-Proof Vests Found Dangerous

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Bullet-poroof vests aren't bullet proof, according to the tests made by Sergeant Harry Butts, head of New York's ballistic division.

'Butts has blown holes through 150 vests, both of steel and aluminum, and claims, not only do the vests weighing fifteen to thirty pounds, not protect their wearers, but are likely to cause more serious wounds, when bullets carry with them bits of steel or cloth.

Inspector Harry F. Dittman, head of the riot squad, has ordered his men to discard their vests.

Butts found a test load of double-buckshot fired at twenty-five feet penetarted the vests.

FLAMES THREATEN SUMMER COTTAGES AT HEALEY FALLS

Volunteers From Neighborhood And Campbellford Prevent Any Damage Being Done

TWO-HOUR BATTLE

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4.—The constant ringing of the fire bell early Saturday afternoon caused hundreds of citizens to flock to the fire station where the answer to the question, "Where's the fire?" was, "Mrs. George Dunham's, Healey Falls." The call for help was quickly responded to. Hundreds of volunteers were rushed to the scene by trucks and motor cars.

Upon their arrival they found the dry grass on the strip of Government land to the south of the Dunham property blazing merrily along with the old-fashioned rail fence and telephone poles along the side road.

The flames were heading toward Art McDonald's large frame barn to which the fire fighters directed their attention, one detachment removing the contents, while others beat out the flames with old brooms, chemicals and water supplied by a well-organized bucket brigade that hauled water from the river. By a miracle this barn was saved.

Flames Leap Road.

The fire which by this time was headed off from Clark's woods, leaped the roadway to the east, burning a patch of dry grass for a width of 100 feet and endangering summer cottages on the river bank. Prompt action of canal men and Hydro employees prevented this outbreak from spreading, and it burnt itself out at the water's edge.

As a stiff breeze was blowing, there was much anxiety among the campers in the district. They succeeded in extinguishing the blaze in one place, only to have it break out in another. After a hard two-hour battle the fire, believed to have been caused by a carelessly thrown cigarette butt, was under control.

BRIDGENORTH

A very delightful afternoon tea was held at the home of Misses Mabel and Jean Paul, Lindsay Highway, by the girls class of Gilmour Church on Wednesday afternoon. The large table in the dining room was prettily done in lace cloth and a centre bouquet of salapagiosis on a reflector and the small tables were centred with yellow marigolds. The guests were received by Mrs. G. Telford, teacher of the class, and Mrs. J. G. Mann and Mrs. R. D. Wright ushered them to the team room. Mrs. J. R. Mann and Mrs. C. E. Moore poured tea.

The program during the afternoon consisted of guitar selections by Miss Rowland, accompanied by Mrs. George Middleton; reading, Hazel Telford; solo by John Lewis; guitar selection by Miss Gladys Blewett, accompanied by Miss Paul; solo, Mrs. James Young; duet, Mrs. R. D. Wright and Mrs. J. R. Mann.

Mrs. Alex McGregor of Lindsay Highway spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. David Pife of Larig.

Miss Helen Storey of Toronto and Mrs. E. Storey of Emily spent Thursday at the latter's sisters, Mrs. J. G. Mann and Mrs. J. R. Mann of Smith.

Mrs. Alex McGregor and daughter Betty of Toronto are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGregor, Sr, of Lindsay Highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis of Smith attended the funeral of a cousin of Mr. Lewis in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Archer and Mrs. L. Irwin of Lindsay Highway visited at Mrs. Archer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Renwick, Westwood, recently.

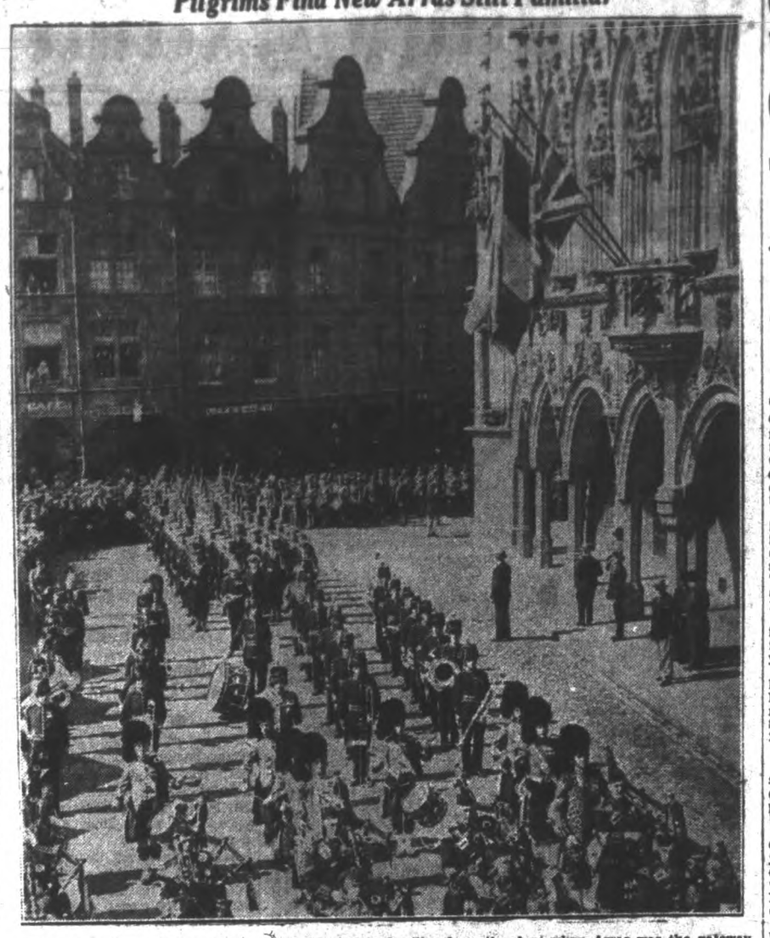
Pilgrims Find New Arras Still Familiar



When Canadian pilgrims to the Vimy Memorial unveiling arrived in Arras they found the city Canadian troops knew so well in 1917 and 1918 had been almost completely rebuilt since Great War days. Its broad boulevards and spacious squares have banished the external vestiges of war. But the old soldiers found a place here and there that was still familiar from the days when Arras was the gateway to the battlefields on which they fought. The entry of the pilgrims' naval guard of honor from H.M.S. Saguenay is pictured above. Preceding them is the brass band from the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and the pipe band selected from various Highland regiments of the Canadian Militia.—(C. P. Photo.)

BRITAIN SEES SPANISH WAR AS THREAT TO EUROPE

Italy Informs Paris She Will Postpone Action On Neutrality Plan

TICKLISH ISSUE

LONDON, Aug. 4. — (AP). — French anxiety that Europe might be plunged into a new war through interference of outside powers in the Spanish civil war is "fully shared" by the British Foreign Office, it was authoritatively stated to-day.

The reply of the British Government to a French note suggesting a tripartite policy of non-intervention in Spain among Great Britain, France and Italy was understood to have been handed the French Ambassador. It expressed the fullest sympathy with the French view, it was said.

Italy Delays Decision.

ROME, Aug. 4.—(CP-Havas). — Italy to-day informed France she would postpone action on the French proposal for non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

Count Galeazzo Ciano informed Count Charles de Chambrun, the French Ambassador, the Italian Government would withhold its reply to the French request for an Anglo-French-Italian pact for the maintenance of strict neutrality regarding the international conflict in Spain.

Germany Agreeable.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(CP-Havas).—The German Government announced to-day it would adhere to the French proposal for pledges of non-intervention in the Spanish civil conflict on condition the Soviet Union also adheres to it.

Battle Rages in Pass.

(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press.)

MADRID, Aug. 4.—Loyal and rebel troops fought a desperate battle in the jagged Guadarrama mountain passes to-day as four new columns of Leftist artillery sped northward from Madrid.

Massing their forces, the insurgents hurled strong detachments against the semi-circle of steel protecting the capital from a Fascist advance.

The first advance began at dawn yesterday, advices from Somo Sierra said. The Government reported its lines repulsed the rebel attackers who retired, leaving 300 dead in the rugged terrain.

Leftist casualties were set at 84.

Officials in Madrid said they believed many artillery cadets were among the Fascist regiments. These young soldiers received their training during military manoeuvres in the mountains in former years.

Projected bombardment of the Spanish Moroccan port of Ceuta was reported abandoned by a Spanish Government warship after the arrival of the German cruiser Deutschland at the rebel stronghold.

AFTER WEIGHT

Actresses Buy Cream Puffs, Chocolates, Potatoes to Add 5 Lbs.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.—(AP)—There's a weight gaining race going on to-day in Hollywood with Brunette Anne Nagel and Blonde Marie Wilson eating virtually neck and neck.

A casting director ordered Miss Nagel to add nine pounds to her 103. She is trying cream puffs, chocolate, potatoes and assorted candies.

Miss Wilson, 106, wants to reach 115. She hopes cod liver oil will do it.

Russians Starting To Shed Whiskers

MOSCOW, August 4. — Russia, traditional home of bushy whiskers, is going to the barber shop.

More than 700 new tonsorial parlors are to be opened this year with a total of 2,880 chairs, the Council of the People's Commissars announces.

Another 1,400 shops with 5,600 chairs will go into operation next year. To shave off the whiskers, 4,900 barbers are in training now, and another 10,000 will enter barber colleges in 1937.

CAPT. CUTMORE YOUNG VETERAN

Officer Of 3rd Prince Of Wales Dragoons Tried To Enlist At 16

ACCEPTED AT 18

Captain G. H. Cutmore, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, whose unit was in camp at Nassau over the week-end, can probably lay claim to being the youngest officer in Peterborough militia garrison with war service to his credit. A native of Witney, Oxfordshire, he enlisted in the Royal Marines on attainment of his eighteenth birthday early in 1916, and was the youngest of four brothers who between them did thirteen years on active service in various theatres in the Great War.

It is just twenty-two years today since England declared war on Germany, and at the Dragoons camp, a group on Monday steered around to a recollection of that eventful period. Captain Cutmore recalled how as a lad in his seventeenth year he attended a fete at Blenheim Palace near his home on that fateful August bank holiday. The major attraction was to have been a flying demonstration by Marcus Manton, a boy aviator.

Flying Forbidden

"The aeroplane which was a great novelty in those days was in an improvised hangar and at the appointed hour, it was wheeled out into a fenced enclosure around which pressed a huge throng of excited spectators waiting to witness the plane take-off and loop-the-loop. But the crowd was disappointed. The flier came from the hangar and read a telegram from the War Office to the effect, "War is imminent. All civil flying cancelled," he related.

Bank holiday that year was on August 3. The day following Britain went to war and a month after Mr. Cutmore and five young companions presented themselves for enlistment. Three of them were turned down at that time, and three were accepted.

Among his most treasured possessions, Mr. Cutmore has the official slip of paper which certifies that he presented himself for enlistment in September, 1914, but he was refused for no fault of his own. He was 16 years 7 months of age at the time of his first unsuccessful attempt. At eighteen years he was accepted, and on active service with the Marines rose from private to lieutenant which latter rank was his on discharge.

FARMER SLASHES CARS WITH SCYTHE

Two Police Injured Capturing Sudbury Man Running Amok

SUDBURY, Aug. 4.— (CP).—A Sudbury district farmer, Matti Maki, of Asilda, ran amuck yesterday with a knife and scythe and injured two police officers before he was overpowered.

Provincial Constable Len Evans received a stab wound in the abdomen which required four stitches to close and Provincial Constable Jack Truaisch injured his leg.

According to police, Maki became violently insane during the early morning. Armed with a knife, made from a file, and scythe, he killed chickens and pigs on his farm and tore down the pig house.

Coming out on the heavily-travelled Sudbury-Chelmsford highway, he struck at automobiles with the scythe, breaking the windshield of one, police said.

While Truaisch attracted his attention, Evans crept up on the man from behind and seized him. In the struggle, the eight-inch knife pierced Evans' abdomen.

GERMANS TO BUILD VEST POCKET SUBS

Aim To Turn Out Highly Modernized Craft At Unheard-Of Rate

LONDON, Aug. 4.— (CP).— The Reich Government, its faith in the effectiveness of undersea warfare unshaken, in a few months will be able to turn out highly-modernized pocket submarines at a hitherto unprecedented rate, the naval editor of the Morning Post said today.

These submersibles, of small tonnage, but equipped with the most modern armaments, will be able to nullify the undersea and other anti-submarine defences of other nations, the article said. "Hydrophonic shears" will permit them to cut through undersea steel nets, the writer stated.

In a few months Germany will have a special personnel organized which will permit her to launch submarines at a hitherto unheard of rate, he stated.

Bride-To-Be Starts Trip Into Arctic

EDMONTON, Aug. 4.—(CP). — Bound for Coppermine, N. W. T., where she will become the bride of Rev. H. R. Rokeby-Thomas, Anglican church missionary, Miss Anna Rossell of Guelph, Ont., waited here "quite excited" for the train that will take her on the first lap of her journey to-night.

She will go by train and automobile to McMurray, Alta., and then fly the remainder of the long trip into the Arctic.

It will be the first flight into the far north for Miss Rossell, a graduate nurse. She will stay three years at one of the most northerly posts of civilization, Cambridge Bay, 1,480 miles north-east of Edmonton. Her fiance is in charge of the Anglican church mission there.

At Coppermine, 1,206 miles north-east of Edmonton, Miss Rossell and Rev. Rokeby-Thomas will be married by Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, Bishop of the Arctic. The honeymoon trip will be spent travelling by supply boat on the Arctic Ocean to Cambridge Bay.

CANADIAN TRIO WIN IN TRIALS OF 200 METRES

Dr. Phil Edwards Is Running In Finals Of The 800 Metres

Johnny Loaring Survived His Heat In The 400-Metre Hurdles

NEW RECORDS SET

By Elmer Dulmage
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—(CP Cable).—Canada's sprint trio streaked successfully through the preliminary round of the Olympic 200-metre trials this morning after Jesse Owens, the United States cocoa comet, had clipped 1-10th second off the Olympic record for the distance.

Owens, favored to add a victory in this event to the one he scored in the 100-metre yesterday, roared down the brick red lane in 21.1 seconds to better the mark Eddie Tolan, another American negro, set at the Los Angeles Olympiad in 1932.

Lee Orr, Vancouver youth, eliminated from the century dash in a flurry of argument, finished five yards in Owen's smoking wake.

Bruce Humber, of Victoria, won his trial in 22.1, while Howie McPhee, Vancouver, qualified by running second in a heat won by the South American, Theunnison, in 21.7.

Breeze Aided Runners.

Bob Packard of the strong U. S. squad equalled the Olympic standard in another heat with an impressive 21.2 performance. A strong breeze aided the runners.

After the sprint preliminaries, Owens moved over to the broad jumping pit and qualified for the decisive tests late this afternoon with a leap of 24 feet 5¼ inches. It was well short of his world record of 26 feet 8¼ inches.

The Canadian negro, Sammy Richardson, of Toronto, also made the grade by bettering the required distance of 23 feet 6 inches on his second effort.

In running second to the streamlined Owens in the 200-metre trials Orr was caught in 21.6 seconds, only 4-10ths second off the Olympic mark. It was the fourth best time of the preliminaries. At the tape the slender 21-year-old student from Washington State University was a yard in front of the German, Necke Mann, in the last qualifying slot.

Ran a Close Third.

The success eased the disappointment that fell to young Orr in the 100-metre event. He ran a close third in those trials Sunday and believed he had qualified. He had not understood an announcement, made in the German tongue, that only the first two would move into the quarter-finals. Canadian officials argued against this sudden decision, changing the program announcement that the first three would qualify, but no official protest was made.

Humber won his heat in the 200 dash with inches to spare over Gyenes of Hungary. Rinner of Austria was third. The 21-year-old Victorian, like Orr, a member of the Washington State U. track team, appeared to have eased up

Sands and Miss Mildred Bailey.

Shine Up Your Electric Grills Or Waffle Irons

Try Some of These Recipes for a Genuine Electrical Party

For many years I labored under the delusion that coffee percolators were solely designed to percolate coffee in. But as emergencies arose and babies arrived I learned differently.

First year we were married we lived "da-own Sa-outh" where in many places oil stoves are common. Well we had one in our little apartment and not being accustomed to this fuel I often ran out of it. The first time this happened I was panic stricken, for my brand new husband had a notion I was a fine cook and was liable to bring home a fellow-student unannounced any evening for dinner. It being Friday night I knew better than to think he would come home alone—but with no oil and no chance of having any delivered, I had to think fast and good.

So I boiled potatoes in the percolater and turned the iron upside down, heated a frying pan on it and fried lamb crops. You may laugh at the picture you conjure up of the iron supported on one side by a bronze book-end and on the other by a wooden door stopper—but we had dinner and a hot one ,too.

These recipes that follow will give you an idea of some of the grand foods Light Housekeepers may have —not Lighthouse Keepers—if I must be explicit.

Chinese Shrimp Scramble

(For Chafing Dish)

One can of shrimps, 1 finely chopped Spanish onion, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 5 eggs, 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley, 2 tablespoons water, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon peper, few grains cayenne. Beat the eggs slightly, add the shrimps coarsely chopped, and onion, celery, seasonings and water. Beat together and cook in chafing dish in which some butter has been melted, stirring it constantly, or allowing it to stand and form soft crust on bottom so you can turn it. If crust forms it can be served directly on hot plates. But if egg mixture is stirred it must be served on toast points and garnished with paprika and parsley.

Blueberry Pancakes

(For Table Grill)

One and one-half cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon each baking powder and sugar, ¼ cup buttermilk, OR sour cream, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted butter, ½ cup blueberries. Sift the dry ingredients together, and beat the egg until light and add it to the milk. Then combine the mixture and beat until smooth. Add the melted butter and the blueberries which have been washed, drained and dried. Cook the pancakes in rather small sizes on hot tablegrill greased with cooking oil slightly, and turn when full of bubbles. These are at their best when served with powdered sugar and butter.

Edison Welsh Rarebit

(For Chafing Dish)

One tablespoon butter, ½ lb old cheese cut in about ½-inch cubes; 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mustard, dash of cayenne, ½ cup ale, 1 egg or 2 yolks. Melt the butter while the chafing dish is not too hot and add the cheese and seasonings. As the cheese melts add the ale gradually, while stirring constantly. Add the egg slightly beaten and serve at once on buttered crisp crackers or graham wafers.

Creamed Dried Beef or Toast

Put 2 level tablespoons butter in grill pan. Place on grill with reflector underneath. Turn to high heat and when butter is melted add ¼ lb. dried beef shaved thin, cut in small pieces. Cook for 3 or 4 minutes then stir in 2 level tablespoons flour and add gradually while stirring, 3 cups milk. Continue cooking until mixture boils, stirring. Sprinkle lightly with pepper and serve on toast which may be made underneath grill while creamed beef is cooking.

Chocolate Waffles

(For Waffle Iron)

Two cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cocoa, ½ cup sugar, 1 2-3 cup milk, 2 eggs, separated, 1-3 cup melted butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt and cocoa and sugar together. Beat the yolks of the eggs until light and add them to the milk. Combine the dry ingredients, add eggs and milk and beat until smooth. Add the melted butter and the vanilla then fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff. Bake at once and serve with maple syrup to which a few drops of oil of peppermint have been added. The mint flavor is excellent with the chocolate waffles.

Just Between Us Women

Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

MANKIND, from Adam, have been women's fools;
Women, from Eve, have been the devil's tools;
Heaven might have spared one torment when we fell;
Not let's us women, or is not threatened hell." —Lord Lansdowne.

And this—"There's nothing in the world worse than a woman
By nature shameless, save some other woman. —Aristophanes.

Dear Friends,—My oh my, don't all you women who read this feel like crawling into a hole, and pulling it in after you. What an awful thing it is to be a woman. Nothing they do is right, the poor things, and why they continue to live is beyond me, after hearing what men think of them.

Men, of course, are perfect. They never do a wrong thing. Which reminds me of an incident a lady told me the other day. After the bad earthquake in San Francisco, a woman who had come through it unscathed was asked by some reporters what was her first impressions when she realized such a thing had happened and she had lived through it.

She asked them if they wanted the truth, and when they said they most certainly did, she said, "well, gentlemen, my first thought was one thing my husband could not blame me for.". Are you laughing? Yet curiously enough, this lady was perfectly sincere when she said it.

All their married life he had blamed her for everything, (and by the way, this would be a nice article to ask your husband to read. He won't read it if you ask him? Well just leave it carelessly around where he will be sure to see it, or better still, tell him not to read it as it is only meant for women. That will fetch him).

I always remember the time my brother told me that a minister whom he was very friendly with had no use for women, and quick as a flash I asked "which woman was it that hurt him?" Then I asked him if he lived with his Mother, and when he said yes; I said that is strange, because his Mother is a woman.

But all fooling aside, men do have a tendency to lay all the blame for every little thing on woman. Ever since Adam said, "the woman tempted me and I did eat," the skirts of women have been a very convenient hiding place for men. The poor prune could not take his share of the blame, but had to shove it all on her.

Ten to one he was as curious as she was to know what the fruit of the tree of life tasted like, but hadn't the courage to try it. The really BIG men do not blame women, but rather feel that they do have a hard time. For all that some of them seem to scorn the opposite sex; they are the first ones to run to them to get them out of trouble.

No man, nor no woman is complete in themselves. Each needs the other to round out their lives. When a woman makes a goat out of a man, she is really hurting herself. When a man lays all the blame for the ills of the universe on woman, he seems to me to be a very pitiable thing.

A very learned man once said, "when God made man He looked on His handiwork and after contemplating it for awhile, He said I think I can do better than that, and then proceeded to make woman."

And so I will close with a quotation from another man, for after all, men in general have been very good to me.

"O Woman! in our hours of ease
Uncertain, coy, and hard to please,
And variable as the shade
By the light quivering aspen made;
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou!"
—Sir Walter Scott.

And remember that if God did not think that men and women needed each other, there would have been only the one sex, and whom would we have had to quarrel with? Or make up with? or love? As bread is to a sandwhich, so are men and women to each other.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

INTUITION PREVENTED LOSS

THE INSTINCTIVE knowledge or feeling, which we term intuition, often saves a player from doing the wrong thing. That inner knowledge of what should be done is strongly developed in successful players, and it should be cultivated by all of us. Commonly we refer to a strong urge to take a certain course, when reason alone seems unable to guide us, as a "hunch". Call it what you will, but follow it when all else fails, as I had to do on the following hand.

I made a fourth-hand opening bid of 1-Spade, sitting East. When partner jumped into 2-No Trumps, I went 3-Spades, to allow him to make the final choice. To my great surprise he bid 6-Spades, which, South doubled, and who could blame him.

The opening lead was the Q of diamonds. Declarer's K won the trick. The double seemed to stow that South held the two missing trump honors. I led the 6 through the doubler. The 6 held the trick. North played the 4. The 2 of spades was covered with the J. Dummy's Ace won. There was no sense in leading another spade to bring out South's K. Let him ruff with it, if he wished.

The normal way to play hearts was to lead high, or play high, from the short end of the suit. Four heart tricks would enable me to make my contract. I led a low heart from dummy. There were 6 of the suit missing, with odds of 65 to 35 that they would not be divided adversely 3-3. North put up his 8. My K won. I had played the suit automatically. The moment after I had gone up with the high honor I instinctively knew that I had played incorrectly. Now I had to make amends. I led off the K of clubs while I thought over the heart situation. Then I knew what to do. I led the J of hearts. South played the 4. Dummy's Ace won the trick, dropping North's Q and insuring my contract. The 7 of hearts was taken with my 10. Dummy was put in lead with a club. The 9 of hearts was led. On it went my last diamond. I spread my hand, offering the doubler his good K of spades, which was all he could win. Intuition had saved the day for me.

In duplicate games remember to score honors only when total points are to be counted. Honors are not scored in match point counting.

Every bridge player should own a copy of the Laws of Contract Bridge. Any book dealer should be able to furnish this inexpensive book. It is published by the John C. Winston Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by
Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Please print the following recipes in your columns of the Cookery Page: How to make brown bread; how to can rhubarb; and also a recipe for dressing fowls. Thanking you. Mrs. H. V.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Home-made Brown Bread.

Two cups scalded milk, ¼ cup sugar or 1-3 cup molasses, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 yeast cake dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water, 4 2-3 cups finely ground entire wheat flour. Add the sugar or molasses to the salt and milk; cool them and when lukewarm add the yeast cake which has been dissolved and sift in the flour (adding also the chaff which will not go through the sifter); beat all well, cover and let rise at warm room temperature—about 75 deg. Fahr.—until double in bulk (but do not let stand overnight for some bakers say this makes whole wheat bread strong tasting). Cut down and knead, and shape into loaves and put in greased bread pans, having pans one-half full, let rise to not quite double in bulk again at warm room temperature and bake at 400 deg. Fahr., reducing heat somewhat before bread is finished. If soft crust is desired, brush loaf with melted butter about 5 minutes before removing from oven, and cover with clean cloth while loaf is cooling.

Canned Rhubarb.

(Cold Water Method)

Pare rhubarb and cut in one-inch pieces. Pack in a sterile jar, put under cold water faucet, and let water run 20 minutes, then screw on cover. Rhubarb canned thus has been known to keep a year.

Canned Rhubarb.

(Sterile Bath Method)

Wash but do not pare rhubarb (it is the pink skin which gives it an attractive color), cut into 1-inch lengths. Prepare sugar syrup of 1 cup sugar to each cup of water—you will need 1 cup of syrup for each 2 cups of cut-up rhubarb. Pack sterile jars full of clean cut-up rhubarb, and immediately pour over boiling hot syrup and put on rubbers, tops and rings. Put in hot water bath, having water come up half way on jars, and boil 20 minutes, counting time after water comes to boiling point. When done tighten tops, but do not open jars to fill them if rhubarb shrinks, or all your sterilinz precautions are ruined.

Dressing for Fowl.

Stuffing No. 1.—Two cups cracker crumbs rolled finely enough to sift them, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 1-3 cups butter, 1 1-3 cups boiling water, salt and pepper, 1 teaspoon powdered sage. Melt butter in the boiling water and pour all over the crumbs, add seasoning.

Stuffing No 2.—Two cups each fine cracker crumbs and soft bread crumbs, 1 cup butter, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning, 2 cups scalded milk, 2 eggs. Make same as stuffing No. 1, adding eggs with milk after they have been well beaten.

Stuffing No. 3.—Make this the same as stuffing No. 1, adding 1 onion finely grated which has been precooked in part of the butter before adding.

Weddings

GIBSON—REID.

The marriage was soleminzed quietly by the Rev. W. P. Robertson, at St. John's Church on Saturday, August 1st, of Helen Dorothy Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Reid, of 709 George street, and Maxwell Ernest Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gibson of Pradette avenue. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hunter. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will live in Peterborough.

DEVINE—McMAHON
McMAHON—DEMILL

PORT HOPE, Aug. 4.—A pretty double wedding was solemnized Saturday morning at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church here by Rev. Father J. J. Guiry, when Mary Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMahon, was married to Hayden James, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Devine; and Muriel Mary, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Demill, became the bride of Francis Kenneth, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McMahon, all of Port Hope.

The nuptial Mass was said by Rev. Father J. J. Guiry, with Miss Carrie Gordon presiding at the organ. During the signing of the register, Miss Marie Cancilla sang the "Ave Maria."

The brides entereed the church to the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Miss McMahon was attired in lilac silk organza with matching accessories and carried purple and mauve asters, scabiosa and delphinium. Miss Demill was dressed in pink and blue chiffon with matching accessories and carried pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McMahon, where about twenty-five friends and relatives gathered to partake of the wedding breakfast. The dining-room was tastefully decorated in pink and white ribbons, roses and gladiolus. Mr. and Mrs. Devine and Mr. and Mrs. McMahon will take up residence in Port Hope.

HEFFERNAN—CALLAGHAN

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4. — St. Mary's Church, Campbellford, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday morning, August 1st when Mary Gertrude Callaghan, daughter of Mrs. Anna Callaghan and the late Mr. John Callaghan, became the bride of James Leo Heffernan, son of Mr. Michael Heffernan and the late Mrs. Heffernan of Campbellford. Rev. Father J. V. McAuley officiated. The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Callaghan of London, looked charming in a gown of peau d'ange lace over white satin. Her Juliet cap was of velvet flowers and she carried a white prayer book with streamers of sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

The wedding music was played by Miss Marie Crosson. Miss Hilda O'Keefe wearing a frock of peach chiffon with brown picture hat and slippers to match acted as maid of honor. Miss Helen Rose of Peterborough was bride's maid wearing pink chiffon with wide picture hat and slippers to match. Both carried bouquets of Premier roses and cornflowers. Mr. William Callaghan brother of the bride attended the groom and the ushers were Messrs. Angus and James Robertson. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on Booth street. Mrs. Callaghan received wearing a gown of flowered chiffon with white picture hat and a corsage of pink roses and blue cornflowers. Later the happy couple left for a motor trip, the bride wearing blue flowered chiffon with blue chiffon velvet three-quarter length coat with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses and baby's breath. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Heffernan will reside in Campbellford.

Tested Favorite Recipe

By MARY MOORE.

While figs are usually understood to be winter fare, when made into fig bran muffins they relieve some of the too concentrated nourishment of hot breads made without fruit in them — a desirable quality in the summer — besides the moistness of the fruits keeps the bread well in hot weather.

Fig Bran Muffins.

Four cups flour sifted, 4 ozs. (½ cup) good shortening, ¾ cup sugar, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup bran, 1 cup figs chopped finely, ½ cup milk or a little more, 1 whole egg, 1 egg yolk. Blend the butter and shortening together. Sift the flour, baking powder and salt together and mix the bran and figs with them. Beat the eggs and mix the milk with them and add the milk mixture alternately with the flour mixture to the butter. If a little more milk is required to make the batter thin enough to stir; add it a tablespoon at a time. Bake in buttered muffin tins at 425 deg. Fahr. Best with unsalted butter. Perfect for breakfast.

TRENT RIVER

Miss Jean Free has returned to Campbellford after spending a week with Miss Eleanor Brown who accompanied her to Campbellford to spend a few holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Free.

Miss Peggy Longmuir is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gardner.

Trent River girls soft ball team played Seymour West at Fleming's School Friday evening resulting in a score of 16-7 favor of Trent River.

Trent River boys played Fleming's Friday evening winning out with a score 16-0.

THE FAVOURITE BEAUTY SOAP OF CANADA'S LOVELIEST MOTHERS

"THE PALMOLIVE BEAUTY TREATMENT IS PERFECT FOR OUR COMPLEXIONS . . . BOTH JANICE AND I USE IT EVERY DAY . . ."
says MRS. R. H. JONES of Toronto

When little Janice grows up she'll have her mother's "schoolgirl complexion". For Mrs. Jones, like thousands of other lovely Canadian women, gives her daughter the same beauty treatment she uses for herself.

It's Palmolive's Beauty Treatment. And you should use it for your bath as well as for face, throat and shoulders. All your skin will become smoother, softer, lovelier . . . because Palmolive protects the natural oils which nourish the skin.

Cleanses, Soothes, Beautifies

Costly olive and palm oils give Palmolive its mild, penetrating lather. Going deep into your pores, it floats out powder, rouge and other impurities, lets them breathe and function normally. And while Palmolive cleanses, it refreshes and soothes your skin, leaves it healthy and radiant.

So make Palmolive your soap. It's recommended by more than 20,000 beauty experts. Use it from today on, for all your skin. You'll have a complexion that's really [illegible] . . . lovely all over.

TRY THIS PALMOLIVE BEAUTY TREATMENT

For your face, throat and shoulders, and for your bath. Gently massage [illegible] with a warm, rich Palmolive lather. Cleanse the pores thoroughly. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. That's all there is to this simple beauty treatment. Yet there is no surer way to real, all-over skin beauty.

Mrs. R. H. Jones and Janice, her three year old daughter.

We Wish Them Success

The Ontario Association of Rural Municipalities has come into existence. Communities interested are of such size as Stayner, Fergus, Plantaganet, Hawkesbury, Kingsville, Millbrook, Listowel, Ancaster, Bradford, and so on. A communication from the Association says it is necessary that the 321 towns and villages and 54 townships under the county system of municipal government should send representatives to a meeting who would consider what is going to become of many of the towns and villages.

The cities, we are told, started this business of meeting together through the association of mayors, and they have had several gatherings and made several trips to parliament where they placed their collective views before the government. The smaller places feel that as the cities are going in for this sort of business they will have to do something similar.

The latter claims, and with good reason, that the villages and towns are growing less in size as a rule, and that their continued existence is important. And that is so.

We read also that the problem of taxation is becoming more serious, because it all comes back on the man who owns some real estate and in that way has his name on the collector's roll, while there are from 25 to 40 per cent. of citizens who own no real estate and therefore escape the brunt of increasing taxation. There have been new services created which towns and villages have had to aid in financing, such as relief, hospitalization of indigents, Mothers' Allowance, Old Age Pension, but there has been no change made in the method of raising money. It has all come back on the man with a piece of property.

Just what the villages and towns could do about it if they gathered together we do not know, but we say in all sincerity that we wish they could bring some force into active operation which would help them hold their own and work back to stronger positions. It is much better that we should have a number of thriving villages and towns well distributed than that the drift toward cities should continue. It is better for rural life also that it should be so.

May Be a Good Law

A Winnipeg lawyer has written a letter to the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba saying that he considers the recent provincial election illegal. The contention is that under the Manitoba Act which became an Imperial act in 1871, there was a constitutional limitation of 24 members to the Legislative Assembly and this limit still stands. The lawyer claims there can be no change in this number unless appeal is made to the Imperial Parliament, unless power to do it be delegated to some inferior authority.

It is not likely the Imperial Parliament would care to bother its head much about how many members were elected to the provincial legislature of Manitoba, but it is interesting to know there is some sort of a formidable enactment which might be called into service to prevent the piling up of membership in the Legislature.

Manitoba has a population of 731,000 and there are 55 members in the Legislature. Winnipeg alone has been given a representation of six members. Ontario had until recently 112 members, but reduced that number to 90. On the basis of population if Ontario elected members to the legislature on the elaborate scale of Manitoba we would have between 165 and 170 members. We get along well enough with 90, and a good many people feel we could do quite well if we again cut that number by a wide margin.

Manitoba, we are certain, could get along with 25 members instead of its present 55. So that old enactment of 1871, although not since recognized by the legislature, may have much virtue in it.

But It's the Law

Two London, Eng., papers were fined about $10,250 because at the time McMahon appeared in the presence of the King with a revolver the papers had described it as an "attempt on the King's life," or had used the word assassination. The fines were imposed because court held such wording would prejudice the chances of McMahon getting a fair trial. People would read the papers and become obsessed with the idea that the man was bent on killing the king, and then if called as jurors they might be prejudiced.

Of course that is justice, and it is law as well, but it is also pretty stiff stuff. We dare say the papers in using such words as they did were saying exactly what the people on the street and elsewhere were repeating. They were probably quite accurately reflecting the feeling of the British people at the time.

Civic Holiday

Peterborough celebrated its own special holiday yesterday and as usual as many citizens as could possibly do so marked the occasion by getting out of town. The exodus ever Civic Holiday as a matter of fact is usually the greatest of the year which gives a paradoxical twist to the name. A civic holiday, it might be imagined would be more suitably observed by a community celebration that would keep folk at home and appeal to their pride in their home town and to their sense of responsibility as citizens, rather than just a holiday that sees people scurrying away as if delighted for a chance to shake the dust of the place off their shoes, if only for a day.

However, the thing probably works out all right in the end for the holiday-makers go to all sorts of places on Civic Holiday, they compare what they see with the conditions at home and they come back at the close of the day to the cleanliness and the neatness and the beauty and charm of Peterborough and say to themselves: "Well there's no place just like the old home town after all," so perhaps Civic Holiday does in a round-about sort of way accomplish the purpose for which it was originally intended.

A Good Way to Learn

Always during the tourist season there are visitors from United States who do something which attracts attention, or perhaps causes a bit of laughter. Niagara Falls, one of the entry ports, reports one car arrived with a sleigh tied on front, and he was informed he would have to go about 1,500 miles north to find the first snow.

Another desired to know the nearest trail to Toronto and inquired whether a guide would be required. And a third desired to know the best point from which to view the Niagara ice bridge.

Of course all that is amusing, but the tourists in those three cars were doing the best thing possible to correct their wrong views. They are coming and finding out for themselves that they were wrong in their previous beliefs.

And while we are inclined to laugh at some of the equipment and questions of those who cross our borders it might be well to put a muffler on the laugh until we are certain we are well informed regarding other lands which we have never seen and of which we probably know little.

It is interesting to know how some of the folk from United States might have erroneous views regarding Canada. Some time ago we made inquiry in that country and found: (1) that there is very little information in the school books, so the young people do not know; (2) many of the stories appearing in magazines are built on romance and adventure connected with the Royal North-West Mounted Police depicting rough country, Indians, wide open spaces and so on. (3) People know that this country is the home of many fur-bearing animals and people in United States prefer our woollen goods to anything they can secure at home and that, it was stated, also gives them the impression of cold and adequate preparation against it. (4) It was stated by several young people that United States got most of its hockey players from Canada, and there must be a great deal of ice and cold weather here otherwise our young men would not become so expert at playing hockey.

The tourist business is one of the best-known agencies to correct a good many false impressions about this or any other country. When people come and drive and stay for a while they know the facts and that is all that can be asked.

Should Be Uniform

The solicitor of Orillia has been instructed by the council to prepare a bylaw licensing the operation of slot machines. There are to be various fees charged. We read this in the report: "Penny machines, which councillors declared were most injurious, as children spent money in them, will be taxed $50 for the first machine, $25 for the second and $15 for each machine over two." That is the most superlative form of municipal rubbish. If the councillors know, as they say they do, that penny machines are injurious to children, then why do they want to have such a thing in their community at all? Do they want to take revenue by getting it indirectly from the children?

In several places in the province there had been action taken against slot machines. They have been seized and destroyed, while in other places they are continued to run. The whole business ought to be made subject to provincial ruling, and not left to the discretion or desire of municipal councils.

How Will They Manage?

Of course there is no slavery in United States. The black folk were declared free there a good many years ago, and besides that all men and women in that country are born free and equal. The constitution says so and it ought to know.

But there is something else. At Shreveport, Louisiana, a colored woman entered a street car, but refused to sit in what is known as the colored section. She plunked right down beside a white woman.

The man who was running the street car called a policeman, and in court the colored lady was asked to contribute $25 and court costs or spend 30 days in jail for having broken what they call the "Jim Crow" law.

White people, black people, copper-colored people—we wonder how they will get along in the next world if they happen to retain the same color scheme which they carry in this.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Remember twenty-two years ago today, that fateful August day when Britain declared war?

Now that Peterborough has got its Civic Holiday out of the way the community can settle down to getting ready for the fall fair.

The Olympic games are under way in Germany and fortunately there has been no need so far to send in a call for the services of the League of Nations.

One thing is clear about proportional representation. It takes longer for a defeated government to know that it has been defeated than it used to under the old system.

Be careful with your cigarette. Careless smokers are being held responsible for bush and grass fires all over the country.

Marlene Dietrich says she is never going back to Germany but Chancellor Hitler has up to the present shown no intention of resigning on receipt of the news of the screen star's decision.

All cables to Spain are being accepted at the sender's risk but that is something that is not likely to inconvenience more than a small number of Peterborough folk.

Down in Shreveport, Louisania, the other day a judge fined a negro woman because she sat down next to a white woman in a street car. Wasn't there a civil war or something that was supposed to set the slaves free?

The 1940 Olympic games have been awarded to Tokyo, Japan and that is an encouraging sign. It shows that at least some people do not believe the world will be in the midst of another general war about that time.

Those American visitors to Belleville who were looking for a stuffed fish with which to be photographed were wasting their time. They should have come to this district and caught a big one for themselves.

Deer are being seen on the Apsley road and that should prove a wonderfully effective argument to bring visitors into that part of the district.

Fire fighters gathered in Toronto passed a resolution that no other cars except theirs be allowed to use red as a color scheme. Having painted our old crate pink with green trimmings we don't care if the resolution did pass.

Charles Myers who lives near Belleville says he has a cow which always stops, looks and listens when crossing the highway as she was struck by a car three years ago and carried 40 feet. That may be for safety or it may be because the cow is wondering when she is going for another ride.

Newspaper in Philadelphia has been purchased for $15,000,000. There's money in the business — for the man who can sell one for that figure.

Dogs in Regina may be tatooed for purposes of identification. The way in which a dog uses its nose to identify its owner is much simpler.

HE STUCK

(By A.R.K.)

¶ Jim had a job for after four, he peddled parcels at the store, and worked on Saturday; it kept him pretty busy too, there were so many things to do, no time for him to play.

¶ When he was through with school he stayed, it wasn't much that he got paid, and yet he liked the things; soon Jim was working in the store, he ran the errand job no more, tied tea and stuff with strings.

¶ Most other boys they left the town, they felt the place just held them down, they looked for bigger stuff; the world used some of them quite well, according to the yarns they'd tell, while others got used rough.

¶ They used to laugh a lot at Jim, but he just answered with a grin, they wanted him to come; they said that in the larger sphere, he'd double on his pay each year and have a lot of fun.

¶ But Jim kept working in the store, where he had started after four, he learned the business through; the people liked to deal with Jim, and often they would wait for him, he saved some money too.

¶ All that's back thirty years or more, and now Jim owns the corner store, and it's increased in size; and those who used to laugh at Jim, now visit home and envy him — they say that he was wise

Holiday Musing By Errant Scribe

(By D.P.K in The Cobourg World)

THREE times lately I have had occasion to drive through the town of Lindsay Each time I have found it necessary to sit up and take a tighter grip of the wheel to avoid yawns turning to sleep, while passengers in the car have also yawned, settled back against the cushions and dozed or slept outright until the town was a mile behind

The splendidly broad main street or square always looked itself drowsy in the hot sunshine and the side streets seemed devoted to a tropical siesta

Is there some enchanted beauty waiting for her prince in Lindsay? Or do the city fathers spread some subtle perfume in the air to induce travellers to stop for an hour, to the advantage of the merchants, themselves the reverse of sleepy?

Some prosaic person of harsh scientific mind will probably write in to explain that it is merely the configuration of the ground, that Lindsay nestles among the hills, milder and less breeze-swept than the roads beyond Peterborough or in the Haliburton county uplands I would rather ascribe it to some magic spell

Even the name of the place is part of the witchcraft You must be vigorous and crisp in Cobourg, you cannot but be languid and serene in Lindsay

Lake Names

Haliburton county advertises that it contains five hundred and something-or-other named lakes What a lot of fun the pioneers must have had in finding names for all those pieces of water Place names are usually fascinating, and you can read history and romance on the map of Ontario

Recent changes of name have their interest, too

Some seem entirely pointless, In that lovely cluster of lakes between Bobcaygeon and Gooderham, the maps show Catchacoma matched by Missisagua, but people thereabouts tell you that the latter is now called "Gull Lake." It seems stupid. There are forty other Gull Lakes, so that the name carries no distinction, and "Missisaugua" is a poem in itself.

Sometimes the re-naming has a shrewd commercial motive. Near the cottage where I write this week is Shadow Lake. Now, old folk who have known these parts for years do not recognize the name when you mention it. Describe the location, and they say "Oh, you mean Mud Turtle Lake!" There is no secret in the neighborhood of the lake as to why the name was altered. The whole region is being gradually developed for summer homes; but no one would buy lots of lake frontage on Mud Turtle Lake. It sounded dull, and mud turtles, snakes and reptiles generally are unpopular. Bass Lake suggests good fishing, Balsam Lake the fragrance of the pines, Kashagawigamog calls to mind Indians and pioneers and everything romantic. "Mud Turtle"? No. But call it Shadow Lake and the magic is worked. You think of deep, dark water under the trees, still water reflecting the steep hills and woods, with the glint of sunshine to cast the shadow. To do it justice, it must be added that Shadow Lake is one of the most beautiful in a region of beautiful lakes and worthy of a name to match.

Occasionally an attempt to change a lake name fails. At Irondale there is a horseshoe-shaped lake known as Devil's Lake. Some city folk with summer cottages there, the kind with gardens and rustic fences round them, have tried to have the name changed to "Elizabeth Lake." It is no use. "It's always been called the Devil's Lake, and probably always will be," the storekeeper tells you, "and the name fits, for it's a bad lake sometimes." Another resident explained that, with a bit of etymology added. According to this informant, the lake used to be called "Double Lake," on account of the two-armed outline of its shores, but the lumbermen on the log drives misunderstood the sound. For them, it was a corner of hell, with cross winds on an awkward bend, where the logs jammed and trouble was as sure as snow in winter. So with very little change of sound the name became Devil's Lake. It's a picturesque name, with local history bound up in it, and worth preserving. Elizabeth should have some other lake. There are plenty of them in Ontario.

A CHANCE FOR CANADA.

(Windsor Star)

THE low yield of wheat in Great Britain presents Canada with a greater opportunity than merely selling an extra amount of grain to the British Isles. As the United Kingdom can get supplies of good wheat from Canadian exporters, there is no danger of any bread or flour famine in England.

The more important point centres around the amount of Canadian wheat that is mixed with the English grain for milling. In the years following the war, the percentage of Canadian wheat in the flour in England was high. Then the English millers started gradually to reduce the amount of hard wheat from the prairies used in the manufacture of flour for bread in England. Little by little the percentage was cut until the exports of Canadian wheat began to show a decline due to this cause alone.

Canadian wheat experts have been trying to persuade the millers in Britain to increase the amount of good, hard wheat used for flour. That would have an appreciable effect on the demands for grain from this Dominion. Should the crop conditions in England mean a compulsory boost in the amount of Canadian wheat used, it will be reflected in more sales of grain from the prairies.

Bees, Bears and What Not

(From the London Advertiser.)

SOME excellent holiday advice is handed out by the Halifax Chronicle on what to do in regard to the bees and hornets which are likely to be encountered in the course of vacation journeys. The editor takes as a text the sad story of a motorist who was breezing along the highway when a bee entered the car. A lady in the back seat screamed, the driver's attention was deflected from the wheel for a moment and the car pitched full tilt into a tree. What happened to the driver and his passengers is not disclosed, but one surmises that it was not altogether pleasant, for the editor adds the ominous note, "Better far had somebody been stung by the bee."

The story simply bristles with morals. The first and most obvious one is that no driver under any circumstances should pay any attention to sounds emanating from the back seat. This is a fundamental rule of good driving which even yet has not been sufficiently stressed. The second moral is that drivers on the highway should not pick up hitch-hikers—not even bees. Nature has provided them with efficient means of locomotion. They do not need car rides.

Nevertheless a little knowledge of the habits of the bee and the hornet comes in very handy in the event of one of these insects boarding the family bus. For instance the Halifax editor points out that it is not true that a bee cannot sting a person who holds his or her breath, but it is true that if a person holds his or her breath he or she will not be stung, because when a person holds his or her breath he or she keeps still and therein lies the secret. Whether or not it is that a bee cannot tell a person from a stick or a stump if he or she keeps perfectly still we have no means of knowing, but it is, apparently, an established fact that if one "freezes" as does the groundhog and keeps perfectly motionless when a bee alights on hands or face it will crawl all over one, tickle a bit perhaps, and then fly away without doing any damage. The experiment takes a little bit of courage and should perhaps be tried first on the wife, but it will demonstrate that bees are by nature kind and harmless little insects motivated only by the best intentions. But they do like people to remain still and not fidget when they are about.

The lesson, we feel, should be carried further now that so many vacationists are venturing forth into the north woods for their holidays. They will probably encounter bears. But how many of them know that a bear will not harm them if they lie down and pretend to be dead. A bear may come along and lick one's face under such circumstances, but if the tourist holds his breath, as he probably will do, he will suffer no more serious injury than the loss of an ear or two. And then as to wolves. The tourist who finds his car pursued by a pack of these creatures should be warned against stepping on the gas and trying to escape by reliance on sheer speed. It is first necessary to create a diversion. This can best be done by tossing one of the children out on the highway. Two would be better if the tourist is plentifully supplied with them. This invariably delays the wolves and also adds to the comfort of those remaining in the car by making additional room. Knowledge of such seemingly unimportant little points as these will do much to increase the enjoyment of the holiday trip.

Comets and Disasters

(From the New York Herald-Tribune.)

THE two strange comets at large in our familiar sky these nights are not very alarming. They are said to be visible to the naked eye, but few of us have managed to pick out either Peltier or Kaho. The astronomers tell us they will brighten up in a week or two and draw themselves more urgently to our attention. This is good news, because we like to have a look at a comet and we haven't seen a really good one for some years.

Most of us have long since got over our dread of these aliens from another sphere, these strange heavenly visitants, although, as recently as 1921, the world had some ground for alarm when, by a hair's breadth of a few days, Pons-Winnecke's comet just missed us. It might have been unpleasant. Then in 1910, the earth seems to have passed through the tail of the famous Halley's. The idea of going through a comet's tail is not a little worrying, especially when comets are supposed to give off the poisonous vapors of cyanogen. But this tail was at least 20,000,000 miles long and too thinned out to do us any harm. We didn't really know we were going through.

The trouble with comets, however, is not what they do or might do to the earth, but what they portend. They are infrequent enough in their visitations and fearsome enough in aspect to make the creatures of little earth shrink with dread of some vast doom, whenever they do show themselves. Halley's great comet, swinging through time and the universe on its tremendous orbit, appears to us about every 76 years and it has always been looked upon as the omen of cataclysm. As the Astronomer Royal has pointed out, it was the fiery sword that Josephus describes hanging over Jerusalem, foretelling the destruction of the city, at the time of the great siege in 170 B.C. It frightened the English and encouraged the conquering Normans in 1066. It blazed in the sky, a warning to Christendom, in 1456, when Mahomed took Constantinople and began his march into Europe

Comet-terrified London in 1665, just as the Great Plague was beginning. In his "Journal of the Plague Year," Daniel Defoe tells how the people expected "a heavy judgment, slow but severe, terrible and frightful," because the comet was "heavy, solemn and slow" in its motion, and of a "dull, languid color." A judgment "sudden, swift and fiery" was looked for in the following year, when another comet crossed the sky. It was bright and sparkling, flaming swift and furious. Then came the Great Fire.

If there is any superstition left in us, we may recall that Halley's comet last swept into our vision in 1910, just four years before the outbreak of the World War. Perhaps four years is too great a margin, even for a comet. At any rate, we may be consoled with the fact that Kaho and Petitier are small fry and that Halley's will not be back before 1986.

POINTING THE WAY.

(Financial Post)

AUSTRALIA is showing the way to Canada in wiping out public deficits. It is doing the same thing with its railways.

All but 837 miles of the 27,966 miles of railway in Australia are owned by the seven governments.

Operations for 1934-35, to which the latest official figures apply, were the best for ten years. After interest charges of $52 million, on total capitalization of $1,320 millions were met, the net loss on all government railways in 1934-35 was only $6 millions, or less than half that of previous year. Deficits have shown a progressive reduction since 1930-31, when aggregate losses reached $37.5 millions.

The change has been effected despite reductions in freight rates to assist producers, while internal economies reinforced inter-relief accruing from large-scale public debt conversions, according to the Melbourne correspondent of the Wall Street Journal. Energetic measures also were taken to improve services and operative efficiency to meet the increasing challenge of highway-competition.

BRISTLES SCARCE

(Hardware Trade Journal)

MOST people know that the best kinds of hair brushes, also shaving and tooth brushes, and certain types of painting brushes, are made from bristles. Bristles are the hair of the hog, pig or boar, not the domestic pig as is known in this country, but the semi-wild pig found in Siberia, where the finest white bristles come from.

In the past there was a steady supply of white Russian bristles, but today the semi-wild pig or boar is almost extinct. The Russians fed the pigs very little, leaving them to find their own food. Naturally, this meant the animals would keep fairly lean, and after about 4 years they grew a beautiful crop of bristles, long and of a texture suitable for brush making. Today the Russian keeps the pigs for only a few months or so, in other words, he is copying the methods of his western neighbors, and consequently few bristles suitable for brushes are forthcoming.

It is true that in India and China the pigs are more or less wild, but unfortunately the animals in these countries, due to warmer climates, do not grow such long bristles as the wild pig or boar of Siberia. With the supply naturally dwindling, prices of these raw materials have risen, necessitating increased prices of brushes and brooms made from these kinds of bristles."

New Quebec No. 2 grade potatoes sold at $1.15-$1.25 per 80-pound bag.

ONTARIO GRAIN.

TORONTO, Aug. 4. — Ontario grain, approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 91 to 94; oats, 40 to 43; barley, 55 to 60; corn, 80 to 81; rye, 58 to 60; buckwheat, 54 to 56; malting barley, 72 to 74; milling oats, 42 to 45.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, August 4. — Wheat futures prices shot forward on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday to reach the highest point since August 7, 1930, when $1.13⅞ was posted. All three positions passed the July 18, 1933, mark of $1.04, which had previously been top level since the 1930 peak.

New seasonal highs were recorded in all three futures for the fifth consecutive session.

It was the eighth successive day the Winnipeg market had recorded gains.

Continued dry weather over the spring wheat and corn areas of North America, good buying by United States houses and export business placed at 400,000 bushels, were factors in the advance.

Futures:

MAY SPIERS

Shaft sinking at May Spiers Gold Mine in Red Lake is making record time with the work having progressed to a depth of 229 feet at the end of July. In a progress report from Nelson Spiers, in charge of the work, he states that during the month of July, 201 feet of sinking was done, constituting a record for a three compartment shaft in the Red Lake area. Station cutting is now under way for the 1st level at 225 feet, and on completion sinking is to be resumed to the present objective of 375 feet. At this rate of progress the shaft should be completed and lateral work under way at the two levels being established by the end of the current month.

ELDORADO

Shareholders of Eldorado Gold Mines, at a special meeting held in Toronto this morning, approved of the increase in the capital stock which will enable the company to discharge liabilities due to banks and provide working capital to carry out expansion plans.

Industrial Decline On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 4 (CP)—The Toronto Industrial Share Market was sold in moderate volume today to give prices a narrow decline. The oils, liquors, utilities, implements and miscellaneous issues worked lower while the foods, steels and banks maintained an appearance of strength. Nickel and Smelters held unchanged to slightly higher, while Ford A, Distillers-Seagrams, British American Oil, International Petroleum and Steel of Canada registered losses of ¼ to ½. Pressed Metals dropped ¾ and in the utilities the soft spots were United Fuel Pfd., Shawinigan and Twin City. Twin City declined more than a point.

Senior Golds Lower On Mining Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 4. — (CP) — Prices settled moderately on the Toronto mining share market today and Trading volume tapered off after a vigorous opening. The Monday holiday here left the action to Montreal where some of the cheaper golds were pushed higher to give the Toronto list an encouraging start. Profit-taking however was substantial and the early advances were almost entirely eliminated. Some of the senior gold issues worked lower on considerable volume.

Late Tone Is Mixed In Wall Street Issues

NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (AP). — Led by aircrafts and industrial specialties, the stock market today fought its way haltingly up hill.

Shortly before the close Case turned forward for a gain of around four points. The late tone was mixed. Turnover approximated 1,000,000 shares.

Canada Stands Fifth At Eleventh Olympiad

BERLIN, Aug. 4 (CP).—Canada crashed into the point column of the 11th Olympic track and field games to-day as the United States' lead was lengthened to the point where that nation is assured of retaining her dominance of the men's division.

As Jesse Owens in the broad jump, Glenn Hardin in the 400-metre hurdles, and John Woodruff in the 800-metre run scored triumphs to hoist the United States total, Johnny Loaring and Dr. Phil Edwards grabbed places to land Canada fifth among the nations. Loaring was second in the hurdles and Edwards third in the 800-metres.

FIRES INCREASE

Schreiber Believed Safe With Much Bush Around It Cleared.

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Bush fires raged through the Thunder Bay district to-day in greater volume than at any time this season but the Ontario Forestry branch reported property damage was not extensive since protective guards had been thrown up in all danger zones.

The town of Schreiber, 100 miles east of here is ringed by fire and nearly 1,000 men are employed in fighting the flames, though handicapped by lack of equipment. Bush around the town has been cleared off and, with nothing to feed the flames, it is believed the community is safe.

EUROPE MINED

plunged Europe into war in August, 1914.

Gloomy Picture.

The situation to-day, based on an Associated Press survey in European capitals, reveals:

London: Chancellories of Europe fearfully wonder whether the issues the statesmen of 1919 tried to settle for all time in the Treaty of Versailles will provoke another and still greater conflagration.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler already has rearmed, introduced conscription to bring his army up to 600,000 instead of the prescribed 100,000, created an air force, reoccupied the Rhineland, and is refortifying the Rhineland and the North Sea island of Heligoland.

Scene of Much Friction.

Germany ceded much of the territory now forming Pomorze (the Polish corridor to the sea) which cuts off East Prussia from the Fatherland. There has been continual friction over the frontiers of the strip of land caled the "gangway of Mars."

Statesmen of other countries, seeing Germany throw off what she calls the "shackles" of the Versailles Treaty, have raised questions of the Reich's future course. Some of them have asked:

"Will Germany always be content to have the Pomorze cut her territory in two?

Will the outbursts of Nazi enthusiasm lead some day to German control or possession of the league-controlled free city of Danzig?

Will Germany some day attempt to regain Alsace-Lorraine ceded to France, the city of Memel ceded to the Allies and given by them to Lithuania in 1924, Northern Schleswig, which went by plebiscite to Denmark, the fertile provinces of Eupen and Meimedy ceded to Belgium.

Will she demand the return of her colonies.

Vienna.—In the person of young Archduke Otto, Hapsburg pretender to the Austrian throne, lie fears of danger.

Responsible statesmen of Czechoslovakia, Rumania and Yugoslavia have warned that an attempt at restoration would mean instant mobilization of their fighting forces.

Many Austrians have been disturbed by aggressive propaganda of the Legitimists.

But those fears have been allayed to some extent by the accord of friendship between Germany and Austria.

No Austrian Promise.

Austria did not promise to keep the Hapsburgs out, however, and it was understood in the matter of the royal line Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg believes he has a free hand.

Some statesmen have expressed the belief, however, the understanding with Germany has put "the restoration issue on the shelf" at least for a number of years.

Reaction of the Little Entente toward the Austro-German agreement was, on the whole, favorable.

Rome.—Italy has set the wheels of her chariot of state on the road to war.

Said Benito Mussolini: "Italy's economic plan is dominated by a premise—the inescapability of the fact that the national will be called to the tasks of war."

Il Duce's main directives crystalized into:

Reconstruction of the golden war chest through rigid control of trade and development to the utmost of the export possibilities of Ethiopia.

Unrelenting effort to increase Italy's raw material resources as much as possible and to find substitutes for those that do not exist.

Nationalization of war industries.

Outwardly for Peace.

But although Mussolini prepares for war, his policies appear aimed at peace. He gradually is striving for the inclusion of the big western European nations into a revivified four-power pact, or perhaps a five-power pact, including Poland. Sooner or later, though, he feels—he himself has said it many times—peace will give way to war.

Paris.—War dangers are driving nations to counter their prospective friends and foes while trying to put off the day of conflict.

French surveyors of the jumbled situation consider deliberate war out of the question for an indefinite period. France wants to avoid war, they say.

Hitler is not ready to unleash Germany's new forces, it is said, and Mussolini is not eager for a fight while Italy is pacifying and developing Ethiopia.

Little Confidence in France.

Fears of the future, however, are widely expressed in responsible French quarters.

They are alarmed lest Europes numerous nations, with their conflicting interests, slide into two dangerous camps—one headed by Germany and Italy and the other by Great Britain and France.

Berlin.—Diplomatic observers say Adolf Hitler, dictator of Germany, wants to-day:

1. To impress the world with Germanys peaceful intentions.

2. Everything is made subordinate to this aim. The Olympic games, it is asserted, are to "sell" Germany's pacifism to the world.

Every German is taught to tell every foreigner that Germany wants nothing but peace.

WESTCLOX PICNIC SUCCESS

The first annual picnic held by employees of the Western Clock Company, together with the wives and families, proved to be an outstanding success on Saturday last. On the steamer Stoney Lake which was crowded to capacity, the picnickers went to Wallace's Point where after an enjoyable program of sports, a shore dinner was partaken of. The concluding item on the sports program was a chariot race in which Oscar Sloan edged Pat Delahaye. The "cup" was for Pat Delahaye. The "cup" was put up for competition six years ago, and Sloan ran for Delahaye in the unavoidable absence of the latter. Following an enjoyable meal the picnickers danced at the pavilion at the Point before embarking for the homeward trip up river. The general committee in charge of arrangements included: Messrs. "Dink" Wyatt, Harold Yelland, Roland Ferguson, W. Smith, R. Kitchen, Frank Barrie, C. Chapman, Ted Hobson, in the final metres. McPhee, considered Canada's No. 1 bid in the dash, loafed the last 10 metres in placing second to Martinus Theunissen. The 20-year-old native of Sydney, N. S., who has lived in Vancouver since he was a year old, was clocked in 21.8 seconds. The Finn, Strandvall, was five yards back in third place.

CANADIAN TRIO WIN IN TRIALS OF 200 METRES

Mack Robinson, California negro, won another heat in 21.6, to join Owens and Packard in forming a strong United States trio.

Lone survior of the Dominion's wrestling warriors was Vern Pettigrew, Regina featherweight. The western matman took a first round decision yesterday from Karel Kvacek of Czechoslovakia. The fast-working Pettigrew did not pin the Czech but he had him on the mat most of the way.

The chief Canadian wrestling hope, Terry Evans of Toronto, was defeated as he fell victim of a rolling fall at the hands of Emile Polive of France in 4:15.

Wrestling is also on today's program.

Dominate Olympiad.

United States and German athletes dominated the Olympiad yesterday as they had Sunday.

The Negro flash, Jesse Owens, justified the high hopes of the Americans by capturing the 100 metres in 10.3 (equalling the world-record mark set by Williams in 1930.)

Ralph Metcalfe was second in 10.5 a yard and a half behind his speedy team-mate and Martinis Osendarp of Holland third. Another American sprinter, Frank Wykoff, ran fourth.

Twice Broke Record.

Helen Stephens of the United States squad twice broke Olympic and world records to qualify for the finals of the women's 100 metres. She was clocked in her first heat in 11.4 seconds, and in her semi-final in 11.5. Illustrious Stella Walsh, the Polish star, also qualified for the finals, although she placed second to Marie Dollinger of Germany. The record that Miss Stephens, Fulton, Mo., sprinter, shattered was set by Miss Walsh at 11.8.

Germany's Karl Hein heaved another Olympic mark into the discard with a hammer-throw of 185 feet 4 1-16 inches. The hefty Teuton thus smashed the old mark by almost five feet four inches.

Erwin Blask of Germany also outdid the old record as he finished second with a heave of 180 feet 6 31-32 inches. The old mark, 179 feet 8.4 inches, made by Matt McGrath of New York, had stood since the 1912 Olympic games at Stockholm.

Dr. Edwards, the phantom physician, faces stern competition in today's final of the 800-metres. He plans to make this Olympic, the third in which he has competed, the scene of his final appearance.

Edwards Ran Third.

Edwards, competing for the Hamilton Olympic Club, was third behind Harry Williamson of the United States and Gerald Backhouse of Australia yesterday. Williamson was clocked in 1:53.1 while the Antipodean and the Canadian both were timed at 1:53.2. Edwards led near the finish but eased up when he saw that only two other runners were close behind him. The first three only qualified for the final.

A second semi-final was won by John Woodruff of the United States in 1:52.7. Other qualifiers were Kucharski of Poland and Anderson of Argentina. Woodruff had the best time for the day in the 800-metres.

The remaining semi-final went to "Chuck" Hornbostel of the United States, whose time was 1.53.2. Other qualifiers in this semi-final were Mario Lanzi of Italy and Brian McCabe of Great Britain. The pace in this bracket was too hot for Abbott Conway, slender Toronto runner, who finished fifth after leading for 30 metres.

Finished Second

Loaring, who hails from the University of Western Ontario, made his bid for success in the 400-metre hurdles by finishing second to Miguel White of the Philippines in one heat, while another Canadian, tall Jim Worrall of Toronto met elimination. The six-foot four Worrall finished in 55.5 in a heat won by the German Fritz Northbrook in 54.7.

Loaring started at a great clip and led most of the way in his heat, but eased lat.. to finish in 54.3. White's time was 53.4.

Apart from the achievements of the phantom physician, Dr. Edwards, lithe-limbed Loaring and the grappling artist, Pettigrew, yesterday was a sad day for the Canadian contingent.

Young McPhee, who set a mark of 10.3 earlier this year at Vancouver, was eliminated in the semi-finals of the century dash as he placed fourth behind Metcalfe, who won the heat, Osendarp and Erich Borchmeyer of Germany. Borchmeyer was pressed all the way for third place by the 20-year-old Canadian, but he finished inches in front.

In the women's 100 metre heats, the three girls who carried the Maple Leaf likewise found the competition too keen. Pretty Aileen Meagher of Halifax and the Toronto youngster, Jeanette Dolson, survived through their preliminary heats, while Hilda Cameron, also of Toronto, placed third in her first trial and was eliminated at once. Emmy Albus won the heat in which Miss Cameron competed in 12.4.

Miss Dolson placed second 12.3 behind the speedy Miss Stephens, with 10 metres separating them. In her semi-final heat, she was fourth. The German, Miss Dollinger, won the heat, with Miss Walsh second, although both were timed in 12 seconds flat.

Miss Meagher placed second to Kaethe Krauss of Germany in her first heat, in which the winner's time was 12.1. In her next heat, won by Miss Stephens, she placed fourth.

MISSION CIRCLE ENJOYS OUTING

Millbrook Golden Links Rally At W. T. Rowland's Home

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, August 4. — The Golden Links Mission Circle held an outing at the home of W. G. Rowland, Lower Pond, on Thursday afternoon, when over thirty members and guests motored to the meeting place, and enjoyed a program of games, swimming, water sports and other entertainment until the hour for departure.

The tea, picnic style, was served out of doors under the big trees on the lawn, and afterward a Sunset service was held at the homestead, with the president, Miss Sadie Rowland, in the chair. Opening with a song service, the hymn "Jesus leads us" was followed by a few moments of silent prayer and communion with the God of Nature, after which the doxology was sung.

The lesson, from Psalm 104, was read by Miss Jean Burnham and the worship poem was recited by Miss Phyllis Kidd. The topic, "Kinship," was covered by Miss Marjorie Skitch, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

The service concluded with the hymn, "Day is dying in the west," and the Mizpah benediction recited together, after which sports were resumed and the usual votes of thanks tendered Mr. and Mrs. Rowland for their hospitality before the guests left for home.

OBITUARY

FRED HOLCOMBE

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 4.—The sudden death by drowning occurred Tuesday afternoon, July 28th, in the Detroit River of Fred Holcombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Holcombe of Detroit, Mich. (formerly of Havelock), in his 23rd year. The remains were brought to the residence of Mrs. Charlie Roberts (an aunt of the deceased). Service was held Saturday afternoon in the United Church, conducted by Rev. S. A. Kemp. Interment was made at Maple Grove cemetery.

GEORGE STINSON BROWN.

HASTINGS, Aug. 4. —The whole community was shocked to hear of the death of George Stinson Brown, who passed away on Sunday at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Clarence Morrow, Seymour township. George, who was in his 18th year, was the only child of the late Georgina Stinson Brown and the late Andrew Brown, whose tragic death less than one year ago cast a gloom over the district.

He had made his home recently with his half sister, Mrs. Milton Blakely and took ill on Monday, and on Wednesday went to his cousin's home, where his condition became serious. Although three doctors were called for consultation and he was given every care, he died Sunday.

The young man, who was a member of St. George's Anglican church, was a favorite among the young people in his neighborhood and will not only be missed by his many friends, but by his half sister, and brother (twins) Mrs. Milton Blakely and Mr. Alfred Brown of Seymour.

The funeral was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Morrow in Seymour township on Tuesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. H. F. Battersby of St. George's church, conducted the funeral services. Interment was in Trent Valley cemetery, Hastings.

AT OWEN SOUND

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 4 (CP). — Lastic Patch, owned by W. Chambers, Milton, won the feature race here yesterday afternoon in the finest program of harness racing seen in Owen Sound in many years. The Milton horse, although hard pressed all the way in every heat, had the speed and the stamina, and won in straight heats. Effie Moore the little mare from Mount Hope, after getting into a mixup in the first heat, made things interesting in the other two, in the 2.15 class.

The fastest time of the day was in the 2.22 class won by Don Harvester, owned by D. H. Clark, Norval, after a merry battle in the last two heats with Dee Ora W. owned by Moore Bros., Sarnia. Harvester was forced to pace in 2.12 in the last heat, which was within half a second of the track record.

The 2.29 trot or pace was divided into two sections, Vera Bars, owned by A. Belore, Mount Elgin, won the first division in straight heats, with All Hum, William Lawrence, Milverton, pressing hard in the last two heat. The second division went to Pearl Grattan, L. Grey, Seaforth, with Flora Dixon, D. O'Neil, Arthur, getting second place. Mr. O'Neil, who is 78 years of age, did some magnificent driving, his hard finishes being a feature.

PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, CANADA, TUESDAY, AUGUST, 4, 1936

Two For One: GANANOQUE.—Jerry Hampton, while fishing at Leo Lake on the Rideau Monday, caught two small-mouth bass on the same plug. One of the bass weighed four pounds and the other two. This is almost an unknown incident in connection with fishing in this district.

Drowns In Trough: HAMILTON, Ont. — Melvin Stewart, Jr., age 3½, son of Melvin Stewart, Selkirk farmer, lost his life today when he slipped into a large watering trough and was drowned. He was playing in the barnyard while his parents were milking. When the parents returned they found his body in the trough.

DAVE ROGERS WINS REGATTA TROPHY KAWARTHA PARK

Peterborough Boy Had Eight Championship Points At Annual Regatta

100 ENTRANTS

(By a Staff Reporter)

KAWARTHA PARK, Aug. 4. — Youngsters of the Kawartha Park district had their big day Saturday afternoon as the annual junior regatta was staged off the Park water front. More than 100 boys and girls competed in thirty-one events which called forth a diversified range of talent.

David Rogers of Peterborough, paddling and rowing in more than a dozen events against husky young lads from Toronto, Montreal and many other centers of Eastern Canada, captured the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie trophy symbolizing the regatta championship. He had eight championship points and received a miniature of the trophy for permanent possession.

Runners-up were John and Doris Ricker of Toronto and Eleanor Shipp, daughter of the donor of the trophy, E. J. Shipp. Each of the three had six championship points.

The 31 events were run off in smart style with few delays. Entries were universally good. A generous and handsome selection of 84 prizes were distributed among the winners at the conclusion of the events.

The regatta was sponsored by the Kawartha Park Cottagers' Association; D. G. Townsend of Hamilton served as announcer. Starters were Dr. J. M. Dale of Toronto and W. W. Scott of St. Louis, Mo., and M. E. Hartley of Toronto and Art McLeish of Hamilton acted with Charles Coulter of Toronto and C. E. Staunton of Peterborough as judges. Allan Coulter of Toronto was the recorder.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

COUNCIL MEETS TO-NIGHT.

The regular meeting of the City Council for August will be held to-night.

1,285 TO ROCHESTER.

The C.N.R. Ferry out of Cobourg carried 1,285 passengers on the Rochester trip on Monday.

RAIN AT COBOURG.

A heavy rain and wind storm blew over Cobourg for half an hour on Sunday evening about 8 o'clock.

ONLY SPRINKLE OF RAIN.

A few drops of rain around 3.30 a.m. on Monday and a passing sprinkle on Tuesday at 1 a.m. were the week-end's rain contribution to Peterborough.

C.P.R. FREIGHT PEAK.

"The busiest morning since 1929" was the comment of employees at the C.P.R. freight shed today, referring to the volume of both receipts and deliveries of local freight.

RELIEF LIST SMALLER.

Relief Officer A. G. Metheral told the Examiner that his report for July which will be presented to the council tonight will show a further improvement in the reduction of the number of persons listed for unemployment relief.

FAST HYDROPLANE.

Visitors to the Juniper Island regatta Monday enjoyed a spectacular demonstration of speed by one of the fastest hydroplanes in the district—the "Popeye II.," owned and driven by Crawford Brown of Toronto. The light craft was clocked at 51.2 miles per hour on one of its runs. It was built by Ditchburn and is powered with a Lycoming motor.

PICNICS GALORE.

Peterborough took to the outdoors yesterday. Not only were all the well-known summer resorts in the district crowded but there were plenty of outing parties near home. Between Peterborough and Lakefield it seemed as if there was scarcely a tree along the canal and river that did not supply shade for a camp or a picnic group.

SMOKE CAUSED ALARM.

Dense clouds of smoke rising from the bush fire on the Douro-Dummer boundary line Saturday were visible from many points on Stoney Lake and caused alarm among the residents. Many cottagers from the Clear Lake district hurried across the lake and tramped through the bush to get their first close-up view of a forest blaze.

SENIOR BAND ABSENT.

The junior band of the Salvation Army took over the duties of the senior band in the city during the week-end in view of the absence of the senior band on a visit to the Picton Corps. The juniors played at the open air service in the East City bowl Sunday evening. Brigadier J. A. McElhiney from Quebec City delivered the sermon at the Bowl on the text: "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." Rev. G. E. Tyler and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe assisted in the service.

CAR BADLY WRECKED.

Entering Bewdley from the south over the week-end, a car was completely wrecked when it left the roadway on a wide curve and struck the rail guard fence. The owner of the car was taken into custody on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, while the driver was held on a reckless driving charge. Both were placed in custody at Port Hope by Provincial Motorcycle Constable Lloyd A. McClure of Peterborough, who declined to divulge their names. Both men were said to be from Collingwood.

THE REGATTA EXCURSION.

The steamer Stoney Lake ran its annual excursion to the regatta at Juniper Island on Monday and carried a big crowd of passengers who enjoyed every minute of the trip. When the liftlock was reached on the return journey there were hundreds on hand to watch the operation of locking the steamer through. Immediately after disembarking her passengers at the Wolfe street wharf the Stoney Lake left for Harwood, out of which port she was to run an excursion on Tuesday.

COMMUNITY GARDENS HIT.

Peterborough's community gardens need rain more seriously now than at any other time this summer, A. B. Cunningham told The Examiner. "The gardens came through that hot spell, especially on the Monaghan Road property, in good condition because they had a reserve of moisture, but that is gone, and we can't expect the crop of potatoes which we had hoped for." If there is a general scarcity, Mr. Cunningham said, the gardens' yield will increase in value. The tomatoes have endured the dry spell, and some of the gardeners have been picking ripe ones for their tables.

A PROUD SAFETY RECORD

The third issue of a bright little staff magazine, called "Tick Talk" and published by The Western Clock Company Limited, contains a timely article by J. H. Vernor, general manager of the plant. Having reference to the reopening of the plant, following the vacation period, he writes:

"Now we are off with a flying start for the second half of this year. We are glad to see everyone safely back at work again. And speaking of safety, we have run 1,226,250 man hours now without a lost-time accident. Our objective is ten million such hours. It can be done if everyone will help."

Urging the co-operation of every member of the staff in reporting every unsafe thing in the plant to safety committeemen, Mr. Vernor declares: "Accidents do not just 'happen.' They are all avoidable, but no one group of people can stop them. It takes the wholehearted co-operation of everyone."

5,000 CANADIAN VETERANS ARE BANQUETED AT ROUEN

ROUEN, Aug. 4.—(CP-Havas).—The friendship binding Canada and France must remain strong and indissoluble because it is one of the greatest guaranties of peace, Minister of Pensions Albert Riviere declared here to-day at a banquet tendered 5,000 Canadian war veterans who arrived in six special trains from Paris.

The minister stressed France's friendship for Canada, pointed out the significance of the unveiling of the memorial to Canadian Great War dead at Vimy Ridge, and expressed regret the veterans were about to leave for home.

GOVERN YOUR SPEED

CUTTING A CORNER at a HIGH RATE OF SPEED is a DOUBLE CRIME!

Breaking the Rules of the Road is bad—but when such disregard of the Law is combined with illegal SPEED the consequences may be very serious.

All such SPEEDERS should have tests in Traffic Rules and GOVERNORS installed and sealed on their motors.

SCRIP PAYMENT FOR ROAD GANGS

Alberta's First Prosperity Certificates Will Go Out This Week

EDMONTON, Aug. 4 (CP).—Alberta's Social Credit government moved a step closer to realization of an objective—payment of basic dividends—to-day with the announcement prosperity certificates to facilitate road construction would be issued this week.

Registration as a preliminary to payment of dividends will start August 10 in some constituencies, Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister without portfolio, announced. Because of the extensive preparations it would be later in larger ridings.

Workers on road construction projects throughout the province will be paid in certificates 50 per cent of wages earned since July 2. The balance will be retained by the government until work is discontinued when the balance will be paid in equal monthly payments.

Mr. Maynard said the government has approved acceptance of certificates in payment of provincial sales tax and will pay cash for any certificates presented providing they carry the necessary stamps.

The government has printed $250,000 of $1 denomination certificates on each of which one per cent stamps must be affixed August 12 and every week thereafter during their two-year life. The certificates will be issued throughout the province on the basis of $5,000 for each constituency.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS GIVEN SEVEN DAYS

Otonabee Man Pleaded Guilty To Charge Of Assault

Andrew Wilson, 40, of Hall's bridge, was on Tuesday sentenced to 7 days' imprisonment on pleading guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to a drunk-driving charge. On a further charge of driving without a permit, he paid a fine of 10 and $2.75 costs. He was the driver of the car which was wrecked on Highway 28 near the waterworks on the night of July 23, when it left the road and plunged into a deep culvert.

"He took after me with an axe and I ran away," Isaac Fredenburg, 22, of Lang, declared by way of explanation after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated assault on John Cook of Otonabee township. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who had a different version of the affair declared Fredenburg struck complainant, who is 63 years of age and partly paralyzed, on the jaw, over the eye and on the cheek." The Cadi ordered defendant remanded for sentence until Tuesday next.

Lewis Fry, R.R. 3, Peterborough, pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, was ordered to pay $10 and $3.50 costs. He was represented by G. N. Gordon, K.C., who told the court Fry struck T. Mills from his cycle on Monaghan road on July 13 last when the latter wobbled in front of the car, and failed to heed a warning blast of the motor horn.

Charles Thompson, 65 year old Otonabee township farmer, again appeared on an adjourned charge of aggravated assault, when it was claimed by the Crown that complainant, Mrs. Ether Beare of Toronto, was still unable to appear in court. By consent of both parties hearing was adjourned to September 12. His worship summoned the Crown to produce an affidavit certifying to the condition of complaintant, after J. Walter Sevenson, counsel for the defendant, demanded proof of her inability to attend court.

CIVIC HOLIDAY SEES NINE DIE IN MISHAP TOLL

Three Are Killed In Car Accidents, Three By Trains And Three Drown

MANY ARE INJURED

Highways Are Jammed With Autos As Thousands Desert Cities And Towns

(By the Canadian Press.)

Ontario citizens returned to the routine of living to-day after the long holiday week-end, culminating in yesterday's Civic Holiday in many sections.

Highways throughout the province were jammed with cars as thousands deserted cities and towns and took to the country.

The week-end was not without its toll of deaths through accidents. Three died in automobile accidents, three were crushed by train-wheels, and three drowned in Ontario waters.

Arnold Johnston, 27, of Ottawa, was killed when the car in which he was driving went out of control, left the road and turned over near Stonecliffe.

Harry Manatt, 61, Toronto, died in a Toronto hospital five hours after he was injured in an automobile smash in suburban Richmond Hill. The car in which he was a passenger left the Yonge street highway, somersaulting into the ditch.

Mrs. W. D. Sargeant, of Peterborough, was killed north of the city when the car in which she was riding bounced over a culvert. Her neck was broken when she struck her head on the roof of the car.

Three Train Victims.

Herbert McGovern, 61, Sault Ste. Marie, died under the wheels of a Canadian Pacific Railway train near Sudbury. Allan Snider, 78, Alexandria, was killed when struck by a Canadian National Railways train near Greenfield, and shortly afterwards a man believed to be Robert Gribbon was found dead on the C.N.R. tracks near Alexandria.

Donald Nichol, six-year-old youth, Cleveland, Ohio, drowned in Stoney Lake, near Peterborough.

At Caledonia, Howard Sutton, 27, Hamilton, drowned in a creek leading into Grand River while on a fishing trip. It is thought he slipped from the high bank into the stream.

Wesley Jewel, 26, of Lindsay, was drowned at West Point, Chemong Lake, Sunday night, while diving.

Gasoline Explodes In Bus Lines' Pump

Explosion of gasoline in the glass bowl of the pump in front of the Border Transit Company's car barns on King street Sunday evening at 7.45 o'clock threatened the whole building for about five minutes as flames sprayed the big doors and caught in the peak of the roof. The fire was quickly extinguished by the firemen who ran a line of hose from the hydrant near the Hood and Cummings garage. Lawrie Mitchell, manager of the bus lines, told the Examiner that he had no idea how the fire started. No one was near the gasoline pump at the time, according to information from his enquiries, and only the gasoline from the glass bowl burst into flames where it fell on the ground and lower section of the wooden doors. Damage to the building, he said, was light.

JOINT C.C.F. ACTION WITH COMMUNISTS UNDER DISCUSSION

Woodsworth Opposes Unity But Would Co-operate On Certain Lines

TORONTO CONVENTION

TORONTO, Aug. 4.—(CP)—Delegates to the National convention of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation began their second day of sessions today with the expectation of lengthy discussion on the question of a united front with the Communist party.

The national council has prepared a resolution to be presented today dealing with affiliation with other radical parties. Some hint of the council's attitude toward the subject was dropped in the opening address of J. S. Woodsworth who expressed opposition to unity with the Communist party but indicated he would favor cooperation on certain specific issues such as defence of civil liberties, unemployment and anti-war propaganda.

Since the party was formed four years ago, Mr. Woodsworth has been leader of the C.C.F. group in the House of Commons and chairman of the National organization. He suggested last night that the two offices be separated. A new national chairman may be elected before the convention closes tomorrow.

Large Army for Canada?

Mr. Woodsworth warned a dinner gathering last night that "Within the next few months a large army will be proposed for Canada." He expressed the opinion "Canada is much safer unarmed" and urged the Dominion declare her autonomy now in the event Britain became involved in war. He said according to international law Canada automatically was at war in case England declared hostilities.

Rev. Dr. Salem Bland told the convention that "Sixty per cent of the ministers of the Western Canada conference of the United Church are Socialists.

"I believe," he said "that the chief instrument of God in Canada today is the society which you represent. The church should be, and I am happy to say, will be, for the spirit is working, and I think you are soon to get powerful support."

LETITIA J. ELLIOTT DIES AT HER HOME

For 26 Years Miss Elliott Was a Teacher At King Edward School

Miss Letitia Jane Elliott, twenty-six years a member of the staff of the King Edward Public School, passed away at her home, 93 Aylmer Street, Sunday evening after an illness of three years. She was in her 46th year.

She was born in Toronto in 1890, daughter of the late John C. Elliott and Jane Hanna. Brought to Peterborough as an infant, she spent her life here. She was educated in local public schools and the Collegiate and gained her teaching certificate from the Peterborough Normal School. Following a year in which she taught school at Town Hall, Nor'th Monaghan, she joined the King Edward School staff and continued there until her final illness caused her to resign.

Miss Elliott was a member of Trinity United Church, and was active in the Sunday school. For many years she taught a Bible class for young ladies. She was a member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling and Tennis Club, and an enthusiastic tennis player.

Surviving are her mother in this city; four brothers: Rev. Alex. Elliott of Sutherland, Sask., William George Elliott of Vancouver, B.C.; Charles Harvey Elliott of Calgary, and Daniel Wesley Elliott of Hughton, Sask., and two sisters, Mrs. Norman Moncrief of North Monaghan and Miss Tena Elliott, at home.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, 93 Aylmer Street, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. George S. Easton of Trinity United Church officiated.

EX-PUBLISHER PASSES.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 4.—(CP).—Malcolm MacBeth, former newspaper publisher and one of Milverton's foremost citizens, died in Victoria Hospital late last night at the age of 67.

Mr. MacBeth at one time published the Milverton Sun and was a past president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Native of Bruce County, he lived most of his life in Milverton where he was a member of the Board of Education and chairman of that body at time of his death. He had been postmaster there for 31 years.

The Rambling REPORTERS

LIMIT TO SERVICES.

Brokers, as a rule, try to keep their clients happy by offering them every service they can, but there is a limit to those services.

A lady 'phoned a local brokerage office the other day and asked that 100 shares of a certain stock be bought for her at the "low" of the day. The gentleman who took the call explained to the lady that if he could tell the low of the day in each stock for his customers he wouldn't bother working as a broker. He's be in the customer's chairs.

TRAIN IS WRECKED NEAR BELLEVILLE

Ten Cars Filled With Wheat Piled Up In Ditch At Foxboro

Peterborough citizens who journeyed to Montreal over the week-end for a bargain-fare excursion, had the added thrill of making part of the homeward trip over an improvised track fashioned expressly for their benefit by a road gang that worked feverishly since Monday afternoon on a section of the C.N.R. roadbed near Foxboro, torn up by the ravages of a fast freight train that came to grief on a sharp S-curve rounding a steep hill on the right-of-way about nine miles north of Belleville.

Ten cars filed with wheat scattered themselves over the roadbed after the freight refused to take a sharp curve and pitched headlong into the shallow ditches at either side. The wheel carriages were torn loose from their moorings on several of the cars and grain spilled itself in heaps and mounds from the splintered casings of the rest, one car standing on its head at the right of the track, with undercarriage on top.

This morning, under A. Beausoleil, C. N. R. track supervisor, a score of men worked at top speed to improvise a temporary track, several feet from the wrecked roadbed, and the incoming Montreal train was held up an hour and a half as the men labored, watched by scores of people seated on the sandy banks of the steep hillside. With a carefully-sanded track that groaned under the impact, the train slowly made the dangerous curve and proceeded with a harassed mail clerk, who worried over the lateness of the postal service to the adjacent towns and villages.

This section of the incoming excursion train contained forty passengers, just a small portion of the 457 who came in on the C.N.R. to Belleville in eighteen coaches that pulled out of Montreal at a minute to midnight on Monday night (D.S.T.) The layover of two hours at Belleville interrupted the homeward journey as the main train sped on its way, with excursionists from as far as Detroit.

With the Boy Scouts

Looking through some of the Ebor Park-Gilwell course notes, your scribe noted that Scouting was described as a tree—the roots being Cubs; the trunk and main branches, Scouts; whilst the outer grower being Rovers.

It was pleasing to note that Cubbing has been given its full value. As the root gives the tree its life, so does Cubbing supply good live Scouts for the troop.

Where years ago a boy of twelve first started to learn Scouting; today the Cub pack attached to the troop, prepares the boy from eight years to get ready for Scouting.

The training is entirely on a different basis. But the ultimate aim is Scouting.

This week-end eleven young men attended the Rover moot at Niagara-on-the-Lake, where 250 young fellows from 18 years up from all over Ontario are exchanging ideas of Rover Scouting.

Years ago Scouting was confined to boys from 12 to 18. After that age they generally dropped away.

Today Rover Scouts look after those boys over 18 years, training them for service in life, as Scouters, Instructors, etc., and in a broad way: better citizens.

Gilwell Park, England, where the Chief Scout first started Scouters' training courses, has just celebrated its 17th birthday.

Very little news has arrived to be placed in the column. Where are the Akelas and Scouters? Let us know when any new Cubs or Scouts receive their first-class or King Scout badges.

A.S.M. Fred Ford took charge of St. John's troop, while the S.M. took his place on one of the patrols. Games were enjoyed on the lawns.

A.C.M's Miss Leemings and F. Pammett took charge of the Cubs. A very good number of Cubs attended this outdoor meeting.

Machine Gun Corps Will Be Disbanded

Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., Officer Commanding Military District 2, asked for official comment on changes that are likely to affect local militia units in the proposed reorganization of Canadian Militia, declined to commit himself beyond declaring: "It is practically certain that Canadian Machine Gun Corps as such will be disbanded. Matters [illegible] have been settled at Ottawa." Colonel Anderson's remarks regarding the disbandment of the Machine Gun Corps, are interpreted as hinting at the probable inclusion of machine gun companies in infantry battalions, in reorganizing the militia along modern lines.

JOPLING FAMILY ARE BIG WINNERS AT JUNIPER ISLAND

Colorful Regatta Is Held By Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association

PRIZE-WINNERS

(By Staff Reporter)

JUNIPER ISLAND, Aug. 4—Summer cottagers and city folk from the entire Peterborough area gathered at Juniper Island Monday afternoon to see the Jopling boys and girls of Bridgenorth demonstrate once more their right to be regarded as the champion aquatic family of Central Ontario as the annual Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association regatta was run off.

The Joplings did not win all the prizes for they left the field in a few of the boat races and swimming events strictly to local talent. But in almost every event in which there was a Jopling entry, the Jopling name appeared in the money list. It wasn't for lack of stiff opposition, either, for many of the Stoney Lakers with experience in Toronto, Montreal and Hamilton rowing and paddling clubs were right in there trying.

Colorful Event

The regatta had all the colour that ever graced the big annual event in the past. A thousand onlookers in the colourful, exceedingly informal garbs for which Stoney Lake, more than any other resort center in the Province, is noted, swarmed over the rocky promontory off which the events were run. Many of the spectators, it is true, saw little or nothing of the actual regatta for they came for the social occasion. The Juniper Island regatta is the one occasion of the summer on which a general representation from the great Stoney Lake colony gathers at one point.

Several fine cruisers and yachts anchored at the point and in the channels and manned by gay young crews added to the colour. The number of expensive mahogany power boats in attendance suggested that old Dame Prosperity has really dropped in on this region for another visit. The arrival of the steamer Stoney Lake on its excursion from Peterborough added many scores more to the crowds.

Young Hands.

The regatta was under new management this year, the old veterans having turned over the job to younger hands. Jock Sprague, Don Myers and George Scoffield were the moving lights. Scoffield kept things moving with a lusty megaphone. Sprague worked with Bill Beatty of Toronto as starter and Myers officiated with Crawford Brown of Toronto at the judging stand.

The championship motor boat race, open to both inboards and outboards, was one of the features of the program. Ten craft of many descriptions made the two laps on the two-mile course, started on a handicap basis. Fairburn Smith claimed a victory and Jack Henderson was the runner-up. Hugh Waddell finished a good third.

Faltering Petes Drop C.O.B.A. Games Over The Weekend

Belleville Beats Them In Nifty Hurling Duel For 5th Straight Loss

Extra Base Hits By Utronki And St. Louis Spell Defeat For Petes

HARD FOUGHT GAME

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 4.—Limiting the slipping Petes to five singles, big Ed. McIver stopped Shiner Johnson's gang here yesterday morning when the local C.O.B.L. nine took a 2 to 1 decision from the Petes in one of the finest pitchers' battles seen locally in many moons. Eddie (Gunner) Whitehill was sent to the Peterborough mound, and although nicked quite hard and for a total of nine hits, including three for extra bases, he managed to keep them fairly well scattered until a hectic eighth-inning rally when the homesters rapped out two successive hits to count what proved the winning counter.

The home town victory was the third in succession for the lowly Belleville squad and the second in a row over the waning Petes. Extra base hits by Utronki and St. Louis, with men aboard, spelled the downfall of Whitehill and the Petes. Whitehill whiffed seven and only walked one Belleville batter, while McIvor struck out six and passed two. Bennett with two singles, St. Louis with a brace of doubles and Utronki with a triple and a single, were the big hitters of the day. Not a single Peterborough batsman counted over one single as McIvor held the Johnsonites to five small bingles. Successive errors by Weir and Henn accounted for the lone tally registered by the Petes. The Belleville outfield stood out defensively, making nine putouts some of them sensational.

No Hitting in Pinches.

Although the Petes got men aboard in the first four frames, they could not push across a counter. After one was out in Belleville's half of the second, Weir singled and scored on Utronki's mighty triple to right centre, Utronki being tossed out at the plate on a close play when he tried to stretch the hit into a circuit blow. In the fifth the Petes got the first three batters on base following two free trips via the four-ball route, and Latchford's wild peg. McIvor and the locals rose to the occasion, however, and Mowry was out to Smith on a foul fly. Kearns hit to Weir, who tossed out Kingdon at the plate, and the best Starr could do was to line to first for the third out. The Petes knotted the count in their half of the eighth after one was out. Bill Calladine was safe on Weir's bobble and then stole second to score when Henn threw away Whatley's infield hit. With the score tied, Belleville came to bat in their half of the eighth with the result the first two batsmen were successfully retired when Bennett singled and raced home with the winning run on St. Louis' double to right, that Mowry ran back after and dropped as the wind carried the ball off the finger-tips of his glove. A fast double play, when Weir ran back into right field to grab Mowry's lofty hit and subsequently doubled Whitehill off first, stopped a Peterborough ninth inning rally.

LEAFS DIVIDE WITH SYRACUSE

In 16 Innings of Keen Batting Two Teams Collect 17 Hits

BISONS BEAT ORIOLES

TORONTO, August 4. — So far this season the clouters have been top-dogs in the International League, but there's a tip to the clubs that haven't got the hitters in the recent successes of Toronto Maple Leafs and Syracuse Chiefs.

These two clubs took the longest and hardest nose-dives of the early part of the season, partly because they couldn't keep the hitting pace of the winners. Then their pitchers began to come through with consistently good performances and since July 4 they have been winning along with the best.

They hooked up yesterday in a double-header and gave a demonstration of why they have been troubling all rivals. In 16 innings of keen battling they collected a total of 17 hits and finished with an even break. St Johnson, Cincinnati castoff, and Leo Mangum hooked up in the opening duel, giving four hits apiece. The Leafs won out for Johnson, 1-0, on a walk, a sacrifice and a hit by Clarence Straub, newly acquired catcher, in the fourth. Then Frank Pearte turned in a three-hitter for Syracuse and won 2-0 although Jake Mooty and Jimmy Pattison, both of whom have been pitching well, got together on a six-hit effort. The winning runs came in the third on a pass, Koster's double and Backer's single.

The night game, only other contest on yesterday's schedule, produced a strange contrast to the usual run of games at Baltimore when Buffalo Bisons turned back the Orioles 3-1, behind the seven-hit elbowing of Ken Ash and Bob Kline.

Mitta Junction, a town in Australia which cost $250,000 to build, is for sale, its mission of housing workmen during the construction of an irrigation project having been completed with the opening of the district.

Umpires — Coursey, Peterborough, plate; Colling, Belleville, bases. Time of game—1 hour, 37 minutes.

CRICKET CLUB WIN IN TORONTO

Defeats Woodgreen 86 Runs To 72 For First Loss

JUNIORS GO WELL

On Saturday the Peterborough Cricket Club made its sixth trip to Toronto and scored a good even by 14 runs. P.C.C. 86, Woodgreen 72. This was the first defeat of Woodgreen this season, and it is gratifying to note that the win was mainly due to the good batting by junior members of the team. The local men made a disastrous start, losing Colbran and Roe before a run had been scored. Thorpe and Gore took it to 16, but Dyer was bowled off his pads for 0. Smith and Gore were batting well when the latter was hit by the ball on the ear, and had to have medical attention and stitches put in. R. N. Stuart was also a casualty, being so severely struck on the hand as to need first-aid, and he was unable to field. Montgomery kept up his good form and scored 14, but on Lorne joining Caird the score was only 49. These two put on 33 runs, mostly by Caird, before Lorne was bowled. Gore was now able to resume his innings, but at 86 Caird was out for his side's high score of 25. This is his highest score, he played really well, hitting four boundaries, and it was a welcome reward for persistent practice.

Woodgreen's opening was even worse than Peterborough's, as they had four wickets down with only 3 on the scoreboard. Afterwards Ince, with Ray Carpenter and Morris, caused the local men anxiety, but after Ince played on to Gore the end soon came. The sixth and the seventh wickets fell at 56, the eighth and ninth at 66, and when Dyer bowled Pearson at 72 a keenly and cleanly fought match was won.

DETROIT BEATS CLEVELAND 9-4

Only Game Played In The Two Major Baseball Leagues

RACE IS CLOSE

Barring a colossal crack-up on the part of the Yankees, there seems to be very little room left for argument about the American League pennant this season. But that second place slice of the World Series money is beginning to look very big to such clubs as the world champion Tigers, Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox, and Chicago White Sox.

Those four have been sliding up and down the scale like the weights on a cuckoo clock for the past few weeks, and only 3½ games separate the quartette in the current standings.

Paced by Schoolboy Rowe Detroit took another wallop at Cleveland's fading pennant hopes by trouncing the Indians 9-4 in yesterday's only major league game. Rowe rang up his fourth consecutive victory and his 13th of the season although he was rapped for a dozen hits.

The White Hose were all set to take a crack at St. Louis Browns in an effort to maintain their slim margin over Detroit, but rain wiped out the game as Bill Shores and Al Thomas warmed up. As a result they held third place by only a half-game over the Tigers with the old-plated Red Sox another game behind in the fifth.

The other American League clubs and the entire National League had a day of scheduled idleness following the windup of their inter-sectional tours.

REGATTA IS HELD AT BALSAM LAKE

Gordon Devlin Monopolizes Swimming Events At Lindsay's Regatta

LINDSAY, Aug. 4.—Rosedale, Balsam Lake, was a favorite rendezvous yesterday for a large number of tourists and visitors to witness the tenth annual regatta. The regatta was under the direction of Frank Shannon, Hon. President; W. H. Peace, President; and E. Rigby Secretary-Treasurer.

The highlight was the open motor-boat handicap, which was won by William Winchell of Toronto, with Miss Louise Warburton of Toronto and William Cochrane of Toronto placing second and third, respectively.

The winners of the other events are as follows:

Canoe race, single, 100 yards —1, Sylvester Sawyer; 2, D. MacPherson; 3, James Peace.

Swimming race, 100 yards, boys and girls 14 and under—1, L. Barkwell; 2, Hugh Holmes; 3, Betty Ferrier.

Whitehill Weakens In Seventh And Is Replaced By Spook Scriver

Napanee took a 10-5 win over the Petes in a C.O.B.L. fixture here Satuday before a small crowd, it being the locals' fourth straight loss. The visitors bunched some hard hitting in several frames to pile up the count while starry relief flinging by Blazetich and good support from his mates held the homesters in check. The Petes had a four-run lead in the second but Napanee sewed it up in the third, added four in the seventh and two in the ninth as the Petes garnered just one more marker. Pointer was wild and gave way to Blazetich to start the third, the latter then pitching three-hit ball the rest of the way. Whitehill weakened in the seventh and was succeeded by Scriver who finished in fair style. The locals' fielding was shaky in spots.

Brennan Hits Four

Brennan topped the hitters with four in five appearances, one being a triple. Sweet, Prout, Scarlett and Bishop had two bingles apiece, one of the latter's being a double. Pointer also clouted a two-bagger. Starr led the locals at bat with three in four tries, one being a double. He drove in three runs. Catches by Sweet and Starr were fielding features, while the Petes flashed a neat double-play in the eighth, Whatley to Starr to Bill Calladine to Whatley. The latter, despite several miscues, turned in some nifty fielding. It was Whitehill's second loss this season.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

PLAYOFFS START tonight, weather permitting, in the men's softball loop. Quakers and Westclox tangle in the first of a three-game series with the winner going into the finals, four out of seven games, against Swartz. Second game of the semi-finals will be Thursday eve and third, if necessary, on Friday—all starting at seven bells and played in Central. The Westclox lads have been slipping somewhat since their vacation and the loss of Chuck Dorrington at third isn't helping, either. Quakers, on the other mitt, have been coming along right smartly, aided and abetted to a goodly extent by the fine flinging of Gord Beacock. So it should be quite a series for the fans.

* * * * * *

IN THE gals' softball circuit, Keene and Westclox meet tonight at the Bowl in a "croocial game", though a league one. A win for the Armour Hill maidens will keep them in the running with Keene for a second-half playoff berth, but a loss will eliminate them and cinch it for the Keene lasses. Keene won the first half and are out to repeat, if possible. Omemee has a playoff berth now and have been travelling right speedily the last few weeks. The final scheduled game will be Bailieboro at Keene Wednesday, and then the sectional playoffs.

NAPANEE EARNED that 10-5 win over the Petes here on Saturday. The Gibbards have a pretty fair ball club and they couldn't go on forever losing tough ones to us. And the way the locals had been travelling lately, it was no big surprise to us. It made their fourth straight loss. Boosted as a punching team for awhile, the Petes suddenly forgot their punch. You can't expect a two-man pitching staff to win game after game without a lot of hitting support as well as good defensive play in the field. The last time our gang faced Blazetich, they collected eight hits off him in four frames and pounded him from the box. Saturday, he replaced Pointer to start the third and held them hitless till the last two frames when they got three.

* * * * * *

THAT'S THE story of the Saturday game. The Naps had swell relief pitching, fine fielding and bunched hits. The Petes had only fair twirling, shaky support afield and nothing worth mentioning in the slugging line except the work of Eddie Starr. It wasn't much of a tussle to see, late in starting, draggy and resulting in a local loss. The Gerow gang are through with us here, thank goodness, but we have a game with them in Napanee a week from Wednesday—and had better cop it and quit fooling.

* * * * * *

THE NAPS also gained half a game on our crew yesterday by not playing. The Petes took their second straight loss in Belleville and their fifth reverse in a row by a 2-1 score. It was a good game with that man McIvor of Manitoba making the Johnston lads look feeble with the bat. Gunner Whitehill tossed a good enough game to win with any punch on the part of the other Petes but it was no go. Toward the end, we had a chance to win out but went anemic. The Petes have won 10 out of 19 games and Napanee has taken five out of 15, so they're approximately three games back of us and coming right along. It looks like a large-sized order of monkey glands or something is needed on the local club right pronto if we want to catch a playoff berth.

* * * * * *

KINGSTON PONIES gained a little on Oshawa over the holiday by winning two out of three games against the GM-men. Williams held 'em to seven hits as his buddies pounded Turner hard for an 8-4 nod Saturday. Then on Monday, the Chief came right back with another seven-hit hurling feat as Kingston won, 8 to 4, right in Oshawa. But the Motormen got it back in the other end of the double-header with an 8-5 decision, Biddle pitching against Jamieson. The Stratford Streak did not show much but May's bat helped a lot. Oshawa is about two tilts in front of the Ponies, the latter leading us by a game and a half.

THREE LOCAL paddlers, Drake Jopling, Bill Taylor and Bill Hogan, represented the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club in the Canadian canoe championships in Sudburyon Saturday. Jopling finished third in the singles, making a fine showing against the best paddlers in the country. The water was rough and the wind high, but Drake figured that he should have copped a second—running into a bit of tough luck on the course. He fought it out with the winner over a good distance. The other two chaps met plenty of opposition in the tandem race but came in fifth and going strong. This being the first year the local club blade-wielders stepped in against the class of the country, their showing was excellent.

* * * * * *

SWARTZ CLOTHIERS and a local all-star men's softball team went to a 10-all draw in their benefit game for injured players on Saturday. The affair didn't draw a big crowd at all—in fact, being quite disappointing— though those present kicked in okay at the collection. The tussle was none too hot, being draggy at times. Each side used three pitchers who twirled a fair brand of softball. The girl softballers may stage a benefit game at a later date in the Bowl.

* * * * * *

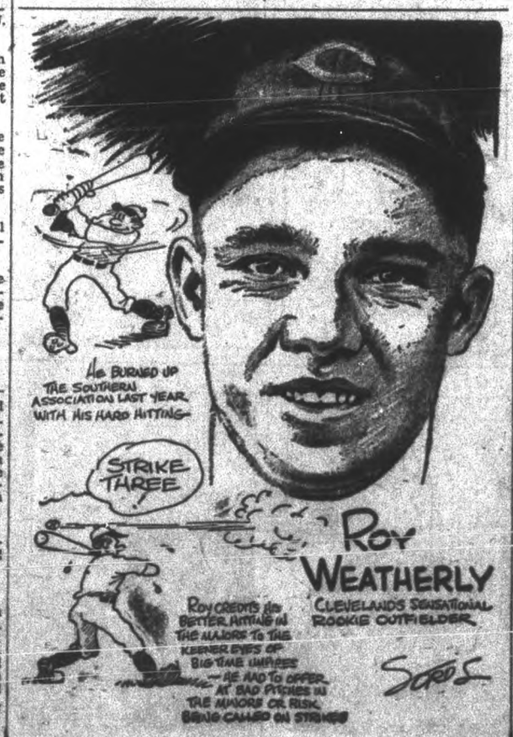
GRAB-BAG: C.G.E. girls have a postponed game yet in Bailieboro; it may not be played if it has no bearing on the playoffs . . . . We'll get busy on the Petes' hitting averages (if any) one of these days . . . . Lotsof regatta activity around here over the holiday—it's listed elsewhere . . . . To say nothing of the cricket and soccer matches . . . . When do the junior baseball playoffs resume? . . . . Belleville goes to Oshawa Wednesday and Kingston is at Napanee . . . . The GM-men play the locals at home next Sat'day . . . Lindsay scribe saw a gals' softball tussle here last week and writes the Peterborough femmes play a better brand than Lindsay but not too much better . . . . We are all tired out ofter the holiday and cannot turn another wheel today.

GENERAL ROUNDUP

Officer Forced to Arrest Wife and Son for Aiding Father.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Aug. 4.—(CP).—A father, mother and son, residents of Walpole Island Indian Reserve, were arrested yesterday by Indian Constable William Fisher, who received a cut on the head making the arrests.

The constable was waiting to arrest Walter Sands on a drunk charge when he was allegedly struck by Sands' wife. He charged her with assault and arrested her husband. Emerson Sands, son of the couple, was charged with interfering with a constable while making an arrest when, Fisher said, he came to the aid of his parents.



LOCAL SOCCERITES TAKE 1-0 TRIUMPH IN TORONTO GAME

Score Goal In The Second Half Of Exhibition Match Here

A SMART FIXTURE

The local soccer team gained a meagre win over the Toronto Kimberleys on the holiday, when George Downer got the only counter of the game in the second half. The visitors were a smart aggregation that was well balanced throughout, to make the local boys hustle to get the 1-0 count. In a few weeks, the Petes will travel to Toronto for a return game.

First Half

Toronto gained the decision in the spin of the coin; to force the play in the early stages. Petes repulsed the attack to witness Green miss the upright by inches. They continued to hover around the visitors' goal, but their effectiveness was weak in shooting. This, no doubt being the result of Buchanan and McKie on the defense. The Toronto halves opened up the play to allow their pivot to test the Petes goalie with a terrific drive. While at the other end, A. Mitchell was unfortunate in not opening the score with a smart header. Play run from end to end until the interval, with no scoring taking place.

Half Time

On resuming, the players were very cautious in their method of attack so that the defence would not be permitted to allow any freedom within the shooting zone. Curtis, the Petes' goalie, giving an excellent account of himself in between the sticks against the smart Toronto forwards. After twenty minutes of play, the Petes registered their only counter through G. Downer, on the left wing. This was followed up with brilliant defensive clearance by the Toronto defense.

Final score—Peterborough 1, Toronto, 0.

Toronto.—J. Oliver, goal; H. Gat and T. Jones, full backs; J. Buchanan, J. McKie and J. Isecrief, halves; H. Hanson, H. McCrea, J. Hanson, E. Wager and E. Enfield, forwards.

Peterborough.—W. Curtis, goal; A. Todd and A. Downer, full backs; S. Clark, E. Jones and T. McPhate, halves; N. Downer, D. Green, J. Buchan, A. Mitchell and G Downer, forwards.

Referee.—M. McKinley.

PETERBORO CLUB TAKES CRICKET WIN

Defeats Woodgreen Club Of Toronto By Six Runs In Match At Oval

A return match was played at the Oval on Civic Holiday, August 3, and a close game on a bad wicket resulted in a win for the home team by six runs: P.C.C. 47, Woodgreen 41. Peterborough lost E. Stewart and Gore before a run was scored, and Lawrence was the only man to make a stand against good bowling by C. Williams and the total only reached 47, with "Mr. Extras" the top scorer. Woodgreen were in equal difficulties with the two regular bowlers, Dyer and Lawrence. Richardson alone reached double figures, and he was twice missed, and their total only reached 41. The club has no match for next Saturday.

WHITAKER'S LOSE TO ST. CLAIR C.C.

Importers Make Good Showing In Cricket Match In Toronto

Whitakers went to Toronto on Monday, still without the services of their captain, J. Wild, and further handicapped by the absence of A. Hamilton through injuries. Their opponents were the strong St. Clair Club, and though the local team were beaten, they were far from disgraced, the final score being: St. Clair 177, W.C.C. 108.

St. Clair batted first and their first wicket put on 83 and McKee played a merry innings of 36, which included eight boundaries. Macphee was out at 160, and the innings quickly closed for 177. Jefferson again bore the brunt of the bowling and his 7 wickets for 62 was a fine performance, considering the length of the innings.

On Whitakers batting Jefferson again showed his value to the team by scoring 45, virtually half the runs that came from the bat. Hawthorne made 18 of the first 25. Jefferson was out at 99, the total reaching 108.

Next Saturday Whitakers play Toe H in Toronto.

PACKERS DEFEAT POLITICIANS 3-0

Losers Conceded Game In Closing Minutes Of The Tussle

Canada Packers gained another victory on Saturday afternoon when the C.C.F. conceded a three-nil decision in the closing minutes of the game before a fair attendance.

Packers Led at Interval.

After five minutes' play, the Packers' right-winger, Wilson, sent a drive across the goal where three opponents missed the ball. Foster accepted the opening with a rising drive in below the cross-bar. McMaster dribbled his way through the defense to try and lift the ball over Curtis' head, but it struck the goalie. This was folowed by a close shot by Dyer after he had broken through. Eric Jones frustrated a C.C.F. attack to carry the ball right back into the Politicians' goal, where he shot over the bar from close range. Time and again, Risheau, C.C.F. goalie stopped terrific drives. Exchanges continued even until the interval. Canada Packers 1, Politicians 0.

Leaders Increase Lead.

On resuming Risheau, C. C. F. goalie, was the target for the Packers' sharp-shooter but he frustrated their attempts with clever clearances. Aided by a strong wind that was blowing down the field, the Packers found Denisen and Worthington responding to their keen tactics inside the goal area. Although the effort by D. Green on his individual play resulted in him striking the cross-bar with an oblique shot, Denisen cleared the rebound. At this point, the C.C.F. carried the play into the Packers' goal to find Curtis stopping everything ranged at him. They renewed their vigorous campaign to get the equaliser but they wilted in the closing seven miutes to witness N. Downer rattle on two more counters. Canada Packers 3, C.C.F. 0.

C.C.F.—A Risheau goal; G. Worthington and W. Denisen, full-backs; A. Mayette, G. McDonald and W. Boggs, halves; H. Castle, J. McMaster, P. Dyer, M. Gahagan and W. Grant, forwards.

Canada Packers—W. Curtis, goal; A. Todd and Asa Downer, full-backs; Art Downer, E. Jones and T. McPhate, halves; B. Wilson, N. Downer, D. Green, T. Foster and G. Downer, forwards.

Lawn Bowling
By HERB MARTIN

Our club celebrated the holiday with sixteen mixed rinks, playing all afternoon and evening . . . and that number of rinks, along with the tennis tournament, made the Bowling Club one of the outstanding sporting centres of the day.

Play commenced around two o'clock, and with the exception of the supper hour, play was continous until ten o'clock.

There were four three-game winners and that made up an ideal draw for the play-offs.

The winning skips were G. Saulby, R. Harding, R. Baeau and J. Kingsbury.

Our club was represented with two rinks down at Bowmanville yesterday, but our boys just drove in, turned around and drove out again.

The preliminary round of the club singles is completed and the committee would ask that all those who have not played their game in the first round tie please do so as soon as possible.

It is quite likely that we will have a mixed tournament to-morrow night.

Down at Cobourg we had three rinks at their annual mixed tournament, Jimmy Cullen's quartette receiving the honors for high aggregate score with our men.

JUNIOR PLAYDOWNS.

NAPANEE, Ont., Aug. 4 (CP).—Arrangements for the first round Ontario Baseball Amateur Association junior playdowns in Eastern Ontario have been completed. Napanee and Belleville Kiwanis will meet in the first game of a best-out-of-three series in Belleville Thursday evening, with the return game in Napanee Saturday afternoon.

The British Army received $50,000 in the last year for garbage and scraps from its kitchens.

ELLIOTT, Miss Letitia. — At her home, 93 Aylmer Street, on Sunday, August 2, 1936, following a lengthy illness, Miss Letitia Jane Elliott, in her 46th year.

Funeral on Tuesday, August 4, at 2 p.m., from the residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mr. Gordon Cooke wishes to thank his many friends for their kindness to Betty, and also to thank Dr. Scott, Nurse Margaret V. Reynolds, also Rev. Daniels and Rev. T. Galt.—Gordon Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooke wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness to their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gordon Cooke, during her illness, and to thank all for their many kind acts and the beautiful flowers, both before and after.—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooke.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all the neighbors and friends who so willingly and quickly assisted in saving our Creamery and Home from fire on Thursday last, especially the tourists and travellers who gave such splendid service and assistance; the Peterborough and Omemee Telephone Operators for their prompt service, the Peterborough Creameries for their ready assistance, and the valuable assistance given by the Peterborough Fire Department.—(Signed) Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Murary, Central Smith Creamery.

DOUBLE INQUIRY LOOMS IN QUEBEC

Nothing To Stop Legislature Probing Along Lines Of Royal Commission Says Cardin

QUEBEC, Aug. 4.—(CP).—Course of the inquiry into Government departments will be conducted on parallel lines by the Royal Commission already appointed and by the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature if the Opposition insists, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Dominion Minister of Public Works, declared at Montreal last night.

The federal minister told a Liberal meeting, "when the Legislature is in session and the Liberals are in power, if the Opposition still insists upon continuation of the public accounts investigation, it will be continued along with the broader Royal Commission inqury which can deal with everything pertaining to government, and is not merely restricted to matters relating to public accounts. There is no law to prevent the Legislature from doing its work at the same time as the Royal Commission."

As the Campaign Goes.

Premier Adelard Godbout turned to the northeast corner of the province to-day in preparation for the elections Aug. 17. The farmer-premier was scheduled to start his Lake St. John campaign with a meeting at Roberval this afternoon and one at St. Joseph d'Alma to-night.

Maurice Duplessis, Union Nationale chieftain, will return to the eastern townships to-day, being scheduled to address a meeting at Farnham. Thursday he will speak at Thetford Mines.

Amedee Caron of Rimouski is official Liberal candidate in Magdalen Islands, opposing Hormisdas Langlais of Sillery, Union Nationale candidate. Hon. Edgar Rochette, Minister of Labor, Game and Fisheries, was named Liberal candidate in Charlevoix-Saguenay. His opponent is Dr. Arthur Leclerc, Quebec, of Union Nationale.

Quebec is menaced by political quackery, said Mr. Cardin, and he believed it would be "politically healthier" for the province to keep to the two old-line parties, Conservatives and Liberals. He had no faith in unions of assorted groups.

Baby, Smash Victim Identified By Father

MONTREAL, Aug. 4. — (CP). — Identity was established to-day of a six-months-old baby killed in an automobile accident near Dorion on the Montreal-Ottawa highway yesterday. Six other persons injured in the crash between two cars were still in hospital, while three other victims were discharged last night.

Emmanuel Glandon, of Verdun, Que., one of the crash victims, said in hospital here it was his daughter, Joan, who had met death by being hurled from the car and receiving a fractured skull.

He was accompanied by his wife and their three children, Joan, Armand and Shirley, and a Mrs. Montpetit, of Ile Perot, Que., and her young daughters, who were uninjured.

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, longs for excitement. Dr. Wilson, attracted by Gay's appearance as she is leaving the club, induces her to fill in at a private party upstairs, so that there will be more than 13 at the table. At the dinner party where Gay is filling in as "Miss Smith of Syracuse", she finds Breck Carter unusually attentive. Gay meets Wayne Adams, guest of honor at the party, and, recognizing her as the check room girl, he accuses her of being a "gate crasher". When Peggy Pennell Breck's finance, attempts to expose Gay, the latter publicly admits the ruse and hastily leaves the party. Later Gay has a date with Breck. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"HELLO, honey," Breck greeted Gay, as she hopped into the green leather seat beside him for their first date, "How's the world been treating you? I—"

He interrupted himself to wave to a passing car. "That was Wayne just drove by. Jumping Jupiter, but he's late for his dinner date. Grace Larrimore'll sure enaugh crown him! The Pennells are throwing a party at the Hunt club tonight," he explained, in his slurry southern draw. "I passed it up to be with you. Had to phone Peggy the old story about being tied up on a business deal."

"But why did you stand me up last night, baby?" he demanded abruptly, in a spoiled-little-boy voice. "To make things more intricate?"

"I told you when you called up—I was shampooing my hair."

"Oh, yeah?"

"But I really was! And 10 o'clock was too late to start out, anyway."

She was noting with admiration Breck's clear-cut profile. Inwardly, she conceded her decided attraction to this handsome, flatteringly attentive young man. She filled in a pause with her casual question, "Have you known Mr. Adams long?"

"Oh, yes. For years—prep school and Princeton. Mrs. Larrimore and I talked him into coming to Detroit on this airplane proposition. You see, Ad's air-foolish like me, though we're in different ends of the game. Right now, we're working together and trying to hook up with some of these Detroit big shots.

"Ad's sort of an older brother, a steadier for me. Lord knows I need an anchor sometimes. He used to be a fairly high stepper himself but he's cut it all out, lately. Hasn't time, I reckon, honey!" His smile flashed at her. "This is a party!"

They laughed together, and Gay found this shared laughter exhilarating.

"When will you take me flying?" she demanded suddenly. "Tonight?"

Breck made a grimace of mock despair. "I've just told you this is a pleasure-party. A play-night." His fingers tightening on hers brought a surge of quickening excitement. "Flying and loving don't mix— But here we are!"

Breck had stopped the car before the brilliantly lighted entrance of Detroit's smartest hotel, and Gay smiled a small, secret smile to herself. Breck wasn't ashamed of her. He was taking her to the gayest, most popular dine-and-dance place in town; the one most patronized by the younger crowd.

Then they were being seated at a table in the crowded white-and-gold dining room, with crystal chandeliers reflected like rainbows of color and light in the many wall mirrors.

"I don't see a soul I know." Breck turned on his companion the blue sparkle of his eyes. "And that's oke with me. I want you all to myself, honey. I'll order dinner, and then we'll dance. I'd just like to see somebody try to cut in, tonight!"

Gay cupped her chin in her hand and sat, excitement and elation in her eyes, as she gazed at the dancing couples. Adventure was beckoning. Dreams were coming true. She had often pictured herself dancing in some fashionable night club, in the arms of a good-looking young man. But in her most hopeful moment she had never imagined such perfect surroundings, or such a wonderful escort as this fascinating young southern aviator.

She and Breck were dancing together, their steps in superb rhythm, when she caught sight of a man who was threading his way toward them among the dancers.

Wayne Adams!

Before she could tell Breck, Wayne was upon them.

He spoke hurriedly. "Listen, Breck. At the last minute, the Pennells decided to pass up the Hunt club for a private dining room here. I recognized your car at the hotel garage. No one else in the party has seen you yet. So hop off, before some of them take it into their head to come down to dance."

Breck flushed angrily. "Hang it all, Ad—I won't be chased around like a scared rabbit. I don't give a—"

Wayne's voice was discreetly lowered, but Gay couldn't help catching the murmur,—"Can't afford to get in wrong—Pennell financial interests—"

Breck swore fluently under his breath. "But I've already ordered dinner. And Gay—" With the unceremonious manners of the period, he swung her round by the elbow. "You remember Gay, don't you, Ad?"

Wayne Adams bowed politely, but without enthusiasm, and while Gay returned the greeting with equal frigidity, he resumed his conversation with Breck. Gay lingered on the edge of the dance floor during the brief, low interchange of questions and answers between the two men.

"You're a plain damn fool, if you take her over there!" Wayne's voice rose in sharp irritation. "That goat's nest—nothing but a hideout for married men and their girls. Suppose there's a fight or the place gets raided! That'd be a big help to us, right now! Haven't you any brains at all?"

"Plenty," Breck grinned. "Want the loan of some?"

"You're hopeless! On your way, before Peggy sees you. But don't expect me to bail you out again, if you get in a mess!"

Breck was good-humored as ever when he helped Gay out of the car before a dimly lighted building on a quiet side street. But Gay was perturbed and uneasy.

"This doesn't look a bit interesting, she pouted. "Do let's go somewhere else!"

Breck hurried her along.

"What's the difference? They serve pretty decent food here, and the liquor is of the very best quality. I know what—" he smiled conciliatingly into her eyes. "I'll stake you at roulette, while dinner's on the way."

Up two flights of shadowy stairs, into a smoke-hazy room packed with middle-aged men and pretty young girls, all greedily absorbed in the spinning of a ball in the roulette wheel.

Gay was all eyes. She had never seen a place where people really gambled for money, before.

Breck grinned as he bought and gave Gay $10 worth of chips.

"Here's wishing you the usual beginner's luck, sweetness!"

Gay promptly placed half her stack on the red; the other half on number 13.

"Wheah, you keep yo' rabbit's foot, chile?" drawled Breck, with an exaggeration of his customary southern dialect, while Gay raked in her winnings. "Not too bad! A hundred bucks!" He stuffed the bills into his pocket, as the waiter announced that their dinner was ready. "I'll turn the money over to you on your doorstep with our last good night kiss."

The waiter led them to a small, dingy room on the second floor. A table set for two, and a chaise lounge piled with cushions, filled the tiny floor space.

After the waiter had served the soup and departed, Breck tried to kiss Gay, but laughed good-naturedly when she repulsed him.

"You'll get yours later," he warned her, and mixed himself a highball.

He ate dinner with the gusto of a hungry schoolboy, but Gay was too excited for food.

A hundred dollars! Easy as that. In the back of her mind she was paying for the new evening wrap, and squandering the rest on a party gown. She'd need good-looking clothes now that she was going places—

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SQUIRREL'S TAIL

Something very serious had happened to Freddie Bushytail, Johnnie and Billie's cousin. One day while Freddie was walking through the woods his tail caught in a trap that some bad person had put there to catch animals. And the trap was so strong that it nipped Freddie's tail right off.

It hurt quite a bit, I can tell you! But that wasn't the worst of it. You know squirrels use their tails for balancing. When they leap from branch to branch in the trees the tail acts like one of those poles the men in circuses use when they walk a tightrope—it keeps them from falling. So you can imagine how badly Freddie felt without his tail!

"Why," he told Uncle Wiggily, "I'm like a ship without a sail! I can't do anything! I never thought a tail was so important before."

"We never really appreciate the things we have until we lose them," Mr. Longears declared. "But I'm very sorry for you, Freddie. Can't you jump at all?"

"Not at all." Freddie Bushytail said sadly. "Look, I'll show you."

He climbed a short way up a tree and then tried to leap from one branch to another. He missed the branch and came tumbling down right at Uncle Wiggily's feet!

It's No Use.

"See?" he said, panting a bit. "It's no use. What am I going to do?"

"You can't grow another tail, can you?" Uncle Wiggily asked. "Some animals can, you know. When they lose their tails they grow others."

"Well, I can't," Freddie sighed, "because I tried. One night I said to myself, 'Tomorrow I'll have a new tail. I'll grow one.' And I tried hard, too—but no tail!"

"Hum," said Uncle Wiggily, I see. Well, Freddie, I'm afraid I can't help you! But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll go for a walk and maybe I'll think of something. It happens like that sometimes. This afternoon I'll meet you here by this big tree. And perhaps I'll find a way out of your trouble."

"I hope so!" sighed Freddie. "It's very awkward without a tail!"

So Uncle Wiggily walked through the woods all alone, thinking. He thought and thought, but he couldn't discover any way to help poor Freddie. He came to a road where automobiles were whizzing past.

Now usually Uncle Wiggily would be very careful while crossing an auto road. But, you see, he was deep in thought and he wasn't as careful as he should be. He started across the road, and—zing! An automobile almost ran over him!

Just Missed Him

The driver saw the rabbit just in time. Being a kind driver, he turned his steering wheel sharply and jus-s-s-t missed Uncle Wiggily.

"My goodness!" Mr. Longears gasped. "That was close! I'd better watch what I'm doing if I don't want to get hurt! I haven't much of a tail, but I could lose my ears very easily!"

He was about to go on when, suddenly, by the side of the road, he saw something strange. At first he couldn't believe his eyes. He looked again. Yes, it was—a tail!

Have you seen those furry tails that some cars have on the radiator caps? Ornaments, you know. Well, the car that almost hit Uncle Wiggily had one of those tails and it had fallen off when the drvier turned his wheels so suddenly.

"Here's a tail for Freddie!" Uncle Wiggily cried happily. "We can tie it on and it will work fine! Won't he be glad!"

And he was, indeed— very glad. When Uncle Wiggily met him by the big tree and gave him the tail Freddie could scarcely speak, he was so happy. They tied the tail on and then Freddie could jump from branch to branch as well as ever! So it was lucky Uncle Wiggily crossed the road just then, wasn't it?

And tomorrow night if the breakfast toast doesn't burn so black it thinks it's in a moving picture minstrel show I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the lazy duck.

BOUNTIFUL SUPPER AT CHURCH PICNIC

Usual Keen Competition In Sports Events At Annual Eden Gathering

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MOUNT JULIAN, Aug. 4—The Eden United Church picnic, which was held in Booth's Grove on Wednesday afternoon, was very successful, considering the chilly, threatening weather conditions.

The long tables were bountifully supplied with good food for both meals, and the refreshment booth, grab-bag and bazaar table were other places of interest, the later displaying many splendid home-made articles. The raffle included a pair of blankets, won by Mrs. William Thompson, bedspread, won by Miss M. Kidd and tablecloth won by Mrs. G. Oxley.

The usual list of sports was held during the afternoon, under the supervision of the rector, Rev. Mc Mullen, G. K. Fraser and K. G. Leck.

Among those attending the picnic from a distance were: Mr. Duncan Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown and family of Apsley; G. K. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spensley and Miss Rith Shewen of Burleigh Falls; Miss Coon and Mrs. Roll Coons and children, May and Roger, of Lakefield; Mrs. Hilliard Reid and daughter, Lillian of Douro; William Loney of Peterborough; also many visitors from the various parts of Stoney Lake.

Among the guests at Rameses are Mr. and Mrs. Tuten and sons, Kenneth and Leonard, Mrs. Mar: Millward and family and Mrs. Engle, all of Toronto.

Mr. Fred Hall of Toronto, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Booth.

DRAGOONS WIN TRIBUTE FROM COL. ANDERSON

Maintain Efficient Training During Year With Slight Assistance

CAMP AT NASSAU

Under Canvas From Friday To Monday—Tactical Scheme On Holiday

Encamped at Nassau over the week-end, the 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons, under command of Lieut.-Colonel M. R. Sloan struck their tents Monday afternoon, after completing a varied program of training, which included rifle and squad drill; musketry and Lewis gun firing on the ranges; a tactical scheme; church parade; and sports.

Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., district officer commanding replying to a toast to district headquarters proposed by Major A. R. Macnab at dinner in the officers' mess Sunday evening complimented the unit on their smartness in camp, and on the efficient training performed during the year, in the virtual absence of financial assistance from district headquarters.

Good Marksmanship

The advance party in charge of Captain D. A. Loomis, M.C., pitched camp on Friday, and the remainder of the unit went under canvas that night. Saturday was chiefly given over to musketry training and some good marksmanship was generally displayed at the ranges.

All ranks had instruction on the Lewis gun and fired several bursts, among them being Honorary Lieut.-Colonel J. J. Duffus, M.P., who was in camp for the entire period to participate actively in the varied program of training.

As mess president, Capt. G. H. Cutmore, presided at the dinner in the officers' mess Saturday evening, at which guests included: Lieut.-Colonel B. Nelson, M.C., of Ottawa as officer commanding the 2nd Mounted Brigade; Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., officer commanding 4th Machine Gun Battalion; Major James Turnbull, officer commanding the local machine gun company; His Worship Mayor George A. Macdonald, and Reeve James Gifford, warden of Peterborough County. Toasts honored at the dinner included those to "The King," "The 2nd Mounted Brigade," and "The Regiment."

Divine Service

Sunday morning Divine Worship was held in the camp with Capt. (the Rev.) John Furlong of Halifax, N.S., officiating in the absence of Capt. (the Rev.) J. D. Paterson, chaplain of the unit on vacation. Music for the service was provided by a band under the direction of W. Ford, whose voluntary services were much appreciated. A parade of Catholic members of the unit was held to St. Peter's Cathedral, with Captain E. F. Sheehy in charge.

Horseshoe pitching and tug of war were features of the afternoon sports program for which a prize was donated by Colonel Nelson. The officers won a tug of war decision over the men, and the sergeants chalked up a bye over the officers.

At luncheon Sunday, William German, 77, of Warkworth was among the guests present. He enlisted in the Dragoons 55 years ago and was at one time Sergeant-Major of Cobourg Squadron.

Guests in the officers' mess Sunday evening, included: Colonel W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., district officer commanding; Lieut.-Colonel C. E. Connelly, D.S.O., G.S.O.I., Major Victor Williams, A.D.M.S., together with Mrs. Anderson and the wives of officers serving in camp. Toasts to "The King," and to "District Headquarters staff" were honored. In reply to the latter toast Colonel Anderson extended congratulations to the officer commanding the unit on the efficient training performed during the year. Major A. R. Macnab proposed the toast to "The Regiment."

Medal Presented

At the inspection of the unit at nine o'clock Monday morning, which included a demonstration of drill and musketry exercises, Colonel Anderson presented an Efficiency Medal to Trooper Sidney Revoy, in recognition of his completion of twelve years efficient militia service.

Later a group photograph was taken of the D.O.C. and staff together with the training officers of the regiment; the brigade commander and honorary lieutenant-colonel. A tactical scheme, under direction of Major Macnab, during which the regiment worked an advance guard scheme from McCracken's Landing, concluded the training period.

The camp staff was as follows: Lieut.-Colonel M. R. Sloan, officer commanding; Honorary Lieut.-Colonel J. J. Duffus, M.P., Major A. R. Macnab, in charge of training; Capt. E. F. Sheehy, adjutant; Captain G. H. Cutmore, paymaster; Capt. D. A. Loomis, M.C., quartermaster; Captain S. Y. Walsh, medical officer.

LADIES' AID HOLDS HOME COOKING SALE

Afternoon Tea And Program Precede Delightful Event At Trent River

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 4.—Members of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church sponsored an afternoon tea and sale of home cooking Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Dart. There was a large attendance including a number from the various summer homes.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers of many lovely varieties. Mrs. Thomas J. Brown was chair lady for the following program: Recitation, Miss Irene Wood; vocal duet, "Juanita," by Mrs. Wesley Wildman and Mrs. Harold Thompson, with Miss Fleda Thompson playing the accompaniment; reading, "It Is't the Church It's You," Mrs. Jas. Logmuir; recitation, Miss Ila Free. The "Sunshine Girl" quilt which has been made by the Women's Institute was exhibited (a number of tickets were sold on this). Reading, "The Wise Family," Mrs. Geo. Dart; community singing was led by Mrs. Harold Buchanan (of Toronto); reading, "The Preacher," Mrs. Harry Mann; recitation, "What Fun Vacation," Miss Marion Forsythe (of Havelock); Mrs. Thos. J. Brown had charge of a ring contest (oral).

A demonstration of what can be made out of candies for decorations for childre's parties by Miss B. French, after which a number of members of the Ladies' Aid served dainty refreshments.

The sale of home cooking was quickly disposed of. The small sum of 10 cents was made for the lunch and together with the sale of home cooking the sum of nearly $18 was realized. The members are most grateful to Mrs. Dart for opening her home for the occasion.

FITZGERALD CUP WON BY W. McLEAN FOR SECOND TIME

Dinghy Race Is Feature Of Successful Crowe's Landing Regatta

COMPETITION IS KEEN

CROWE'S LANDING, Aug. 4.—"Bill" McLean of Sturgeon Point, repeating his triumph of a year ago, outsailed a classy fleet here on Saturday afternoon to win for the second time in succession the Fitzgerald Cup, donated by Don Fitzgerald, as a trophy emblematic of the dinghy sailing championship. This competition was one of the biggest features of the annual regatta at Crowe's Landing a major event in the summer calendar of the Upper Stoney Lake colony and this year as successful as ever with numerous entries, keen competition and a fine crowd.

There is, of course, no more perfect a setting for a regatta than Crowe's Landing where the spectators can see every move in the paddling and rowing events and where the sailor men have plenty of open water to display their ability.

There were nine entries in the race for the Fitzgerald Cup and the sloop-rigged dinghies were handicapped ninety seconds with the result that the cat-rigged representatives in the field were never headed. Bill McLean in his No. 3 crossing the finishing line a short distance ahead of W. R. Willoughby in the Oriel with Mrs. Willoughby as the crew. The nine white-winged boats made an memorable picture.

Those doughty sailing opponents, the Bootlegger, owned by Gordon Matthews of Chemong, and the Cutty Sark, owned by E. Flavelle of Sturgeon Point, clashed once more in the open sailing in which a field of four started. Both skippers were absent but Graham Eastwood sailed the Bootlegger to a neat win while the Cutty Sark, well handled by Don Stewart was second.

The paddling and rowing events were all keenly contested with the younger set giving a fine account of themselves. Lavina Whetung was the individual star.

An interesting feature was the canoe exhibition given by Mr. R. Bloomfield, who does things in and around a canoe that shows this supposed-to-be cranky craft is anything else but when handled by an expert. Mr. Bloomfield is in a class by himself and his mastery of canoe technique is complete.

The prizes were presented to the winners immediately after the races, Mr. Ben Chapman, a veteran member of the Upper Stoney Lake Association officiating.

A very large crowd attended the regatta dance in the pavilion at night, the music for which was provided by Marshall's orchestra.

INTERESTING TALK MADOC INSTITUTE

'Education and Better Schools' Subject Of July Meeting

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MADOC Aug. 4—Education and Better Schools, (with special stress on the Better Schools) was the subject for addresses and discussions at the July Institute meeting which was held at the cottage of Mrs. George White at Moira Lake on Friday afternoon, July 31st.

The subject was introduced by Mrs. R. P. Wellman, stressing the need of better sanitation in the rooms and outbuildings in Madoc public schools, and introducing the urgent need of medical supervision by the Board of Health and also the special need of the services of a school nurse and regular visits to each of the rooms of the school.

Mrs. M. Carey followed with a well prepared paper on Public Health Nurse Work and the need of co-operation between people and trustees with a letter of advice from the Government Bureau and samples of health charts and report forms, also prices and suggestions as to requisite equipment.

The roll call. "How Can I as a Parent Co-operate with the Teacher of the School," was well answered and several very good suggestions received.

Current events of the month were ably received by Mrs. Jas. B. Aylesworth and Mrs. T. L. Nickle gave a brief synopsis of the convention of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, held at Washington, during June and the cordial welcome received by them at the White House, also the meeting at Peace Bridge, and the many receptions at Stoney Creek, O. A. C., Guelph and Toronto. Brief messages were given from some of the leading speakers, and much inspiration was received.

Mrs. T. L. Nickle, president, presided, opening the meeting by the Institute Ode and a short sing-song led by Mrs. W. Hulin.

Mrs. White was assisted by Mesdames Mbon, Blue, Watson, Briston and Davies. Dainty refreshments were served during the social half-hour.

Home Near Norham Is Levelled By Fire

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORHAM, Aug. 6.—Fire razed the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Stillman about 4.30 Friday afternoon. Mrs. Stillman was baking at the time and it is believed the overheated stove fired the wall.

Neighbors rushed to aid but lack of water prevented saving the house though most of the furniture was taken out. A field at the back was partly burner over.

The home, owned by Robert J. Mitchell, is situated about a mile west of the village.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. George Taylor Plays Hostess To "Star" Girls

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, Aug. 4—The Star Class girls of Warsaw United Church S.S. was entertained at the home of their teacher, Mrs. George Taylor, on Monday evening, July 27. The evening was spent in music, games and contests. After being served ice cream and cakes the girls gathered around Mrs. Taylor and sang, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

One disappointment was that Miss Cora Drain, a former class member, who was to have given the class a little talk, was unable to be present as she had to return to Toronto.

There was a fair attendance at the United Church Women's Association on Thursday afternoon, presided over by Mrs. Harold Payne. No business was transacted, but there is much looming for the August meeting. The contest was "Things bought in a hardware store." Mrs. Weller had the most correct, twenty-four out of twenty-eight. Mrs. Gordon Payne read the scripture lesson, Psalm 24. Mrs. J. A. Sargent led in prayer, and Miss Lenore McIlvena sang in her sweet childish voice, "Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven." Lunch was served and a pleasant social half-hour spent.

George Moore has been threshing this week.

COUPLE HONORED EAST EMILY PARTY

Mr. And Mrs. Harold Lang Are Presented Miscellaneous Shower

(Examiner Correspondence.)

EAST EMILY, Aug. 4.—About one hundred neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lagg on Thursday evening, who were married recently, for the purpose of presenting them with a miscellaneous shower.

The evening was spent in cards and dancing after which Mr. and Mrs. Lang were called forward and Mr. Geo. Magee read the address and a well laden large basket of beautiful presents were presented by Mrs. Hector Morton and Miss Carrie McQuade. Harold then made a very suitable reply on behalf of his bride and himself, thanking all those present and inviting everyone to come and visit them, after which every one sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Lunch was then served by the ladies and dancing was again resumed until the wee small hours of the morning.

No Decision Made Say Milk Producers

Contradicting a recent unofficial report that the price of fluid milk had been increased from $1.71 to $2 a hundred to local distributors, V. Milburn, president of The Ontario Whole Milk Producers' Association, declared:

"The milk producers and distributors have been meeting to consider their problems, but have not yet reached any definite conclusion as to prices. The prevailing price for fluid milk to the distributors is $1.71 a hundred as agreed upon between the producers and distributors and as ratified by The Milk Control Board two years ago."

Milk producers of the district are facing a serious problem caused by lack of pasture as a result of the drought. Many of them it is said, have been forced at this early date to fall back on winter stocks of fodder because of poor pasture.

The TELEPHONE will take you there

"I mustn't miss Dad's Telephone Call!" . . . . .

Young Jimmy knows it's just about time for that mid-week telephone call from the city. And he wants to be there—to hear Dad's cheery greeting, to assure him he hasn't been getting into too much trouble and to remind him of the things he wants brought up next week-end. Dad, on the other end of the line, gets a great kick out of it all. In fact he wouldn't miss making that inexpensive call for anything—it's a great break to a routine week and it keeps his mind easy.

On both "Anyone" and "Person-to-Person" calls, low Night rates apply every evening after 7, and ALL DAY SUNDAY.

STRIKE BY REDS CALLS MARTIAL LAW IN GREECE

King George II. Approves Stern Measures After Revolutionary Move

COMMUNICATIONS CUT

Labor Groups Protest Obligatory Arbitration Of Workers' Demands

ATHENS, Aug. 5. — (AP). — A "temporary" dictatorship approved by King George II. held Greece in the quiet of martial law to-day to thwart danger of bloodshed in what the Government described as a Communist-promoted general strike.

The regime, headed by strong man John Metaxas, the Premier, took full control of all civil affairs as he proclaimed dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies, decreed martial law and imposed a rigid censorship.

New elections for the Chamber will be held when the situation is stabilized.

The dissolution of the law-making body wiped out the legislative power of 14 Communists who have held the balance of power between the Venezilists and anti-Venezilists factions. The Government charged them with stalemating all work in the Chamber.

ATHENS, Aug. 5 (AP).—Martial law governed Athens to-day after discovery of what the government described as "a grave revolutionary movement organized by Communists."

The stern measures were proclaimed with fully approval of King George II, the Athens News Agency reported.

Martial law followed declaration of a 24-hour general strike by Leftist labor unions. The Greek Chamber of Deputies was dissolved and no date for a new election had been fixed by the government of Premier John Metaxas.

"The news of the martial law proclamation was greeted by public opinion with relief," the agency reported.

The Official Journal publishes this explanation of the government's action:

"The country was faced with an abnormal situation as it was on the eve of the outbreak of a subversive and seditious movement fostered by Communist propaganda which has as its aims disaffection of the army and spreading of the spirit of anarchy."

Complete order was reported throughout the country and Athens awoke to a strike which was hardly noticeable. Buses and other transport services operated normally.

The Labor groups set midnight as the start of the general strike to support their protest against obligatory arbitration of workers' demands.

Old Wage Dispute

A recent law, approved by the government, fixed minimum wage scales for workers and provided their claims under the new rates should be arbitrated by official agencies.

Opposition to the strike was declared in a statement issued by the Federation of Conservative workers.

(Telephone communications between Greece and the rest of Europe were cut off early to-day, it was reported in London).

(Attempts to reach Athens by telephone met this reply: "There has been a breakdown in the Athens line. The delay will be indefinite.")

(Other attempts to reach Greece from Vienna and other points also failed).

The new labor difficulties follow by only three months disturbances arising from a strike of tobacco workers at Salonika.

In May, not half a year since the plebiscite restoring King George II to the throne, troops, and warships were called into action to quell the spreading disorders.

NEW CHARGE LAID MUSKOKA TRAGEDY

Criminal Negligence Added To Manslaughter So Trial Of A. H. Bickmore May Proceed

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP). — To make possible an early court investigation of the Muskoka Lake tragedy, in which Miss Reta Hamacher is believed to have lost her life, a charge of criminal negligence has been added to the manslaughter count already facing Alfred H. Bickmore of Pleasant View, Muskoka. Hon. David Croll, acting Attorney-General, announced today.

It is reported Bickmore's launch struck a rowboat in which Miss Hamacher lay sunbathing July 20 and no trace of her body has been found. The charge of manslaughter was laid against Bickmore some time ago, but until the body of the girl has been located it is impossible to proceed with trial. According to law, officers of the Crown, however, it will be possible to proceed at once with trial of a criminal negligence charge.

Husband And Two Daughters Painfully Hurt On Campbellford Highway

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5.—Four persons were injured in a head-on collision between a 7-ton gasoline tank truck and a light coach Tuesday afternoon near Woodland cheese factory and directly opposite Brown's service station on the Campbellford-Havelock No. 30 highway.

The occupants of the coach were Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Glenn of Seymour west and their daughters, Reta 14, and Merle 12. Mrs. Glenn was hurled from the car to the roadside. She was seriously cut about the face and head by broken glass, and may also have suffered internal injuries.

Mrs. Glenn and her younger daughter were both unconscious, and the father and elder daughter were bruised and affected by shock. Both girls were sitting on the rear seat, and were flung over the front seat.

The four members of the family were brought to Campbellford hospital, the mother and younger girl arriving here on the Trent Canal truck which had been hurriedly fitted with a mattress for their comfort.

Three Vehicles Involved

Earl Craighead of this town was driving the gasoline tank truck. The Examiner was informed that he was travelling north and had just made a quick turn to the left to avoid an automobile driven by William West as he approached from the east on a side road at the Woodland cheese factory corner. It was stated that the collision of the truck and Glenn coach was almost directly head on.

The Glenn family were on their way to attend the funeral of a neighbor, George S. Brown who died on Sunday. Doctors E. A. Stuart, C. H. MacNeill and H. B. Longmore of Campbellford attended the injured parents and daughters; and the circumstances of the accident were investigated by Chief Constable George Hardy of town and Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Cobourg.

It was stated that the force of the collision jammed the engine of the coach back against the main part of the interior, and the steering wheel was thrust to one side. The impact shoved the automobile twenty-eight feet back along the highway.

The extent of Mrs. Gleen's injuries could not be determined late Tuesday.

English Is No Help To American Athletes

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—(AP). — Following sustained United States protests announcements in the Olympic stadium were made in English for the first time to-day as well as in German and French through the oiud speakers.

However, the announcer had so pronounced a British accent the change was of small aid to the American camp.

Drops Off Express, Lad, 3, Just Bruised

LONDON, August 5 (C.P. Cable) —Robert Pearce, three years old, laid claim to a world's championship or something to-day. The young man of Sheffield dropped off a speeding train as it roared through the Totley Tunnel in Derbyshire, one of the longest tunels in England. Railroad men searching through the darkness heard Mr. Pearce yelling and found he had merely suffered a few bruises.

C. C. F. CONVENTION VOTES AS FAVORING TRADE UNIONISM

Calls On Members To Associate Selves Actively With Organizations Of Their Trade

SEEK JOINT DISCUSSIONS

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(CP).— Establishing its position in regard to organized labor, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in national convention here to-day went on record as favoring trade unionism.

In a resolution which was passed by the convention, the National Council called upon its members to associate themselves actively with the organizations of their trade, industry and profession and appealed conversely to the trade unionists to associate in active membership with the C.C.F.

Moving the resolution John Mitchell of Hamilton, president of Ontario C.C.F. said: "The C.C.F. is not antagonistic to organized labor. We recognize the trade unions are not sufficient in themselves and must align themselves with the C. C.F."

The resolution declared "experience had proven that the better the workers in any industry are organized the greater their control over that industry and consequently the higher their standard of living."

It was agreed efforts would be made to have trade union committees and C.C.F. officials meet to discuss matters affecting their common interest.

Dundas Out Of Water Appeals To Hamilton

DUNDAS, Ont., Aug. 5.—(CP).—An emergency appeal was made to the nearby city of Hamilton today as this community of 5,000 persons found itself almost without water. A continued drought has dried up the town's source of supply in the Beverly swamp district.

Laying of a pipeline from Hamilton to Dundas, at an estimated cost of $50,000, is being discussed at Hamilton to-day at a conference of Dundas and Hamilton officials.

Later Edwards, who has won points for Canada in three Olympic meets, placed third in the semi-final, and ran a brilliant race in the final, finishing third.

OVERSEAS VISITORS AGAIN FLOCKING TO GREAT BRITAIN

Influx Greatest In Six Years—France Down 700,000—Tourists Shy Europe

FEAR POLITICAL UNREST

By Thomas T. Champion
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP Cable).—Reliable statistics show England is entertaining more overseas foreign visitors than for six years. There has been a notable increase in several recent seasons in the influx from the continent which has compensated for a heavy decline in the numbers of American tourists. Nevertheless America again arrived this year to the number of 137,500 in June, 4,000 more than during the previous June.

Meanwhile France, according to the French Chamber of Commerce, suffered a drop in the number of tourists of about 700,000, due largely to the high cost of living and the electrified political atmosphere of the continent generally.

Meetings have already been arranged late this summer for hotel organizations to consider the prices to be charged during the coronation celebrations next year. Reputable hotelkeepers of all grades are evincing an anxiety to suppress a disposition to sting tourists. The ordinary business of regular customers will obviously be dislocated for which some compensation is naturally expected. Overseas visitors of small means who are content to find lodgment some distance from the heart of London will probably find no difficulty in securing accommodation.

SAVED A LIFE

Town Goes Without Power While Pigeon is Rescued From Wires.

KEMPTVILLE, Ont., Aug. 5. — (CP).—Residents of this village did not mind going 15 minutes without electrical power yesterday as long as a bird was freed from its prison.

The Hydro office cut off the power after it was swamped by telephone calls asking something be done to free a carrier pigeon which had been caught in high-voltage wires.

The bird was returned to its owner, Ken Willoughby, Smith's Falls.

FIRES IN NORTH CAUSING SMOKE

Grass Fires In District Not Large Enough To Cause All Smoke

BLANKETED BY SMOKE

Inquiry by The Examiner over a wide area north and west of Peterborough led to the conclusion Tuesday afternoon that the fog-like pall of smoke that filled the air throughout the day, was from the forest fires outside of this area, and not solely from grass fires burning within the limits of the county.

A reporter drove north to Lakefield in search of a fire that was reported to have broken out near the waterworks, but found it impossible to run clear of the smoke, which blotted out distant horizons in every direction of the compass. Chief Chittick of Lakefield said he believed there was a fire on Garvey's farm on Buckhorn road or over in Ennismore township far to the west.

Proceeding up Buckhorn road as far as Selwyn, The Examiner found no trace of a grass or bush fire, and on enquiry at Whitmore's store received the opinion from one of Stocks' Limited bread drivers, who had just come down from Buckhorne and Hall's Bridge, that the smoke was from the forest fire in Muskoka. Others in the store agreed with that opinion.

"Why; the whole of Ennismore township could be on fire, and it couldn't raise a smoke like that," they declared.

Proceeding on down to Bridgenorth enquiry at Percy Udy's store evoked the opinion that the smoke was from a bush fire north of Buckhorn. No one there had heard of a fire in Ennismore township, they said.

Calls For The G-Men Thinks Wife Untrue

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 4.—(CP)—How to rid a house of cockroaches and how to prevent rain from spoiling a newly-whitewashed fence were problems that recently faced Ernest Ingersoll, candidate for Congress from the sixth district and "acting congressman."

He was able to help by referring the former to the Department of Agriculture and the latter to the Bureau of Standards, both of which governmental agencies are ready to [illegible]

"I've received stranger requests than those," said Mr. Ingersoll. "One man wanted to know if I couldn't get the G-men to trail his wife because he had an idea she was cheating."

TWO NEW CASES OF PARALYSIS ARE REPORTED

Boy In North Ward And Girl In North Monaghan Are Victims

HOMES QUARANTINED

Two Little Patients Have Received Serum Injections

Two new outbreaks of infantile paralysis — making a total of four in the past four weeks—are reported in the city and suburban area.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, medical officer of health for the city, reports a case in the north ward, the victim being a boy of eight years, while Dr. J. A. Morgan, medical officers of health for North Monaghan township, reports an outbreak of the dread disease on Monaghan road south, the patient being a girl of nine years.

The boy is under the care of Dr. C. M. Scott, and the girl is being attended by Dr. J. H. Eastwood. In both cases it is stated the most stringent precautions are being taken. The little patients have had serum injections, and the respective families have been placed under quarantine.

The two other cases of infantile paralysis were reported in the south end of the city during the early part of July. One of the victims, Lionel Henwood, 9 year old son of Mr. ad Mrs. Sidney Henwood, 183 Lock street, died on the morning of July 15, while the other patient, a boy of 5 years, is making satisfactory progress towards recovery and quarantine restrictions have been removed.

The death of the little Henwood boy, from Poliomyelitis, to give the disease its technical medical name, was the first from this cause in the city since 1933, the the seventh death in a ten year period. According to government health statistics, there were three deaths from Poliomyelitis in this city in 1926; and one in each of the years, 1929, 1930 and 1933

Poliomyelitis is an acute infection which strike quickly, and if not speedily recognized may leave the victims disabled for life. Both of the medical officers of health emphasize that early diagnosis and early treatment are absolutely essential for the satisfactory recovery of the patient.

Symtoms to be regarded as dangerous are fever, headache, vomiting, slight diarrhoea, listlessness, unusual drowsiness and fretfulness. Later and more characteristic symtoms are weakness in any extremity, skin and muscular sensitiveness, spinal pain and rigidity of the neck muscles.

WOMAN DIES AT 102

Mrs. John McMillan Believed Oldest Resident in East Ontario.

CORNWALL, Ont., July 4.—(CP). —Believed to be the oldest woman in Eastern Ontario, Mrs. John McMillan died here yesterday in her 102nd year.

She was born Feb. 20, 1835, at Caledonia, Prescott County, and had lived most of her life in this district.

New World Record Is Set By Cocoa Comet On 200-Metre Course

Five Cows Defy Train But Die as a Result

GODERICH, Aug. 5.—(CP). — When the passenger train from Hamilton plowed into a herd of five dairy cows at a crossing near Walton yesterday, it killed them all outright. The cow catcher and smokestack were spattered with blood and the wheels and undercarriage of the coaches carried away parts of the carcasses. Engineer Phipps said a boy was driving the cattle over a level crossing to a pasture field. The train was travelling about 35 miles an hour. The cows stayed on the tracks directly in the path of the oncoming train.

LAST OF RYAN GANG BELIEVED CAUGHT IN OTTAWA ARREST

Thomas Finnessey Is Held On Charge Of Aiding In Lachute Bank Robbery

SOUGHT SINCE APRIL

OTTAWA, Aug. 5. — (CP). — Thomas Finnessey of Ottawa was arrested early to-day, charged by police with being a member of the gang that held up a bank at Lachute, Que., in April. Police suspect Norman "Red" Ryan and Harry Checkley, Toronto bank robbers killed in a Sarnia, Ont., liquor store hold-up, May 23, were implicated in the Lachute job.

The arrest of Thomas Finnessey in Ottawa for armed hold-up of a bank at Lachute, Que., may mean the last of the gang has been caught that Norman "Red" Ryan gathered about him while posing as a reformed criminal.

With the death of Ryan and his pal, Harry Checkley, shot down May 23 in an attempted hold-up of the Sarnia liquor store, police immediately began a search for Edward McMullen and Finnessey.

McMullen, known as an old acquaintance of Ryan, was fatally injured a week later by his own gun at Blaine, Wash., when he attempted to cross from Canada to the United States. In killing an immigration officer, a bullet from McMullen's gun pierced his own head as he fired over his shoulder.

Police named McMullen as the slayer of Councillor E. A. Stonehouse of Markham, near Toronto, Feb. 29, in a car thieving expedition.

The search then continued for Finnessey, believed by police to have been connected with the red-headed gang leader.

The Bank of Nova Scotia at Lachute was held up April 14 and more than $3,500 stolen.

Dr. Phil Edwards Qualifies For Finals In 1,500-Metre Run

LEE ORR FIFTH

Larry O'Connor Of Cobourg Enters 100-Metre Semi-Finals

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—(CP Cable)—Jesse Owens, cocoa comet of the United States, today roared over the 200-metre course in 20.7 seconds, creating a new world record for the distance around one turn, to become a triple champion of the 11th Olympiad.

In the smoking wake of the former winner of the 100-metre and broad jump events came Matthew Robinson, another American Negro, followed by Martinus Osendarp of Holland.

Lee Orr, slender young Canadian, pulled into fifth place behind Haenni of Switzerland.

Edwards Qualifies.

Just before Orr, 21-year-old Vancouver athlete, added the two points to Canada's point total in the track and field standing. Dr. Phil Edwards qualified for tomorrow's final of the classic 1,500-metre run and beautiful Betty Taylor, Hamilton co-ed, earned a final berth in the women's 80-metre hurdles.

Edwards, colored Montreal physician who finished third in Tuesday's 800-metre thriller, went into the final of the metric mile with a third place in a trial won by the defending champion, Luigi Beccali of Italy.

Miss Taylor, 19-year-old co-ed of McMaster University, won her trial in the obstacle race and came back with a second place behind the Italian, Miss Valla, in the semi-finals.

Larry O'Connor, of Cobourg, son of Judge O'Connor, made the 110-metre semi-finals by fishing second in a preliminary heat won by the South African, Lavery, in 15 seconds flat. However, long Jim Worrall, Canada's second starter, was eliminated when he ran third behind Finlay, English star, and Murakami, of Japan.

Finlay and Fritz Pollard, Jr., of the United States, had the good time of 14.7 seconds in winning their trials.

Along with the 1-2 finish of the two Negroes in the sprint, Ken Carpenter and Gordon Dunn of the United States took the first two places in the discus throw. Carpenter lifted the Olympic record for the toss to 165 feet 7 29-64 inches. The previous standard was 162 feet 4⅞ inches

Owens crowned his four days of record-blasting before an afternoon crowd which was short of capacity for the first time since competition started Sunday.

He broke fast from the marks, taking the lead immediately and opened a good gap leaving the turn with Osendarp second. Robinson rushed up and passed the Hol-

FARMERS BATTLE BLAZE IN DOURO

Five Acres Are Burned Over On The Farm Of Mrs. James Buckley

One hundred men and boys worked in heat and smoke to a late hour Tuesday evening to check a large grass fire on the farm of Mrs. James Buckley on the 6th Line of Douro. Five acres were burned, but no grain or property other than a fence line was lost.

The cause of the blaze is unknown. It broke out early in the afternoon and spread very rapidly before a strong westerly breeze. Located in a field on the west side of the road, it offered a serious threat to the farm of Joseph Leahy, immediately across the road, but the direction of the wind and the fortunate insulation offered by the road, saved the buildings.

The smoke from the blaze attracted volunteer fire fighters by the score and they went to work with buckets and old sacks. As evening arrived, it appeared that the fire had been completely checked but blazes sprang up anew at several points and the large body of men returned to the fight after supper.

Offer To Cover His Bet Finds Coughlin Silent

Priest's Associate However Claims "They Aren't Taking Proposal Seriously"

DOUBTS CASH AVAILABLE

DETROIT, August 5 (A.P.).—An associate of Father Charles E. Coughlin has declared "we aren't taking seriously" the proposal of a Providence, R.I., business man to cover a $25,000 bet reported to have been offered by Father Coughlin that Rep. William Lemke, Union Party candidate for President, would lead Governor Alfred M. Landon in the November election.

Father Coughlin, reported to have offered the bet at 3-2 odds in a speech at East Providence, R.I., on Sunday could not be reached for comment.

Perin Schwartz, editor of "Social Justice," publication of Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice, said the radio priest "may comment later, but we aren't taking the matter seriously."

[illegible] that much money," Schwartz added, "and I'm certain that, if he had, he could find better uses for it than to bet. Besides, isn't betting illegal?"

The Providence Evening Bulletin said in a copyrighted story yesterday Frederick L. Jenckes, former head of the Manville-Jenckes Company, had telegraphed Father Coughlin that he was prepared to post $16,666.66 in a Providence bank to cover the bet.

Deep Sea Fisher Thought He Had Lunge But It Turns Out to Be The Islinda

WAIT until Mrs. Mers E. Baker gets back among her husband's friends in Great Neck, Long Island, with a fish story from Katchawanooka Lake that is a gem as a little dignity-chaser.

Mr. Baker's sports hobby is deep sea fishing, tarpon, sail fish, barracuda, and all that range of big ones which only the aces of angling go after in the big time circuit of the rod and line experts. Having heard about Kawartha muskies, Mr. Baker decided to come up for two weeks, and has taken Fred Marshall's log cabin cottage on the Smith shore of Katchawanook, a mile or so north of Lakefield.

With pleasant water attracting him up toward Young's Point, Mr. Baker didn't waste much time ashore on his arrival. He selected some of his best line and a sure-fire trolling plug, and started out in a power boat, leaving almost slowly with about 400 feet of line out. Mr. Baker was expectant and ready to show any sized muskie what happened to tarpons and stings when they grabbed his line. And right then something struck his nooks with a mighty pull. He had crossed in front of the Islinda which was idling along towards Young's Point, and glancing back for a sign of fins above water, Mr. Baker knew he had a fight on his hands. He increased the speed of his motor and began reeling away so vigorously that he rubbed flesh off his thumb.

Pat Young, at the wheel of the Islinda, felt his boat losing direction, and suspecting the cause, signalled for more steam. Something had to happen, and it did. Mr. Bakers line broke, and thoughts of defeat weighed on him all the way back to the cottage. He told his wife about losing this first big muskie, and by way of impressing her with the keenness of the struggle, he measured the length of the fish on a log of the cottage. Nearly ten feet it was, almost in the barracuda class, and what a fighter. It was a grand story, and there was another day to go after that fellow.

When the Islinda was tied up at Young's Point, Pat Young scanned the bow below the water line, and discovered a plug with its hooks bended in the oar. He [illegible] them out and [illegible] noticed where Mr. Baker was staying, he gave the plug to a Lakefield man, and asked him to deliver it to the cottage.

Nothing in the line of wraps or other presents is going to purchase Mrs. Baker's silence when she gets home, not after the graphic measuring of ten feet along the side of the house and the heroic details. That story is just too good to keep from the gang down in Great Neck.

Mother Hubbard's Dog Sends Quints Into Tears

Bare Cupboard Tragedy Is Solved As Emilie Puts Bacon On Pup's Picture

TELL DR. DAFOE

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 5. — (CP).—The Dionne quintuplets often have demonstrated their remarkable sensitiveness but it took old Mother Hubbard and her hungry dog to bring on a real sympathetic crying party among the 26 months old babies.

When their nurses had finished reading the nursery rhyme which tells of the bare cupboard, Emilie became excited. She peered intently at the picture of the dog in the book and then cried and cried. Her sisters were affected and the nurse had trouble getting Emilie to sleep.

In the morning she still seemed upset but when bacon was served for breakfast she flew from the table and grabbed the book and carefully placed a slice on the picture of the dog. At once the other four brightened up and they chattered away, happy that Emilie had solved the problem that baffled Mother Hubbard.

"I was amazed when I went into their nursery," Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe said in telling about the incident. "Emilie came running to me with the book stained with tears and bacon to show me her solution of the problem, and to hear the story. And [illegible] she carry the book with her to the playground during the play hour."

Beaverton Chief Is Acquitted Of Charge

WHITBY, Aug. 5 (CP).—A charge of reckless driving against Chief of Police Hetor Reid of Beaverton was dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee yesterday. Norman Wetherup of Oshawa was fined $10 and costs on a similar charge.

Cars driven by Chief Reid and Wetherup collided July 21. Witnesses said Wetherup was about to make a left turn when the chief's car ran into the rear of Wetherup's car. Wetherup declared he put out his hand to signal his intention of turning. Chief Reid said no signal was made.

A charge of failing to make a proper signal, preferred against Wetherup, was dismissed.

Children Suspected Of Wheeling Tot Off As Mother Shopped

Disappearance Starts Two-Hour Search By Eight Scout Cars

PARENTS FRANTIC

Citizen Hears Cries And Discovers Missing Lad Beside His Home

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP)—Three-months-old Danny Harbison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harbison, Toronto, is safely back in his mother's arms to-day after his two-hour absence last night was responsible for the concentration of eight police scout and cruiser cars in the district surrounding his home.

Danny and his pram disappeared from the front of a store at the corner of Dundas and Seaton streets while his mother was in shopping last night. Two hours later, he was found, still in his pram, in a narrow alleyway between two houses less than a block from the store. John Holden, a resident of one of the houses, was attracted by his crying.

Police say they believe the child was taken by children in a spirit of playfulness, while his mother was in the store. Later the children left the baby in the alleyway and departed from the scene.

Finds Baby Gone

"I thought perhaps my husband had passed on his way home and recognized the perambulator," said the mother. "So I wasn't terribly worried as I hurried home. But I did worry when I arrived home and they said the baby wasn't there."

John Holden ended the frantic search when he heard a baby's cry in the alleyway beside his home. He brought the child into the house and communicated with police. Three minutes later, little Danny was back in his mother's arms, apparently amazed at the fuss everybody was making over him.

Waterworks Finds Its Graph Haywire

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 5.—(CP)—Waterworks officials in London, early this year, gathered statistics for the past 20 years and prepared a graph giving advance information on droughts. The graph indicated there would be an abundanceof rain in 1936, with the drought cycle ended for another five-year period. With the past seven months constituting one of the dryest periods on record, waterworks officials are prepared to throw away the graph and depend on the weatherman for their information.

TULLY HOLSTEINS MAKE TOP SCORES IN R. O. P. TESTS

Two Cows From Otonabee Herd Lead Dominion In Two Classes

THIRD CLOSE TO TOP

Joseph Tully of Otonabee Township, young breeder of Holstein cattle, has won a notable success with his herd in the record of performance tests for June as reported in this month's issue of the Holstein-Friesian World.

Of the Holstein cows throughout Canada that qualified during June two from Mr. Tully's herd were leaders in separate divisions, and a third was close to the top in another division.

In the 365-day test for three-year-old cows "Alcartra May Susie" was credited with the highest score in this division having produced during that period 18,446 pounds of milk that rated 3.21 per cent. of butter fat, and butter production of 740 pounds.

"Alberkerk Ormsby Lady" ranked eighteenth in the two-year-old class with 11,628 pounds of milk with a butter fat percentage of 3.57, and 518 pounds of butter.

In the 305-day test, sub-division B, mature class "Millbrook Dewdrop" was first with 16,746 pounds of milk; 3.6 per cent. of butter fat; and 753 pounds of butter. And in this class "Burke Ormsby Alberkerk" was tenth with the score of 11,767 pounds of milk; 3.87 per cent. butter fat; and 568 pounds of butter.

In the four-year-old class of the 305-day test "Holmview Korndyke Burke Ormsby" turned in a score for third place of 14,727 pounds of milk; 3.57 per cent. butter fat; and 620 pounds of butter.

These Holstein cows are all owned and fed by Mr. Tully who is one of the youngest successful breeders in the district.

"Joe Tully promises to become one of the outstanding Holstein breeders in Canada," the Examiner was told by a man who is well informed about dairy progress in this part of the province. "These cows mated with the outstanding show bull 'Hay's Supreme' should produce exceptional progeny for milk records and also high class animals for the show ring."

KIEL, Germany, Aug. 5 (CP-Havas)—Germany's oldest naval officer will receive from the commander of the British cruiser Neptune, now visiting here, the bell of the German battleship Hindenburg, scuttled at Scapa Flow in 1919. The bell has been on the bridge of the British battleship Revenge.

LOYALIST DRIVE ROUTS REBELS MOUNTAIN PASS

Madrid Authorities Begin Roundup Arresting 600 Fascists, Monarchists

CLEAR PUBLIC OFFICES

Insurgent War Supplies Reported Running Low In North

By Roman Blardony
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 5.—Hard-driving Loyalists, inspired by military successes in the Guadarrama Mountains, reported to-day a smashing defeat of a rebel column near Avila.

A squadron of Liberal fliers from Navelperal routed the Fascist caravan of 70 trucks, the Government said, during a rain of bombs.

Eighty of the rebels died in the aerial assault and the column was scattered, the official report said. The Fascist forces were en route to the mountain passes to reinforce insurgent troops.

After the encounter, loyal soldiers seized 11 of the trucks and a quantity of machine guns, it was said.

In Madrid, Leftist authorities began a dual drive against Rightist sympathizers and supporters. More than 600 Fascist and Monarchists were arrested in a police roundup.

Officials continued the purge of public offices by dismissing Antonio Tanovas, Spanish Consul at Gibraltar, and numerous other public functionaries.

The rebel advance on the capital, the government claimed, was blocked by steel defences in the Guadarrama Mountain passes. In addition, officials asserted loyal forces had prevented landing of Moroccan troops on the mainland.

Prefer Surrender.

"Granada, Zaragoza, Cordoba, Oviedo, and Seville could be captured any day," the government said, "only the government wishes to force the surrender of the rebel strongholds and shed the least blood possible."

A radio message, reported to have been sent from Fascist northern headquarters in Burgos to Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, was interpreted as saying:

"We are exhausting our war materials. We have no other solution to avoid our daily critical situation but to advance rapidly on Madrid, break through the iron chain in the mountains and seize the capital through joint co-operation.

"If we capture Madrid, we will have the whole of Spain in our hands. If we do not succeed in doing this, we foresee our destruction."

Among those arrested in Madrid was Melquaides Alvarez, leader of the Liberal Democratic Party. He was seized while hiding in the home of one of his daughters.

The rebels apparently did not expect to meet such determined resistance as offered by government troops in the mountain battle, said Indalencio Prieto, Leftist leader.

TIN CAN TOURISTS

Nearly 600 Auto Trailer Houses Expected at Ohio Rally.

SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Word picture of what happens when tin can tourists get together: "We sing and we dance," said Elliott L. Gyger, "and we play cards and we pitch horse shoes—and we eat. Ever eat a steak cooked on a portable stove? Well, come up and see me some time."

Gyger is secretary of the Tin Can Tourists of the World, who are holding their summer conclave during the next two weeks. About 600 automobile trailer houses and some 1,800 men, women and children from all parts of Canada and the United States are expected.

Seventy-two per cent. of the talkies shown in Greece last season were American.

Dionne Quints Are Canada's Best Tourist Magnet

There is no doubt that the Dionne quintuplets are Canada's No. 1 tourist attraction. Hundreds of motor cars bring thousands of visitors to see the famous youngsters every day. Upper left is a gas station clock which indicates the next visiting hour. "J. Dionne" is an uncle of the babies. Upper right shows a young Toronto visitor drawing Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, quint physician, out of the picture and away on a promised visit to the babies. Below is a scene duplicated every day before the Dafoe Nursery. The people packed together at the right are waiting for the gates to visitors' gallery to be opened. On the upper left of the picture is the Dionne home where the quints were born, and in the centre is the new house being built for the babies' staff. Part of the nursery may be seen at the right.

JOBS ARE FOUND FOR 12,722 MEN OF RELIEF CAMPS

Railway Companies Express Satisfaction With Extra Gangs' Work

U.S. MAY TRY PLAN

By WILLIAM MARCHINGTON.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5.—Satisfactory reports have been received by the Department of Labor in connection with transference of more than 10,000 single homeless men from relief camps throughout the Dominion to jobs on the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

More than 21,000 young men were housed in the camps when the Federal Government decided to close them this spring and to find employment for the men on the railways, on the farms and elsewhere.

12,722 Placed.

A report obtained yesterday from the Department of Labor showed that 12,722 men have been placed with the railways on maintenance-of-way work for which they were paid $2.50 a day. Broadly speaking, the railway companies are quite pleased with their work. The men live in boarding cars, and are per-

CITIZENS FIGHT DOG TAX LEVY

Twenty Police Called To Newfoundland Hamlet To Settle Issue

GUNS ARE USED

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A cutter-load of police returned from Port Nelson yesterday with several prisoners taken, they reported, under slight gunfire they silenced before leaving.

The cutter with twenty policemen aboard was despatched last Friday to investigate a report of Constable Richards of Greenspond, near Port Nelson, that he had been defied in his attempts to collect a dog tax.

Port Nelson residents claimed failure of the fisheries left them no money to pay.

A government act required extermination of a certain breed of dog in specified localities and the licensing of all dogs.

The fee was 15 cents for males and $2 for females.

Residents at Port Nelson resented the order as they maintained their dogs were a necessity in hunting sea birds for food and in obtaining firewood for the winters.

Magistrate Bardley went aboard the cutter at Catalina.

At Port Nelson, he said, he went ashore to try to effect a settlement with the thirty families, all of whom, he reported, kept from one to thirteen dogs.

Bardley said the residents, reinforced by others from Shambler's Cove, told him they wanted no interference with their animals.

Summonses Ignored.

An officer on the cutter issued summonses against eight persons but they ignored them.

Bardley said he thereupon issued warrants for arrest.

Two dories, under Sergeant Humber, with six men aboard, put off for shore and made several arrests.

On their way back, Humber said, shots were fired at them. Putting about, Humber said, his men advanced under a fusillade and seized a man named White with an old, muzzle-loading shotgun.

Lodged In Jail.

Last night White and the other unidentified prisoners were lodged in jail here. Newspapermen were forbidden to interview them.

White was charged with shooting at a police sergeant with intent to do him bodily harm, and was held in default of $4,000 bail for a hearing a week from today.

Native Of Quebec Laughs At Claim Of Flint Woman With Only 44

HAS 54 IN 'GREAT' LIST

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 5.—(CP)—Mrs. Frank Pilon, native of Quebec City who lives at River Rouge, pretty well established her right to the title of "America's champion grandmother" with the admission today she has 71 living grandchildren.

Previously newspapers carried a story of a Flint, Mich., woman acclaimed title holder at the birth of her 44th grandchild.

"I wouldn't want it said that I was seeking the title of champion grandmother," Mrs. Pilon said. "I wouldn't go looking for a thing like that. But that woman in Flint they are making such a fuss over because she has 44 grandchildren —why that's nothing, compared to Mr. Pilon and myself."

In addition to their 71 grandchildren the Pilons have 54 living great-grandchildren. Mr. Pilon, born at Montreal, has been married twice and has one extra grandchild.

Mr. Pilon is 90 years old; Mrs. Pilon, the former Delphine Watters, is 76. They are the parents of 17 children, 12 of whom are living.

WOULD PURCHASE SMALL WOOD LOT

Lorne Woodcock Appears Before City Council—Wants To Sell Fifty Cords

If the city would give him an order for 50 cords of wood at $3 a cord Lorne Woodcock told the council Tuesday night he could buy a wood lot of 25 acres eight miles from the city for $100, build himself a house after the model of the pioneers, and eventually earn a living for himself.

Mr. Woodcock said he was not asking for a grant of money. He could finance the purchase if the city would guarantee to buy fifty cords of the wood he planned to cut. By beginning now he hoped to get part of the property cleared before winter. The black muck ground promised favorable conditions for growing celery, and in the meantime he could sell the rest of the wood as he cut it.

Mayor Macdonald advised Mr. Woodcock to meet the relief committee Thursday night.

More than 3,000,000 houses have been built in Britain since the World war.

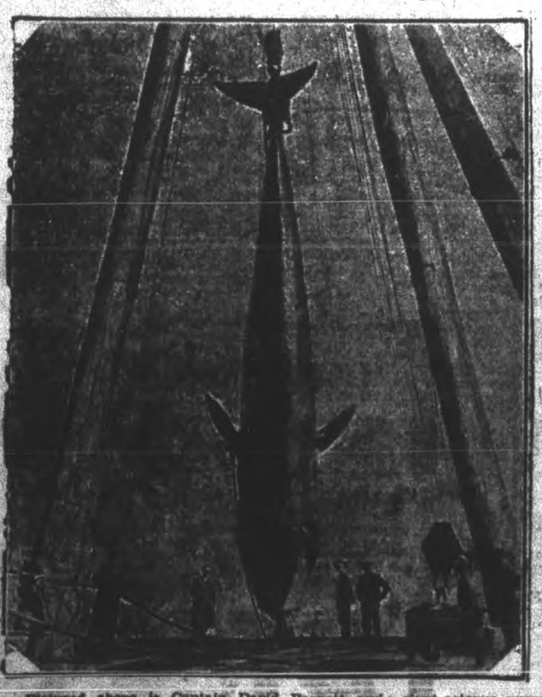
Monster Whale and His Captor



Pictured above is Captain David Barnett and "Colossus," the monster 68 ton whale measuring over 85 feet in length, which was captured by the whaling boat "Hercules," in command of Capt. Barnett, off the coast of Mexico. "Colossus" gave Capt. Barnett and his crew a sixteen hour battle. This monster mammal along with other marine oddities, such as giant octopus, sword fish and swordfish, will be on exhibit in Peterboro for two days only, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 7th and 8th, from 10.30 a.m. till 11 p.m. on the C.N.R. tracks at the station on Charlotte street. Included in this exhibit is the only travelling display of live penguins in Canada. Madame Sirwell and her troupe of trained fleas is also an attraction of this exhibit.

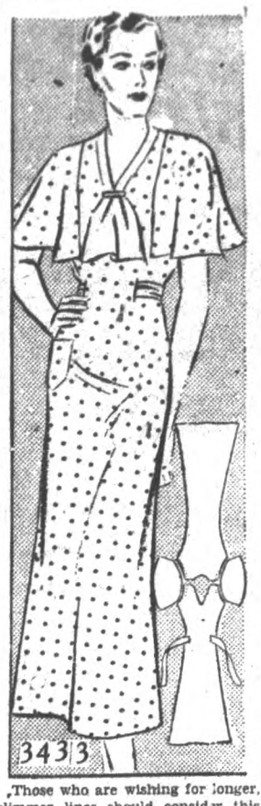
Fashion Service



Those who are wishing for longer, slimmer lines should consider this cool dress. It has charming lines for the mature figure with several helpful points into the bargain.

It can be inexpensively made at home in a few hours.

Only two major parts to th pattern. Capelets cover the sleeveless arms. Think how cool you'll feel in the band trimmed V-neck. The gathered jabot detracts beautifully from undue bodice breadth. Another interesting detail is the half-way belt to slim your waistline. For heavier figures, the all-round belt has a rather cutting effect.

As for materials, you've a splendid choice, as sheer or sturdy cottons, linen or tub silks.

Lovely aqua blue shantung with white polka dots made this model sketched.

Style No. 3433, is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Just Between Us Women

A Daily Chat With Examiner Neighbors Conducted by Roberta.

"HE hath never fed of the dainties that are bred in a book; he hath not eat paper, as it were; he hath not drunk ink; his intellect is not replenished; he is only an animal, only sensible in the duller parts."
—Shakespeare. ("Love's Labor's Lost").

Dear Friends:

What do you like to read? From my earliest recollections I have read, everything and anything, just so long as I could be reading. Went to school at four years, and can remember the thrill that letters and words gave me.

Each word resembled to me the grown-ups that I know, and each of the letters, looked like the ones I played with. But even then I kept my thoughts to myself, for I had learned that grown-ups laughed at you if you spoke of things that thrilled you, which to them were mere commonplaces.

I used to like long stories, but now I like newspapers and magazines, because I get more variety in them. But I still read about two good-sized books a week. How do I find time? Oh, I read in bed.

But the printed word has always had a fascination for me, and where I didn't use to like history, I find myself liking it more and more.

How far you can travel with your daily newspaper. To me, a newspaper correspondent is like a knight in shining armour, conquering time and space, so that you and I will know the way the rest of the world lives.

The average reporter sees life in the raw, life when it reaches the lowest dregs, and yet despite all this, I do not think there are a more generous or understanding group than these same reporters.

No, I am not trying to curry favor with any of them. In fact, to tell you the truth, they do not know who I am any more than you do.

But the other day a group of us were talking, and the subject cropped up as to the work we all liked best. They spoke of the various things I had worked at, such as social secretary, office work, selling things, companion secretary, etc., and one of them said, "What work did you like best to do?"

So I told them that for years and years I had longed to be a newspaper woman. To me, life would be finished if I could not write or read, and no book can give you a full meal of reading as a newspaper can.

In books, an author can say the things he or she would hesitate to speak with his tongue, and so we get the thoughts that God has sent to him. When I was young I read all of Jules Verne's works, "Twenty Leagues Under the Seas," something about being up in a balloon, and later had the satisfaction of seeing these incredible things come true, in our submarine boats, and in airplanes.

And so, let us be thankful to those who invented words and letters, those who wrote books, and best of all, those who started to write newspapers. They used to be dry and prosy, but now we have a variety of every kind. Machines busy day and night, so that we can know how the rest of the world is doing.

Newspapers and radio have brought the people closer together, because you cannot read about the things that take place at the ends of the earth, nor realize that they also are reading about us, without feeling that white or black, far or near, we are all one big family, and that if one part of this family is suffering, it will eventually get round to us. Aren't you glad we have them. Let me know.

Your friend,
ROBERTA.

GIRL 17, DECIDES ON NEW PARENTS

Ends Dispute Started As Baby When Hospital Switch Is Suspected

MACON, Ga., Aug. 5.—(AP).—A dark-haired girl, claimed by two families in a baby mix-up seventeen years ago, left to-day the one which reared her in favor of the other which she hadn't seen until a week ago.

In making the decision the attractive girl raised by the Daniel L. Pittmans of Atlanta as Louise Madeline Pittman, exercised her court-granted privilege and decided she was the daughter of the John C. Garners of Macon.

It was in 1919 that Mrs. Garner and Mrs. Pittman gave birth to daughters at Grady Hospital, city-operated institution in Atlanta. Mrs. Garner's baby was born on May 22, Mrs. Pittman's May 13. When they left the hospital the Garners said the baby given them was not theirs.

Long Dispute.

Months passed and the dispute raged. Then it was decided to let the hospital superintendent decide the parentage. Before his decision came, the baby the Garners named Mary Elizabeth died.

Judge George L. Bell ruled in 1920 the child would remain with the Pittmans "until of an age to make a voluntary choice of her own deciding."

Last week Louise Madeline came to visit the Garners, who moved to Macon two years ago from Atlanta. Neighbors said they noted a strong resemblance between the Garner's three other girls as they stood together.

"I love the Pittmans, of course," said Louise Madeline. "They were good to me, but somehow I haven't felt they were my parents. I do feel the Garners are and that these are my sisters."

In Atlanta, grey-haired Mrs. Pittman, mother of two other children, was just as confident the girl is her child.

"God is my guide," she said. "I know Louise Madeline is my baby, and I have all the faith in the world that she will return to me."

Not Bridesmaids This Time

Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose had always been bridesmaids when they attended wedding before. But when Hon. Jean Elphinstone and John Wills were married at St. Margaret's, Westminster, they attended as guests. Princess Elizabeth seems pleased with the new role, but her younger sister appears doubtful that she likes it as well. Pictured with the children is their mother, the Duchess of York, who is a niece of the bride.

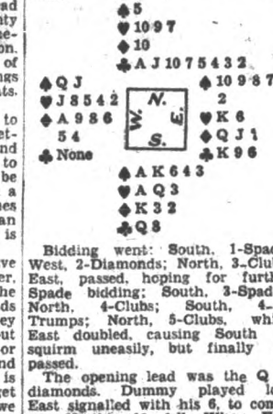
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard

"Teacher to Teachers"

UNADAPTED TO NO TRUMPS

There are hands like that of North, in today's diagram, that cannot allow partner a no trump contract, except in rare cases. Partner's bid and rebid of his own suit, then his no trump shift, made only to state that he cannot bid his suit higher and has no other suit to show, certainly prohibits all thought of a final no trump make.



Bidding went: South, 1-Spade; West, 2-Diamonds; North, 3-Clubs; East, passed, hoping for further Spade bidding; South, 3-Spades; North, 4-Clubs; South, 4-No Trumps; North, 5-Clubs, which East doubled, causing South to squirm uneasily, but finally he passed.

The opening lead was the Q of diamonds. Dummy played low. East signalled with his 6, to come-on. North's 10 fell. When East led the J of diamonds North ruffed. The singleton spade was led. Dummy's K and Ace won the next two tricks, affording declarer an opportunity to discard his lowest heart on the second trick in dummy. The Q of trumps was led from dummy. West showed out, but declarer allowed East's K to win.

East led his last diamond, taking out dummy's K. Declarer ruffed, then he picked up East's two remaining trumps, by leading the J and 10. He still had plenty of trumps left. The 10 of hearts was led. With only two of the suit East played his K. The Ace and Q won the two heart tricks that North required to fulfill his contract. All he had to do was to ruff a heart and spread his hand.

Had South been allowed to play either 2-Spades or at no trumps he would have suffered considerably. Clubs was the only game contract about the board.

A letter from Elkhart, Ind., asks if East can make a small slam on the following hand, with hearts as trumps.

The opening lead is the Ace of clubs. Tomorrow the answer will be given. South opened the auction with 1-No Trump, which West doubled for partner to show his best suit.

RURAL LASSIES HAVE TIME TO PLAY

Farmer's Daughter Can Arrange Relaxation Hours To Attend Social Functions

TORONTO, August 5. (CP)—"The farmer who owns his own farm is comparatively a free and happily-placed man. His life is enormously preferable to that of the great mass of city folk, confined in box-like rooms. As for long hours of labor, the agriculturist has nothing on the average newspaper editor."

This is the reaction of the editor of The Mail and Empire to a discussion of "The Girl on the Farm." One of his correspondents says:

"The old-fashioned way is certainly the safest and the best. Believe me, dear editor, when I say I know what I am writing about for I have been 'The Girl on the Farm;' I have been 'The Mother on the Farm,' and I am now 'The Grandmother on the Farm.'

"I do not confuse the positions held by the hired girl and the girl who is living in her own home on the farm. The former has her duties to perform from weekend to weekend with her afternoon or evenings off as pre-arranged ....her reward.... her monthly wages; while the girl on the farm, although she may do approximately the same work, is not called on to follow the same cut-and-dried routine. She can arrange for her relaxations as they come; can plan her work to have time to attend the Women's Institute meeting, the Missionary Society tea or the church tea-party, and I can assure you she is suitably dressed for these occasions and has in her purse the necessary spending money.

"Now every girl and young woman is looking forward to the time when she will have a home of her own, and I think one of the most enjoyable periods of her life is spent in planning and getting ready so many pretty and necessary things for the future love nest.

"She and mother in whispered conferences arrange for the selling of some early chickens that glossy table linen may find its way into the hope chest, or send the surplus eggs to market to meet the price of that lovely glassware that will make the farm girl's eyes sparkle. Next the bedding is got together—quilts, sheets, pillow cases, goose-feather pillows and last, but not least, a feather mattress; then follows towels fancy work, silverware, until all that is necessary for future use is provided.

"The farm girl's wedding clothes will be just as suitable, if not as expensive, as those of the city girl, and when dad hands over the cheque to pay for the furniture of the new home nothing is lacking, not even the shower already given by the neighborhood girls."

It is the custom in the country districts for the bride's father to give the furnishings for the home, if his daughted is to live on a farm as wife and housekeeper.

MAIL-ORDER BRIDE PLANS HER FUTURE

Georgia Girl Signs Novel Pact With Chinese Husband

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(CP)—When Ruby Nell Anthony, former Georgia Sunday school teacher, became the mail-order bride of Joseph Wang, Harlem laundry proprietor, she signed a pact agreeing to bear him at least one child, but not more than two. The pact, signed by both parties, also reveals Wang as the family business head taking care of such matters as "property, business, home and money."

It was three months ago that Mr. Wang met his wife, who came here by bus from Lavonia, Ga., where she had read one of Wang's handbills advertising for a "really true and honest devoted Christian wife," who would not mind helping him wash shirts and collars in his laundry. Wang had distributed 1,000 handbills in Harlem churches, and one of them had got down to Georgia.

Since his marriage, May 5, to the Georgian, who is 22 years old and speaks in a quiet drawl, the diminutive Chinese has developed a passion for the study of law, and has set up a nine-shelf library of law books in his laundry. His greatest achievement, he admits, is the contract which he and his wife signed as something to "go on" in the future. It was witnessed by Mrs. Wang's mother, Mrs. Eathel Anthony. It was duly notorized, and it supercedes other pacts signed at the time of the marriage.

Promises Made

The contract, which does not exactly repudiate the Oriental conception of the wife's station in the household, follows:

"The following is what Joseph Wang had promised Ruby Nell anthony:"

"1. Joseph Wang had promised to be faithful and true and honest to Ruby Nell Anthony and love her alone for the whole lifetime. If Joseph Wang loves any other women, by this agreement, Ruby Nell Anthony can punish Joseph Wang by putting him in jail for one year, if this matter can be proved, and can divorce him.

"2. Joseph Wang had promised to try his best to keep a home, to support Ruby Nell Anthony, and to make a success for the future.

"3 Joseph Wang had promised Ruby Nell Anthony always to live a Christian life and never to drink liquor, smoke or gamble.

"4. Joseph Wang had promised Ruby Nell Anthony always to keep a home in the United States, and not to sell the home unless both Ruby Nell Anthony and Joseph Wang decide together to do otherwise.

"The following is what Ruby Nell Anthony had promised to Joseph Wang:

"1. Ruby Nell Anthony had promised to be faithful and true and honest to Joseph Wang, to love Joseph Wang alone for whole lifetime and not to have any other man friend. If Ruby Nell Anthony loves any other man or has any other man friend, by this agreement, Joseph Wang can leave and divorce Ruby Nell Anthony without giving anything whatever, of this matter can be proved to be true.

"2. Ruby Nell Anthony had promised to Joseph Wang not to be lazy and to try her best to do what she can to assist Joseph Wang in business and home to make their future success, so that Joseph Wang can have some chance to study engineering. Ruby Nell Anthony promised Joseph Wang always to live a Christian life and never to drink liquor, or smoke or gamble.

"3. Ruby Nell Anthony had promised Joseph Wang to go back and forth with Joseph Wang to open the engineering school in China some day, to let Joseph Wang manage his property, business, home and money, and to have one or two children (but not more than two) and train the children strictly and lead them to know the truth of God."

Weddings

ADAMS—McCOLL.

The marriage took place on Monday at St. John's Anglican Church, of George Edwin Adams of Welland, formerly of Hamilton, and Myra Jane McColl of Norwood. The Rev. W. P. Robertson officiated.

Attendants were the brother-in-law and sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rothwell of Peterborough.

JONES—HAYES

A pretty wedding was solemnized quietly at six o'clock on Monday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when the Rev. J. C. Carroll solemnized the Nuptial Mass and ceremony for Catherine Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hayes of Keene, and Joseph Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of Lock street. The wedding music was played by Miss Veronica Scolland, A.T.C.M.

The bride's dress was of pale blue crepe. She wore a white hat, white slippers and gloves and carried a bouquet of vari-colored gladioli tied with white tulle.

Miss Elizabeth Hayes, twin sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of flowered crepe with white hat and accessories and bouquet of gladioli.

Henry Jones was best man for his brother.

After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left by motor for Rochester and Niagara Falls. On their return, they will live on Lansdowne street.

WARREN—COOKE.

St. George's Anglican Church was prettily decorated with flowers for the wedding on Saturday afternoon of Betty Cooke, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cooke, to William Warren, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Lennox Warren, both of Peterborough. The Rev. T. S. Gault officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length dress of white crepe with yolk and capelet of white satin and trimming of robins' egg blue velvet ribbon. She wore a large white hat, white slippers and gloves, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and gypsophila.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marjorie Mackness, was in blue taffeta, with white hat and white accessories and bouquet of roses and gypsophila.

Allan Warren was best man for his brother and the wedding music was played by Mrs. R. King, with Tom Maudsley as soloist, singing "O Perfect Love."

After the ceremony, dainty refreshments were served at the home of the bride's parents, with table decorations in pink and white.

Mr. Warren and his bride left later by motor for Montreal and the United States, on a honeymoon trip.

MILLIDGE—MACFARLANE.

Vari-colored gladioli, palms and ferns decorated Alhambra United Church, Toronto, on Saturday afternoon, for the wedding of Jessie Elizabeth Macfarlane, daughter of M. and Mrs. J. Lorne Macfarlane, of Toronto (summer residents of Chemong Park), to John Ainslie Millidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Millidge of Toronto, formerly of Winnipeg. The Rev. J. Ewing Reid performed the ceremony, and J. H. Renwick, (formerly of Peterborough), played the wedding music. William Biley sang during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an effective gown of pale pink chiffon fashioned with a slight train. Her Queen Anne hat was of pale pink net with a short veil, and she carried a shower bouquet of Madam Butterfly roses and bouvardia. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Margaret Macfarlane, wearing a frock of American Beauty shade chiffon, with picture hat of matching color and bouquet of snapdragon in harmonizing shades. Alan Davidson was best man.

A small reception was held afterward at the home of the bride's parents on Hewitt avenue, where Mrs. Macfarlane received in a gown of flowered chiffon with pleated jacket of navy silk net, a hat of natural shade straw trimmed with navy, and corsage of roses to blend with her gown. Mrs. Millidge wore pale grey chiffon with dark trimming, matching hat and corsage of dark red roses. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Macfarlane of Waterloo and Miss Margaret Jackson of Seaforth, were among the out-of-town guests.

After a motor trip to Montreal, the Adirondacks and the Northern states, Mr. and Mrs. Millidge will live in Toronto. The bride travelled in a suit of silk ratine in natural shade, with figured blouse, coral felt hat banded in brown leather, brown accessories and Donegal tweed travel coat.

SMITH—BENSON

A wedding of local interest was solemnized at King street United Church, Oshawa, on Saturday, August 1st, at one o'clock in the afternoon, when Solveig Marie Benson, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Benson of Oshawa, formerly of Peterborough, became the bride of Donald Hugh Smith of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Smith of Perth, Ontario. The Rev. R. Johnston McCormick officiated. Palms and ferns decorated the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, came in to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. R. Holden, who also played as an organ solo, Grieg's "I Love Thee", during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown of white Dresden lace over satin was fashioned on princess lines with high neckline ornamented with pearls, a jacket finished with Peter Pan collar and buttons trimming the front, and sleeves full to the elbow where they were gathered into tightly-fitting sections to the wrist and ended in points over the fingers. She wore a hat of matching lace and carried a bouquet of deep pink Premier Supreme roses and lily of the valley.

The maid of honour, Miss Bibi Benson of Peterborough, sister of the bride, was frocked in poudre blue chiffon, the hip-length jacket made with full knife-pleated sleeves and Peter Pan collar. She wore a blue felt hat, silver slippers and pink gloves and carried Talisman roses.

The bridesmaid was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Lillian A. Smith of Ottawa, wearing pink point d'esprit, the long full coat inset with lace, a pink baku hat, silver slippers and blue gloves. She also carried Talisman roses.

The groomsman was J. Allan Cuzen of Toronto and ushers were Allan Penn of Toronto and W. H. Young of Peterborough.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hotel Genosha, where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy and blue chiffon, white felt hat, white slippers and gloves, and corsage of red Templar roses. The bridegroom's mother was in a navy and white silk ensemble, with white felt hat and white accessories.

The house was decorated with palms, ferns and pink gladioli, and the bride's table was done with the cake, pink asters and gypsophila.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left for a honeymoon trip by motor in northern Quebec, the bride traveling in a white flannel suit and white accessories. On their return, they will live at 84 Hillcrest Drive, Toronto.

Don't Let Them Get Started

The haze and smell of wood smoke in the air these days tell their own story of the destruction that is going on, as a result of forest and grass fires throughout the district. Our correspondent at Warsaw describing some of these fires close to our doors puts her finger on the cause of most of the trouble when she says that the flames are devastating many acres and causing heavy loss "because some one in a berry patch probably threw away a cigarette butt or a lighted match."

There is no doubt that practically every one of the fires raging in Ontario at the present time is the result of rank carelessness on the part of some individual. Fires are not self-starters and they usually require human help to get underway although once started they can take care of themselves without any assistance as thousands of blackened areas all over Ontario bear evidence today. The best way to handle them is to keep them from beginning and it is there that every citizen has a heavy responsibility. With the country as dry as tinder, a careless match or cigarette butt is all that is needed to lay waste miles of territory, destroy valuable timber and threaten the homes and lives of hundreds of persons. If you must smoke while in the woods, be on your guard at all times to see that your matches and cigarette ends are extinguished before you throw them away. If you are motoring don't toss your smoking debris out of the window unless you are sure it does not contain a spark of fire. It will require constant care on the part of all of us if the fire loss in the next week or two does not attain record proportions.

They Do Not Reform

The most disquieting thing about the report recently issued by Hon. H. C. Nixon in regard to Ontario's reformatories is the fact that nearly 60 per cent of the prisoners confined in these institutions during the period covered by the report were "repeaters." In other words the reformatories, so far as these particular offenders were concerned, had failed to reform. When it is realized that 452 of the inmates of the reformatories had been convicted of crimes four times or oftener the breakdown of these places as a corrective agency is painfully clear.

Behind the establishment of such institutions in the first place was the hope that they would so deal with new criminals that they would be detoured from the path of crime into the highway of good citizenship. Unfortunately the reformatories are apparently doing nothing of the sort. They are simply acting as a substitute for the penitentiary and making things a little easier, judging by Mr. Nixon's figures for a lot of folk who should have been sent to the senior penal institution instead of back three and four times to the reformatories to mingle with freshmen criminals and by their influence help to make repeaters of the new crop of inmates. There is a weakness somewhere in a system that sees over eight hundred offenders in our reformatories during the course of a year who are there for their second or third or some times their half-dozenth term.

A Drastic Interpretation

A few days ago The Examiner referred to what seemed to be a harsh interpretation of the regulations regarding the use of tourist cars made in the Brockville district. From Iona in western Ontario comes a story of another similarly drastic ruling along the same lines. A tourist permit, it should be understood, contains an agreement on the part of the visitor that he will not use his car while in Canada except for pleasure or for health. In this second case it seems that a former Iona man, home from Detroit to visit his parents used his automobile to carry a load of lumber intended for the repairing of his father's house and as a consequence he has been assessed $25 for violating the regulations.

Technically he was an offender, even although he hauled the lumber merely to help out his father and without being paid for his trouble. A common sense viewpoint however will be that the authorities might have been satisfied to point out the law to this innocent transgressor instead of clapping a fine on him for a helpful act intended to benefit his parents.

The regulations were framed to prevent visitors from other lands from entering into commercial pursuits while in Canada and that is a fair restriction to which no logical objection can be taken, but to say that a young man who is aiding his father by hauling a few boards with his car is entering into commercial pursuits is to put a considerable strain upon the imagination.

Michigan Sets the Pace

We read an article the other day that said Michigan now possesses the largest fish hatchery in the world, situated at Wolf Lake in Van Buren County and possessing a yearly capacity of 15,000,000 fingerling game fish. Twenty-four ponds and lakes, the largest thirty-five acres, have been constructed by WPA workers to augment a twenty-two acre natural lake to provide this unusual hatchery.

That sounds like big business and it should be interesting to Ontario fish and game officials as a proof of what is being done by other districts that are in competition with our province for the tourist business. Michigan has extensive fish and game districts and the size of this new hatchery is evidence that the state authorities have no intention of allowing them to go out of business if re-stocking operations on a large scale can accomplish their salvation.

An establishment that can turn out fifteen million fingerlings every year is supplying reinforcements on a scale we have not yet reached in Ontario but that we will soon be driven to attempt to attain if we want to keep pace with competing tourist districts.

Good fishing must be maintained to retain and widen our place in the sun as a tourist vacation land. It is the most effective magnet yet discovered. On the night of Civic Holiday a visitor found his way into The Examiner's editorial room to tell about the five-and-a-half pound bass he had landed that morning near Burleigh Falls and the excitement in his voice and the proud gleam in his eye as he told of his success left no doubt as to what that Toronto man would do in the way of boosting the Kawarthas when he got back among his Queen City friends. Every big fish caught means another group of visitors and we have got to see to it that there are big ones available at least occasionally, if we do not want to fall back toward the rear of the parade.

Getting to Be a Lost Art

Old-timers who attended the regattas held around the district over the last weekend were loud in their criticism that the paddling and rowing of today leave much to be desired. However, second thought should prompt the realization that after all it is something of a feat to be able to lineup enough paddlers and rowers in these days of gasoline transportation to stage a regatta at all. Just as the automobile is beginning to make walking a lost art so is the outboard motor placing paddling and rowing in the column of forgotten things. At the district summer resorts these gadgets are to be seen everywhere, kicking away on the stern of all kinds of craft and they are always in use. The motorist who takes out his car to save walking a few blocks is matched by the summer holidayer who rather than use the paddle or the oars to travel a few hundred yards winds up his outboard motor. Much of the labor has gone out of summer vacations as a result but at the same time a lot of the fun and the health-giving exercise has also disappeared.

The young folk of a decade or two ago did not get around the water so fast as the present crop, but they did manage to get around a lot at that and had a lot of sport doing it and they came home at the end of the summer trained like a college crew. The only blisters collected in a holiday at a summer resort these days comes from pulling the cord of an outboard motor and that is a poor substitute for the exercise that went with travel by canoe.

So Few Eagles Left

Two young men near Goderich made what is recorded as a rare find when out picking berries. They caught two eagles, male and female. The female was easily captured but we learn that the male put up so good a fight that it was necessary to strike him on the head with a stout club. The birds were put in a crate and taken to Goderich where a crowd soon gathered. Application is being made to place the birds on exhibition but the game warden is not so certain; he will make inquiries.

The eagles at Goderich are not full grown ,otherwise the never would have been captured. Probably if they had been mature and some one had seen them, there would have been a gun secured and they would have been shot. After that they might have been stuffed and placed in a glass case. That is where we have to go and see most of the eagles today.

There is nothing impressive about a stuffed eagle, and those kept in confinement never have a good time even if the cage is large. They are birds of the air, of the high places and rough places. They can ride out a storm and they are fearless. There are so few of them left that this business of shooting and stuffing them or capturing them will shortly exterminate them. They are so great a bird that we might well leave them alone for a time.

Notes and comment—

British Columbia's government has notified the municipalities it cannot make further loans for relief purposes because it is unable to get any more money from Ottawa. That means the municipal taxpayers and the unemployed are both in a tough position.

NOTE AND COMMENT

People who selected Spain as the scene of their summer holidays have found themselves tossed into the lap of a revolution. That is surely the vacation unusual.

Farmers in Russell county are going to ask the Ontario government for hail relief. Haven't they heard that Premier Hepburn is trying to balance the budget?

Hon. David Croll, acting attorney-general, says: "We cannot stand on legal maxims and technicalities," and that is surely strange talk even from a temporary acting attorney-general.

It appears that the Canadian athletes did not really mean to give the Nazi salute at the opening of the Olympic games. It was just another case of bad staff work, apparently.

Twenty-three American oil concerns have been indicted on charges of violating the anti-trust laws but there is no record of the directors jumping out of 80-storey windows as yet.

The Russians have begun to cut off their beards and now the land of the Soviet will be regarded by the tonsorial artists of the world as the barbers' paradise.

Canadian wheat has reached the highest price in six years and the catch in that of course is that bread is standing out on the springboard ready to take a leap into the air at any moment.

Thorold firemen are equipped with gleaming helmets. We always figured that the most useful item of equipment for any fire department is double-seated trousers.

American negroes are heroes across the line when the win Olympic honors for Uncle Sam. But they don't let them sit near white people in some sections of the country.

Rev. Ben Spence is back in the folds of the C.C.F. and whether that organization has been strengthened or not by his reinstatement would make an interesting topic for some enterprising debating club.

Burglars broke open three safes in a Toronto office and found two of them empty and the third with only a few cents in change. It looks as if enterprising yeggmen would be justified in demanding a new deal.

The rainfall in July was the smallest in the records of the local weather office. And once more the fellow who likes to boast about the droughts of away back is left without a chance to get in a word.

The King government has held the constituency of Wright without a contest. No one even got up to say that the eyes of Canada were on the riding or that the country was at the crossroads or anything of the sort.

A swordfish weighing 462½ pounds has been caught on rod and line off the Nova Scotian coast. Personally if we ever found ourselves hooked on to anything like that he could have our best pole and line without a struggle.

The German who won the shot put event at the Olympic games has been appointed a lieutenant of police. At that rate a Nazi athlete good enough to have won the sprints might have been given Hitler's job.

Canadian hats should be off to Dr. Phil Edwards for his gallant showing in his third attempt to win the 800 metre Olympic championship for Canada. The game Montreal doctor has been a point winner in the event for three successive Olympics, a record in itself.

Plenty To Do.

There's plenty to do in vacation time
For a boy, a dog and a fishing line
Over the meadow where clovers blow high
And tall blue cornflowers reflect the sky.
Now down on one knee, for the path is low
Where a whistling boy and a dog would go,
To a coaxing creek sparkling in the sun
And minnows who know that a day's begun.
It doesn't matter if the fish won't bite,
Or Towser can't catch a butterfly bright,
If mosquitoes tease and dragonflies drone
Like the soft humming of a telephone,—
It only matters that the world is young,
With a lilt to a laugh, a song on the tongue.
Pens may grow rusty and books seem so odd,
While six new chicks look like peas in a pod.
There's dreams in the head of a distant port
And great goings on at Gibraltar Fort,
Oh there's plenty to do in vacation time,
For a boy, a dog and a fishing line!

Louis Bleriot Flying Pioneer

(From the Montreal Star)

IN the early morning of a beautiful July day twenty-seven years ago, a lone watcher near Dover Castle saw a great black bird come flying over the waters of the English Channel. He had crossed from France the day before to welcome that same black bird, and he had even panted a big French flag to mark the landing-place he had selected. But Louis Bleriot, the first man to cross the sea in an airplane, did not see that flag until he had landed. His propeller was smashed, some damage was done to the forward part of his plane, and his lame foot was jarred. He arrived entirely unheralded, but the next day his name was trumpeted around the world. Bleriot had conquered the Channel!

It was the first blazing of the trail. Alcock and Brown were the first to traverse the Atlantic together, and then came the Lone Eagle, boyish, fairhaired Lindbergh, to conquer it solo and to receive world acclaim. Today Bleriot lies dead in Paris, and the aviation world unites in paying tribute to his memory.

Like Lindbergh, he flew into the unknown, for fog blinded him within ten minutes of his start and, unlike Lindbergh, he had no instruments to help him determine where he was or in what direction he was going. From that brief flight of twenty minutes or so at the rate of sixty to eighty miles an hour,—a speed so great then that nobody ever dreamed he would out-distance the fast destroyer that put out to accompany him over the Channel—there developed a generation of flying men who partly revolutionized war and who are now setting about the creation of a new era in aerial transport.

Speaking on the occasion of the twentieth anniversary of his flight, Bleriot said: "As for the future of aviation, I firmly believe that within less than ten years regular transatlantic air service from New York to Brest or to British ports will be a reality." His optimism was a little ahead of that reality, but we are about to witness the realization of that bold dream within a year. He flew in a 20-horsepower monoplane. Lindbergh used a 220-horsepower monoplane. Only last week the Minister of Co-ordination in England announced that British factories were turning out pursuit airplanes that could fly over 348 miles an hour.

It is eminently fitting that we should remember today the quiet courage, the persistence, and the vision of the little man who set off alone that July morning twenty-seven years ago into the empyrean, confident of success and determined to devote his talents, once he had proved his theory, to the advancement of a new science destined to benefit humanity, though alas! too often employed for purposes of destruction that appal humanity. An English aviator named Latham had just attempted that Channel flight before him, only to fall into the turbulent waters of La Manche. Bleriot succeeded. His name will remain for ever emblazoned on the roll of honour of the world's great pioneers.

To The Editor

HE WANTS TO KNOW

Editor The Examiner,

Dear Sir: There are some aspects concerning the proposed Stewart Drive upon which the taxpayers have a right to request information.

(1) Is the Stewart Drive project being revived for the benefit of the taxpayers, or for the benefit of the owners of the property?

(2) Will it result in a lot of vacant land being foisted upon the city entailing a constant maintainence cost plus the loss of taxes?

(3) How much per year will it cost in tax loss, and how much to grade seed and plant the so-called park?

(4) Can the taxpayers afford to lose two thousand dollars per year for a three-minute drive past a mill dam and an array of oil tanks including another level railway crossing?

While we congratulate ourselves on the sound financial standing of our city yet the tax on real property is so high that it has ruined property values, almost completely eliminated house building, and made home ownership an undesirable thing.

There is still a good prospect for tax reduction in the near future if we can depend upon the council to avoid foolish expenditure such as the recent purchase of a part of Armour's Hill at a double price. Anyway Peterborough has no more need for it than Switzerland has for a navy, and if sportsmen want to go to Nassau and ski jump they should do it at their own expense, and politicians the same.

If the conditions regarding the donation of the right of way for this drive have been changed the taxpayers should know it. Unless there has been a radical change in terms, it involves the city taking over a lot of vacant land and going to the expense of putting it in park condition, also yearly maintainanc. costs plus a yearly loss of about two thousand dollars in taxes.

Some councillors do not seem to be aware that while for the next 4 years there would be no change in taxes, but when the present fixed assessment expires in 1941 the city would lose two thousand dollars per year ever after.

This is a most ridiculous proposition, for the city to undertake to put the back yard of a big manufacturing plant in park condition at an initial cost of five or six thousand dollars plus a yearly tax loss of about two thousand dollars beside the yearly maintainance costs for the sake of a three minute drive that is not needed

No council should enter into new and questionable expenditure without making public the terms and expense involved and giving a chance for an expression of opinion.

We do not complain of being taxed for necessary relief but we do strenuously object to being taxed for the benefit of wealthy concerns.

Yours truly,
Taxpayer.

Cheap Money No Salvation.

(From Business Week).

THE Reconstruction Finance Corp. has reduced interest rates approximately 1% for the benefit of the various classes of its debtors. The move is intended to promote recovery by giving the most favorable treatment possible "to our borrowers who still have frozen assets and those industrial and catastrophe borrowers who are having the greatest difficulty."

We may overlook the fact that the government is competing with private enterprise and taking steps which may lay the foundation for the further nationalization of our credit machinery. We may readily admit that there are many spots where this lenient policy may help to work out distressed situations and in some instances may stimulate business activity. Certainly Chairman Jesse H. Jones and the directors of the corporation are not to be criticized for making this effort.

On the other hand we may remind ourselves that practically nowhere in this country today is the cost of money a deterrent to business expansion and activity. On the contrary, cheapness of money is the very foundation on which an unprecedented acceleration of business might be based if the political and economic picture were not such as to deter business from thinking beyond the vicissitudes of the day.

Business will always pay a reasonable prices and often a wholly unreasonable price for money with which to finance its projects if it foresees safety for the principal involved and a fair chance for a return on its investment. We proved that beyond question in 1928 and 1929. Business needs confidence far more than credit today.

Food Prices Will Be Higher.

(From The Woodstock Sentinel-Review).

OFFICIAL reports on crop conditions in Canada, tabulated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, indicate that, with the exception of Quebec and some parts of the Maritimes, the country has encountered adverse conditions for agriculture that seldom have been equalled and the next year is likely to be a test as to whether surpluses produced in some parts of Canada are sufficient to supply the entire population without embarrassing shortages.

Ontario, the most densely populated unit of all the provinces, has a greatly reduced crop of fruits and vegetables. There does not seem to be much doubt that this province will have to depend on others for its winters supply in various land products.

Quebec, on the other hand, seems to have done better than the average on all such crops as beans, cauliflower, cabbage, corn, onions, peas, carrots, celery, lettuce, potatoes and tomatoes. The greater part of the rest of Canada outside the Maritimes and British Columbia has been hard hit by heat, drought and insect pests so that agricultural production in all departments is poor. Particularly in Alberta and Saskatchewan the grain crops have suffered such setbacks that a considerable percentage of the livestock will have to be fed on products brought in from outside districts. In parts of Alberta, it will be necessary to dispose of a large number of cattle and horses immediately because there is no fodder for them. The government will have to come to the rescue, as it has been compelled to do on numerous occasions in the past.

Heretofore, Canada has had little concern with regard to food supplies for human beings and domestic animals but this season the climatic irregularities have been such as to suggest that there will be no large surplus except in limited areas and the problem of distribution will become important to avoid serious shortages in some areas.

There is no serious prospect with regard to such staples as meat, butter, eggs and flour, though it is likely that prices of these commodities will be higher but with regard to fruits and vegetables, it would seem that the supplies for the canneries will be greatly reduced and that means increased prices for winter provisions that are in considerable demand.

Canadians have become accustomed to surpluses in food products, so that the situation now in prospect will be a new experience.

Land of the Living Death.

(From the New York Sunday News.)

ONE of the most vivid and terrifying word pictures we have seen in a long time was painted in a recent News by Fred Pasley, filing his story at Bismarck, N.D., on an investigating trip through the drought country by plane for his newspaper.

Beginning with: "This is the log of an Odyssey into the land of the living death," Mr. Pasley went on in part as follows:

We wanted to see for ourselves what is happening in the Dakotas—in the high plains country of the West where the bufalo once roamed and the grass grew lush and tall before our forefathers conquered it with the plow.

An American desert as arid as the Sahara is in the making here, and they say the Government will have to transplant some 200,000 farmers. Nothing grows. The good earth has turned sour. Man is payin: the price for his violation of natural laws...

The wind play an endless death rattle on the corn, and the sun beats pitilessly down on blistered soil that knows no rain...

When you leave Minnesota...the panoramas beneath you, as far as the eye can compass, is an unbroken stretch of dust and withered grain.

Except for occasional herds of cattle and horses, huddled together as if waiting for the end, there is no sign of life. The fields lie barren and the farm houses seem deserted. There is no activity whatsoever.

For 200 miles between Fargo and Bismarck we saw no signs of water, but we counted dozens of lakes and streams that had dried up...

Virtually the whole population of the two Dakotas is dependent, one way or another, on federal aid.

The condition pictured by Mr. Pasley may easily be written down in the history books 100 years from now as the worst single blow that was ever dealt this nation—worse than any of our wars, worse than our worst depression.

You can win or lose wars and renew the human stock with surprising rapidity afterward; you can weather out depressions. When the fertility of land on which people live has been leeched out of or blown off the land, people cannot live there any more—and it takes Nature, unassisted, hundreds of years to restore fertility.

WINE AND FOOD.

(Windsor Star)

THE Soviet Government decrees that wine shall be provided for the working people. Champagne is no longer to be considered as a luxury in Russia. Production of dinner wines and liqueurs is to be increased from 300,000 bottles, in 1936, to 2,750,000 in 1939. Development of the wine industry is to go forward on a large scale.

While no doubt the announcement will be gratifying to many Russians, we fancy they would be more interested in arrangements for a full, complete food supply.

We can't figure out how it is that nature insisted on putting all the vitamins in spinach and liver and onions instead of apple pie ad chocolate cake.

ON GROWING OLD.

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

THE psychologist who said the other day that old age and death is a mere matter of psychology, seems to be skipping about the edge of sophistry. To claim full credit for modern knowledge which has lengthened human life five years in two generations is one thing, but to reach from that for a logical conclusion that life may be prolonged indefinitely by mere psychological effort is something different. This would be comforting to those who desire to live to be 200 years old, but before men reach that age other knowledge than merely how to wish for prolonged existence will be necessary.

To fix an arithmetical program by which human life is to be lengthened according to the ratio of the first modern steps is to invite disappointment. Some time, possibly, men may live to be much older than in this generation, but when that time arrives human beings will be found living as well as thinking in a manner far from the habits of 1936. Physical death and old age is something more than a simple matter of psychology, at least in man's present state of knowledge.

Man Dubbed Thief Really Gentleman

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—(CP).—Yesterday police searched for a "little old gentleman in a fawn suit." He had offered to carry a suitcase off a Niagara boat while Mrs. Emily Gartshore assisted her crippled husband down the gangplank, as they broke a journey to visit friends in Toronto.

When she went to look for the "little gentleman" he had disappeared, so she notified police. To-day officers said he was really a gentleman. The suitcase and contents have been returned to the owner.

Believing Mrs. Gartshore was continuing to Montreal, he had held on to the suitcase.

Beverage Workers On Drive For Code

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP). — An early move to establish a code for beverage room workers under the Industrial Standards Act was forecast at Queen's Park today following a visit of a delegation of hotelkeepers to Hon. David Croll, Minister of Labor.

Mr. Croll has long held waiters in many beverage rooms have been underpaid, and he has urged a minimum wage of $18 weekly. Although no announcement followed today's conference with the hotelkeepers, it is understood, an application will be made for the appointment of a conference of employers and employees under the terms of the Industrial Standards Act.

At that conference an effort will be made to reach an agreement with regard to wages and hours which would be binding on hotels throughout the province.

Vibrations caused by heavy traffic caused a fire alarm box in London to turn in an alarm, and six fire engines and 30 firemen responded.

CORN LEADS CHICAGO DOWN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Twice in succession, grain values today suffered a major collapse, with corn in the lead smashing 4 cents down, the furthest immediate permissible limit.

Wheat gave way with corn. Contributing to the acute weakness of values was the fact that at the close yesterday the market as based on December contracts was up 47 cents for corn, 28 cents for wheat, and 19 cents for oats since June 1, a rise that in many quarters was construed as discounting damage for at least the present.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—Wheat futures prices met their first setback since the bull movement started July 25, when they closed 3¼c to 3¼c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday.

Disappointing export buying, large-scale profit-taking and indifferent displays in American markets were responsible for the decline.

Export business was placed at 400,000 bushels. Offerings were attributed to profit-taking, hedging sales and southern selling, while support came mainly from exporters and mills. Despite bullish weather news and crop estimates, the market was extremely nervous.

GOLD WATERS

New Yorker Collects $1,060 In Coins from Two Stranded Packages.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP)—There was gold in the muddy waters of the East river and Aleck Krunocky, a works progress administration worker, took 53 $20 gold pieces to the police to prove it.

At 86th street and the East River Krunocky said he was attracted by the cries of a Chinese who pointed excitedly to two water soaked packages atop a rock in the river.

Gold pieces were spilling out of the packages.

Krunocky got a rope and lowered himself into the water, collected $1,080 in gold.

CASUALTY LISTS IN SPANISH WAR NOW OVER 135,000

Rebels Report Two-Mile Gain Towards Madrid In 48-Hour Battle

POWERS TO KEEP OUT

(By the Associated Press.)

Reports of fresh successes by Liberal arms punctuated Spain's civil war to-day as Red Cross officials estimated 35,000 persons had been killed in the most savage political-military upheavals in Spanish history.

The Red Cross estimated those wounded in the Spanish fraticidal fighting exceeded 100,000.

Rebels Report Gain.

With General Mola's Army at Robiegordo, Spain, Aug. 5.—(AP).—Spanish Fascists in a 48-hour battle to-day had battered their way two miles closer to Madrid at a cost of 300 killed and a thousand wounded.

MADRID, Aug. 5.—(CP).—Spanish Fascists walked the streets of Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, wearing Swastika armbands given them by the officers of two German warships which yesterday paid "courtesy calls" to the north African coast.

From Hendaye, France, came word Government field guns had instituted an intensive bombardment of rebels occupying the heights behind Oyarzun, in northeastern Spain.

Prince Juan of the Asturias, heir presumptive to the non-existent Spanish throne, was on a secret mission along France's Basque road. Frontier guards said he had just returned from a conference with rebels at Pamplona.

The guards said the prince was told the rebels did not want to be connected with any possible movement pointing toward restoration of the monarchy in Spain.

Seven Power Pact?

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP Cable). —Within a week, it is hoped, a seven-power pact will be reached on non-intervention in Spain. The agreement, if negotiations succeed, will include Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Portugal, Germany and Russia.

There are still snags in the way, but British circles consider the outlook favorable.

British Planes Fired On.

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 5.—(AP). — Two British seaplanes flying from Algiers were fired on to-day by Spanish Government warships, navy authorities announced.

The planes, enroute to England, drew Spanish fire as they were crossing the straits. Spanish Loyalists apparently mistook them for rebel ships, officials said.

Neither of the planes was hit.

ROME, Aug. 5 (CP-Havas).—Italy's reply to the French proposal to keep hands off Spain will be favorable "in principle," it was reported to-day.

The reply will be made without much more delay, it was indicated.

Italy, however, probably will emphasize the importance of the position taken by the Soviet Union in the Spanish issue, informed quarters said.

The Italian press to-day denounced the activities of the Third International, not only in Spain but also in Greece, Argentina and Czechoslovakia.

Bombs Miss Freighters

TANGIER, International Zone of Morocco, Aug. 5 (CP-Havas).—The British freighter Medon narrowly escaped being sunk between Tarifa and Algeciras to-day when four bombs, allegedly dropped by a Spanish government plane pursuing a rebel submarine, exploded near it.

Berlin Hits at Moscow

BERLIN, Aug. 5 (CP-Havas). — Charges the Soviet Union was supporting the People's Front government in Spain, coupled with expressions of doubt of the sincerity of France in her non-intervention stand featured German press comment on the Spanish civil war and its international repercussions today.

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt sounded the keynote of press comment in the Reich in a headline saying "Let Moscow Begin by Desisting."

There appeared to be a generally accepted belief Moscow had a hand in the affairs of Spain which found expression in comment on the visit of Andre Francois-Poncet, French Ambassador at Berlin, to Baron Konstantin Von Neprath, Reich foreign minister.

Reliable sources said Von Neprath told the French ambassador that Berlin would pledge non-intervention if the Soviet Union would do likewise.

FREIGHTER AGROUND.

GRINDSTONE, Magdalene Islands. — The 1,079-ton Norwegian freighter Fido ran aground on Indian Rock, Magdalene Islands, today while bound from Port Talbot, Ont., to Pugwash, N.S.

Extent of damage to the little steamship was not known and details of the grounding have not been learned here.

The Fido sailed from Port Talbot last month.

Johannesburg, South Africa, has a record building boom.

MONGREL PUP GOES ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Accused Of Drowning Boy While Playing Together In Canal

BROCKPORT, N.Y., August 5 (A.P.). — A half-grown dog, accused of causing the death by drowning of a 14-year-old boy, was put on trial for his life to-day.

Idaho, a shaggy puppy of Airedale and police dog parentage, was the defendant before Justice of the Peace Homer D. Benedict on charges brought under the Farm and Markets Law he is a dangerous animal and should be destroyed.

Interest in the hearing caused Justice Benedict to change the courtroom from his office to the village hall which accommodates about 250 persons.

Harry A. Sessions, attorney for Victor Fortune, Idaho's 22-year-old owner, said he would call nearly 40 witnesses to testify the dog is not vicious and was only frolicking in the water when Maxwell Breeze, a Brockport High School student, was drowned on July 4 while swimming in the Barge Canal.

At the first hearing two weeks ago witnesses identified Idaho as the dog which jumped in the water and tried to climb on Breeze's back, hampering his efforts to swim.

An "alibi dog" claimed by the defence to resemble Idaho so closely he could have been mistaken for the defendant, also was among the "witnesses."

Favor Sterilizing Fathers On Relief

FORT ERIE, Ont., August 5 (C.P.). — Men on relief who bring children into the world and make no provision for them should be sterilized, says Mayor William T. Malkin.

During a discussion of hospitalization bills for relief recipients last night the Mayor told the Council he had told doctors of his belief.

"What makes me all the angrier is that one of these fellows went playing golf and left me to worry about getting his wife into a hospital," he said.

The Mayor also said he had found seven relief recipients in a betting house. Police action didn't end the gambling. After paying fines the proprietors just moved.

SUSANNAH ARRIVES

Indian Elephant Will eB Mascot for Republicans During Election.

BOSTON, August 3 (C.P.). — Susannan arrived here from the jungles of India, and, as her liner docked, on her broad ears broke the blare of a loud speaker as distinguished United States Republicans came to do her honor.

Susannah is an Indian elephant, and she is marked out from her kind by destiny which picked her as the national mascot of the Republican Party for the coming election campaign.

Mrs. Charles Coleman of Rochester, N.H., anointed her with a bottle of wine, and christened her Susannah.

DO YOU WANT A REALLY GLORIOUS TAN WITHOUT ANY DANGER OF BLISTERING OR PEELING? Simply do This:

Dry the body, then rub NIVEA CREME or NIVEA SKIN OIL into the arms, legs, back and shoulders and risk of sunburn will be reduced. Your skin will tan to a golden brown without blistering or peeling.

NIVEA CREME promotes healthy tan and is better than common creams because it contains EUCERITE, a substance closely related to the natural oils of the skin.

Famed Mystery Mountain Conquered

MILLBROOK DANCE PROVES POPULAR

Brief Shower Cuts Into Attendance—Grace Church Junior W.M.S. Meets

MILLBROOK, Aug.5.—The street dance held on Monday evening, with the local Athletic Association as sponsors, drew a fairly large crowd to the village, Galloway's orchestra, of Bethany, providing satisfactory music.

Two booths were in operation, one selling hot dogs, ice-cream, etc., and the other having a roulette wheel which found many patrons. One hundred and fifteen dollars was taken in at the gate, the crowd being lessened by the heavy, though brief, shower, which came just at the hour when arrivals should have been at the highest point.

The centre section of King street was marked off with sections of snow fencing to make a place for the dancing, which was kept until well after midnight, and the association expects to have a neat sum added to its bank account at the outcome of the effort.

Junior W.M.S. Meets

Mrs. F. J. Deyell, and her daughter, Miss Joan, were hostesses for the fortnightly meeting of the Junior W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon, the gathering being held on the well-shaded lawns surrounding the Deyell home, Anne street.

Guests of honor for the occasion were the girls' mothers who while the business meeting was in progress worked on the cover for a baby's crib, which was ready for quilting. On display on the verandah was the layette the junior workers have prepared for the fall missionary bale, its nicley-made contents including four knitted sweaters, seven bonnets, four pairs of mittens, nighties, petticoats, bands, etc., all the work of the girl's nimble fingers.

The president, Miss Margaret Armstrong, took the chair for the meeting, the opening prayer being offered by the honorary president, Miss Agnes Johnston. Dorothy Armstrong read the lesson, and the business discussion was concerned with details of the meeting which is to be held at the home of Mrs. George Bothwell within the next two weeks. Mrs. Bothwell was warmly thanked for her kind invitation.

It was decided to enclose a letter with the layette asking the mother who receives it to please write and give the baby's name, age, home surroundings and other particulars. Following the benediction tables were laid on the lawn, and afternoon tea served. Miss Johnston pouring tea at the large central table, while serving were Misses Joan Deyell, Margaret and Dorothy Armstrong, and Roberta Bothwell.

Miss Flossie Bothwell moved the vote of thanks to the hostesses for their hospitality, and all present endorsed same with a prolonged handclap.

CROPS WILT FAST AT DOWNEYVILLE

Peas And Potatoes Reported Failure With Pastures, Wells, Creeks Dry

DOWNEYVILLE, Aug. 5.—Everywhere through here the crops are beginning to look serious. One can see fields and fields of buckwheat just above ground and all burned up; the oats and barley are also burned and not filling. The pea crop which was so promising in the spring is not worth threshing, few even having the seed which was sown. Raspberries are all burned on the bushes and apples are falling off. Potatoes here are nearly a total failure. There seems to be rain al laround, but none has fallen here. The pastures are dry and cattle and horses are on stravation rations. Water is beginning to get low in many wells and all the creeks are dry.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Credit as Required

Trade is vital to our national existence, and Credit is a first necessity. Credit lubricates the machinery of Trade, and keeps it running smoothly. A large percentage of The Dominion Bank's resources is always reserved for Credits to stimulate agriculture, industry, and sound trading, domestic and foreign.

The others were believed to have suffered casualties en route.

LOG SAWING CONTEST PLANNED AS AN ATTRACTION DOWNTOWN ON MORNINGS OF EXHIBITION

Provide Interest Out Of The Ordinary On Mornings Of August 20-21

ON SIMCOE STREET

Closing of Simcoe Street from George to Water Streets for two hours in the morning of August 20 and 21 for a log sawing contest to be promoted by The Examiner was authorized by the Council Tuesday night on Alderman Sloan's motion, seconded by Alderman Cotton.

This uptown attraction on two days of the Peterborough Exhibition is being planned by The Examiner as a means of attracting visitors during the mornings and providing interest out of the ordinary in the centre of the city.

Dr. Murray Fraser, Medical Officer of Health, and A. G. Metheral, plumbing inspector, were authorized to attend the convention of the American Society of Sanitary Engineers in Buffalo August 18-21, on Alderman Stocker's motion, seconded by Alderman Hamilton.

"This convention is usually held farther away than Buffalo," Ald. Stocker said. "It is so near this year that we ought to take advantage of it."

Alderman McIntyre said there wasn't much building going on needing plumbing inspection, but Alderman Dutton argued questions of public health affected all citizens, and it seemed advisable that Dr. Fraser and Mr. Metheral should attend this convention. "They will hear matters of importance discussed by men who are competent to know what they are talking about." The resolution by Ald. Stocker was adopted.

Alderman McIntyre called the attention of the Council to an added clause in the by-law to lease a Charlotte Street conduit duct to the C.N.R., and the by-law was referred back for further committee consideration.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

MAIL FROM VIMY.

Many post-cards and other mail from Vimy were delivered in the city to-day.

BOAT TRIP.

Between fifty and sixty of the people of Peterborough took in the holiday boat trip from Cobourg to Rochester.

DOG OWNERS FINED.

For permitting their dogs to roam at large within the city limits, two citizens were on Wednesday ordered by the magistrate to pay fines of $1 and 75 cents costs each.

N.B.C. MEN COMING.

Officials of the National Broadcasting Corporation, New York, are coming to this district on a fishing trip. Alderman Cotton told the council last night.

VITAL STATISTICS.

Vital statistics for the city of Peterborough for the month of July, are appended below, with figures for the corresponding month of the previous year by way of comparison in brackets: Births, 57 (52); marriages, 26 (16); deaths, 47 (37).

STOLEN CAR FOUND.

Said to have been stolen while the street dance was in progress at Millbrook on Civic Holiday, an old touring car was recovered by Sergeant William Wigg at Crawford's Grove last night. It was brought to the Market Square here, and Millbrook police were notified.

WON THIRD PRIZE

William Turnbull while attending the Florists Telegraph Delivery School in Toronto on Monday won third prize in wreath designing at which some of the outstanding florists of Ontario were entered in the contest. J. I. Smith attended the school along with Mr. Turnbull.

49 DEGREES DURING NIGHT.

Weather records this week have been receding from recent highs. The low last night was 49 degrees and 75 at noon. The high marks this week were 90 last Saturday, 89 Sunday, 95 Monday, and 62 Tuesday.

TO LAY NEW SEWER.

A new sewer is being laid on Monaghan road between King and Charlotte streets preliminary to the laying of a new surface in accordance with the summer program of the Suburban Area Roads Commission. A large gang of men were at work on the project yesterday.

NOTIFY LOT OWNERS.

Owners of private lots on which weeds are cut by the city will be notified as soon as the work is done that if they have any objection they appeal to the Court of Revision for refund of the charge during the year in which it is paid with their taxes. This change was made by the council last night on Alderman Tuggey's motion, seconded by Alderman McIntyre.

SECOND CALL.

The Fire Department received a call to pay a return visit to Armour Hill this morning when a tree blazed up anew. Apparently the fire had been burning in the centre of the tree since the big grass fire yesterday and had escaped notice. It was necessary for firemen to cut down half the tree before the fire could be checked.

CANVASS UNDER WAY.

The canvass of Victoria County for signatures in a campaign to have the county included in the livestock tuberculosis restricted area is now well under way. Prospects are that it will be as successful as the canvass recently concluded in this county. A number of school sections have already been covered by the canvassers.

FAILED TO REPORT ACCIDENT.

For his failure to report an accident to police authorities, William Cannup, 14 Buckingham Avenue, Oshawa, was on Wednesday morning fined $15 and $3.75 costs. According to Provincial Motorcycle Constable Lloyd A. McClure, who laid the information, Cannup was involved in an accident on the Warsaw road at 11 p.m. July 27, and his car was damaged to the extent of $150.

NEW FRONT INSTALLED.

Installation of the modernistic black glass front on the Grand Hotel has been completed. The definite trend toward black and chromium schemes along the George street frontages was begun with the renovation of the Elite Cafe and will be further demonstrated with the completion this week of the Brooks Grill on the corner of Hunter and George streets.

FIRE DANGER INCREASING.

The danger of serious forest and grass fires in the Peterborough area is increasing daily at the present time due to lack of moisture. Since June 28 only .43 inch of rain has fallen here, Weather Observer A. O. Phillips reports. The last rain of any real account was on June 17 when .41 inch fell in a 24-hour period. The las big rain was on June 10, when 1.26 inches fell. The average rainfall for the month of July during the past 40 years has been 3.10 inches.

ROAD UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

Traffic on the road between Young's Point and Burleigh Falls has been slowed up by the work which is in progress. Two sections, totalling almost a quarter mile in length, have been torn up, but no detour path has been provided. One large concrete culvert is under construction and several smaller culverts have already been installed. It was the hump over one of these smaller culverts which is reported to have caused the death of Mrs. William Sargeant of this city while driving over the road Monday evening.

WARNING ISSUED.

Fire Chief George Gimblett again to-day issued a warning to the public that extra precaution against grass fires must be taken while the present dryness continues. A large portion of the runs made by the department during the past two weeks have been for the purpose of checking grass fires which, if not given prompt attention would have offered serious threats to local property. Chief Gimblett warns that no bonfires are to be started in the city, without his personal permission, on penalty of prosecution.

ITINERARY WAS COMPLETED.

Arrangements for the tour of British business men were made before the news of their motorcade was received here, City Clerk Armstrong informed the council last night. Ald. Juby said he had made an enquiry to the Ontario Motor League, and learned that the itinerary could not be changed.

"I understand that others are coming next year, and we should take steps early enough to invite them to visit Peterborough," Ald. Juby said.

HUMANE SOCIETY.

Dr. Thomas Johnston, V.S., the Humane Society's inspector, reports a very busy month. His report reads, "This has been the busiest month I have ever had in the society's work." During the intensive heat cattle, horses and dogs have suffered severely. The inspector's report for the month is as follows: Horses examined 52; humanely destroyed 1; dogs brought to shelter 11, destroyed 9, placed in home 1, claimed by owner 1; cats brought to shelter 55, destroyed 54, to home 1; animals examined (cattle, sheep, pigs) 100; complaints investigated 15; warnings issued 7; emergency calls 14; stables inspected 2.

REMANDED FOR SENTENCE.

On his appearance before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell at Port Hope on Tuesday, a Hall's Bridge man pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than a residence. He was remanded for sentence until Tuesday next. He was arrested at 2 a.m. on August 4 at Millbrook by Provincial Motorcycle Constable Lloyd A. McClure, who alleges that he has been in the habit of taking liquor to dances throughout the district. In his car was found a bottle of white wine, a bottle of rye whiskey and a case of beer, it is alleged.

Some weeks ago he was charged on the information of Provincial Constable David Silvester with unlawfully selling liquor to persons in attendance at a dance in Ennismore Township. He was acquitted of that charge.

SMOKE IS CAUSED BY MUSKOKA FIRE FORESTER STATES

No Serious Blaze In Immediate Peterborough Area Examiner Informed

REMARKABLE RECORD

The heavy smoke which blanketed Peterborough and the entire Central Ontario region yesterday originated from a bad forest blaze east of Gravenhurst in the Muskoka area, District Forester H. W. Crosbie at Tweed told The Examiner to-day. The strong west wind carried the smoke down into this region and as far east as Ottawa.

So heavy was the haze that fire lookout towers in the district were blanketed for a period, Forester Crosbie said. The big fire had been raging many hours before an airplane survey in the north definitely located it as the source of the smoke over Central and Eastern Ontario.

Despite the fact the woods and grass are as dry as tinder, no serious blaze has broken out in the immediate Peterborough area during the past month other than the fire which has been burning on the boundary between Douro and Dummer Townships. Forester Crosbie stated 139 fires have been reported from the Trent district since July 5, but that all were controlled safely. The Douro fire is outside the jurisdiction of the rangers.

Fifty acres of grass land with a few trees were burned over in a minor blaze in Harvey Township. The blaze was put under control by rangers and volunteers. It is thought to have been started by a cigarette butt.

"The fact we have escaped with so little trouble is a credit to the efficiency of the towers in the district," Forester Crosbie said. "Less than 1,000 acres have been burned by the blazes in the last month. In view of the unusual dryness of the woods, that is remarkable."

"Motorists, cottagers, and campers should co-operate with us by taking extra precautions in the matter of matches, cigarette butts and camp fires during this dry period," he urged. "Almost all the fires we have to deal with are started by human carelessness."

Many men returned to the scene of the fire on the Douro-Dummer boundary near Clear Lake when it blazed up anew last night. It is believed under control now.

Youngsters Provide Characters In Show

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(CP)—Koko and other "Mikado" characters and many other personages of song and story, including Huckleberry Finn, were featured in a puppet and marionette exhibition known as "Backstage in Child Welfare," which opened here.

The puppets were all made by children in 52 recreational and play centres throughout the city.

A FATHER'S MISTAKE

Finds 2 Sons Home Safe After Identifying 2 Drowned Boys as His.

NEMACOLIN, Pa., Aug. 5.—(CP)—A grief stricken father trudged slowly home Monday after making funeral arrangements for his two sons—and found them alive.

Jose Swartz, relief worker, earlier had identified the bodies of two boys taken from the Monongahela River as his 12-year-old son Thomas and 11-year-old stepson, Francis Pytack.

While he made plans for their funeral at an undertakers office in Masontown, the boys were safe at home, playing in the yard.

Two Rover Scouts Are Touring World

On a tour round the world, which they expect to complete in two years, two local Rover Scouts in the persons of Victor Millard and Wilfrid Lee, of Peterborough, are reported to be in Saskatchewan.

Bronzed and healthful-looking from several weeks spent outdoors, the two adventuring youths reached Milestone, Saskatchewan, on Thursday of last week and planned to remain over the week-end. From there they go to Churchill, returning to Saskatoon, then to Vancouver, where they hope to work their passage to Australia.

While in Milestone they were the guests of the Rev. W. N. Turner at the Anglican rectory. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Webber Turner, 566 Gilmour Street, he was their old scoutmaster here.

Incidentally the three former local Scouts held a special memorial service for "Bill" Coleman in Holy Trinity Church, Milestone, on learning of the latter's death. Millard and Turner were associated with the late Cubmaster Coleman in organizing 1st Peterborough (St. John's) Troop.

Millard and Lee are selling magazines and repairing tennis racquets to pay expenses while on their hitchhiking tour. They each carry a shoulder pack of 65 pounds.

LINDSAY MAN DIES SUDDENLY IN CAR

Henry Logie, 77, Succumbs To Heart Attack In Lindsay

LINDSAY, Aug. 5.—Henry Logie, 77, of Brock street, dropped dead from heart failure about 5 o'clock yesterday while sitting in a car owned by Thomas Hutton, in front of a shop on William street north.

Mr. Logie, who was fond of walking, was on his way uptown when he was picked up by Mr. Hutton. When Mr. Logie got into the car he complained of pains in his heart and stated he would have been unable to walk much farther. Mr. Hutton then drove the man to a doctor. Later he picked Mr. Logie up to take him home again. Having to get some work done at Coles' welding shop, Mr. Hutton came out to find the man doubled up. He had been dead a few minutes.

Mr. Logie had for the past few years lived on his farm with his niece, Mrs. Charles Sechler, on Brock street. He was one of the pioneers of Lindsay district, having lived on the same farm all his life.

SECTION OF PARK IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Several Acres Of Grass And Number Of Trees On Armour Hill Burned

Several acres of grass and a number of trees were burned when a grass fire swept over Armour Hill and down to the banks of the canal Tuesday afternoon. The efforts of ten men from the fire department using a Johnson pump and 400 feet of hose under the direction of Fire Chief George Gimblett were required before the blaze was checked.

Four alarms were turned into the department by residents and passing motorists. When first discovered the blaze was confined to a small patch of grass near the top of the hill, but within a space of several minutes, it had spread to cover half the area between Hunter and McFarlane streets. The strong west wind drove it toward the canal banks.

The firemen set up the powerful gasoline pump on the canal bank and quickly checked the spread with a heavy stream of water. A number of volunteers assisted.

A small grass fire just north of the city limits on the Lakefield road was put under control during the afternoon by volunteers. No property was damaged. Alarmed residents sent in two alarms to the city fire department, but Chief Gimblett declined to take apparatus outside the city without orders from the mayor or competent officials when he found the fire offered no serious threat.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, August 6

Conflicting planetary configurations mark this as a day of doubtful progress. Although the forces, energies and faculties will be pitched to high levels of creative ability, with urges to enterprise and initiative, yet there is an omen of frustration, delay, depression and disappointment. This may be due to a personal physical disability, or to the loss of a friend or relative.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel a highly stimulated incitement to enterprise, initiative and constructive work at new plans and projects. They are likely, however, to encounter delays, postponement and impediments, possibly because of ill health or a bereavement.

A child born on this day may be mentally alert in either intellectual or practical constructive lines, but may have periods of moods and depressions, with a love of solitude and contemplation.

HAVELOCK MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO L.C.A. COUNT

Magistrate Intimates That Fine Will Likely Be $150

OPERATED HOTEL

Albert Armstrong, 44, of Havelock on Wednesday pleaded guilty before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to unlawfully having liquor. M. J. O'Shea of Hastings, representing the defendant, urged the minimum penalty. The application was opposed by Crown Attornew V. J. McElderry, K.C., who stated: "This man runs a hotel at Havelock and it is not a case for the minimum penalty."

Concurring with the attitude taken by the Crown, the magistrate intimated that a fine of $150 is to be imposed, but reserved judgment until Friday morning. Meanwhile Armstrong was remanded, bail being set in the sum of $500.

Hubert White, 25, of 384½ Water street, said to have been a passenger in the car that figured in a crash on Park Hill road bridge early Sunday morning last, appeared on remand for sentence on charges of unlawfully consuming liquor, and unlawful possession of liquor. On the first count he was fined $10 and costs or 10 days; and on the other charge was assessed $100 and $3.75 costs or 3 months.

Marco Bedore, Clifford Scott, Alex McLaughlin, O. A. Carroll, and German Ellis all of Blairton were ordered to pay $10 and $4 costs each on charges of unlawfully consuming liquor.

Shirley Temple Visits Victoria On Holiday

VICTORIA, Aug. 5 (CP).—Shirley Temple played a little golf to-day, watched some swimming and planned to go fishing.

Shirley, here for a holiday with her father and mother, watched boys and girls doing tricks in the water of a swimming pool for her benefit and confessed: "No, I don't swim, but I nearly do."

She did putt around the hotel practice green with her personal representative, W. M. Bishop, but there was some doubt about who "won." Shirley said she did because she had a lucky charm in the shape of a woollen, beaded mascot which she drew from the pocket of her yellow, crepe frock.

DISCUSS ROUTE AT PONTYPOOL

No Extension Of No. 7 Highway Through Durham Until Municipalities Agree

BURLEIGH ROAD PROTEST

Representatives of municipalities interested in the proposed extension of No. 7 Highway through Durham County will meet at Pontypool Tuesday, August 11 at 1.30 p.m. standard time, in an effort to reach an agreement on the route.

One deputation has already asked that the Cavan-Bethany road be designated, but there is also a strong agitation for the lower Millbrook-Pontypool route. It has been announced that the department will not take any steps until the municipalities agree among themselves.

Mayor Macdonald was authorized to arrange for a deputation to represent the city.

Protest to Department

Declaring that the road from Young's Point to Burleigh had been made dangerous for traffic by the work which has been begun on it, and that an available detour was not indicated, the council last night, on Alderman Tuggey's motion, seconded by Ald. Dutton, sent a protest to the Hon. T. B. McQuesten against the condition in which the road had been left at the height of the tourist season.

Oppose House Moving

A resolution from the Board of Health recommending that J. T. O'Connell be not permitted to move the house at 258 Antrim street to be used as a kitchen for a nearby house was endorsed by the council, on Alderman Cotton's motion, seconded by Alderman Wilson.

A petition from thirty residents in that section of the city opposed Mr. O'Connell's project on the ground that the house had been twice closed by the Medical Officer of Health and it had been declared a fire menace by Chief Gimblett. The petition was signed by F. H. Dearborn, F. Barrett, George Helson, C. F. Browne and others.

$9,768 RELIEF BILL FOR JULY

Total Number Of Persons Receiving Aid 1,721—Fifty Fire Alarms

PRAISE FOR FIREMEN

Unemployment relief disbursements during July amounted to $9,768.29, City Clerk Armstrong informed the council last night.

The details were as follows: Provisions, $5,907.56; milk, $694.99; fuel, $377; clothing, $247.12; medicine, $12.87; rent, $2,098.50; doctors, $430.25. Total, $9,768.29.

The report of A. G. Metheral, relief officer, contained the following supplementary relief facts for the month: number of heads of families, 388; dependents on heads of families, 1,270; single men, 29; single women, 34; total number of individuals on relief in July, 1,721.

Orders for provisions, 965; milk orders, 298; fuel orders, 184; clothing, 252; rent orders, 309; orders for dentists, 21; orders for medicine, 26; for doctors, 161; ambulance order, 1; funerals, 2; indigents, 25; indigents refused, 6; inspections and investigations, 155.

Report of Fires

Fire Chief Gimblett's report for July related that the Department responded to 50 fire alarms, travelling a total distance of 136.5 miles. Property damage totalled $17,555.04 of which $5,822.41 was on buildings and $10,365.13 on contents, and use and occupancy $1,367.50. Inspectors were kept busy during July burning off large fields of grass.

Compliment to Department

A letter to the council from D. D. C. Dawe acknowledged the service of Chief Gimblett and his department in the fire on June 28 in the Hamilton building at George and King streets. Mr. Dawe said the city was fortunate in having so efficient a Chief as George Gimblett. By their work in checking the fire and also in spreading tarpaulins over machinery and stock the deparment prevented a great deal of damage which might have occurred.

July Building Permits

Building permits issued during July amounted to $52,133.75, City Engineer Parsons reported. They were for the following buildings: three garages, $485; five dwellings, $11,700; one factory addition, $20,000; one apartment house, $10,000; miscellaneous permits, 41, $9,948.75.

Aberhart Says He Is Willing To Try Again If People Want Britisher

EDMONTON, Aug. 5 (CP).—Premier Aberhart was non-committal to-day when informed an Anti-Aberhart Social Credit party for Alberta was reported in process of organization. In a copyright story last night The Edmonton Journal said the movement was spurred on by a pact with Major C. H. Douglas, the world Social Credit leader, would visit Edmonton as soon as Premier Aberhart was dethroned.

"I tried by very best to get Major Douglas to come at about $100 a day," said the Premier. "If someone else can get him to come to Alberta by some other inducement and if the people of this province would desire to have him, we will be pleased to do anything to facilitate their wishes."

Westclox Men Beat Quakers In First Of Semi-Finals

Open City Loop Series With a 15-12 Victory

Five Runs In Eighth Frame Spell Defeat For Q. O. Outfit

BOTH START STRONG

In the first game of the semi-final round of the City League play-offs last night at Central, Westclox pulled out a 15-12 win over the Quakers. The game was a wild, free-hitting, affair with the issue being in doubt till the final out was registered. Westclox took an early lead by scoring six runs in the first half of the first inning but the Quakers retaliated with eight markers in their half of the same inning and from then on the game was a see-saw affair with the Beckerman crew finally winning out.

T. Parsons went the route for the winners but was anything but a mystery to his opposition. He was generous with his passes allowing no less than ten free tickets to first. However he bore down hard in the tight spots and came in on the right side of the score. Shine was the losing twirler and was hit hard. He had two bad innings, the first and the eighth, when the Clockmen banged him about hard. He weakened in the latter part of the fracas and absorbed the defeat.

Leading Hitters

O'Leary and Crary had three bingles each for the Clockmakers while T. Parsons helped his cause also with a trio of base hits. They were the spark plugs of the winners' batting attack. Newson, with three singles, was the heavy hitter for the Puffed Wheat men.

Loose fielding and inability to hit in the pinches contributed largely to the Quakers' loss. Several times they made costly bobbles that allowed unearned runs to score, while at the plate they were weak with men on bases except in the first inning rally. In the ninth inning they had the bases filled with the tieing run and one out but could not come through.

Foley in left field for the winners pulled off the fielding feature of the game in the second inning when he nailed a fly ball that was labeled for extra bases.

The teams:

Westclox: Crary, ss; Stanger, 2b; Ellis, ib; T. Parsons, p; White, c; O'Leary, cf; Curry, rf; F. Parsons, 3b; Foley, lf.

Quakers: Jones, cf; Starr, c; Caccavella, ss; Price, rf; Newson, 3b; Beard, 1b; Geddes, lf; Giardino, 2b; Shine, p; Mowry, Beacock, pinch hitters.

Score by innings:

Westclox .... 601 300 050—15 16 4
Quakers ..... 800 200 101—12 12 8

Umpires—Batley at the plate, Payne on bases.

WILLOUGHBY WINS IN DINGHY SAILING

Captures Frank Gillespie Cup And Peterborough Canoe Company Trophy

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 4.— W. R. Willoughby of Washington, D. C., won possession of the Frank Gillespie Cup and the Peterborough Canoe Company trophy in two dinghy sailing races on Stoney Lake Sunday. The Gillespie Cup was at stake in a run over a four-mile course off Juniper Island and possession of the second trophy was decided on a three-mile course off Kawartha Park. Both are challenge trophies.

Six craft raced in the Juniper Island event. Only a light breeze favoured the course while the boats were on the first leg but the breeze stiffened to provide a driving finish. Willoughby, with his wife serving as crew, and a dinghy manned by Ted and Joe Hiland of Peterborough came out of the first leg in the lead. The Hiland dinghy overhauled the Willoughby boat during the second leg but clever sailing and a faster dinghy enabled Willoughby to take the lead for his victory by a margin of 20 seconds on the final leg.

George Cook and Athol Stewart, both of Lakefield, finished in third place with a slight lead over Jim Rogers and Jim Orr of Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Russell of Toronto finished in fifth position, and Don Starr and Jimmy Simpson of Toronto tailed the field.

So little breeze was available for the sail off Kawartha Park that the contest almost turned out a stale-mate. Four dinghies rounded the three-mile course in two hours. Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby finished with a lead of a minute over George Cook and Athol Stewart. Jim Rogers and Jim Orr finished third, closely tailed by Ted and Joe Hiland.

BUFFALO BISONS DEFEAT ALBANY

Newark And Montreal Royals Split Double-Header

LEAFS ARE BEATEN

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (CP). — The Buffalo Bisons have been doing things by streaks this season, usually winning at home and losing on the road, but the latest streak indicates they may be able to put together a long enough victory string to approach the pennant heights.

They finished up their recent road tour by winning four games in a row to make it six victories in eight starts, then added another victory last night to start a long home stand on the right foot.

Although outhit by the Albany Senators, the Herd played heads-up ball to make their blows count and win 10-5. Four Senators' errors paved the way for Buffalo's win, and Eddie Boland's homer and Moe Mileavy's three-for-three at the plate counted heavily along with Johnny Wilson's relief hurling. Smead Jolley contributed a circuit swat for the Senators.

The victory failed to put the Bisons any nearer Rochester, however, as the league leaders turned on one five-run blast against Jim Bivin and knocked off the wabbling Baltimore Orioles, 7 to 3. Bob Weiland pitched five-hit ball for his 21st victory of the season while Louis Scoffic's triple and Estil Crabtree's homer featured the big inning behind him.

Newark's third-place Bears, meantime, had to work hard for an even break with the Montreal Royals. Big Chad Kimsey, just returned to Montreal, pitched a four-hit game to give the Royals a 3 to 1 victory in the opener. Tied 2-2 at the end of eight innings of the afterpiece, the clubs scored three runs apiece in the ninth then went on to the 11th before the game degenerated into a slugfest, with the Bears putting over five runs and holding their rivals to three, to win 10-8.

The Syracuse Chiefs found the atmosphere of Kincardine, Ont., quite homelike, as they went there to play the Toronto Maple Leafs as a feature of Kincardine's Old Home Week celebration. The cellar dwellers smacked Earl Cook for 14 hits and won 5-2, sewing up the game in the late innings.

Frank Lewis Throws Schleimer Of Canada

BERLIN, Aug. 5—(CP Cable), — Frank Lewis of the United States kept his record clean by throwing Joe Schleimer of Canada in six minutes 17 seconds today to qualify for the third round in the welter division of the Olympic wrestling competition.

The Oklahoma grappler used a hammerlock to gain the fall over the Toronto boy, who formerly held the Canadian championship for his weight.

Tom Ward, British light-heavyweight, dropped a decision to Ray Clemons of the United States after a 15-minute tussle.

Jaroslaw Steel of Czechoslovakia, who has passed through two rounds without a penalty, is the leader of the middleweight division.

GAS HOUSE GANG ARE RIGHT BACK TOP OF LEAGUE

Johnny Mize Played Big Part In Putting Cards On Top

PITCHERS WEAKENING

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—They ought to frame Johnny Mize's big bat out in St. Louis. It's what shot the Gas House gang right back into the pennant picture and made them the roughest, toughest crew in the big leagues again.

To-day the bunch from the other side of the tracks is back in first place in the National League—all because Mize produced at the plate. He produced so well; in fact, he's the Number One man in the league batting race.

And, with the Cardinal pitching staff about cut down to just Dizzy Dean—and the Great One beginning to show signs of strain—the one thing the Gas House outfit needed above all else was a hit-producer to offset the hurling weakness.

Mize is it. Since he took over the first-basing assignment 11 games ago, he and Ducky Medwick have combined to lead the way to seven victories. In that time he has been batting at a .488 pace, has driven in 10 runs, and has hammered out four homers and half a dozen two-baggers—which is hitting in any league.

Johnny, the Rochester rookie Cincinnati Reds couldn't use last year and turned back to the Cards, was pretty near the whole show yesterday as the Gas House gang moved back into first place with a 6-1 decision over the Cubs, sinking the Chicago champions into second place. He clubbed out a homer with two on, a double and two singles to account for four of the six St. Louis runs.

Full Game in Front

The victory put the Cards a full game in front of the Cubs and 5½ ahead of the Giants who kept up their recent hot pace with a 4-1 victory over Boston Bees, largely through Mel Ott, who crashed his 22nd and 23rd homers out of the lot. The Dodgers and Phillies put on one of their customary slam-bang affairs, with Brooklyn just managing to last for a 6-5 edge as Chuck Klein's homer with two on in the ninth all but tied the score. Rain forced postponement of the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati night game until to-night.

The Yankees, with Charley Ruffing chalking up his 15th pitching victory of the season, broke their Lefty Grove jink and beat the lean portsider, 4-2, for the first time since 1934, thereby increasing their American League lead to 11 full games.

Tommy Bridges turned in a five-hit pitching trick for the Tigers to shut out the second-place Indians 9-0 and enable the Chicago White Sox to move up to one game back of the tribe by downing the Browns 8-2.

Washington's Senators, still in their worst slump of the year, were unable to hit against Dusty Rhodes and Herman Fink, and bowed to the Athletics, 5-3.

First E.P.L. Playoff Won By Growlers

In the first game of the playoffs in the East Peterborough Softball League for the P. G. Towns Cup, the Peterborough Growlers defeated Warsaw on the latter's diamond, 17 to 3. The visitors played a good game from the start and proved themselves stronger than their rivals to get an early lead and pile it up. The second game was slated for Nicholls' Oval this week.

Craig pitched a good game for the Growlers and had nice support from his teammates. The plays in the outfield were exceptionally good, McCormick, Meyette and Cleary making nice catches. The Warsaw gang was slow getting going and never threatened. Clements hit a homer in the fourth for their first tally. They added two in the sixth. Clements pitched fair ball but had indifferent backing. The teams:

Growlers: Craig, p; Creighton, c; Corrigan, 1b; O'Leary, 2b; Hawkes, 3b; Curtin, ss; Cleary, lf; Meyette, cf; McCormick, rf.

Warsaw: McCauley, c; Clements, p; Sloan, 1b; Bell, 2b; Bell, 3b; Tighe, ss; Payne, lf; Myles, cf; Thompson, rf.

Umpires—F. O'Connor at plate, Moore on bases.

Vancouver Sculler Shows Promise

Monte Butler, brilliant young Vancouver sculler who with Johnny Dickinson won the Canadian light weight championship at St. Catharines last year, added to his laurels when he captured the Pacific coast singles championship at Vancouver recently. Outweighed by nearly 25 pounds by the southern champion, Ed. Jensen, of San Francisco, Butler jumped into a length's lead at the start of the mile and a half race and was never headed. Jensen challenged seriously at the mile, but Butler was in command and pulled away to a four-length lead.

FAMOUS GOLD CUP WON BY MAN O' WAR BE COMPETED FOR Won In Windsor In 1920 Will Be Offered For Competition In New York

MASSIVE PUNCH BOWL

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The magnificent Kenilworth Gold Cup, won in 1920 by the wonder horse, Man o'War, in a match race at Windsor, Ont., against Sir Barton, is to be offered for competition.

Mrs. Samuel D. Riddle, owner of Man oWar, still living quietly in the southern United States, has presented the $18,500 gold cup to the Saratoga association as an added prize in the rich Travers Stakes, sometimes known as the midsummer derby, run at Saratoga every August.

Man o'War defeated Sir Barton, owned by J. K. L. Ross, of Montreal, in the international race that created continent-wide interest. Each was a Kentucky Derby winner and had triumphed in other famous races.

Prize of $75,000 Won.

The cup, more like a massive punch bowl and 18 carats fine, was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Riddle by Sam McBride, the present mayor of Toronto, who was president of the Kenilworth Park Racing Association at that time. A prize of $75,000 was presented by A. M. Orpen, then manager and secretary of the track.

First to drink from it was Man o'War himself. Mr. and Mrs. Riddle filled it with water they had taken to Windsor for the famed horse's training period and gave it to their champion.

Mrs. Riddle has given the cup to the Saratoga association in an effort to help the sport in New York. She said she selected the Travers as the stakes for it because that event is the oldest three-year-old feature in the United States and she believes it should be the best and most popular. The Travers was first run in 1864.

WESTCLOX GIRLS WIN FROM KEENE

Keep In Running For Playoff Berth By a 13 To 9 Victory

Girls' Softball League standing including Tuesday game:

Team	P.	W.	L.	T.P.
Omemee	8	5	3	0
Keene	7	4	3	1
Westclox	8	4	4	0
C. G. E.	7	3	4	1
Bailleboro	6	2	4	2

Westclox girls kept in the running for a second-half playoff berth by taking a 13-9 triumph over Keene before a good crowd in the Bowl last evening. The game was half an hour late starting and was called in the last half of the eighth. Keene had threatened to overhaul an early Westclox lead with a six-run rally in the first of the eighth, but darkness did not give them another chance in the ninth.

The homesters collected four markers in the first and added to it from time to time with hard hitting while the Keene clouts were scattered. Some fair fielding was shown. Marjorie Plunkett started for the visitors on the mound but gave way to Marilyn McCarthy in the seventh. Marg Snowden pitched the distance for Westclox and showed up well most of the way. She hit a homer with two on once while A. Sturgeon nailed one with the sacks loaded another time. There were three double-plays, M. Ferguson to M. Hawthorne, H. Mongraw to B. Blade, and A. Crary to M. McCarthy. H. Nelson and A. Crary led the Keene hitters with three each, and I. Short had a triple. For Westclox, I. Sturgeon and B. Blade bingled three apiece. The teams:

Keene: H. Nelson, ss; E. Manley, 2b; D. Cocks, c; M. McCarthy, 3b, p; I. Short, 1b; A. Crary, cf; R. Gainor, rf; B. Gall, rf; M. Miller, lf; M. Plunkett, p; A. Weir, 3b.

Westclox: G. Mortimer, 1b; M. Hawthorne, 3b; I. Sturgeon, c; B. Blade, 2b; A. Sturgeon, cf; P. Primeau, rf; M. Ferguson, ss; H. Mongraw, lf; M. Snowden, p.

Williamson's Blue Moon of Youngstown; Carl Bechtold's Cotton Blossom of Rochester; Bill Pindle's Serica of Buffalo; R. B. Barr's Aphrodite of Toronto; Major R. S. Windeyer's Iolanthe of Toronto; Major Leroy Grant's Four Winds of Kingston, Ont.; J. A. Baillie's Colleen of Rochester, and Frank Leonard's Stella Mast of Toronto.

SPORTS LEADER DIES SUDDENLY

F. W. Marples, 74, Been Leader In Western Sports For Many Years

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—(CP).—Francsi William Marples, 74, pioneer citizen and leader in promotion of hockey and other sports, died at his home here Tuesday night. Before coming to Winnipeg in 1893, he was an English athlete of note, and on the cinder track had defeated famous runners of his day.

In excellent health up until a short time ago the veteran sportsman collapsed at his home and died in the presence of his wife and members of his large family. He had been prominent in the business life of the city in the fifty-three years since he arrived here from Chesterfield, Derbyshire, England.

The name Marples was a byword in sporting circles, not alone in Winnipeg, but throughout the West. Eleven boys in a family of twelve inherited their father's love for Herbert were prominent in hockey sport. Stanley, Fred, Frank and and baseball circles. Fred is secretary of the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association.

He was one of the first members of the Winnipeg North End Athletic Club. Standing over six feet in height he was for a number of years invincible in track and field sports. He is survived by his widow, ten boys and one daughter. Funeral services will be held Thursday.

SEYMOUR WEST DEFEATS MENIE

Softball Squad Clean Up Township League In Final Game 10-5

PITCHERS' BATTLE

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 5. — In the first game of the Township League playoffs Seymour West defeated Menie by 10-5 before a bumper crowd at the school grounds last night. The game was a pitcher's battle, Cliff Anderson for the winners outlasting the veteran Barney Eagleson. Anderson allowed only 6 hits to Eagleson's 11. Going into the fourth with the scoreboard reading 5-5, things were at fever heat. Menie went to bat, but could not collect. Barney held his opponents down in that inning, but two errors in the fifth soon broke the tie, the westeners crowding in five runs to clinch their victory and earn the title of champions.

Home runs were credited to McCook and Eagleson. Lindsay Anderson made a beautiful running catch in the final inning. The line-ups:

Seymour West — McCulloch, lf; McCook, ss; M. McKenzie, 1b; Wilks, c; Anderson, p; Hooper, 2b; Sherwood, cf; Atkinson, 3b; A. McKenzie, rf; Sherwood, cf.

Menie—W. Jeffs, ss; Eagleson, p; L. Anderson, lf; Wallace, rf; Craighead, 1b; Ken Oddie, 2b; Coggins, cf; Little, c; R. Oddie, 3b.

Umpires—At plate, James Scanlon; on bases, D. O'Hara and W. Sarginson.

The game by innings:

Seymour West	10405—10
Menie	14000— 5

FIRST ALBERTA SCRIP GOES OUT

Government Decides Certificates Will Be Redeemed From Certain Sources Only

EDMONTON, Aug. 5' (CP).—An amending order-in-council which gave discretionary p wer in the redemption of prosperity certificates was pointed to by Hon. Lucien Maynard to-day as Premier Aberhart's Social Credit government prepared to send out the first issue as wages to workers on road construction projects. The amendment made the original order more specific.

The government does not intend to redeem the certificates for "any and everyone who may present them," the minister without portfolio in charge of their distribution stated. They will be issued in $1 and $5 denominations. One per cent stamps must be affixed to them each week during a period of two years.

The government will redeem them on designated dates each month, beginning with September for manufacturers and wholesalers who require currency to meet cash obligations outside the province, and retailers who are unable to circulate all the certificates they accept.

"There may be other good and satisfactory reasons why a surplus of certificates will be redeemed from other business firms which may cooperate with the government," Mr. Maynard said.

The minister declared yesterday the government would pay cash for "any certificates" presented for payment on the Tuesday, Friday and Saturday following the second Wednesday of every month beginning with September.

Certificates were expected to be sent out to provincial constituencies to-day and Mr. Maynard issued the statement to emphasize certificates would not be cashed for any individual.

Digging Up he Local Dirt With the Odd Crackle or Two

(By C J P.)

IN THE first of the three-game semi-finals in the men's City Softball League last night at Central, Westclox copped a 15-12 verdict over Quaker Oats. It was only a so-so number with both pitchers being bingled hard and frequently and the fielding not all it should be. But at least, the result rested on the laps of the gods till the last putout and had the fans excited. Tom Parsons was wild for Westclox but Frank Shine on the other slab failed to fool the opposition. These teams resume at Central Thursday night at seven, with a third game—if necessary—being played there Friday. Next week, the winner of this serious serial will stack up against Swartz in the loop finals which will go four out of seven—or maybe longer even.

THE GALS' game at the Bowl saw Westclox beat Keene, 13-9, in a tilt that was called in the last half of the eighth due to darkness. The street lights had been drawing moths for many, many minutes before the umps gave everyone a break and said: "Snuff." Westclox looked better with their pitching and hitting in this fracas but Keene rallied to narrow the margin in the eighth. It was half an hour late starting as five or six Westclox players are out of town on vacations. Just when they were ready to forfeit it to Keene, two needed players arrived by car from Cobourg—wearing slacks and shorts ala campfire girls. Midst much laughter, they stepped out and aided muchly in the Clockmakers' victory. Bailieboro play in Keene tonight (Wednesday) and C.G.E. go to Bailieboro Thursday.

THAT MAN'S in again. He is a great Hastings' fishing booster—not Spook Scriver—and this is his latest note: "While we are not able to stretch the truth as you have done in the past, County Constable Wm. West turned us in a real one on Monday. Bait being very hard to get, anglers are using crabs with great success. A Toronto angler on Monday fastened a rather large crab to his hook and tossed it in. In less than a minute, he felt a tug on his line and when he pulled it in, the crab had two bass!" This is certainly one for the book, friend, but we resent the crack about us stretching the truth. We are the guy that Diogenes was looking for. Anyway, something caused the Pigeon Lake floating bridge to break—and it might easily have been the muskies there.
